Annual Festival Revives Past In Picturesque Mining Town

Stars Still Follow Paths Traced On 'Gold Circuit'

WNU Features. CENTRAL CITY, COLO.—The golden tradition which was born 88 years ago in the heart of a mountain wilderness is being revived again this summer with the presentation of the twelfth Central City festival. In the famous old state opera house of this quaint city tucked in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Beethoven's dramatic opera "Fidelio" and the low romantic "Martha" are being sung by a cast of Metropolitan opera stars. Throughout the festival the picturesque old mining town itself becomes a theater, presenting life as it was when Central City was known as "the richest mile on earth."

Known as "the summer theater capital of America," Central City usually is host to thousands of visitors during the play festival. The craze of increasing interest in the production, the festive spirit that has been extended to two periods, the first running from July 4 through July 24 and the second from August 2 through August 27.

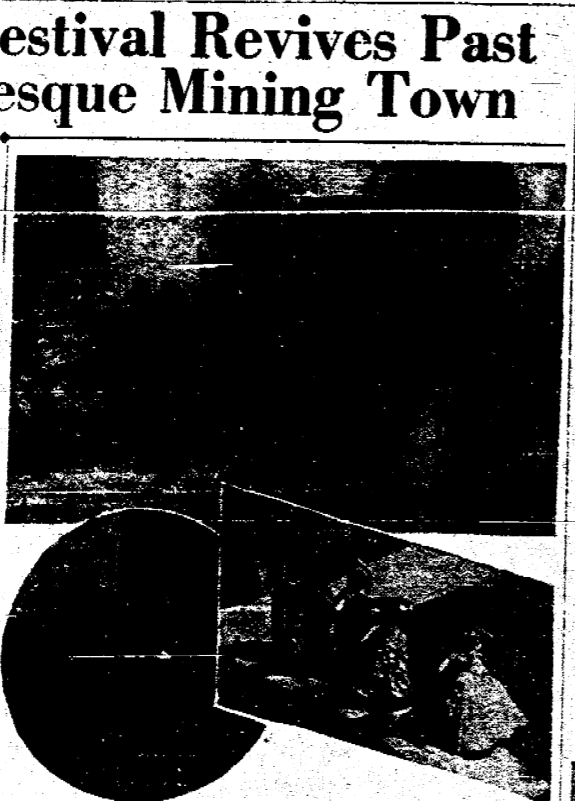

Birth of the opera festival is traced back to the 1880s when miners of the little town of Central City, despite grueling hours with the pick and shovel from dawn to dusk, always managed to find time for an hour or so of music and drama of an evening. The prospectors who staked out the mountains after John Gregory's lucky strike in 1860 had only the foothills here to share their toil.

There were a few Italian troupes, there were a few vaudeville acts, there were a few amateur groups, but the performers of that bygone day, when vaudeville troupes of actors, covered the "gold circuit" as hereabout.

The historic Central City opera house, which was built in 1878 to satisfy the demands of the mining camp's unusual urge for the things of life, remains essentially the same today as it was 88 years ago. Not so the roads and trails.

Golden Gate road, west of the town of Golden, today motorists stand up the mountainside on the new highway, paying no toll charges.

The mining town itself, reputed to have been the first gold town, still has the same old-fashioned gold mine.

contributed by the miners, was the finest theater west of the Mississippi river in 1878. Built of native granite with walls four feet thick, the opera house possesses an ample stage, perfect acoustics and seating space for 750 persons.

While many music lovers come to Central City simply to listen, others also are curious to view the handiwork of the old theater. The chandeliers, many another is attracted by the seating, good but not the best of the west. The stage, which was once a simple wooden structure, now is a magnificent structure of wood and iron.

Early Central City people sponsored church choirs, quartets and even musical "clubs," in which their belted shavers composed simple adherents of German love songs. They paid royalty when visiting the four war years, but the diversity of Denver in 1931, the first thought was to revive the musical dramas of the past.

