

Editor, Business Manager of Wolverine Reduce Pay to Aid Financing of Book

First Student Self-Pay Slash in History of College is Made by Kline and Rogers to Make Further Progress of Yearbook Possible.

The urgent need for additional subscriptions in order to make the printing of the 1934 Wolverine possible was brought home today with the startling announcement that Robert Kline, editor, and Curtis Rogers, business manager, had agreed to slash their own salaries. It is the first time in the history of college journalism here that student executives have enacted a self-salary cut.

"We've set a standard for the 1934 Wolverine and we are going to keep that standard, even if we have to finance the book ourselves," Kline declared today after announcing that Rogers and he had offered to cut their own salaries to make possible the further progress of the yearbook. This drastic measure would not have been necessary had the number of subscriptions to date more nearly approached the 800 the contract requires by the end of this term. The subscription at present stands at 500, a number far below the average

PIKE HAS LEAD FOR NEXT PLAY

Theta Alpha Phi Will Stage Mystery Drama Thursday in Little Theater.

With the presentation of Karel Capek's "Makropulos Secret" scheduled for December 14, Theta Alpha Phi enthusiasts may look forward to entertainment which promises to surpass the popular "Death Takes a Holiday" of last season. Containing a galaxy of veterans, including Charlotte Pike, Minard Farley, Dick O'Dell, Virginia Deay and Curtis Rogers, and being more revolutionary in its stage scenery than "The Foreigner" which was presented last season, the play will be a real treat for the audience.

"Makropulos Secret," with the theme laid in Vienna and with one character supposedly 300 years old, is altogether different from the run of modern plays which have been presented so far this season. Its fantasy is enhanced by striking incident scenes, featuring the creations of C. H. Nickle, who supervised that same work for the opera "Orpheus" of last year. Those who may anticipate the customary facial type of play will be happily disappointed by an atmospheric setting and a better stage event.

COUNCIL PLANS TO EDIT ANNUAL STUDENT GUIDE

Committee Appointed to Make Final Arrangements for Publication.

SELECT DELEGATES

Asmus and Peasley Will be Sent to Convention in Washington.

The publication of a student directory for this school year was made certain Tuesday night when the Student Council voted to sponsor the printing of the manual.

Tentative plans for the edition of the book which call for the names, phone numbers, local addresses and home addresses of every student in the college have been under discussion for some time by the council. Definite quotations were not obtained for consideration until last night.

Tom Otter, appointed to investigate the costs of publishing the directory last night reported back from three firms, two of which were local establishments. It has not been definitely decided to include the names of faculty members, but not has the price of the book been set.

It is planned to use as much advertising as possible to finance the publication of the directory. A committee of Otter, Farley and Asmus was appointed to make final arrangements on the book and report at the next meeting possible.

Two delegates, Asmus and Peasley, were selected to represent the college at the National Student Federation of America to be held in Washington, D. C. during the Christmas holidays. From the seniors eligible as delegates, Louis Asmus and Milton Peasley were selected to represent the college.

The National Student Federation of America was formed nine years ago and is attended annually by representatives from over 300 colleges. Last year such problems as the honor system, subsidization of athletics, student politics and student attitudes in regard to national and international relations were discussed by members.

Johnson to Speak

Speakers for the year include Hugh Johnson, head of the NRA, and William H. Hays, United States senator and other government officials. The association has grown considerably in the past few years and radio programs have been given over a national network.

Robert Schenck, who served as a member of the orchestra committee last year, was elected to the position of president of the association. The association has grown considerably in the past few years and radio programs have been given over a national network.

My friends, said Will Johnston from the roof of his twelve by fourteen-foot shack on his Oklahoma claim, "current issues are pressing us closely, crises are approaching, safety questions must be answered. And now if all of you will return tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, I shall be glad to go into more detail with you." Having expressed himself so the center descended with dignity from his shingled platform and a scolding number of cattle which had clustered there, ended thoughtfully after the afternoon gradually fell back to their grazing.

1365 REGISTER FOR NEXT TERM

Underclasses Will Compel Classification By Tomorrow Night.

