Two Thousand Junior Farmers Will Invade State for Convention

May 4 and 5 Are Dates for Fifteenth Annual Gathering; Exhibits, Lectures, Speeches and Judging Will Compose an Intensive Program

By Fred Old

On Thursday and Friday, May 4 and 5, over two thousand junior agriculturists, from one hundred and ten state high schools, will convene in East Lansing to participate in the fifteenth annual Junior Farmers' Week to be held on the Michigan State campus.

The Future Farmers of America, another agricultural organization, will hold their state meeting during the week and Professors G. A. Brannaman and R. A. Walpole, who are in charge of the program, expect greatly increased attendance over previous sessions. All of the visitors will be quartered in the demonstration hall for the two-day period.

BAND CONCERTS TO BEGIN MAY 9

College Musicians Will Present Three Programs This Spring

The first concert of the annual series by the Michigan State band will be held in the auditorium at 8:30 p. m. on May 9. The program for the concert will be announced next week.

This year the number of members has been cut from four hundred to three due to the increased demand for the band at other times. The concert will be given by the Michigan State band, which has been in existence since 1929 and consists of about three hundred members. The band is composed of many talented musicians and is the pride of the college.

Award First Prize to 'Pursuit of Peace' as '34 Carnival Theme

Lucille Kennedy is Named Ex officio Member of Senior Committee by Virtue of Her Winning Theme; Thirty-eight Floats Are Allowed for in Pageant to Be Given June 8-9

Lucille Kennedy, senior from Grand Lodge, was announced as the winner of the water carnival theme contest this morning by the judges, Prof. Fred Patton and C. H. Nickle, and Wendell Patchett, chairman of the carnival committee. The title of her theme is "The Pursuit of Peace."

Honorable mention was granted to the theme contributed by Norma Norberg and the combined work of Allen Kenzie and James Sharp. These two themes, with Miss Kennedy's, were considered the outstanding ones submitted, and the committee stated that it was rather difficult to choose between the three.

The theme of Miss Norberg was considered the best entered in the contest, but its laboriousness and necessary nature in carrying it out were its weaknesses. The entry of Mr. and Mrs. Kenzie and Mr. Sharp was also considered, but Miss Kennedy's theme was finally declared the winner.

The theme of her winning theme, "The Pursuit of Peace," will receive a prize of $100 and will become an official theme of the water carnival committee for the year. The theme will be used in the pageant to be given on June 8 and 9.

Washburn Reveals Inside Dope on Recent Bonfire

Many Rumors Blasted as Smoke Shop Owner Gives His Account of Fire

By Bill Kirkpatrick
It is a well-established fact by now that Charlie Washburn's Smoke Shop actually did smoke, and that Ken Hicks, calling shop has been completely moved into the basement, and everybody has snuck up and had a good, curious peep at the ruins, so the only thing left to do besides cleaning up the mess was to clean up some of the many rumors, guesses, and wild stories which have been floating around. Charlie himself told us all about it, when he wasn't running outside to dish out popcorn or telling guys that he was fresh out of magazines.

Charlie Discovers
It was first discovered about twelve fifteen Saturday morning, just before Charlie was closing. He usually leaves the store sooner, but working on the books, and other usual things kept him later than usual. While taking one last look about to see that everything was all right before locking up, he heard a crackling of fire, and saw the accompanying smoke rolling up from the basement.

An urgent alarm was sent to the East Lansing fire department, and within five minutes after reporting the conflagration the firemen were on the scene. Charlie wants that point stressed to discredit the rumors of the inevitable pandemonium which have been erroneously established somewhat lengthy time records for the local department. Realizing that it might be a serious fire, the Smoke Shop Mentor at the time saved a nickel to some helpful Spartans, who got one of the Lansing fire companies out of bed and over to the fire in about ten minutes.

Lots of Helpers
Friday night dates and other day-up-lates were quick in gathering and plenty of help was soon on hand. The volumes of smoke pouring into the shop from the basement prevented much rescue work being done, although the boys did manage to drag out the popcorn machine, a candy and gum case, and a basket game machine, which had of late lured nickels from the pockets of many a State man. Charlie's hardest job was in attempting to keep fellows from rushing in to save numerous articles, which was their way of showing their affection for the owner of this famous institution.

The total loss as estimated falls between three and four thousand dollars, most of it covered by insurance. (Continued on page 3)

Model League Assembly Convenes at Ann Arbor

Wayne University Students Present Model Court for Delegates

Will the audience please stand for the court to come in?
Two hundred and fifty delegates from Great Britain, Italy, France, China, Albania, Latvia, Iraq, Abyssinia, Uruguay, the Irish Free State, and all the 57 varieties, parading in the hall, were seated in the Model Court of Permanent Justice at the National Science Auditorium at Ann Arbor Friday, April 21.

The Model Court, composed of students from Wayne university, in long black robes and judicial manner, tried the "Lotus Case" before the delegates convened for the Seventh Annual Model League of Nations Assembly held in Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday, April 21 and 22. The trial was one of the most picturesque features of the week-end.