The modern era of Central City opera opened with William Gluck in 1887. That is not five billions in paper dollars. It is five billions to be paid in food and manufactured products, in exchange for which we will get no compensating products through which to maintain our standards, no products for Americans to buy with the dollars they are being paid as wages, dividends or profits.

The products we send to other nations do not decrease in value, but the American dollars paid to American workers for producing these products will decrease in purchasing power when we do not have enough commodities to absorb them at present values.

The American people will go the way of the nation's ability to have Europe and Asia from the threat of the Russian communistic Bear, but the worst catastrophe that could happen to the suffering nations of the world would be to have America fall a victim to that same Bear. It would mean an end to the kind of civilization we have known.

Now is the time to find out what we can do to keep our civilization from being destroyed. We have a choice to make. We can let our standards drop, or we can stand up for them. We can let our workers be paid in paper dollars, or we can let them be paid in goods and services.

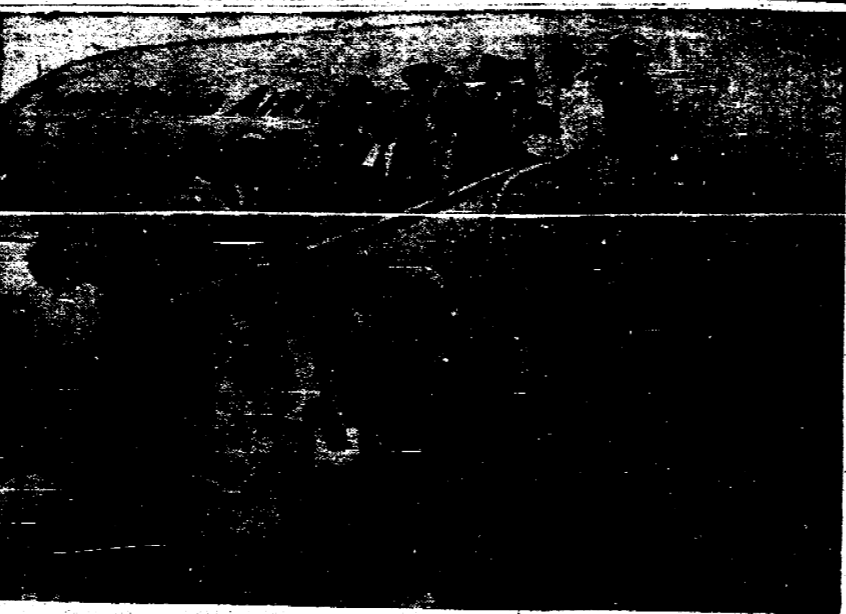

My advice to Helma was to put Helma in a semi-pay home; she has just enough money for that. But even if she had it, I would advise it, and let Helma and Manny pay on the necessary five or six thousand dollars by degree. I said, "Get rid of Manny. You'll have a chance at a happy marriage, and she'll be no more miserable than she is now. Put up with the inevitable, but when you first propose to her, but place her somewhere else, and give Manny this proof of your confidence in him, and your anxiety to play fair."

But Helma writes me back that it is too late. She is in Reno, and Manny is with the aunt. She should have been with this aunt a long time ago.

