News of the Week.

Probable 10,000.

Those figures are probably Foster's majority for Governor of Ohio.

Captured.

Nolan and Johnson, Nebraska robbers belonging to Dave Middleton's gang, have been captured by the military.

A Fatal Explosion.

Another of those horrible boiler explosions has recently occured at Leaven worth, Indiana. A saw mill belonging to Hiram Benham blew to atoms and three men killed.

It Continues Going Up.

The reports from the great wheat market centers say that wheat and corn continue to boom. Wheat advanced at Milwaukee over ten cents in half an hour last week. At the present writing it is quoted at $1.25.

The Fever and Cooler Weather.

The cooler weather at Memphis has had a splendid effect in checking the fever. The latest reports "two cases and one death." The fever now, it is presumable, may be considered practically over.

Third Fighting.

Latest advices from the Tice announce that prospects for peace. This device, however, is being pressed by the Southern Utes, and not those who have been committing the outrages, but with sandbag they are all o. one family and reservation.

That Westerville Explosion.

H. H. Corbin and wife, whose hotel is well remembered, was blown up at Westerville, Ohio, and which crime was charged to the temperance people, have themselves been proved to be the perpetrators. Whether they are positively guilty of course is not yet known.

Desisting Letters.

A quantity of letters have been detained at the post-office at Louisville, Ky., belonging to lottery companies, upon all sides from the Postmaster General, and now a general row is imminent. The postmasters at that point are instructed to submit the question of the government to defend all suits brought against her for such detension.

Indignation at Boulder.

Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Cornwall West, two of London's famous beauties, have joined the arrest of Adolph Rosenberg, editor of Town Talk, on a charge of libel for stating that they (the beauties) were making an effort to procure divorces from their husbands. The court held bonds in $5,000 bail, which he was unable to procure, and he was sent to jail, not godsey to the publication. The publication of beauty are terrible, even when the presence of Mrs. Langtry's face is brought to bear upon it.

Fraud in Everything.

A great boat race was to have come off at Manville, N. Y., the other day between two parties named Courtney and Hanlan. Courtney's boat was sawed in two in the night, and he declares that he was approached by Hanlan's party and offered $1,000 to let Hanlan beat him, which proposition he indignantly rejected. As stated, his boat was cut in two, Hanlan rowed over the course, and took the purse $500. It is evident that honesty and racing are not yet on good terms.

Serious Indian Outrages.

Reports from the Rio Grande Valley of Indian massacres are sickening. All along the road near Stouten are found dead bodies. Trains have been attacked by them, in one of which were killed eleven men, one woman and a child. In the past four years over three hundred have killed no less than one hundred persons, most of them found lying about promiscuously. Companies are being sent forward to repel them, and if possible check their wholesale massacre.

Terrible Development.

A Mrs. Shoender, residing at Chittenden, N. Y., has been charged with murder of three persons, her aunt, father and mother. Her mothr came to her death in 1876, while a daughter of Mrs. Showder. Her father, who is suspected now to have died in that house, met his death a year later. Two weeks ago an aunt of Mrs. Showder died from a medical poisoning. Considerable excitement prevails over this wholesale poisoning, and the news from that little Chittenden village is the crime of the woman. Her object, as the developments so far have proved, was to come into the possession of money.

Killed and Burned.

A special from Milton, Wis., gives the details of a horrible murder which occurred there. Henry Fogarty, who boarded with Edward Fogarty, a tin peddler, outlose as the following: Fogarty came home last night, drunk. We had been drinking, and Fogarty insulted me, and drew a revolver and threatened to shoot me. I knocked him down, took away the revolver, and went out of doors. Fogarty followed me, when I picked up a club and struck him two blows, killing him instantly. I then carried him to the clover stack, set it on fire, and came back to the house.

The Iowa Election.

There is scarcely any question as to how Iowa has gone. The news from that state indicates a Republican majority over both the Democratic and Greenback tickets of 15,000 to 20,000. The Legislature returns indicate that the Republicans will have a majority in joint ballot of 40 or more. There has been a falling off of the Greenback vote in almost every precinct heard from. The Prohibition vote, expected to draw largely, received a small vote.

