Nothing definite has been decided upon, although the music committee has five out-of-town bands under consideration. The selection of the band will be announced later.

The decorations have been decided upon, as well as the program. Other plans have been made, but these will not be published until later. The committees are working hard and a very good party is promised.

NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Climaxing a program of preparation that goes back at least four years, Michigan State's crack military band goes east on one of the greatest tours that the organization has ever had the privilege to take.

Long reputed to be among the foremost college military bands in the nation, the Spartan aggregation at last has a chance to show its highly touted wares to the suave critics down east who very seldom realize the extent or appreciate mid-western education.

The Spartan band will be a fitting escort to the fighting green and white football team and the spirited group of loyal State fans who will go down to support the team. The atmosphere of Spartan loyalty which will be created by the band, and the aid that it will give the M. S. C. rosters should lend Crowley's gridders much needed backing.

Long periods of intensive drill and practice will be partially rewarded by the next week-end trip, and it is a thing that the band most highly deserves. Too much credit cannot be given to the Lansing business men who made the whole thing possible.

Who knows but that this trip may be the forerunner of closer contact with the schools of the nation, and a weaving of the ties of this school with others?

UNION TEAM WELCOMES

One of the most commendable activities that the Michigan State Union has sponsored in the past four years is the visiting team welcome extended to the opponents of the Spartans on the gridiron this fall.

Beginning with the Cincinnati game, the Union board met the train and helped to make the visiting gridders feel at home while at Michigan State. A week later the Union planned and made successful a giant welcoming gesture in honor of the University of Colgate grid squad.

CAMPUS CYNIC

State students are copiously criticized for a lack of the academic and the cultural viewpoint. If any of our honorable critics attended the musical concert Wednesday night at the Peoples church they would have found that their arguments were at least partially refuted.

The huge and appreciative audience that filled the auditorium and overflowed into the sides and the balcony gave ample evidence of cultural inclinations. No presentation on the program was allowed to escape without at least one encore.

One criticism of the concert was offered by a somewhat bald-headed individual. (Probably a butcher.) He said that he would have understood and better appreciated Louis Grasse's first recital if he had rendered it in English. Personally, we think he was overestimating his powers of comprehension.

Co-eds are rushing to enter the contest for the honor of being chosen queen of the beauty show. Two of last year's beauty contest winners have already entered. But don't let this discourage other aspirants to the crown for style change (even in beauties), and the previous victors are one year older today.

Tuesday night was a night of thrills to the Alpha Phi. About 1:30 one of the girls was preparing to retire. Having completed that task, she went over to open the window. After opening it, she peered out (not with the same expectations of an old maid looking under the bed) and saw on the roof leading up to her window a delapidated looking man crouching in the shadows. Her screams rent the firmament and incidentally awakened her comeliest sisters. The police, with their usual promptitude, arrived half an hour later.

The excitement of the Colgate game must have overcome the Thiemans. They still had their homecoming decorations adorning their house as late as Thursday. Perhaps they think the Maroons are coming back, or that it's only one year to another homecoming, and might as well leave the decorations up. Anyway, we don't think that Colgate could be persuaded to come back. One seldom returns to the scene of unpleasant incidents, especially when the unpleasant part is a distinct surprise.

Lansing Ypsi co-eds refuse to allow speech professors to correct the defect. They contend that gentlemen prefer the variety that lips. Their argument has a false premise. Only mental defects, and the debilitated syllables that trip lightly on quip-tish tongues. (We have a premonition of a torrent of adverse criticism.)

A red-headed lothario from one of our local societies has two pins of the same fraternity upon the respective breasts of two young ladies. Fools walk where angels fear to tread.

and to attend the annual meeting of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity will also be made. This trip will be taken during the spring vacation.

Professor Menschke was well pleased with the turnout of prospective debaters, and he feels confident that a great team will be produced this year, but states that many more have signified their desire to tryout for the squad and therefore additional tryouts will be held next Thursday night, Oct. 30, at the Woodshop.

Various Meetings Marks Week-End at Peoples Church

The Alpha Chi Omega society takes charge of the Sunday, Oct. 26, Campus Girls' assembly. Winifred Lee, '34, will give a violin solo; Maxine Sturgeon, '32, will sing, and Gertrude Bingham, '31, will lead the assemblage in prayer. Dr. McCune's 10:30 sermon topic will be "The Marks of a Christian" for Sunday.