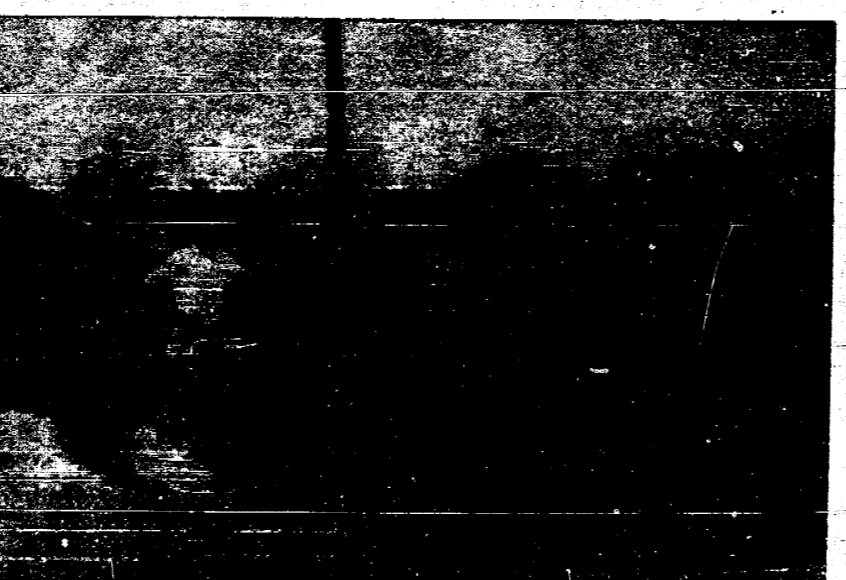

Despite all evidence to the contrary, it is evident many politicians have not yet learned the labor vote is not controlled by a limited number of vociferous motorists who can make a lot of noise, but deliver few votes.

PIERCEAGE TO LOVER'S SHINE—Members of a party headed by Rev. Father James H. Cox of Pittsburgh, Pa., are shown just before they boarded an airplane which carried them across the Atlantic on a pilgrimage to Our Lady of Lourdes shrine at St. Agnes, France. Included in group is 15-year-old Sally Ann O'Leary, crippled since birth, who hopes that the miraculous powers claimed for the shrine will heal her. Since the end of the war, thousands of pilgrims have made the pilgrimage to the Lourdes shrine in search of health and out of devotion to their faith. Pittsburgh business and professional men compose this party.

KNOW-NOW HELPS DEFEAT FLOOD MENACE—With the Mississippi off on one of its most destructive moods in a century, forward on and down the river were head pat to keep the rampaging waters from leveling their fields. At Wagon, Mo., this crew of flood fighters figured up a feasible grain elevator to carry swathings on to levee in background for speedier reinforcement and to eliminate necessity of workers' hauling heavy logs up the slippery 15-foot embankment.

HERE'S ONE ELEPHANT WHO FORGOT—Sancy, a London packyderm, and her master, Iver Rosaire, used to do this "little black head off" trick five years ago before Rosaire went into the army. He stood still, not run off to a revelry. He tried the trick recently, Rosaire, laughing by his ear, had to do a great deal of shouting between the elephant's teeth before she remembered to let go.

HEALTHY, HE SAYS—Ten-year-old Kenneth Dunn of Massachusetts loses out his chest for Dr. Gerard Monach who examines him before he goes to police athletic league camp in the Adirondacks.

HUNGRY WORK, THE BEING A REFRIGER—Red Cross of St. Louis claim that 3,612 persons were left homeless in the four mid-western states which were ravaged by flood waters. And all 3,612 were made homeless by a single day's work. A million dollars' worth of food is being distributed to the hungry. The Red Cross is doing a splendid job of it.

HARD TO STOP—Gerald Green Jr., 2, shown here with mother, Mrs. Zora Green, was pronounced dead by doctor after he had swallowed some crayons, then responded to treatment.

Kathleen Norris Says: Has Mother or Husband First Right?

By Kathleen Norris. WNU Features.

RESPECTABLE policy making of our state department as it will take no less than $2 billion of our dollars to get the world operating again as a going concern. No government department ever underestimates costs, and that $2 billion will be more rather than less. It may be America's job, but can we do it without serious danger to our own economy? Can the people of the world afford a break in our economic standards that today represent world hope for the future?

Without our help at rehabilitation, both Europe and Asia may, and probably will, go communist. The civilization and ideology of Europe has never been so far from the Russian type. If we suffer a central inflation in this country, with a reduction in living standards, we probably will travel the same road.

Before undertaking such a job it would be well for us to carefully consider the future for our own benefit and the benefit of those seeking a job, not for ourselves, but for the best qualified economists in the country.

We will give a Billion Dollars. More than five billions during the next year. That is not five billions in paper dollars. It is five billions to be paid in food and manufactured products, in exchange for which we will get no compensating products through which to maintain our standards, no products for Americans to buy with the dollars they are being paid as wages, dividends or profits.