A total of 1365 students had registered today at noon according to figures released from the office of the registrar. Registering started Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock when the seniors of the college classified at the Central Registration Bureau. Classification according to classes: seniors 500, juniors 565, sophomores 130, freshmen 170.

Students Loans

Attention is again called to the fact that all students who find it necessary to use notes for their winter term fees should see L. C. Emmons, room 208, Old Hall, in the near future. Efficient time must be allowed after application is made for the loan committee to consider the various applications. It is necessary that each note be endorsed by some responsible individual before the committee can consider any application for extension of time.

ALUMNI TO FETE PREP STARS AT FOOTBALL BUST

Expect Attendance of Over 500 at Annual Banquet in Union Next Week.

TO HONOR STATE SQUAD

Will Announce Most Valuable Player and Give Awards to Spartan Team.

Over five hundred persons are expected to attend the fourteenth annual football banquet sponsored by the Central Michigan Alumni club, to be held in the Union ballroom Saturday, December 15.

Included in the group will be one hundred and sixty-five high school football stars from over Michigan, the state varsity and freshman football squads, and football fans and alumni from the entire state.

The principal object of the affair will be to honor the All-State football team, selected by Dick Remington, prominent football official, along with over a hundred other prep school boys who have starred for their respective teams this year. This list includes football players from nearly every state in the 48 confederates. The presentation of this team has come to be a yearly event, and Mr. Remington's selection comes to be looked upon as an official all-state team. It will be announced for the first time at the football bust, at which time the members will be presented with medals.

Make Varsity Awards

Along with the presentation of the high school team and their awards will come the presentation of awards to the Michigan State varsity and freshman squads. During the course of the evening program, which has been arranged for the award for the "most valuable player" will be made. Both varsity football captain will probably be announced, and both varsity and freshman football and cross-country letter and national letter winners will be announced. Coach Charles Bachman, representing his first season at the helm of State football, will be presented as the principal speaker on a varied program. Along with Bachman's speech and award presentation will be Remington's address, while William E. Connelley, secretary of the state of Michigan and President of the All-State football team, will be presented with a trophy. A special program of entertainment will also be given.

Plan Entertainment

Plans for the affair are completed to date, including the arrival and registration of the high school boys, the banquet and the football bust. The affair will be held in the Union ballroom at 8 o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, December 15. A.W.S. Reverses Stand On Co-ed Hours; Faculty To Render Final Decision

Women's Group Votes to Recommend Extension of Co-ed Late Permission at Meeting Wednesday; Definite Action Now up to Social Committee.

A. W. S. voted Wednesday to recommend an extension of co-ed late permission. The plan which A. W. S. has been working on will now be submitted to the faculty social committee of the college for acceptance or rejection, and details of the plan will be revealed after the action by this body. Decision by the faculty social committee, made up of Dean R. C. Huxton, Dean Elizabeth Conrad, Prof. L. C. Emmons, and Dean Marie Dye, will be final.

Representing the opinion of the majority of women students at Michigan State, the A. W. S. recommendations incorporate the work of a college social committee in late hours, and the work of a committee representing all A. W. S. itself. Members of the committee included two women from the Michigan State University, two from the University of Michigan, and two from the University of Wisconsin. The committee was formed after a meeting of the A. W. S. executive committee, which was held on December 5.

3 about Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by aging the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is 'just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."

State Cagers Meet Michigan After Downing Olivet

Spartans Start Slowly In Season's Opener But Defeat Crimson Five

Sloppy Ball-Handling Mars First Tilt; Wolverines Are Next Opponents in Ann Arbor on Saturday Night.

By DOUG GRAHAM

Another ruler—King Basketball—took the throne this week to rule over Michigan State sports after King Football had abdicated and fled back into the athletic stock room along with the discarded moleskins and green and white jerseys.

But the appearance of the new crown lacked everything of royal pomp and circumstance, and was, in fact, quite an unimpressive entrance. Coach Ben VanAlstyne's Spartans ushered in the 1933-34 cage season last Monday night before a small crowd in the Boys' Vocational fieldhouse in Lansing with a 23 to 16 victory over Olivet college.