To the Model League Assembly came delegates from about 30 colleges in Michigan, but officials of the League of Nations belonging to others interested in the League. While most of the students resembled Americans very closely the situation was made realistic by the presence of a red-headed Irishman who represented the Irish Free State and contested every possible point on a Polish man who insisted on speaking Polish part of the time and a scholarly and eloquent Chinese citizen who gave the real Geneva atmosphere more than anyone else. Officially of course the language was French and several delegates written claim should have been given to the Chinese citizen, who was disappointed by its occasional use.

From the International Relations club of Michigan State college, John Young cultivated the mustache and debonair air of the French diplomat at Geneva, while Marion Gilbert acted as the charming and clever French woman delegate. Bob Wilson exemplified the audacious spirit of the Latin-American as the delegate from Uruguay, and Ferris Meyer, Bob Norberg, and Dorothy Langdon spoke Canadian during the Assembly session. Miss Ruth Johnson and Harold Fields of the history department were advisors to the delegation.

Record Crowd Attends Frolic on Friday Night; Foresters' Shindig Main Attraction Saturday Night

Mike Falk Plays for Frolic in Union Ballroom While "Bill" Walker Furnishes Music for Shindig in Old Army; Both Parties Have Attractive Decorations.

Society for the past week end was marked by a record crowd dancing to Mike Falk's band which played at the Frolic held Friday night in the Union Ballroom. Decorations were carried out with a floodlight effect and streamers of spring shades with a canopy of alternating colors forming the background for the orchestra. Programs were given to the couples as they came in.

After the grandly dresses and white shoes which predominated at the Frolic, students donned high-tops, flannels, and gingham aprons for the Forestry Shindig where Bill Walker played Saturday night in the Gym Annex. The shindig was marked by contests of various kinds, including match-splitting, log casting, and unusual costumes. Decorations consisted of pine boughs and signs with forest scenes.

At a tea Sunday afternoon, home management house No. 6 entertained Mrs. L. M. Snyder, Dora Mae Shaw, Helen Hendrickson, Katherine Galtwater, Thelma Hake, Patricia Ryan, and Maurine King.

Girls living at home management house No. 4 had a party in the form of a treasure hunt Saturday night. Dr. Irma Hayes and Prof. L. P. Waldo were champions for the evening. Eleanor Tinnish was in charge of arrangements for the party.

The annual Y. M. C. A. retreat was held on Saturday, April 28, at the W. A. A. cabin. The group left the campus at 4 p. m. and returned about 10 p. m. after a picnic at the cabin, after which a campfire was held. During the retreat the "Y" program for next year was discussed and outlined.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Elumens and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Galtwater were dinner guests Friday at home management house No. 6. Sunday afternoon the girls at this house entertained at a tea. Guests were Dr. Irma Hayes, Dora Mae Shaw, Helen Hendrickson, Katherine Galtwater, Thelma Hake, Patricia Ryan, and Maurine King.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nickle and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright were dinner guests Tuesday at home management house No. 4. The girls at this house entertained Saturday evening at a mixed party.

The following house were decorated upon by A. W. S. for the occasion to secure any special permission to be given any problems to them Monday 1-2, Tuesday 1-2, Wednesday 1-2, Thursday 1-2 and Friday 1-2 and 2-4.

Marion Goodchild, second vice president, was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the recreation room on the third floor of the Union. Plans are now under way to redecorate and equip this room for the use of co-eds.

WILL PLAY AT "DELLS" FRIDAY

There are good orchestras, many of them, but there are few that stand alone. In this group we find Earl Hines and his orchestra. His marvelous ability as a pianist has inspired his group and they are without a peer in the field of colored dance orchestras. Hear them at the Dells Friday.

AWARD FIRST PRIZE IN THEME CONTEST

The World War and the Treaty of Versailles.

Approximately half of the pages is taken up with historical events of the past. The floats in the last half of the carnival show modern and future attempts to secure peace.

Beginning with subsequent peace treaties and disarmament conferences since 1918 and ending with the worship of the American dollar and the Wall Street crash, the depression and crime wave and Gandhi and non-resistance, the theme then advances into the future. Ideas of peace and possible solutions of the problems of peace are shown in the last seven floats ending the pageant with Peace and Esquire, the action achievement of peace.

The complete set of stories for floats as well as the date of selection by societies will be given in the Friday issue of the State News.

WASHBURN GIVES DOPE ON RECENT BONFIRE

Three pool tables fell into the basement when the floor collapsed while the rest must be completely overhauled. About 50 or 60 boxes of candy were thoroughly melted as were some pool fountain pens and a card of sun glasses. A thermometer hanging on the wall went through its tube, although an electric clock and the gas lighter still work. One of the great-est losses to Charlie was the mounting he had made of the pictures of the last football team which Crowley coached at State, together with the accompanying autographs.

The complete damage will be repaired as soon as possible, and the Smoke Shop will be completely redecorated. A thing which makes Charlie very happy indeed is the proverbial man's haunt, to oggle at the dependable way in which the boys continue to patronize him. And not only that, but throngs of co-eds decorated. A thing which makes Charlie very happy indeed is the proverbial man's haunt, to oggle at the dependable way in which the boys