MAVEN IN HILLS

Old and New Vie in Vacation Fare

STURGIS, S. D.—Western rodeos and historic reenactments of the gold rush days of 1876 share the tourist season here with such modern attractions as an air fair, horse races, theatrical productions and motor cycle classes in the scenic Black Hills.

Tempering the excitement of busy celebrations are quiet lake-side resorts and lodges where fishing, horseback riding and boating are the most popular pastimes. There are cool, mosquito-free evenings and sunny days in which to enjoy the beauties of the Black Hills region, so spread in western lore.

Scattered throughout the area are many cavern-containing underground world, with their many crystal formations and lakes. Largest of these is Wind Cave, a national park recently designated as the North American national preserve. More than 1,000 battle, the largest free herd in the nation, already roam the national forest and Wind Cave and adjacent Custer state park areas.

The summer events, which usually follow a regular weekly schedule, opened with the traditional rodeo at Deadwood, S. D., where the rodeo is held in the heart of the town. Charcoal Burner of 1875 Ranks as First Automobile in Nation

BOSTON—Laurel as the builder of the nation's first automobile goes to George A. Long, 80-year-old Black Bay man, in the old-time Massachusetts Council of Automobile Old-Timers.

The society believes that Long's charcoal burning motor vehicle, constructed at Northfield in 1869, ranks as the oldest automobile. It consisted of a chassis on wooden wheels, with a fifth wheel in front for steering and a solid axle to which the driving wheels were keyed.

Long got his idea for the contraption from an 1820 camp in New Hampshire where he saw a steam boiler and visualized steam as the source of power for a vehicle. The car was sold to a railroad, which replaced the wooden wheels with iron wheels and used the vehicle to carry newspapers to Keene.

Patents were obtained by Long in 1863 on a two speed, 300 pound "steam road vehicle" which made the first use of ball bearings in steering fork, still used on bicycles.

Harvest season is at hand and within a week the wheat crop will be in the shock except what will be left over from the fall sowing. If your binder causes you trouble, our service men will be glad to help you out. We still have a good stock of binder twine.

Did you take a minute off to look at our window full of Boss Oil? Stoves, if you haven't your have missed something.

For several years, we have carried a large stock of horse collars, but of late this trade has fallen off and the old harness hooks have been empty but in looking things over we found that the front Trace Tires would fit the same hooks, so if your tires are causing you trouble just look up at the collar hooks and you will find your size. We have a good supply of U.T.I. Adjustable Wrenches, 6, 8, 10, 12 inch sizes. Also some of the old style 10 inch fence pliers. How do you like that?

What do you know about it. Jackson County has started to pluck the top part of the road to Wampler's Lake. How about joining the Washtenaw County Board a little.

By the time that this rolls off the press, the new Fire Truck and the Timbly hooks will be in town. Four of our Firemen have been called to Lansing to a school of instruction and they will bring the new outfit home with them. A demonstration here is being arranged.

Yours until next week.

Farming Still Listed Among Most Hazardous Occupations

A quarter of the total deaths resulting from all occupational pursuits in Michigan result from farming.

Agriculture is still among the most hazardous of all occupational pursuits. Dr. William DeKleine, State Health Commissioner, said today in supporting Farm Safety Week to be observed in Michigan the week of July 29-30.

Burns and explosion are among the most frequent and most fatal of farm accidents in the state. They take their toll of children left alone in a farm home, of housewives who try to make a quick fire with gasoline or kerosene, a farmer refueling his heated tractor or the man blasting stumps. Grass fires take lives in the state too, those of men who fight them.

Tractors, Haymaking Machinery Most Dangerous

Machinery causes a few less deaths than fires and explosives. The farm tractor takes more lives than any other item of farm machinery and a truck or automobile takes lives on the farm as well as on the highway.

The tractor is involved in almost one-third of farm machinery accidents and almost one-third of all accidents are fatal, the tractors in most accidents overturning, killing the driver. Each year adds to the toll of children killed on tractors, and each year someone cranks a tractor which it is not.

Other farm machinery which should wear a red bordered label include corn pickers, power saws, mowers, wagons, hay rakes and balers, and manure spreaders. A snapped whip or tree and an ordinary cultivator each took a life last year.

