

Governor Is Slated To Address Farmers At Rural Convention

Frank Murphy Will Be Principal Speaker at Main Convocation Held Thursday Night of Farmers' Week; Affair Will Start Monday, February 1.

Governor Frank Murphy, it was learned yesterday, has been engaged as a guest speaker for the Michigan State college's twenty-second annual Farmers' Week beginning Monday, February 1.

Appearing on the Thursday evening program to be held in Demonstration hall, Governor Murphy will address the gathering with a message to Michigan farmers.

Several other outstanding men will be on campus to address various farm gatherings throughout the week.

At the general afternoon program, to be held in the college gymnasium February 2, the Honorable Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for the province of Ontario, Canada, will speak on "The Changing Agriculture From the Viewpoint of the Canadian Farmer."

Mr. Marshall will also address the annual livestock banquet Tuesday evening in the Peoples church.

The featured speaker for the Wednesday program will be Earl Waples, new state commissioner of agriculture.

Speaking at the evening meeting in Demonstration hall, the new commissioner will extend "Greetings From the State Department of Agriculture to the Farmers of Michigan."

Wednesday afternoon in the college gymnasium, Miss Mildred Hatten, state home economics extension leader from Texas, will address the women visitors.

Her subject will be "Relationship of the Farm Family to the Agricultural Conservation Program."

Speakers listed for the Thursday afternoon meeting to be held in the gymnasium, are Dean E. I. Anthony and Dr. William J. Hale, consulting engineer for the Dow Chemical company, of Midland.

Dr. Hale's topic will be "Closer Industrial-Agricultural Relationship of American Farmers."

It is expected that 25,000 or more members of Michigan farm families will attend this 1947 "open house" depending upon the weather.

Last year with icy roads and storms a total attendance of 18,000 was estimated for the five-day period.

Agriculturalists attending this year's Farm Week will find at their disposal a veritable cornucopia of courses in agriculture, if they plan to stay more than one day.

All departments at the college are setting up features, demonstrations, exhibits and planning talks, discussions and contests.

Farmers will be able to bring colts entered in an annual colt development contest for final judging. Swine feeders, lamb feeders, and fat stock feeders will bring in animals to be judged and sold for the annual Farmers' Week end of the projects.

Farm women will be able to attend a week's program of their own in home economics as well as gain knowledge from a host of their departmental programs for the farm housewife. Food preparation, clothing, home management, child training, community problems and entertainment for the ladies will be included in their share of the week's events.

Gertrude Brummelhoff of Grand Rapids was chosen president of the tower guard at the first meeting of the term last Thursday evening in the upper room of Beaumont tower. She replaces Jean Holland, who has entered Central State Teachers college. Miss Brummelhoff is the third president named by the group. Bray Bradley of Eaton Rapids, the original head, failed to come back to school this fall.

Elsie McKibbin and Marjorie Tribe were picked as co-chairmen of the program committee. Plans for the term's activities are not definite as yet.

Work has begun on the writing of a permanent record book. It will constitute a record of the activities of the organization to be handed over each year to the incoming group.

Promotions Are Issued To Faculty

28 Are Given Better Positions by Action of Board.

Twenty-eight faculty members were promoted to higher offices by the Board of Agriculture at its meeting on December 17, with eight full professorships, eight associate professorships, and two assistant professorships awarded.

Such promotions are made after they are recommended by the deans of the various divisions, on a basis of the person's training, teaching experience, qualifications as a teacher, and efforts to advance himself. Teaching titles range from instructor up through assistant professor and associate professor to professor, corresponding experiment station titles are assistant, research assistant, research associate, and research professor.

Edle changes in the division of agriculture, under Dean E. I. Anthony, were J. O. Veatch, from associate professor and research associate in soils, to professor and research professor; G. M. Trout, from assistant professor and research assistant in dairy husbandry, to associate professor and research associate; Philip Schable, from research assistant in the chemistry experiment station to research associate; and O. E. Robey, from assistant and specialist in agriculture engineering to assistant professor and research associate.