LATER.—It is now conceded that Gear's majority over Trimble and Democratic nominee for Governor, is somewhere between 20,000 and 25,000, and his majority over all, including the Greenback ticket and the Prohibition, will probably be about 15,000. Returns are claiming twenty-six out of twenty-eight Senators elected the year and eighty out of the one hundred members of the House. The Prohibition vote of the state was perhaps about five Tenth and Sixth Congressional District electing Greenbacker last year elect Republicans this year. The same of the Seventh District.

A Father's Triple Crime.

A horrible domestic tragedy has occurred at Bloomington, Ind. Wm. Hogg, one of the most respected citizens of that place, and formerly a prominent statesman, has been despondent for some time past over his business affairs, which, it seems, had become a complicated tangle, and bankruptcy was inevitable. He went into the room where his daughter Mary, aged nineteen, was engaged in packing a trunk, and while her back was turned, drew a revolver and fired one shot, the ball taking effect in the back part of her head, inflicting a wound which will result fatally. He then went out of the house and called for his son Willie, aged ten years, who was starting to school, and, after the usual apparentness, shot the revolver to the poor boy, but the boy broke away, and, while only a few feet away, fired the ball through the neck, just the contents of the revolver two balls taking effect in his head, causing death. The murderer then ran into a small Woodshed near his residence, and fired

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1879.

Michigan has 56,137,640 acres of land, 5,178 inland lakes, 175 islands, and 1,620 miles of coast line.

By recent order from the Postoffice Department, all letters are stamped at the office where received on their arrival.

A signal pole is being erected near the east switch at Jackson Junction, where the recent disaster occurred, the lights to be elevated over thirty feet from the track.

Finch, the murderer of his wife and child at Lapeer, was arrested at his home Sunday morning. He was followed to jail by a crowd, who threatened to lynch him.

The yardmaster, switchman and engineer of the switch engine, through whose incendiarists set on the great disaster occurred, are no longer in the employ of the Michigan Central company.

William A. Brown, of this township, brought in on Monday a bushel of peaches with peas on large enough to eat—second growth. He also has lettuce of second growth.—Bellevue Gazette.

On Saturday last F. W. Rice of North Topsham brought to the office a strawberry plant with a blossom and green berries upon it. The late warm spell has caused some strange freaks in the world of vegetation.—Lansing Republican.

The balance of cash in the state treasury, October 18, was $606,374.82; receipts for the week ending Oct. 20, were $25,846.17; payments for same time, $115,619.00; leaving a balance, Oct. 25, 1879, of $506,610.97; decrease for the week, $88,054.82.

Wm. Hayden's warehouse at Tecumseh was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning, together with 150 barrels of flour and 900 tons of feed. Loss 20,000; insured for $2,000. The cause of the fire is unknown, but supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The Detroit Free Press of the 23d says: "Negotiations are on foot for the sale of the Detroit, Hillsdale & Southwestern Railroad, but have not advanced far enough to determine whether the contemplated sale will be made. The project has reference to a more intimate connection with the Erie & Kalamazoo." The Evening News of the same afternoon says: "The Detroit, Hillsdale & Southwestern has passed into the hands of the Toledo & Ann Arbor road. The two roads connect about four miles below Ann Arbor."

Washtenaw County Items.

Mrs. John Dale, who formerly resided on Miller avenue, is said to be insane.

Nelson R. Nye, an old Ann Arbor boy, is a government employe at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Circuit Court convened at Ann Arbor on Tuesday. Will E. Bullard was assigned for forgery and pleaded not guilty.

Judge Harriman has committed Charles F. Dieterle of Pittsfield to the asylum for the insane, at Pontiac.—Democrat.

W. E. Bullard, the student incarcerated in jail awaiting trial on the charge of forgery, was bound over, Friday, on a second charge of offering a forged draft on the First National Bank of Ann Arbor, for $150.