Not only do having season machinery cause accidental deaths, but the wagon and hayrack take lives in the state too, those of men who fall from them.

Cathey Reports on Poultry School

Following are a few ideas brought out at the Poultry School at Michigan State College last week, which may be of interest to farmers and poultrymen in this state.

By far the most discussed disease of poultry today is Pullorum disease, which is caused by a bacteria called Salmonella Pullorum. This disease generally kills most baby chicks and usually affects and kills them during the first to the third week but chicks may survive the attack and be a carrier when it becomes an adult. It is through the adult birds that hatcherymen and blood-testing crews are combating this dreaded killer by incubating all reactors from the breeding flock.

Another important point stressed is Culling the Farm Flock. Professor Card, head of the poultry department at Michigan State Col-

432 SCHOOL DISTRICTS ELIMINATED IN STATE

Four hundred and thirty-two Michigan school districts were eliminated by district reorganizations during the past 12 months, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has reported.

Dr. Elliott hailed the consolidation as "progressive" in that they led to larger administrative areas based on larger taxpaying potential.

He reported that 25 rural agricultural school districts were formed, thus uniting 248 former districts, or an average of 11 going into one new district. These occurred in 15 counties, three of them in Monroe, Branch and Kalamazoo counties.

It would not be quite fair to leave out the much discussed Newcastle disease (Avian Pox-muenephalitis) was first noticed in California, but was not isolated at Newcastle until 1924 and has since spread to 42 of the 48 states (including Michigan) and may be present in the other six in isolated sections.

The marked results of Newcastle in chicks are as follows:

In chicks the disease may strike at two days old, but usually during the third to the eighth week. The appearance of a chick affected resembles bronchitis but after four days with the disease the bird may have a twisted neck and roll over on the floor. It also may be paralyzed with no leg movement and assume a nervous condition. Mortality in chicks may run from 0 to 100 per cent. In adult birds the mortality is much lower and because so the poultry doctors are baffled for in Europe and Asia (where the disease originated) the disease wipes out entire sections of birds and it may be that had here although it apparently is mild to adult birds. The marked symptoms in adult birds are similar to the chicks in that they develop a cold that later takes the form of a nervous collapse. The most dreaded result upon the farmer is that production of eggs drops to practically a standstill within four days and does not usually resume again until four to six weeks and then birds may be carriers of the virus for as long as two months.

When is a rate increase a good thing for telephone users?

The right price is "the lowest possible price that will assure you of good quality." That's true of everything you buy, including telephone service.

So—answering the question above—a rate increase is a good thing for telephone users when it is needed to protect their interests from a service standpoint.

The last time there was an increase in telephone rates was 21 years ago. From 1926 until 1937, rates went down substantially. Since 1937, there have been still further local reductions in a number of exchanges and decreases in toll rates. Except for those further reductions, 1937 rates haven't changed, although the cost of most things—wages, taxes, supplies—has gone up.

Just since the war, wage adjustments alone have upped our costs $11,000,000 a year. This includes settlements reached during the recent strike.

Lump all our costs together and you'll find they've gone up much faster than our income. Since 1937, our income has gone up 141%. But costs have gone up 193%. And our return on investment has dropped more than a third.

NOTE: Where the term "income" is used above, its meaning is the same as "dividend" or "gross income." Where the term "investment" is used, it means the original cost of the telephone property less the depreciation reserve accrued against the ultimate replacement of the property.

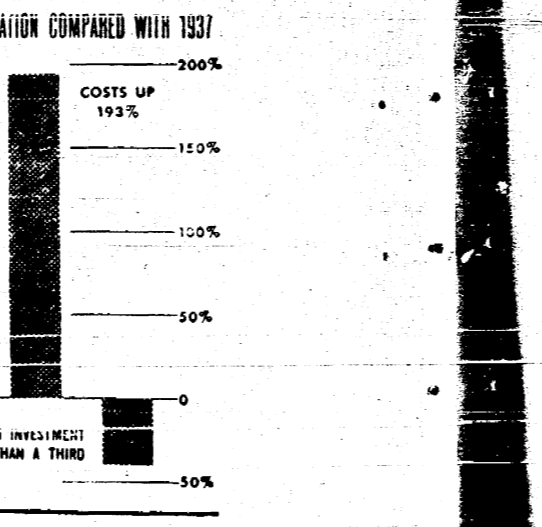

Now we face the fact that 1937 rates won't work in 1947.

