

HAUPTMANN'S PLEA IN HIGHER COURT TOMORROW

New Jersey May Delay Murder Trial There.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The hearing on Bruno Hauptmann's extradition appeal was set for 2 p. m. Friday by Presiding Justice Edward R. Finch of the appellate division of the supreme court today.

The time was set after a conference between Justice Finch and James M. Fawcett, Hauptmann's counsel, who announced that he was prepared to carry Hauptmann's battle against extradition to the United States supreme court, if necessary.

The appeal to be argued Friday is taken from supreme court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer's dismissal last night of the habeas corpus writ through which the accused carpenter sought to escape trial in New Jersey for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Acts to Speed Appeal. To speed the appeal, Justice Finch waived two court rules, one requiring the papers on appeal be printed and the other that five days' notice be given to the prosecutor's office.

Justice Hammer, after dismissing the petition for the writ last night, issued a temporary writ of superseades preventing the surrender of Hauptmann to New Jersey authorities before 4 p. m. Friday. Justice Finch did not issue a similar writ. He said, however, the lower court's writ would be extended through the life of the appeal.

Hauptmann, by Justice Hammer's direction, remains in the Essex county jail pending the result of his appeal. If it is lost and no further stay is obtained, he then will be surrendered to Capt. John Lamb of the New Jersey state police, designated as the extradition officer.

Defense to Get Delay. When Hauptmann goes to New Jersey, he will be taken directly to the Hunterdon county jail at Flemington, Attorney General David T. Wilentz of that state announced. In all probability he will be given at least a month's delay to allow his counsel time to prepare his defense.

"The state of New Jersey wishes to allow Hauptmann every legal right he is entitled to," Wilentz explained. Looking still farther ahead, if Hauptmann should be acquitted of the charge of murder in New Jersey, District Attorney Samuel P. Foley of the Bronx then will initiate extradition proceedings in New Jersey to bring the prisoner back to the Bronx for trial on the charge of extorting $50,000 ransom money from Col. Lindbergh.

Still Other Charges. Should he be acquitted on that charge, too, he has himself admitted on the witness stand illegal possession of a revolver and a previous record for a crime of violence, for which he could be tried and, if convicted, sentenced to a long term of imprisonment.

Should he fail to be convicted on any of these counts, there still is some likelihood that he might be tried on a federal charge of possessing gold certificates, knowing that was illegal.

JUDGES TO FIGHT FEE DODGING BY PAUPER WRITS

Denouncing "racketeering lawyers" who invoke the pauper's writ to avoid payment of court fees, Superior and Circuit judges joined yesterday to stamp out the practice. They launched plans for a clearing house to work with the Municipal court, which recently inaugurated a similar campaign. The bureau will sift out fake pauper claims.

The plans were laid at a meeting attended by Chief Justice Joseph Burke and Clerk John Conroy of the Circuit court and Judge James J. Kelly and Clerk Frank Gintale of the Superior court. After the meeting the judges announced they would move at once toward collection of some $60,000 they say is due each court in unpaid fees over the last ten years.

"There are a lot of shifty fellows practicing law," Judge Kelly said. "They have worked out so many shady and crooked schemes for dodging court costs that we were driven to this campaign."

Recently he cited twenty-four lawyers on pauper's writ cases, and twenty-two of them paid back fees totaling $537, Judge Kelly said.

Voliva Awarded Abatement of $79,191 in Income Tax

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, yesterday was awarded an abatement of $79,191 in his income tax. It was announced by Guy H. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue in Washington. Of the total, $47,907 is for overassessment in 1927 and $31,284 for overassessment in 1928. Capt. Herbert E. Howard, 643 Walden road, Winnetka, former federal prohibition director for Illinois, yesterday petitioned the federal board of tax appeals in Washington for a redetermination of his 1931 income tax assessment of $17,453.

SEEKS DIVORCE

MONA LESLLIE.

"First she brings a lion to bed. Then she insists on sleeping with a raccoon. For Christmas, I think I'll get her a porcupine."

So lamented Fred C. Schwartz last July after he had leaped into a World's Fair lagoon to show his annoyance. His wife, the object of his tirade, is Mona Lesllie, or "Venus" to the fair public. Attired in silver paint she performs a diving act nightly at "Neptune's Follies."

But yesterday it was Venus' turn. On the first anniversary of their wedding, Mrs. Schwartz filed suit for divorce in the superior court. Cruelty and jealousy were the grounds. If it hadn't been for the husband, Mrs. Schwartz charged, her name would have been on Broadway's bright lights. She was even so jealous, she complained, that she found him cutting up her street clothes one day.

FAIR OFFICIALS CHEERED BY BIG OCTOBER CROWDS

Attendance Averages 100,287 Daily.

Officials and employees of the Fair seen about the Administration building are wearing smiles and walking with a springy tread these days. The explanation is the record of the first two weeks in October, when perfect fair going weather and low railway fares produced an average daily attendance of 100,287.

"Railways report to us that their bookings for the last two weeks in October are heavier than they were for the first two weeks," said M. M.

Century of Progress Notes

The mound of vegetable and fruit oddities is growing at the Fourteenth street entrance, the depot for Harvest Home week at the Fair. Prizes for the largest specimens, fruits and others will be awarded at 4 p. m. Saturday. Entries include two oblong hen's eggs from South Holland, Ill.; a 100 pound pumpkin from Logan, O.; a 48 inch 9 pound Italian summer squash from River Forest, and sweet potatoes resembling a duckling, a gosling, and a snake from Mokena, Ill. Oddly shaped radishes and beets and enormous onions are included.

Pleasant weather continued yesterday, and at midnight 66,115 sightseers had entered the gates. More than 17,500 persons on the relief rolls were admitted free upon presentation of identification cards, which will be good for admissions again today. These persons were not counted as part of the official paid attendance.

Couple in Taylorville Married Fifty Years

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ebert, who reside near this city, are today celebrating their 51st wedding anniversary. Mrs. Ebert is 72 and her husband 75.

CONVICT DRUNKEN TRUCK DRIVER IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Lester Horling, 32 years old, 3221 North Central Park avenue, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by a jury in the court of Judge John C. Lewie. The conviction carries a sentence of one to 14 years in the penitentiary, but sentence was delayed when a motion for a new trial was made. The hearing on the motion will be held Oct. 24.

Testimony showed that Horling was intoxicated Sept. 21 when he drove an automobile onto a safety island at Kilbourn and Fullerton avenues and struck Mrs. Mamie Jones, 58 years old, 4520 Nevada avenue, who was waiting for a street car. Mrs. Jones died of her injuries.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney William J. Lancaster and Alexander Napoli.

Danville Woman Falls Dead on Visit to Fair

Mrs. Mattie English, 77 years old, of Danville, died after a heart attack yesterday at the Missouri exhibit in the Hall of States. Accompanying her was Mrs. Clyde S. Fee of Danville. She was pronounced dead by Dr. William Blender, also of Danville, who was nearby. The body was sent to Danville.
