

Loyola Five Plays Spartans Saturday; Down Central State

Herrick and Buysee Show Way to Victory Over Teachers, 32 to 17; Loyola Not Rated So Strong This Year, Play Here Saturday.

AFTER A WEEK of sparse practice caused by the removal of part of the gymnasium floor in Demonstration hall for Farmers' Week activities, Coach Ben Van Alstyne expects will meet Loyola university of Chicago here on the home court Saturday night. The game is to start at 7:30 p. m.

Last Friday night, the Spartans added their seventh victory to their string by a 32 to 17 victory over Central State Teachers college. The visitors never threatened the State lead seriously.

Little is known of Loyola other than this year's team is somewhat better than the standard produced by that college. This year's team is the Mississippi college quintet which in turn were defeated by Michigan State. Loyola will be remembered as one of the greatest basketball colleges in the United States a few years back.

State will be without the services of its main man, who has been out as a result of a recent injury. Van Alstyne, who formerly starred with Lansing at Mary's as a basketball player, has been out of the game for some time. Loyola has left the Spartans with a team of juniors and sophomores.

Starting against Loyola will probably be the regular varsity line-up which includes: Maurice Herick, star point man, who will lead the team in scoring; Maurice Herick, star point man, who will lead the team in scoring; Maurice Herick, star point man, who will lead the team in scoring.

It is likely that unless the Spartans become more confident, several members of the team might not see action. Curt White, inside forward, was in last Friday's game for some time and looked like a genuine star. Chuck Smith, who starred in the first game, has now moved on to the front court line and may star in a forward position. Maurice Herick, a veteran and one of the best players in the team, has been moved to the front court line and may star in a forward position.

Last Friday night, the Spartans started their new season with a 32 to 17 victory over Central State Teachers college. ## PORPOISE WILL HOLD MEETING WEDNESDAY

Purpose, the national honorary swimming fraternity, will hold a meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 in the varsity club room. This meeting is for the purpose of selecting candidates, and any one interested in joining should report at that time. The Beta chapter of Porpoise was organized at State in 1929, and has been active on the campus since then.

The fraternity is a well known organization, its members including Johnny Weismuller, Arne Borg and many other prominent swimmers.

Baseball Men Get Lectures

Coach Kobs Takes Candidates to Class Room for Study of Game

John Kobs, varsity baseball coach, met with his men today at a 15:30 in the gymnasium lecture room this week, due to various activities connected with the Farmers' Week program being held in Demonstration hall, thus preventing the use of the batting cage.

Kobs does not figure this as a handicap because he is giving the boys a chance to catch up on their baseball knowledge, which he says every one must know before he can play on the varsity team.

The attendance at Tuesday's lecture was extremely good, and the men who are out to secure a position on the team this year, and by listening to the coach's lecture, are getting a good foundation for their own playing of the game.

These lectures are open to all men interested in baseball.

The men are keeping in training by daily workout on the track and practice in the gym. Practicing in the batting cage will be resumed next Monday, Feb. 5.

The manager's position this year is being held by Charles Dendford, a junior in the liberal arts division.

Although John Kobs is not considered as a historian, one may find some history from his back concerning baseball and the changes that have taken place since 1879 when baseball was first organized in the United States by Abner Doubleday at Cooperstown, N. Y. The players did not use gloves or bats in those days and very little running of any kind was in force.

The use of the glove did not come into practice until 1875 when it was first used by Charles C. White. The first mask was used by James T. Hargrave in the same year.

The game consisted of 21 runs in 1875, and the number of runs in 1907 was 100. A rule was made allowing the batsman the privilege of calling for high or low ball, but this was abolished in 1887. The first home plate was made of iron and later was changed to white stone or marble, but this too was changed to the white rubber of today.

The first uniforms were used in the Knickerbocker club of New York in 1845 shortly after the first organization of a club which was the Cincinnati club. In 1876 the first uniforms were made of blue and white, the beginning of the big ball parks of today.

and two miles. The relay, Coach Young said, was just about a half mile and should be a thriller. He expects that if the boys were up to the task, they would come through all right.

The lunch room run by the Home Economics club during Farmers' Week was very successful. The first day thirty-five people were served, and over only sixty were served the first day.

In addition to the lunch room the club sold home-made candy and nut cake.

At a meeting of the club held Wednesday evening, Miss Cleveland of the Cotton Textile Institute presented a fashion show. It is expected that the show will be a success.

FROSH LOSE TO WESTERN STATE

Yearling Cagers Clash With Western State College Again Saturday.