A work train on the D. H. & S. W. Ry. collided with a freight car at Saline on Saturday evening, demolishing the car and peeling one side of the locomotive. The car was on a side track, but so near the main track that the train could not pass. The work train did not intend to stop at Saline, and was running at considerable speed when it struck the car. The engineer and fireman jumped from the engine, but the fireman said on. No one hurt.

The readers of the ENTERPRISE will remember about Gabriel Houck's having $65 stolen a few weeks ago. Well, a Sharon farmer informs us that Houck went over to Ann Arbor to consult a fortune teller, and she told him that "the same person that took the newspaper took the money." It now turns out that a neighbor of Houck's, who was in town the same day Houck was found the newspaper in the road, near Jas. McGeer's, and being that it was German, thought he would throw it out in front of some German's house. Now the question is did Houck have his money stolen or did he lose it?

The ENTERPRISE will be sent to new subscribers from now until January 1st, 1880, for twenty-five cents.

BROOKLYN.

The Rev. Mr. Eichbaum and Dr. Porter returned from Hubbard's Lake, Saturday. They brought three deer with them, and report more quarters than deer. Through the kindness of Ed. Brighton and Dr. Porter we had "meat in the house" to-day, and it gave me such an appetite for the woods, that I shall start for the hunting grounds, Thursday, unless Providence puts in a big protest.

The Adrian relief association sent Miss Ottie Mix one of the injured at the fair ten dollars, last week. They could not have sent the money to a more worthy person.

C. L. Vaughn, dentist, of Springville, who has been absent during the summer, has again returned to his place of business.

A four-year-old boy of Philip Ebert, while running horses with his brother, one day last week, fell off and broke his arm just above the elbow joint, besides dislocating one of the bones of the forearm.

Jackson County Items.

The Citizen places the population of the City of Jackson at 20,000.

Burt Hexenbauk, a miner, was suffocated by firedamp, at a Jackson coal mine, on Monday.

A Chicago excursion from Jackson, on or about the 12th of November, the time that General Grant is to reach that city, is being talked up.

The Norvell boys have bought a trap to throw glass balls from; but they must be afraid of breaking the balls, for they don't use the machine much.

The board of supervisors adjourned sine die on Saturday, after a twelve days' session. The supervisors pay roll amounted to $852.80, averaging over $57 for each.

Jacob D. Couch, one of the wealthiest men of the county, was robbed at his residence south of Jackson, Friday night, of $1,000 in cash and a certificate of deposit for $600.

Almon Upsyke of Grass Lake, who was arrested for the theft of jewelry, was set at liberty on the information of the complaining witness that the charge was groundless.

A day or two ago a five-year-old son of George Arris, who lives one and a half miles east of Concord, fell from a wagon and the wheel passing over his head he was instantly killed.

James Mantle pulled five hundred bushels of rutabagas, and pitted them, on his garden-farm east of Jackson, Friday. It was the largest crop and the largest bagas ever raised in the county. Two of them, which he brought in this morning, weighed thirty-one pounds, one 16½ and the other 14.—Citizen.

A farmer living near Marengo, Calhoun county, informed a Patriot reporter that Frank Overmyre shucked one hundred and five bushels of corn last Tuesday. The feat was prompted by a wager, and when accomplished, the blood ran from places on Overmyre's hands from which the cuticle had been entirely worn away.

John Stevens, an old and respected citizen of Napoleon township, died very suddenly Saturday morning. He was assisting in harnessing a span of horses, when he complained of feeling strangely, and leaning back against a fence, stood an instant, then sank to the ground and expired. He was one of the pioneers of Jackson county, and was not far from 70 years of age.

Helen English of Jackson has filed her petition for a divorce from Richard W. English, with whom she became connected by marriage at the city of Ann Arbor, in 1868. They lived together as husband and wife until June, 1877, when they separated, owing, as is charged in the bill of complaint, to the extreme cruelty of the defendant and his failure to provide for the maintenance of the oratrix and her children. The bill of complaint covers six and a half pages, and alleges many and grievous wrongs on part of defendant. Hence the petition for a divorce.—Patriot.

