STATE SET TO REPULSE 'TOPPER' INVASION

Today's Campus

Starting Young

Students at Michigan State start humming early in life. At about 10 o'clock that way Friday morning when a contingent of nursery school pupils were sitting on the curb on Grand River at Abbot Road. Actually the youngsters were waiting for the coaches who have charge of them. They are well enough trained not to cross the streets alone.

"Stick, Frosh"

One of the reasons why instructors of freshman composition die young has been revealed by Prof. W. B. Moffett, of the English department. The following unvarnished mixed metaphor appeared in this year's crop of themes: "I was caught between two fires so I had to stay and face the music." The writer must have been thinking of sizzling steaks.

Drake Will Jump

Capt. Royce A. Drake, whose jumping featured M. S. C. horse shows in his years here, has been named one of five to represent the United States in the International military jumping contest at the National horse show this year. The show will be staged in Madison Square garden, 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. November 3 to 5. The United States team will compete against teams from Canada, the Irish Free State, Belgium, and Holland.

Captain Drake was a member of the Michigan State cavalry unit for five years, before leaving here in June.

Georgia Joins

Thirty-five states are represented in Michigan State's total enrollment of 5,181 students. The state of Georgia joined the parade when Ralph C. Watson, a Coaldale, enrolled here this fall. The current enrollment figure represents a 13 per cent gain over last year.

Tickets Still Available

L. L. Frimondig, in charge of football tickets, announced Friday that all students who have not secured their seats for today's game can do so up until noon today at the treasurer's office. All students are warned to bring their student books to gain admission to the stadium.

Freshman Gullibility

To Tom Read, freshman, should be the dubious honor of being the most gullible student. Friday he decided that he wanted to see the Marquette game, so he asked the fellows in his rooming house where he should go for his ticket. They told him to go to Beaumont tower and to knock three times on the front door. The conspirators hid in the bushes near the tower and watched Read vainly trying to gain admittance. From now on he will receive plenty of razberries.

Herbert Will Attend

National Tax Meeting

Prof. P. A. Herbert of the forestry department will attend the National Tax conference which is to be held at Baltimore, Md., October 25-28. Professor Herbert, a member of the National Tax association, will leave Lansing by plane some time today. He is a delegate from Michigan.

PICTURE DEADLINES

Freshmen with names beginning with I through O must have their Wolverine proofs returned not later than Thursday, October 28. Freshmen in this section of the alphabet who have not had their pictures taken should call the Versalva studio at once and arrange for a sitting. The phone number is 4-2213.

Ag Board Has Busy, Varied
Session Here

Fellowships, Appointments are Principal Matters
Handled Thursday.

The State Board of Agriculture met Thursday to put the new faculty retirement program in effect. Under this program, persons of 65 years of age and above may retire voluntarily, but compulsory retirements affecting those of 70 or over, will not be made until July 1, 1938.

The board inaugurated an auditing and accounting service which will be available to fraternities and sororities at a cost of $25 annually. This service is entirely voluntary.

Several funds for research were accepted. They were: $1200 from the Kellogg company of Battle Creek for research in fox ration; $900 for research of food preservation following quick freezing; $1200 from the Corn Products Refining company of Argo, Ill., for research in food bacteriology; $600 fellowship from the Dairy and Ice Cream Machinery Supplies association. This fellowship is held this year by Richard Larson, a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

APPOINTMENTS NUMEROUS
Miss Frances Starin was appointed assistant professor of foods in the home economics division of the University of Nebraska. Miss Starin has her master's degree from the University of Chicago.

Other appointments were: Don W. Seble, research assistant in mechanical engineering; Dr. John C. Clark, instructor in physics; Miss Lorinda Scott, instructor in music; H. O. Allen, research assistant in chemistry; Dr. Evelyn H. Scholl, instructor in English; Dr. Charles F. Holland, full-time assistant physician in the health service; Miss Mary Jones, home demonstration agent for the northern Michigan district; Mrs. Olive Dobson Henkel, instructor in music.

Don Hayne, research assistant in zoology; M. C. McGrady, instructor in chemical engineering; Miss Marianna Auer, instructor in chemistry; Dr. H. L. Barnett, instructor in botany; David Bleil, instructor in physics; Miss Helen Hartman, supervision teacher of home economics, to take the place of Miss Gladys Love, who resigned to take a position with the Michigan State Department of Public Instruction.

APPROVE MCCRISTAL
The board approved the appointment of King J. McCristal as assistant professor of physical education. He comes from the University of Illinois.

Miss Beatrice Brody was given a year's leave of absence to study music in the Juilliard conservatory in New York City.

The transfer of Miss Estelle Nelson, formerly home demonstration agent from the north-central district to Branch county was approved.

A permanent committee, to be known as the advisory council, for the Institute of Conservation was approved.

Miss Adams Talks
To Women's Club

Meeting Held Wednesday at Lansing Home.

The regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Bible class was held at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Spurway, 208 South Holmes street, Lansing, Wednesday evening with 22 members present. A Bohemian dinner was followed by the business meeting. Included in the program was a talk on "Keeping Young," by Miss Jessie Adams, assistant professor of art at Michigan State college.

The next regular meeting will be held November 10 at the home of Mrs. U. Brooks Williams, 323 Grove street.

Excalibur Names Men
To be Tapped Tonight

With the tapping of five outstanding senior men at their party tonight, Excalibur, local senior honorary for men, brings its membership to a total of thirteen, the largest it has ever been.