Professor C. O. Fulkerson will lead discussion of "How Are We to Think of the Bible?" in the 12:00 meeting of the Students' Christian Citizenship league.

The Sunday Students' Christian Union at 6:00 will discuss "Religion in the Lives of Great Men."

CO-ED REALITIES URGED TO JOIN CONTEST

oil painted portrait given by the Versluis Studios, located in the Strand Arcade; a pair of shoes and six pairs of hose offered by the Shubel Shoe Co.; the choice of any hat in the store given by the Fletcher Hat shop; and the Mary Stewart Shop of East Lansing will furnish a five pound box of candy. Magdalena Stensson, second prize winner in the Wolverine beauty contest last year, Virginia Adams, who took third honors, and Helen Tripp, East Lansing sophomore, have already indicated their intentions of entering. Through the efforts of Margaret Stephens, sorority editor of the yearbook, each co-ed society will be asked to enter at least two members for the competition.

Emphasis is placed on the statement of Howard Sweet, State theater manager, that the contest is not a bathing beauty contest, and that every possible embarrassment will be spared the entrants. The competition will be in the form of two preliminaries and a final. The first preliminary will be held on Sunday, Nov. 2, at which time five girls will be selected. This will be repeated on Tuesday, Nov. 4, with the picking of five more co-eds. On Thursday night, Nov. 6, the final judging will take place when one of the ten girls will be chosen queen. The other nine girls will act as maids of honor for "Her Majesty" during the rest of the show. The nine girls who act as court of honor to the queen will receive $155 worth of passes from the State theater besides many flowers.

NEW FEATURES IN FLOWER SHOW

THE MODERN PARTNERSHIP

Like every other modern industry, the Bell System requires the combined effort of scientist and salesman. The commercial man has again and again shown the public how to use new products of the telephone laboratory, and how to make new uses of existing apparatus.

Aviator's Mother on M. S. C. Faculty

M. S. C. is fast becoming the home of the famous. Not content with possessing a noted tennis star on its alumnae list, besides innumerable prominent figures in political and industrial circles, the college has now added the mother of a well-known aviator to its faculty staff. She is Mrs. Grace S. White, new house chaplain at the women's building.

Her son, Lieut. W. W. White, a romantic figure in the world of aviation, is credited with having brought Buenos Aires 13 days closer to New York by reason of his record breaking flight of last February.

With his companion, Lieutenant McCullen, on leave from the United States Army Air Corps, White drove his plane over 7000 miles at an average speed of 131 miles an hour to make a new record of five days and five hours from the New York blizzards to the sunny beaches of Miami and then over the lofty Andes peaks to Buenos Aires, the metropolis of Argentina.

Mrs. White was formerly with the Girls' Collegiate School of Los Angeles and is a graduate of Columbia university in New York.

FROSH '11' PLAYS TILT FRIDAY NITE

Michigan State's freshman football team will play the University of Detroit yearling eleven in a night game on Dineen field, Detroit, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be the second game of the season for the Spartan first year gridders after having absorbed a 26 to 7 defeat at the hands of the Michigan Normal freshmen last week.

Coach John Kobs is cutting down his squad for the Detroit trip. He plans on taking only 40 men, but in keeping with the practice of giving everyone a chance, will use the entire group. He won't go to the limits set last Saturday when he created some kind of a record by using an even 70 players against Ypsilanti.

STATE GRIDDEERS ARE EXPECTED TO TAKE ENGINEERS IN STRIDE IN PREPARING FOR GEORGETOWN

Although Ohio Team Has Unblemished Record to Date, Visitors Are Not Expected to Cause Crowley's Charges Much Difficulty Here Saturday.

MICHIGAN STATES onward march to the pinnacle of national football glory will be resumed Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Coach Jimmy (Sleepy) Crowley's fast traveling griddeers meet Case in the Spartan stadium. The Ohio engineers have an unblemished record so far this season, although they barely eked out a tie last week in a hard fought battle. The Spartan grid mentor is not overly worried about the game against the Ohio team, but is pointing his charges for the Georgetown encounter which is looming on the evening of Oct. 31 at Washington, D. C.

Coach Crowley has given his men plenty of time to recuperate from their strenuous battle against the heavy Colgate team and they should take the fifth barrier of the season with ease. Case uses the same style of play that was employed by Colgate and Cincinnati when they succumbed to a superior Spartan grid aggregation. Last year the Cleveland team went down to defeat in their initial Spartan grid contest to the tune of 38 to 0.