By HARRY WISMER

Western State's big fast breaking, fast passing quintet took Michigan State's freshmen team into camp last Saturday night, 38 to 24. Western's fresh averaged over six feet tall and the smaller State freshmen could not cope with them under the basket. State put up a great fight in the last half, outscoring their giant-like opponents. The large score Western piled up in the first half was due to heavy overrunning.

Hal Waltz and Stan Neuman, two six-foot stars from Indiana, kept State in hot water all during the game. Waltz played the pivot position and scored 12 points, dropping in several sensational shots, while his running mate from the Hoosier state, Stan Neuman, swelled his team's total by adding the nets for nine points.

The other 16 points were pretty well divided up by the rest of the Western club.

Spence Rogers, States speedy little forward from New York, had difficulty shaking his big guard, but managed to slide 8 points through the meshes, leading his fellow team mates in scoring. State's small but shifty guard, helped himself along by scoring 3 points.

Coach Tom King used 12 men during the game, while Western's coach used his first five for all but the last two minutes.

By defeating State last Saturday night, Western State maintained their record of never having been beaten by a Michigan State freshman team in basketball.

Tom King and his men traveled to Kalamazoo this Saturday and will have to atone for the smarting defeat handed them last week. State's fresh are determined and will do their best to bring back a victory over Western.

Western, incidentally, the general consensus of opinion in college basketball circles in this part of the country is that Western has one of the best scoring outfits seen in the midwest for a number of years.

Aldrich, Tompkins Advance in Gloves Tourney

Drop Ohio State Match 22 to 8 as Knudsen and Austin Win.

By HARRY WISMER

Ray Aldrich, open bantamweight, and Lee Tompkins, welterweight, have reached the finals of the Jackson Golden Gloves. Both boys have won two bouts in the tourney and must win Thursday night in the finals to be eligible to make the trip to Grand Rapids where the state finals will be fought. The winners at Grand Rapids will then go to Chicago to fight in the quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals of the Chicago Tribune Golden Gloves.

Lee Tompkins made a fine showing against Pee Wee Mackley, Lansing, and won a close decision from the elusive southpaw. The State boys aggressiveness and punching ability won the approval of the judges.

Ray Aldrich won by a knockout over Ray McBride, bantam champion of Jackson, in the second round. Aldrich set his opponent back on his heels several times in the first round with hard blows to the body. McBride came back strong at the opening of the second round, Aldrich hit him with a terrific right to the solar plexus and the Jackson champion went down. He was counted out by Bobby Armstrong.

Again Friday night both of the Michigan State boys scored victories and gained the right to fight in the finals next week.

WELLS CAGERS BEGIN LEAGUE

Inter-ward Basketball Schedule Gets Under Way Feb. 7.

Inter-ward basketball will get under way Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p. m. in Demonstration hall, as outlined in the 1934 schedule which has been made up by L. L. Friedman, intramural director.

A copy of the schedule will be sent to all A. B. Rostered, who will have them posted in each ward.

All games must be played at the scheduled time. Each game will consist of two quarters of six minutes each with one minute rest between quarters and five minutes rest between the halves.

All men in each ward are eligible to play, except those on the college varsity and freshman squads, or those who previously have won a state letter in basketball.

Individual goal medals will be given to each member of the championship team and silver medals to the runner-up.

MATMEN TAKE IT ON THE CHIN

Drop Ohio State Match 22 to 8 as Knudsen and Austin Win.

By HARRY WISMER

Michigan State's wrestling team back into a buzz saw at Ohio State last Saturday and came out on the short end of the score, 22 to 8. The boys seem to be sharing the victories because two new men took the only decisions for State in this tourney.

Genson, who put up a plucky battle last week, struck a tarter in favor of Ohio State and after battling most of the way lost by a fall in 9:41. Stenhouse, in the 135 pound class, slammed around with Gey but dropped the decision with a time advantage of 7:40.

Captain Austin scored one of States two victories, in the 125 lb. class, by taking a time advantage on Rensche in 5:17. Jacob, who did so much damage to the Michigan man in last week's match, lost a close one to Smith with a time advantage of 6:35. Genson, of Ohio State, racked a fall on Martin in the 165 lb. class after 2:31 minutes of rough going.

Bill Knudsen, hung it on Miller in the 175 pound class with a fall in 4:20. Knudsen slapped a body sander and then a half-nelson on the boy almost at the start and put the works to him for the rest of the time.

Heavily, States' regular in the heavyweight class, stomped him something new and dropped his bout with Renner by a time advantage of 2:32. The two boys worked fast and hard during the first minutes of the bout with the breaks even and then Renner slumped a cross counter rider on Buck. Buck tried his customary headlock, Renner held combined with a high bridge but Renner was too limber to be jammed into a fall and a pin hold.