In the division of applied science, headed by Dean R. C. Huston, advancements were C. A. Hoppert, from associate professor of chemistry, to professor; B. B. Rosenbloom, from associate professor of physiology and pharmacology, to professor; Miss Eugenia I. McDangel, from associate professor and research assistant in entomology, to associate professor and research associate; and W. A. Kelly, from assistant professor of zoology, to associate professor.

M. D. Pirnie, from assistant professor of zoology, to associate professor; W. F. Morosky, from instructor in entomology to assistant professor.

YMCA Lists New Topics

"Let's Think Straight" to be Theme of Second Annual Lecture Series.

"Let's Think Straight" is the theme for the second annual religious lecture series, which will be held at Peoples church Sunday afternoons from five to six o'clock for five weeks, beginning January 24. The series is sponsored by the college Y. M. C. A. in connection with the Student Christian Union.

The aim of this year's group of lectures is to awaken in students a greater interest in their place on the campus and in the world, from the standpoint of personality and religion.

The programs will feature addresses by a group of nationally prominent speakers. Dr. Osbert W. Warrington, who spoke at the Spartan Achievement Day convention here last February, will open the series on January 24. He will be followed the next Sunday by Dr. Frank D. Slutz, educational adviser at Chicago Teachers' college, whose subject will be "What Price Personality?"

On February 7, Dr. Stewart G. Cline, president of Kalamazoo college, will speak on "Campus Quests." A week later, Dean W. W. Whitehouse of Albion college will present the student's problem in adjusting himself in the modern world. Dr. Wilhelm Pauck of Chicago Theological seminary, will close the series on February 21, speaking on "The Call of God to the Present Generation." Dr. Pauck spoke here last year on the same subject.

Dr. H. R. Hunt, Secretary J. A. Haman, Dean F. T. Mitchell, and Jackson F. Towne, members of the faculty advisory board of the Y. M. C. A., will act as chairmen of the various meetings.

Special music will be provided for the programs by the men's and women's glee clubs, the a cappella choir and the string trio from the college.

Dr. Osbert Warrington of Boston university will be the guest speaker of the Y. W. C. A. at their first all-membership meeting on Tuesday evening, January 26. It will be recalled that Doctor Warrington gave the lecture at the all-college convocation last spring when scholarship awards were given.

The Y. W. C. A. annual snow tea, with the social committee in charge, will be held January 30.

The Girl Reserves of Michigan who will be attending the state conference here at Michigan State college on February 6, will be entertained at tea Saturday afternoon by the Y. W. C. A. At least 250 Girl Reserves are expected to attend.

Alaskan Explorer Speaks Tonight At Peoples Church

Scientific Study of North Land to be Given.

Showing motion pictures of previously unphotographed and unexplored portions of Alaska, Father Bernard Hubbard, "the Glacier Priest," will tell of his recent explorations in the arctic regions of Peoples church tonight.

Father Hubbard will tell the story of his latest adventures in the North as an accompanying supplement to his film.

The explorer priest who has spent at least a portion of the last ten seasons in inaccessible northern lands, will show films, "On the Trail of the Big Bear," "Alaska's Silver Millions," and "Pioneers of 1936."

He was the first white man ever to visit the "New Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes," first to climb Mt. Shishaldin, Alaskan volcanic peak, and the first explorer to enter the region of the "moon craters."

All of his explorations have been for scientific and geological interests and were taken in connection with his studies as a geological instructor at Santa Clara university.

The first of tonight's lectures will be at 7:00 p. m. at which time freshmen students will attend. The second lecture, at 9:00 will be for sophomores and juniors, and seniors may attend at either time.

Trio to Open Music Series Here Monday

Pasquier Trio Has Played in Many European Metropolises.

Three men from France, the Pasquier trio of Paris, will open the 1947 series of concerts by visiting artists next Monday night in the Eastern high school auditorium in Lansing. The concert is scheduled to start at 8:00 p. m.

The Pasquier trio is made up of three brothers, Jean, the violinist, Pierre, the violist, and Etienne, the cellist. The Pasquiers are young men, nearly of the same age, and were raised in a musical household, both parents having been celebrated musicians.