The past week has seen light workouts on the bill the first few days with rougher going the last few nights. Last night Coach Crowley took his men down to Lansing to give them their first taste of night football in preparation for the Georgetown game. Several reserves were outstanding in the big Maroon game last Saturday and they are sure to be in the game tomorrow battling for their positions. George (Bud) Handy was one of the stellar performers in the Homecoming day battle and is likely to get the starting call tomorrow. Joe Kowatch, more appropriately known as "Bullet Joe," was another bright light in Saturday's memorable conflict and will be in his old line crashing position in the Case game. Jake Fase, formerly a star for Gus Cohrs at Grand Haven, played the best football of his life against Colgate and is bound to give Myrt (Red) Vandermeer plenty of competition for the honor of holding down right flank.

When the whistle blows tomorrow Crowley's lineup will most likely find Cecil Fogg and Jake Fase holding down the end berths. Dory Ridler, giant Spartan tackle and Ralph Brunette, star sophomore, will be in their old positions. Milt Gross and Claude Streb will be at the guards with Handy probably replacing Streb during the game. Buddy Meiers will keep the center of the line intact in his usual good form. "Rog" Grove, cool headed Spartan quarterback, will again direct the team. The Bucyrus flash, better known as Bob Monnett will be at one half with Carl Nordberg furnishing the other half of the Spartan speed duo.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN SATURDAY

Butler Runners to Oppose State Team of Inexperienced Athletes Here.

Michigan State's cross country team, with a string of dual meet victories that dates back to the Marquette contest of 1926, will have its first inter-collegiate test of the 1936 season Saturday afternoon over the Spartan course when the highly touted Butler university runners come to East Lansing.

Coach Mort Mason's men have been working faithfully every night since the date of the first pre-season practice, Sept. 22, and the contest tomorrow, between the halves of the Case game, should find them in top form. With the exception of Capt. Clark Chamberlain, the team that stacks up beside the Huskies will be composed almost entirely of inexperienced men, as far as varsity competition is concerned. Donald Conrad, sophomore, who placed second to Chamberlain in the all-college run last Saturday, seems to be the logical man to give Captain Butler's lead-off man, a run for second place.

Intra-Mural Sports

The all-college horse show tournament should be played off by Monday, Oct. 27. All candidates are asked to turn in their scores at the athletic office as soon as possible, and to locate their next opponent. Candidates are urged to be prompt.

The Inter-fraternity golf has aroused much good natured competition and the players impatiently await the coming of more favorable weather.

Golf

All men entered in the all-college golf tournament who have not as yet turned in their addresses and phone numbers are requested to do so at once. First round matches must be played off by Monday, Oct. 27.

Invitation are being sent out this week to the fraternities to play in the Inter-Fraternity Golf tournament starting Nov. 1 on the Indian Hills course. Rules and regulations will be announced next week.

Bowling

Phylean stands in first place in the Inter-Fraternity Bowling tournament.

after defeating Eclectics last week.

Phylean has won all six of the games played to date.

P. Jewell of the Alpha Gamma Rho team bowled the high score of the evening, 265.

The scores with high men are as follows: Phi Chi Alpha, 2,233 (Jenson 174); d. Hermian, 2,619 (D. Vaughan 176); Alpha Gamma Rho, 2,358 (P. Jewell 265); d. Delta Gamma Phi, 2,036 (H. Marne 201); Epsilon, 2,236 (Cram 192); d. Theta Kappa Nu, 1,837 (Loomis 176); Union Lits, supposed to have bowled against Trimoria didn't play. ## "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

YOU don't have to make any one of the teams to have "Athlete's Foot." The glee club probably has some victims. The man who gets all his exercise out of differential calculus, not to mention the "crammer" and the "plunger," may be wondering about that redness between the toes, with itching, or it may show up with a thick, moist skin condition. Or again, with tiny blisters on toes, or a dryness with scales.

The fact is, all these symptoms point straight at the ringworm germ known to the boys in Science Hall as trichophyton. This tiny parasite of the vegetable kingdom has infected about half the men in college, according to many authorities. The U. S. Health Service reports that "at least half of all adults suffer from it at some time." Universities as far apart as California and Pennsylvania have found 50% of the men infected. And the co-eds get it too. Little trichophyton has made itself a campus pest.

It lurks in the very places where we all go for cleanliness and health—on the edges of swimming pools and showers—in gymnasiums—on locker and dressing room floors.
