All girls who take the trip sponsored by the department are required to pass the test and it is asked that all other co-eds who intend to take pleasure trips on the river will cooperate and take the exam.

HERMAN

On the evening of Oct. 28, 1918, three men gathered together in Williams hall to discuss the possibility of creating a new fraternal organization at Michigan Agricultural College. These men agreed enthusiastically to the plan and their decision resulted in the coming into being of the Herman Literary society. In a comparatively short while, due to their untiring efforts, the first regular meeting of the society was held at which were present 23 members. This meeting took place on Nov. 28 in room 216 of the old engineering building, and this same room was used for this purpose by the Herman until the burning of the building.

The Herman Literary society met at the outset with the whole-hearted cooperation of both the college and the other campus organizations.

welfare of the society. The year 1917 was an unhappy one, however, as the membership of the society was greatly reduced by men joining the army or leaving college for various reasons. In the fall of 1918, society activities on the campus were suspended but after the signing of the armistice conditions rapidly returned to normal.

Twenty-five active members entered college in the fall of 1919 and it was in that year that Professor Scheele of the art department became an honorary member of the society. Since that time the Herman society has held an undisturbed place of recognition on the campus. Its members at one time or another have held positions of prominence in practically all of the campus activities. In the summer of 1927 the fraternity house was re-modeled through the cooperation of the active and alumni members. Another honorary member was added to the roll in 1929 in the person of Professor Richards.

In military circles, the fraternity has five men in Eschbolder and Black Halls, who are seen around with Evelyn Hogan quite a bit. Henry Johnson who is very versatile but concentrates mostly on Louisianing and has a track manager, a tennis manager and a fencing manager. The house has four members on the State News staff. In the past few years the house has not been as active as some in inter-fraternity sports, but this year it has been especially through the efforts of two new men in the house, Harvey (Kilmer) Headman and Max (Otter) Henkel. Headman says he doesn't have to keep in training any longer, runs out to Jane Nivens' house now that the track meet is over and Henkel never could get training that way because he couldn't run clear up to Howard City.

Belonging to the S. G. A. (Union) Grill association are both Tommy and Jack Warner, who may be found at almost any time in the Union grilling corn cobs. Tommy is the fellow who recently hung his pin on a little girl named Jill and Jack who has been going with Grace (G.) Newins is now casting a favorable eye on Margaret Bryant.

The Ten Hoppers are chiefly Charles Harris, who is seen around with Evelyn Hogan quite a bit. Henry Johnson who is very versatile but concentrates mostly on Louisian-

Points are awarded as follows: 25 for the first eight hours of canoeing and 5 for each additional two hours. DEBATE TEAM RETURNS FROM SPEECH CONVO

State's men's team preceded the others on the journey to Kentucky, stopping off for a debate with Bowling Green College of Bowling Green, Ohio, from whom they won the decision.

While in Lexington the delegates had the privilege of being shown around the famous horse farms belonging to Mrs. Payne Whitney and C. V. Whitney. They were also present at a birthday party given that famous race horse of years ago, Man O' War, the occasion being his seventeenth anniversary. Seventeen carrots, instead of candles, adorned his birthday cake.

State students must be learning to look after their health. At any rate, Dr. Clin reports that there is only one patient in the college hospital at the present time.

LUCKIES are All-Ways kind to your throat

so round, so firm, so fully packed no loose ends

We like to tell about the finer tobaccos in Luckies—the choicest Turkish and domestic, and only the mild, clean center leaves—they taste better—then "It's toasted"—for throat protection. But we're just as proud of the way Luckies are made. They're so round and firm, so free from loose ends. That's why Luckies always "keep in condition"—do not dry out. Luckies are always—in all-ways!—kind to your throat.