After much home training in music, the Pasquiers continued their musical studies at the Conservatoire de Paris, where they were schooled in Paris, each of the young men became affiliated with leading orchestras.

Concluding their studies, the trio, as had been their desire for three brothers, formed a string quartet. In 1937 they made their debut in Paris. On later tours, they made appearances in London, Milan, Vienna, Brussels, and many other European metropolises.

This past season they played more than 60 concerts, including several in Holland, Belgium, and England, as well as in the capital cities of Prague, Budapest, and Berlin. They have also gained recognition as radio players.

At present they are preparing four new works which will soon be presented to the public for the first time. This is their first American tour.

Reserved seats may be obtained by students by presenting the proper coupons from their activities books at the accounting office in the Administration building. Tickets will also be available to twopenny. Admission to non-students will be $1.00 for a single concert, $1.50 for the entire course, composed of six concerts. Tickets of these concerts are of symphony orchestra, the others of specialty groups.

Assisting Chapin on the executive committee for the party are Prof. C. H. Nickle, Mary Ellen Grover, Doris Rose, and Virginia McBride.

Subcommittees are as follows: finance—Larry Hamilton, chairman; Hope Cary and Virginia McBride, patrons; Mary Ellen Taylor; entertainment, Georgene Walker, chairman; Elizabeth Lillie, Virginia Thomas and Mary Ellen Grover; tickets, Norman Foster, chairman; Marion Eare and Julia Simmons; publicity, Polly Dietz, chairman; Kim Jepson, Eleanor Bebe, Carol Dweilky, John Yunk and Doris Rose.

Patrons for the affair will be Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Nickle and Dean and Mrs. R. C. Huston. Guests will be Dean Elizabeth Conrad and former Prof. E. S. King. Tickets may be purchased at the Union desk, Sandy's or from any member of the organization, for one dollar a couple.

With the signing of Blue Barron and his orchestra for their annual formal party, the Varsity club has practically completed preparations for what they intend to make their biggest party in recent years.

Blue Barron will come to the Masonic temple next Friday night, January 22, direct from the Southern Tavern in Cleveland. While there he was featured in broadcasts over WTAM and the NAC coast to coast hook-ups.

With him will appear Russ Corlies, featured baritone; Ronnie Snyder, throat whistler; Charlie Fischer and Ernie Straub, tenors; and the Three Blue Notes, the vocal trio.

The committees for the party are headed by the following chairman: General chairman, Milt Lehman; decorations, Frances Callahan; band, Harrison Neuman; finance, Julius Stedry; favors, Steve Seim; programs, Gordon Dahlgren; publicity, Norman Fertin; tickets, Frances Dietrich; invitations, Willard Kinnzinger; reception, Vincent Vanderburg.

Tickets are selling for $4.00 per couple with the limit set at 200 couples. Recordings by Blue Barron will be featured over WKAR at frequent intervals all this week and next.

Will the souvenir collectors who took the wooden letters from the Mortar Board party, Friday night, please return them to Jean Hallard? The organization plans to use these letters again.

Scholarship List Varied

Three Institutions Offer Financial Assistance to Students.

Notices of recently created scholarships making sums ranging from $500 and $650 available to students interested in advanced work in many fields were recently received in the office of Dr. E. A. Bessy, dean of the graduate school.

These student subsidies are being granted by the University of Minnesota, the University of California, and the Charles A. Coffin Foundation.

At the University of California 75 fellowships and graduate assistantships are available for 1947-48 in various fields of study offered there.

Fellowships offered by the Coffin foundation are in the field of electricity, physics, and physical chemistry. These fellowships receive a stipend of $500 a year, and are not assigned to any particular institution, the applicant being allowed to pick out his own college of university. Seniors graduating in June as well as previous graduates, will be eligible for the awards.

Application blanks may be obtained from the secretary of the Charles A. Coffin foundation, Schenectady, N. Y., and when properly filled out should be submitted to Dean R. C. Huston. Eligible students who wish to qualify should have their applications checked by Dean Dicks and then brought to Dean Huston. The final date for filing applications is February 15.