David Soper, who resides about three miles southeast of Grass Lake, lost his barn by fire, Tuesday morning, together with several adjacent stock sheds, etc. In the barn were a valuable stallion, a span of farm horses, six hundred bushels of wheat, a quantity of oats, several hundred bushels of corn in the ear, two buggies, farming utensils, harness, and other effects, all of which were consumed. The entire production of Mr. S.'s farm for the season was reduced to ashes. We are informed that the loss was partially covered by insurance in the Watertown company. Whether the fire resulted from accident or design is not known.—Patriot.

The amount equalized to the following towns is:

	Assessed Real Estate.	Equalized Real Estate.	Personal Estate.	Total.
Grass Lake	$1,000,000	$1,000,000	$2,500	$1,002,500

Mr. Palmer informs us that he has a watch that is as unusually accurate timekeeper. He says E. Howard & Co., of Boston, watchmakers, do not warrant their watches to run closer than thirty seconds a month, and the Benedict Brothers, Broadway, New York, do not warrant theirs to run nearer than sixty seconds per month; but Mr. Palmer's watch has run within ten seconds per month. He makes a specialty of keeping time for Manchester meridian, which is four minutes slower than Columbus time.

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES.

Giles Van Degrift's team ran away on Monday.

Farmers are marketing their potatoes by the wagon-load.

Services in the Universalist Church next Sunday morning.

The railroad bridge at East Manchester has been covered with tin.

We will not publish communications unless our name be given.

Henry Dean, of this township, hauled 50 bushels of corn in 12 hours on Thursday of last week.

Dr. Lynch has moved his office one door west. It is now over Heusler & Kingsley's drug store.

Ransom, the Prison Furniture man at Jackson, has a new advertisement in the ENTERPRISE this week.

The ENTERPRISE will be sent to new subscribers from now until January 1st, 1880, for twenty-five cents.

We understand that Jas. L. Stone, of the Goodyear House, has bought the Follett House at Ypsilanti, and will take possession about the 1st of April next.

The lady readers of the ENTERPRISE should not forget the opening of millinery goods, &c., at Mrs. Pattle's store, first door east of the Goodyear House block, to-day.

Select your seed corn, put it in some place where it will become thoroughly dry before the freezing weather comes on, and you will have no cause to replant next season on account of poor seed.

The Misses Foster have their fall opening of winter millinery at their rooms over Case & Comby's store, to-morrow and Saturday. The lady readers of the ENTERPRISE are invited through these columns to attend.

Those who prefer custom made to ready made clothing will be interested in hearing that Mahrle the Tailor has a fine line of new goods for the season, and that he is making first-class goods very cheap. See his new advertisement.

A. W. Case of this village brought an ear of corn to this office that he received from his son Alonzo, of Knobnoster, Mo., which measures 11½ inches around it, containing 38 rows. It is about 6½ inches in length, and is of the white dent variety.

The sad intelligence has reached here that Mrs. Joseph Ottmar of Greenville, and formerly of this village, is insane. We also learn that the Polhemus family, with the exception of Frank, are at Greenville, having left Virginia some time since.

Peter Neiss, of Freedom, brought a load of cabbage to town, a few days since, among which was one head that weighed 30 pounds, which he presented to Postmaster Walbridge. Other heads weighed 20 to 23 pounds. The quality of the cabbage was fine. It wouldn't take many such heads to make a barrel of kraut.

O. B. DeWolf, of Tecumseh, was in town on Friday, and informed us that he intends to put a brick block in place of the wooden one that now stands on the corner of Clinton street and Exchange Place, as soon as he can find a good tenant. He will move the wooden building back, face it to the west, and make a good store building of it.

The Commissioner of Highways has let the contract for building a new bridge across the Raisin river east of this village, near Jas. Weir's, to Patrick Costello, for $70. The old bridge will be torn down on Monday next, and parties coming into town from the east, next week, should come by some other road, as there will be no means of crossing.