We don't like a rate increase any more than you do. We've waited until the last possible moment to ask for one. But that moment has now arrived.

There's a lot of work to be done and a lot of money to be spent to give more and better service to everybody who wants it. The money will have to come from investors. They will furnish it only if they can be sure of a fair return, which our present rates are simply too low to provide. A growing business, especially, has to earn a good return in order to attract the capital needed for growth.

Telephone rates are regulated by the Michigan Public Service Commission, a body established by State law and appointed by the Governor. We're going to ask the Commission for a public hearing to review our proposed new schedule of rates. During the week of August 3, we'll publish details of the proposed rates throughout Michigan. Bell territory. After that, we'll file a petition with the Public Service Commission.

1937 TELEPHONE RATES WON'T WORK IN 1947

1902 Yesterday

Mr. Edison announces the invention of an automobile so simple of construction and so cheap in price that any prudent man can afford it.

Mr. Edison will go to the encampment at Washington. The railroad rates will be low.

While going to the barn with a couple of pairs of water for his horse, Sunday morning, T. B. Bailey slipped and fell, wrenching his back so badly that he was unable to attend to his duties at the office that day, but by liberal application of liniments, etc., he was much better on Monday, and was at the office as usual.

During the cyclone a few weeks ago a couple of maple trees were blown down in front of Wm. Burton's residence, and we understand he talks of transplanting large trees in their places. This is done very successfully in cities and we see no reason why it could not be done here. By so doing shade would be applied at once, while it would take two years for a small tree to grow to the size of those blown down.

Every week we hear people say "I wonder when they will build an electric line to this town?" That's a pretty hard question to answer. The "Baltimore and Annapolis" line is surveyed or prospecting by way of Devils Lake, Clark's lake or some route far south of us; the Boyland line from Grass Lake to Ann Arbor seems to be a stand still. The line from Chelsea to Manchester is in the air and it looks anything but flattering for a road through here, this season at least.

Recently the canning factory placed a large whistle on their boiler and now the brewery, out of our usual stable institutions, now to be outdone has installed a whistle that is heard daily.

The next excitement this week was a suit in Justice Kelley's court on Tuesday, brought by J. E. Teeter against Dr. Hilding of Lansing for the sum of $50.00 for trimming trees on the doctor's farm in Sharron. It seems the doctor contracted with Mr. Teeter to trim the trees at seven cents each, intending to stop him in the job when he had worked out the amount of a note he had made against Teeter. Teeter, however, with the intention of trimming the whole orchard, hired Charles Al Kiebler, Mr. Herder's son, and when the doctor's letter was received, had trimmed 850 trees. The jury, consisting of Fred Kiebler, Al Kiebler, Mr. Herder, shot, Homer Fish, Wm. Widmayer and Gaylord French, gave Teeter a judgment for $485.00, and the note was cancelled.

The line from Chelsea to Manchester is in the air and it looks anything but flattering for a road through here, this season at least.

Recently the canning factory placed a large whistle on their boiler and now the brewery, out of our usual stable institutions, now to be outdone has installed a whistle that is heard daily.

The next excitement this week was a suit in Justice Kelley's court on Tuesday, brought by J. E. Teeter against Dr. Hilding of Lansing for the sum of $50.00 for trimming trees on the doctor's farm in Sharron. It seems the doctor contracted with Mr. Teeter to trim the trees at seven cents each, intending to stop him in the job when he had worked out the amount of a note he had made against Teeter. Barney, along with a few other stories and features, had to be omitted from this week's Enterprise. They simply won't; paper enough to print it all. Paper, like news, is uncertain. We've got some promise, though and perhaps next week we can have the paper back to normal size again.