Another ruler—King Basketball—took the throne this week to rule over Michigan State sports after King Football had abdicated and fled back into the athletic stock room along with the discarded moleskins and green and white jerseys.

On Saturday night, the State squad will get right into their business, meeting the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Western State Teachers defeated Michigan in their opener last Monday night, 24 to 11. However, the Wolverines are expected to be in fighting trim for the State game.

State was well out in front by half time, leading 14 to 3. Olivet, however, came back strong in the second section to push the Spartans.

On several occasions the Spartans were guilty of high school basketball sloppy handling of the ball, offset only by their scrappy fighting and follow shots, marred many of their state possessions this year was played by Bayview, Dekker, White, Mason, Patchett and Vander-Roost.

Olivet's passing attack looked very good at times, but the Spartan defense caught most of the scoring plays before they materialized. On the other hand, State had some difficulty in getting the ball advanced, but it must be considered that they were working with only a few fundamental plays, saving their best for the Wolverine contest.

Nick VanderRoost led the Spartans in scoring, getting six points. Halverson of Olivet was the big gun of the evening, however, corraling eight. The Spartan guards accounted for eleven points between them.

Olivet employed only six players throughout while VanAlstyne sent in seven men in an attempt to find a fast-working combination.

HARRIERS END GREAT SEASON

Spartans Take Both State A. U. and College Titles.

Closing the current cross-country season one of the most successful in the history of the college, Tom Ottey led the Spartan harriers to the State A. U. title and the Central Intercollegiate championship at Ypsilanti last Wednesday.

Running over a heavy course, Ottey came within 10 seconds of the course record in the State A. U. meet, winning easily in 21:00 over the hilly 4 mile course.

The surprise of the meet was furnished by Nelson Gardner, M. S. C. freshman, who placed second. He had a comfortable lead over Pongrace who caught Kahler in the closing sprint to win in a whirlwind finish.

By beating Kahler of Normal, the two rivals ended their college cross-country careers with three victories apiece.

State won the team title with a score of 20. Normal being second with 46. Other State men in the race and their places were: Hammer fifth, Hertzler seventh, Bechtold ninth, Small 11th, Gardner 14th, Dennis 23rd and Holton, a State freshman.

The Friday before while the team was winning the Central Intercollegiate, Ottey met his second defeat of the season at the hands of the national A. U. champ, Sears of Butler. Sears time was 40 seconds slower than the meet record held by Ottey. The team score was a perfect score as Butler did not enter a complete team and so did not count in the team scoring. State took the next five places after Sears with Ottey, Pongrace, Hammer, Hertzler, and Bechtold in that order.

Ball State Teachers' college was not used to the cold weather and most of the team tied up with stiff legs. Michigan State Normal was second with a score of 67. State third with 74. Western State fourth with 90 and Ball last with 100. Vernon Cleverley of Ball was the first team man of a team other than Michigan State to finish. Bechtold barely missed him out in a very close finish, the two fighting it out all the way down the home stretch.

Awards of gold track shoes and major letters to Tom Ottey, Otto Pongrace, Eddie Bechtold, John Hammer, and Walter Hertzler for the most successful cross-country season in Spartan history were announced Wednesday.

Bob Gardner, Ralph Small, and Charles Dennis were given minor letters and James Miller was given a service award. Bill Macauley, manager for his long and faithful service as managers' sweater and a gold track shoe.

Tom Ottey was named captain of the team for the second successive year as a reward for his brilliant performances this season, his unflinching good humor, and encouragement of the team when it was needed.

Freshman menials just to Nelson Gardner, Jack Berry, Paul Holton, Howard Clark and Dick Anderson. Dick Stow and Howard Trembley won service sweaters. Holton, as the most improved runner on the squad, due to the fact that he had had no high school experience, was elected honorary freshman captain.

Football Season Judged Success by Ten Students

Despite the fact that the Michigan State college football squad changed its coach and system and placed on the schedule many of the ranking teams of the country, the 1933 football season was as successful if not more so than any other of the past. The State team triumphed in four out of eight contests. Of the remaining four games, two were tied and two were lost. The team cannot be condemned for these losses when the strength of the opposing squads is considered.