J. R. Holmes, of this township, planted a small bean last spring which came from the South. From that bean, he tells us he has harvested 842 beans. They are very small, about the size of a pea. The vine was small, but blossomed every morning like a morning glory, and when the frost killed it, it had blossoms, green beans and ripe beans, all on the vine.

MRS. WELLS' STORY.

What the "Outside World" Did Not Know about "a Kind-hearted Husband."

The ENTERPRISE of the 9th inst. contained an article headed "Come with a Handsomer Man, in which was given Mr. H. D. Wells' story about his wife's elopement with one Brownell.

Mrs. Wells writes an answer to the ENTERPRISE article, from which we get the following:

The letter is dated at South Bend, Ind., and begins by admitting that H. D. Wells has to all appearance, to the outside world, a man in every respect, and begins leave to give a sketch of what he was to his family.

She gives a minute description of how they lived and how they got things to live on, etc., but carries the impression that she furnished the money to pay the bills, while Wells used his own otherwise. He was constantly getting in debt, and if she received a cent from him (which was very seldom) it was with an oath." When she would ask him what kept him out until eleven and twelve o'clock at night, he would tell her he had been packing chickens.

She borrowed the money to move them to Detroit, and says that Wells done much better than while in Manchester, and she was encouraged. He gave her a share of his earnings, she took boarders, to help along, and when she came home in July, she brought their savings to pay their debts here; but when she returned home two weeks later, she found Wells deeply in debt and nothing to show for it. She "thought his old play had begun again." She says:

"I said nothing but thought his old play had returned again. In August I was visited by my sister whom I told of my troubles. I followed her advice as far as possible, but I could not follow "a kind husband" to the city every other night to see what became of his money. I sent for my son Charley and he was shown around the city by Mr. W. At about 9 p. m. Mr. W. requested him to stay upon a certain corner as he must see a blacksmith in regard to shoeing some horses. He was followed by Charley and was seen to ascend the steps of one of the most damnable houses in Detroit. Does the "outside world" know this? Can it tell what he done with his money? Why didn't he tell that representative of the ENTERPRISE what he did me, when, with tears streaming down his cheeks he said that my "zeal in housekeeping and economy could not be found; that he had abused me, and did not blame me for going; but if he thought he could do any better, he would ask my forgiveness; but that he had gone too far, and the best thing I could do was to go."

"Yes, I came home about State Fair time, but not with the story that Hi. got drunk and abused me, for I never saw him drunk but once and then he was so near dead that I took pity on him and took care of him until he became sober. I should have stayed in Detroit during the fair but he said my friends would get a damn poor reception from him.

Mr. W. is a hard working man, his employer could find no better. I will say that much in his praise, but he is not a kind husband."

The old saying that "a friend in need is a friend indeed" has proved true in my case and consequently with the prayers of a loving mother and the best wishes of a kind father I eloped from their house in Bridgewater to make a home for myself and son with a friend who offered me a shelter from the cold wind and driving rain, while a kind husband would allow me to save and pay his debts while he spent his money—does the outside world know where?"

NOTICE.

I take pleasure in announcing to my friends and customers that I have made arrangements to show you not a large but a well selected stock of Boots and Shoes, and Dry Goods, at the store in the Kurtess block, next door west of G. W. Dorr & Son's, and will do my best to sell you goods as cheap as they can be bought for the money anywhere. Please give me a call and I will guarantee satisfaction.

BENJ KIRCHOFER.

A FALSE REPORT.

There is a report in circulation, that I do not intend to close out my stock of goods. To prove that I mean business, I will offer my entire stock at ten per cent. less than it will inventory, at present New York prices, freight added, and give all the time one wants, on good security. This is a rare opportunity for any one wanting to invest in a good established business.

JOHN H. MILLER.

To Friends and Customers:

I have advertised no particular day of opening, but am prepared to show you, every day, as fine and cheap a lot of Millinery as will be found in town.

MRS. A. M. CRAFTS.

"How You Like Dose Pianos?"

Silvers' Mammoth Clothing House is the place to get bargains in Clothing. You can get a good suit for $4.00, Pants and Vest for $2.00, and a good winter Coat for $1.50 and $1.50.