Stipends of $650 the first year are available with pre-graduate fellowships in public administration at the University of Minnesota. The purpose of these fellowships is to train students for work in governmental positions in national, state and local government in the fields of social science, agricultural research, teaching, dairy, medicine and law. Students with these fellowships will be expected to spend the first year at the University of Minnesota managing in certain fields of public administration, but also following other lines of work that he has carried out in his undergraduate years.

For the second year he will have what is equivalent to an internship in one national or state department. He will prepare a thesis in the form of a report of some administrative problem assigned by the University staff.

Those interested in learning further details of any of the above fellowships should consult circulars on file in the graduate office in the botany building.

Further announcements have been made that there will be no registration of any camp list, whatever.

The party Friday night will be the first of the major all-college formal affairs will be held downtown at the Masonic temple. It is definitely open to everybody. That is made clear because until last year the event was closed to non-members only.

Orchestra Will Play for First All-College Party of the Season; Has Gained Motion Picture and Radio Fame in West.

Entertaining the opening of the winter party, when the band club announced today that Bill Hogan and his Hollywood band, Californians, will play for their formal first Friday night in the Masonic temple ballroom in Lansing.

With Hogan's band will come Rita O'Hayer, regularly featured with the band, and originally a member of the group's Three Kittens. Bill Hogan has also completed an engagement in the Empire room of the Hotel Schrader in Milwaukee, just previous to that he was on an extended tour of the RKO theater circuit.

The band entered the major class seven years ago when it was signed by the Baltimore hotel in Los Angeles. Being in the center of the motion picture industry it was not long before movie scouts were attracted to the Hogan organization.

Marking its first attempt at recording a screen attraction, the band appeared in Fox's production, "Bad Girl," the picture which starred Sally Eilers and Jimmy Dunn in London. Since that time the band has furnished the music for more than 40 other productions.

Following its outstanding success on the coast, from which Hogan took both the name of the band and its theme song, "Hollywood Moods," the orchestra came to the Midwest two years ago.

Hogan was installed at the Marine dining room of the Lakeside Hotel in Chicago as his first post in this part of the country since assuming top ranking. Although he had the same what-though job of following Hedley Kays' famous band and that place his group did not suffer from comparison and last became popular.

Later he spent a summer at Chicago's Coconut Grove, and other dance and party places around the city. The Columbia network paid him high honor by following him around regardless of location for a time, creating his music out of a sustaining base.

Rita O'Hayer, his vocalist, was one of the three girls who made up the Three Kittens when Bill Hogan's band first attained fame. The group has since broken up, but she has continued to appear with the band as a soloist.

BILLIARD STAR HERE

Cagers Meet Kentucky, Marquette Here This Week

'All Forward' Team Expected To Start Against Keen Foes

Spartans Break Even in Two-game Series at Cleveland; Whip Geneva in Thriller After Losing to Case University Five.

Basketball fans in these parts, especially those followers of Michigan State's Spartans, today are girding themselves to "take in" a couple of super-games here this week.

The Spartans oppose University of Kentucky in demonstration hall Thursday night, and two nights later tangle with Bill Chandler's Marquette Hilltoppers in the same arena.

Of the two games, the Kentucky affair should be the hottest for a couple of reasons. First, the Colonels, we hope, will bring some of that southern sunshine and warmth with them to East Lansing.

Indoor Ball Started In Men's Loop

Opening Games Held Last Night in Independent Men's League.

Hey! Swimmers

There still is a wide open race on for positions on the frosh swimming team. Jake Danbert, the State coach, asks that any prospective swimmers make an early appearance at the gym pool some night this week.

The frosh schedule is not as yet complete, but the varsity will open their season January 27 against the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Coach Ben VanAlstyne's Spartans start this week, still boasting a 500 percentage for the season's play. The team broke even in a two-night stand at Cleveland last week-end, losing to Case, 38-24, and then staging a comeback to beat Geneva College of Pennsylvania in the last five minutes of play, 42-41.

Van Shifts Lineup

The latest lineup consisting of Dargush and Osterink, forwards; Nelson, center; and Garlock and Kraft, guards, came into existence in the Geneva game. This team showed plenty of scoring punch, but as the score indicates, its defense wasn't anything about which to brag.