Ten students on the campus were asked if they thought the football season was successful and in the opinion of those who were asked Coach Bachman did exceptionally well with material and schedule.

Nick Van Der Roost, freshman, as a new system was developed under a new coach and that the lack of reserve material presented much difficulty, I think the season was a success.

Robert Kelly. When you consider the presence of a new coach and the schedule he had to face, the season was a success.

Alfred Storch. This season has been a success but what of the following seasons? I believe Bachman was successful at a reverse in spirit than when he arrived. In the future there will be sea changes on Saturday afternoons and the students will have to read the Sunday paper to see if we defeated Alma or not.

Bob Stoll. I would say that State had a very successful season considering the strength of the opposition. However, the Detroit game is another matter and nobody knows what the trouble was there.

Alfred Robinson. Bachman did an excellent job with the material he had.

Bob Storch. If we had beaten Detroit, we would have had a fine season. Nevertheless, Bachman did wonderfully well what he had to work with.

Ed Rorland. No particular reason this year. All the men played hard and secured national recognition for the team. This is the first year that State developed reserve material by using them in games.

Ed Kemp. In my estimation, the State team had more than a successful season. With only two losses, who could want more?

Charles Dunsford. I think the schedule this year was the toughest a State team has ever faced. I consider the season a success.

Jerry Macauley. State covered up successfully from the hardest season that has ever confronted a Spartan team. I consider the team coach and season a tremendous success.

The short course basketball team won play its first game of the season with the Calumet, semi-professional high school at Okemos Friday at 8:30.

Tom Ottey was named captain of the team for the second successive year as a reward for his brilliant performances this season, his unflinching good humor, and encouragement of the team when it was needed.

FROSH LOOK TO CAGE PROSPECT

Tom King Will Coach Yearling Basketball Team.

With an undefeated football season behind them, the eyes of the freshman athletes now turn to basketball. Last Tuesday evening a large group of likely looking freshmen reported to their new basketball coach, Tom King, at Demonstration hall.

Among the large number reporting are several All-State men and others with three and four years of previous experience. Heading the list are four fast players from Ann Arbor: M. J. Joe Smith, the Rochester brothers, and Bill Nettbick.

These four played together on the team that won the state championship of the state of New York. A number of the fresh basketball stars also turned out and they promise to give a good account of themselves this winter.

Paul Brenner and Earl Zucko of Perry, Des Moines, Iowa, who coached the city championship of Detroit last year are also out. Brenner was an All-Detroit selection last year at center.

The large array of promising players is made up of well known performers from all sections of the state, including several from out of the state.

This year's freshman team will be coached by Tom King, assistant city basketball coach, and last year's even basketball coach. King has coached a number of college teams to very successful seasons, and the fresh are very fortunate in having such a man at the helm.

In his playing days, Coach King missed four years at Michigan. He attended the University of Michigan and coached the team's last year. Two of his four years were spent in the All-Western team.

Practices will be held three nights a week until after Christmas comes, and then the team will swing into the regular season.

The schedule will be set definitely, but it promises to be an attractive one. The first game comes shortly after Christmas holidays and games with freshman teams from University of Detroit, Western State and Ypsilanti have already been scheduled.

NATIONAL SPORT SUMMARY

By TOM O'BRIEN

The Rose Bowl committee crossed up the winners by naming Columbia to oppose Stanford in the New Year's game out on the coast.

While there were whispers that the Lions had an outside chance of making the assignment, it seemed hardly likely that the team would be selected to play the game.

But the whisper was true. The Lions were selected to play the game, and it is probable that the committee should say a year marked by an unusual number of upsets and reversals of fortune by naming the Lions out to Pasadena to perform New Year's Day.

Those who credit the Lions for the loss from football may be disappointed for a big surprise. Chase, who is a football fan, who annually selects an all-star football team from the Morningstar eleven in action, predicts it to be one of the most successful teams of the year.

The Lions' Cup models are already appearing plans for the 1934 campaign and strange to say they are for a team that is not even in the running. The training method used by the cup team will undoubtedly change. Winter practices will be intensified to get the team into shape for the 1934 drive to recapture the cup.