Don't buy old mismatched suits, that have been up north for a quarter of a century, but buy you a new suit of Silvers, the Live clothier, where you can get new fall styles for the same money.

Those owing accounts to Peck, the Pioneer Clothier, are requested to call and settle at once, as he wants to close up his books. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

The Misses Foster have the largest and cheapest assortment of Millinery ever offered before. Trimmed Hats for $1.00. Ladies, call and see.

Peck, the Pioneer Clothier, is getting rid of his stock very fast. If you want a bargain in clothing, don't wait, but call on him at once.

News of the Week.

Yellow Jack.

Cooler weather and frosts at fever-stricken Memphis has put an end to the ravages of Yellow Jack. All nurses have been discharged and business again resumed.

The Financial Use.

The Ute Indians demand a full investigation into the White River massacre. They have restored the women and children taken prisoners, but have several tires, unharmed, and want peace.

Badly Mixed.

Secretary Schurz and General Sheridan have just had a conference relating the difficulties on the frontier and the only conclusion they came to was this. That for this year, at least, fighting from Sheridan's many dispatches he was badly mixed.

Official Returns.

The following is the official vote of Governor in Ohio:

Rutherford B. Hayes, R.	187,497
George W. Geary, D.	171,192
Total	358,689
Hayes over Geary	16,305

A Coal Famine.

Unless the Ohio River raises at an early day, a coal famine in the Ohio Valley is inevitable. It is said that there is not now sufficient coal in Cincinnati to last two weeks, at that point, owing to its scarcity, is just double its usual price. All the towns along the river are suffering from a scarcity of the article.

Determined Incendiarism.

The town of Bethany, Boone County, W. Va. has for some months past been resolved by the incendiary efforts of incendiaries to destroy the town. Only a few days ago the office was set fire to, partially destroying the college at that place, one of the finest institutions of learning in the country, and valued at $150,000.

Crowding With a Vengeance.

The women of Fredericktown, Ohio, are crowding with a heavy vengeance. They literally demolished the saloon of Ed. Randall, smashing in his door and destroying his effects. Last week the other saloonist to immediately ship his goods and quit, the town was too much for late. Breweries and drug stores have been warned.

Ohio's Next Legislature.

The roster of the 82d General Assembly of the General Assembly, cast October 14, shows that the Republicans elected 17 Senators and 58 Representatives, the Democrats elected 16 Senators and 55 Representatives, the Greenbackers elected one Senator and one Representative, and the Independents elected one Senator. Thus the Republicans have a majority on joint ballot thirty-one.

Fast Time Across Ohio.

The first snow of the year occurred on the 24th of October. In the vicinity of Meadville, Pa., it snowed to the depth of two inches on the level. Snow also fell throughout the northern portion of Ohio, covered pretty much the entire states of New York and Pennsylvania, even West Virginia received quite a fall of the "beautiful."

Trouble Ahead in Yorktown.

The celebration of the anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., on the 23rd, was a brilliant affair. It was the most memorable place in indeed in connection with the surrender and partake of the festivities of the occasion. Congress will probably be urged to make an appropriate appointment on the spot.

A Train Wrecked.

A misplaced switch on the Marietta & Cincinnati, near Athens, threw No. 10 off the track from the station platform to the embankment; while running at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. The express messenger had his arm broken, but fatally injured. The forward cars were a total wreck. The engineer and fireman were in the engine when it left the rolling, the engineer holding to the throttle valve, and escaped with slight hurt. The cause was from unknown.

Arsenical Poison.

Another death resulting from arsenic being placed in an ocean tooth reported to have taken place in the Levy Valley, Ohio. Wm. Hale, a young man married man several weeks ago contracted a fever which resulted in his death. The dentist put arsenic in it to kill the nerve. The jaw became so severely affected that it lines the bone of the lower jaw. The irritation continued, affecting the jaw, gangrene set in, the flesh rotted away and death came to his sufferings relief.

Loss of Life at Sea.