It is interesting to note Van Alstyne is full wing a hockey trait of using all forwards, even though Garlock and Kraft are listed as guards. The former did play guard last season, but he still is a far better man on offense than defense.

Team Has Height

Van used all forwards for 40 minutes, while hockey managers follow this procedure only when the other team is short handed or in the final minutes of play when they are behind. The team does carry plenty of height, which may prove an advantage in future games.

The games at Cleveland unveiled a new Spartan star, Leonard Osterink, 6 foot 3 inch forward. Osterink bagged 11 points in the Case battle and the following night registered the high total of 21.

It was Osterink's basket in the final five seconds of play which allowed State to beat Geneva. Kraft had 14 points over the weekend for second place honors. State led most of the way against Case, only to falter in the home stretch. The Spartans pulled away in the second half, after going to the intermission leading 17-16, but Case rallied to deadlock the count at 25.

Casers Rally Again

Once more State moved to the front and again Case's rough riding came back to tie the score, this time at 32. But the Casers pulled out some time, seized the lead and maintained it during the remaining few minutes.

The Spartans trailed Geneva, 28-18 at the half. In the second half the lead swayed back and forth, but midway in the stanza, State became "hot" and pulled out to a 37-26 lead. Geneva fought back and with about half minute to play Milanovich missed a rebound home and the Geneva tornado lead, 41-40.

Geneva got the tip off but lost the ball to Osterink, who dribbled all the way down and sank the winning points. It was a swell play to watch.

KENTUCKY'S SCORING THREATS

JOE "RED" HAGAN
-FORWARD-

CAPT. WARFIELD DONOHUE-GUARD

Joe Hagan and Captain Donohue from the blue grass land are expected to give the Spartan defense a thorough going over. These two players have played a prominent role in Kentucky's success. They will be very conspicuous in the Wildcat attack against Van Alstyne's men.

Wayne Trips Bauer's Men

SPORTORIALS

By AL THEILER, Sports Editor

A record turnout witnessed the fencing duels in which the Wayne swordsmen defeated the Spartans 11 to 6 last Friday night. The Detroit visitors, led by the colorful Captain Karch, high point man of the program, out-manuevered State but only after a fast and furious struggle. Captain Bon-benck, State's star, was able to garner two epee bouts and one in foil. Incidentally, the meet was run off in the remarkable time of one hour and fifteen minutes, as contrasted against two hours which it usually takes for a fencing meet.

Coach de Tuscan's men from Wayne made a clean sweep of the same event. State's fencers made their best showing in the epee where they won three events. Captain Karch won over Ingleson in the epee after being pressed to the limit.

When the Spartans invaded Cleveland over the week-end, they ran into some unexpectedly tough opposition. Although Coach Van Alstyne knew something about what was to come up in the Geneva College game on Saturday night, he didn't figure this Case outfit to be so very puzzling. Geneva is the team that handed the City College of New York two successive beatings, and Ben knew they'd be tough. But the Case game was taken in more or less to break up the trip, and when the Spartans ran into a setback, it was really an upset.

Back home in Grand Rapids they probably aren't as surprised as a lot of State fans are. They have seen him play basketball before and they know what he can do. But around here, he was more or less unknown until recently, and big things weren't expected of him.

But when Len Osterink stepped out against Geneva College on Saturday night and demonstrated to the fans down in Cleveland that two points are made in the game of basketball, he also showed State followers that he was to be reckoned with in any future discussions about the Spartans. He rattled off twenty-one points in the Geneva game, one of the best performances turned in by a Spartan in recent years.

Len, as his picture shows, is tall and lanky, and makes lot of his points from rebounds off the backboard. He is a changing type of player, and hard to stop. And he'll be a great asset around here during the next couple years.

The University of Kentucky Wildcats who come here Thursday night generally number among their players one individual threat who makes it a general habit of wrecking a lot of opposition hopes with high scoring demonstrations. State followers will recall that game in 1935 when the Cats came on here and were beaten 33-25. That year one tall lanky center, Edwards by name, scored 18 of his teams points and was the main reason the game was close.

Van Alstyne had Arn VanFaasen playing center that night, and he used three men to guard Edwards. "We had three men guarding Edwards for that game, but it wasn't enough. We should have used five," Van says.

Now they've another one man team who bids fair to do the same stunt all over again. Ralph Carlisle, 6 ft. 11 inches of center, is the man the Spartans will have their eyes on, and if the Wildcats are to be beaten Carlisle will have to be stopped.

Joe Hagan, pictured elsewhere on this page, will play the other forward spot alongside Carlisle, and both boys are tough. All told, the Cats average over 6 ft. each in height, and will give the Spartans a good tussle around the basket.

If you think the Spartans are getting the soft end, just look at the schedule for the next few games. Starting on Thursday, they face games with first class opposition five times within the next ten days. Kentucky is first, Marquette, Springfield and then Northwestern follow the Hawks schedule, that.

Just to further our point that this Kentucky game is no soap-op, let's take a look at their record this year. Outside of a loss to the Irish of Notre Dame, they've had little difficulty so far. This is it:

Kentucky	34	Georgetown	31
Kentucky	29	Berea	29
Kentucky	34	Xavier	28
Kentucky	37	Centenary	19

Frosh Baseball

First signs of spring along the Red Cedar appeared yesterday when Coach Kots started preparations for the baseball season.

He requested that all freshmen candidates for this year's frosh nine report to the gym lecture room Saturday, January 16, at 1:00 p. m. All freshmen who expect to be on this year's team are expected to be present at that time.

M.S.C. Partly Tux In For The Winter

and so we're all formally set to go on gala year

With scarcely a week of classes on the record, Spartan boys and girls unpacked their toques and their formal frocks from the mothballs for from a box from a smart shop or a charming store, to wear to the variety of the M.S.C. formal season with its dance in the Union ballroom Friday night. Many a girl, who spent out in large, wooden houses, found the front of the "M.S.C. hill-top" a new world.

The Mac Hadden, who had been a "look" that some might play in the arena.

Dances and parties are planned informal affairs for the Hotel Map Saturday night at the Union. This was an innovation in dances, and the hotel men plan to make it a case of history repeating itself every year.

Ramblers for the sell-out of the game New Years day. To quote Jones says:

The fighting Irish came to the rescue just in time. After 75,000 grid fans had watched Notre Dame display a crushing offensive against the Truans, folks sort of figured that any team that could lick the South Bend Ramblers by four touchdowns, such as Pitt had done, certainly couldn't be any push-over. They were right.

There is a review of the game in the next issue of the Michigan State News. The review is by Jones.

Graduate Dames Entertained At Fabian Home

Approximately seventy members and guests of the Graduate Dames Club were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Fabian Sunday evening. All were in good luck. The evening was a success. The evening was a success. The evening was a success.

Mr. Sage gave a talk on his impressions of Europe gained from four trips abroad, entitled "A European Kaleidoscope". Mr. Gordon Fisher, of the French department of Michigan State college, followed with several selections on the accordion. They were: Valse Caprice, by Porsini; Lieberstraum, arranged by Phil Baker; Carnival of Venice, arranged by Porsini; and Humoresque, by Dvorak.

Mr. Fisher then played and sang "Home on the Range", "Waiting for the Sunrise", and the Michigan State "Alma Mater". After tea was served in the dining room with Mrs. R. J. Baldwin presiding, the evening was concluded with the entire group singing led by Mr. MacFarlan, with Mrs. H. B. Taylor at the piano.

State Theatre PREVUES

"Valiant Is The Word For Carrie" brings to the screen Gladys George, famous stage actress, in the role. She is supported by Arline Judge, John Howard, Dudley Digges, Harry Carey, and Isabel Jewell. Miss George is a dramatic actress of exceptional ability and the mother role she creates in this film places her immediately among the great of film.

"Valiant Is The Word For Carrie" is the story of a woman without money, without friends, and without reputation, who longs for a family of her own. She adopts two waifs, played by Jackie Moran and Charlene Wyatt, and takes them to a distant city. Her struggle is a hard one but she rears them to glorious young manhood and womanhood. The adult roles of the children are played by Arline Judge and John Howard.