The steamer Emilie H. from Aspinwall, Colon, has arrived at New York. Her Captain reports that on the night of the 18th he picked up in the Bahama Channel, in a dreadfully shattered and burned steamer Nueva Pajaro del Oceano, including Capt. Diaz and two others, the balance of the crew and about twenty passengers aboard perished in the flames. The rescued persons were in a terrible state of exhaustion, and had been clinging to the floating debris for eight hours.

Horrible Tales.

Miss Lucy Lemaster, at Jeffersonville, has been disappointed in love by a young man named John Arnold. A breakman on the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad, but instead of sending her to the penitentiary, she followed after the sought no Reynolds and said "Here I am." Well, said he "I'm going to Chicago to-morrow." "Don't be rested," cried the startled and broke into a run. She obtained sufficient warrant to have him arrested, then did herself, and this matter remains. The lovers idea, and we believe it ended in a fight.

Milwaukee's Scandal.

Superintendent Kennedy, Chief of Police of Milwaukee, has entered a suit against the Sentinel and Wisconsin for libel, in the sum of $25,000, which damages he alleges may well to have sustained by reason of the recent publication of the statement of Daniel Rogers concerning the license of the House of Correction. If he did so in that statement is charged with soliciting money in consideration of the House of Correction to be employed to be worked at chairmanship for per cent. on the proceeds of labor thus gained. The little row promises to be a warm one.

Expensive Report.

In the forthcoming annual report of the Paymaster General, the policy of increasing the pay of principal paymasters commissioned officers will be strongly advocated, as will also the proposition to pay brevet officers, under certain circumstances, the pay of the rank to which they may be brevetted.

The subject of bounties due colored soldiers will be treated at considerable length.

Receipts of the Departments for the Fiscal year, $15,818,000, disbursements $12,700,000, balance on hand $2,655,000.

Cincinnati Strikers.

The moulders who recently struck in Cincinnati have gone to work, having succeeded in their demand for an advance in wages, which is yet another victory accomplished by the furniture workers. There are fourteen firms out of the twenty holding out against the strikers, and over two thousand men out of employment in consequence. It is said that the amount of the loss caused by the strike—covering a period of three weeks—will be much already sustained a loss of $50,000 for want of diligence. The strikers are becoming desperate and what the result will be cannot now be anticipated.

The Lost Balloonist.

A recent telegram from Millersburg, Indiana, says: Mr. Lamb, who accompanied Prof. Wise in his balloon, was washed up in the lake shore today, and the Coroner is holding an inquest. The body was easily identified as that of Burr by the marks on the hand-holding. The swans were well preserved having evidently been in the water for some time. That is all that is known of the accident. It is presumable, however, that the intrepid Prof. Wise was drowned. The balloon which was seen by the railroad engineer to pass out over the lake at the same point as that at which Burr's body was found, evidently descended in the lake shortly after leaving the shore.

The Labor Troubles at Louisville.

"no fear of violence from the molders, strike," said a prominent labor leader, it is said, by a correspondent, upon the threats of the strikers, the Louisville Rolling Mill Co. Mr. Wallace of Bridgeford & Co. threatened to kill him if he persisted in his determination to have their demand for an advance of wages. Mr. Wallace caused warrants to be issued for the arrest of those who had to be heard forthwith in the City Court. It is reported that efforts are being made to induce the Trades Union to order their members to leave shortly who refuse to quit work, offering them $25 in cash, and a job at late. Negroes and drug stores have been warned.

Ohio's Next Legislature.

The roster of the 82d General Assembly cast October 14, shows that the Republicans elected 17 Senators and 58 Representatives, the Democrats elected 16 Senators and 55 Representatives, the Greenbackers elected one Senator and one Representative, and the Independents elected one Senator. Thus the Republicans have a majority on joint ballot thirty-one.

Railroad Accidents.

Last report comes almost out of the Chicago Times-Times and Chicago Times-Times, and the Chicago Times-Times, and seriously injuring five others who were sleeping in the Pullman car. Engineer Chester Lyon