Men to be picked are Willard White, East Lansing, who is associate business manager of the State News and a varsity football player; Al Brightman, Lansing, treasurer of the senior class, member of the Interfraternity council, and co-captain of the swimming team; Larry Smith, Lake Odessa, manager of the football team; Ed Flowers, Grand Rapids, president of the Union board and member of the varsity golf team; Kenneth Waite, Jackson, vice-president of the Union board, captain of the cross-country team, and captain of the winter and spring track team.

The tapping will take place at 10:00, immediately preceding the intermission of the dance, which is at the Union ballroom. The dance will be informal and will feature Frankie Prindle's band.

Traditional tapping for Excalibur takes place at the Water Carnival during senior week, spring term. Last spring eight junior men were chosen. This is the second time that additional members have been chosen. The membership of thirteen will be traditional from now on, in accordance with the plan followed for senior men's honoraries on many other campuses.

President of the organization is Harvey Harrington, editor of the Spartan, president of the Press.

Church to Stage
Community Night

East Lansing Teachers to be Banquet Guests.

The first community night of this season will take place on Tuesday evening, October 26, at 6:30 o'clock in the social hall of the Peoples church. The teachers of the East Lansing public schools will be guests.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental selections by the high school students under the direction of Misses Frances Ayres and Virginia Weissinger and a dramatic number by Miss Pauline Zoller. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The committee on special days sponsors the community night programs and banquets. R. V. Gunn is chairman of this committee. The Women's society under the direction of Mrs. George Nahstoll, will serve the banquet Tuesday night.

Home Economics Group to Help Girls Improve
Personality

The Personality Clinic sponsored by the Home Economics club for all coeds outside the department will have its first open meeting at 7:30, Tuesday, October 26, in Room 101 of the home economics building.

The Personality Clinic, which was organized at the request of liberal arts students last year, seeks to help students with a series of lectures and opportunities for individual appointments for personal problems.

Miss Ethel Webb, head of the clothing department, will speak on "Personal Appearance—And What It Does For the Coed."

Dorothy Hasselbring, chairman of the clinic, announced that individual appointments for color tests, consultation for hair arrangement, posture problems, and make-over clothing problems will be made at the meeting Tuesday.

Seniors Name Heads
Of Newspaper Staff

Suzanne McClure was named editor of the Cenial at a senior high school class meeting recently. Other staff members are Marjorie Leshner and John Miller, assistant editors; Richard Osmer, business manager; Jack Widick, joke editor; Jane Francis and Carol Lott, society editors; Judy Crozier, snapshot editor; Beatrice Farwell, art editor; Grace Nahstoll, feature writer; Graham MacKichan and Betty Jane Anthony, sports editors; and Barbara Cardinell, Paul Krentel, and John Pearce comprising the photography committee.

Corps Sponsors
To be Installed
Formally Nov. 19

To the martial strains of the Michigan State band the six new R. O. T. C. sponsors, whose election by advanced military students was announced Thursday noon, will be formally installed at 8:30 p. m. Friday, November 19, in demonstration hall.

Eileen McCurdy, Gkemon senior, and a member of Chi Omega sorority was named honorary colonel of the entire corps. Helene Spatta, Buchanan senior, also a Chi Omega, is the honorary lieutenant colonel of the cavalry. The infantrymen chose as their sponsor Bruce Peppier, a junior from Chicago. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Jane Crowe, local junior, will serve as lieutenant colonel of the cost artillery unit. She, too, is a Chi Omega. The field artillery unit selected Gretchen Van Sluyters, Grand Rapids junior, as their sponsor. Miss Van Sluyters is an Alpha Chi Omega. Marjorie Tribe, East Tawas junior, will serve as Band sponsor. She is another Chi Omega.

Following the formal initiation, the Officers' club will be hosts at a dance in honor of the new sponsors. Leo Carlson, president of the club, has named the following committees for the affair:

Senior Who Plays Carillon
Struck by Auto

Herbert Lash, Ferndale, liberal arts senior, was released Thursday from the college hospital, where he was taken Wednesday evening for treatment to slight cuts and bruises received when he was knocked down by a car in front of the Beta Kappa house about 9 p. m.

Lash, a major in the art department here, is the only student who assists Russell Daubert in playing the carillon in Beaumont tower. He is a member of the Beta Kappa fraternity.

The Engineering division has installed a new spot-welder and a new drill press. The welder was installed by the American Electric Sales company of New York City.

Famed Critic
To Talk Here
October 27

Year-Long Negotiation
Necessary to Procure
William L. Phelps.

Appearing as the third internationally-known person on this year's college lecture course, Dr. William Lyon Phelps, book critic and author, will speak Wednesday evening, October 27, at the People's church on "Truth and Poetry."

Because Doctor Phelps is more in demand perhaps than any other lecturer in the United States, the lecture course committee feels very fortunate to have secured him. Negotiations for his appearance here were opened in November, 1936, after Prof. C. P. Halligan, secretary of the lecture course, heard him in Detroit.

KNOWN IN MICHIGAN

He is especially well-known in Michigan for his sermons, given in the Thumb district, where he spends his summer. They have proven very popular and attract people of all faiths. Annually in August he delivers a lecture for the benefit of the Bad Axe hospital.

Doctor Phelps has always been an active man. He received his Ph.D. degree from Yale university where he has, for 32 years, been Lampson professor of English literature. Numerous honorary degrees have been conferred upon him. He has written such books as "What I Like in Poetry," and "What I Like in Prose," as well as classroom textbooks. At present he is writing his autobiography.

HAS WIDE INTERESTS

Besides his activities as a lecturer and writer, he finds time to play golf and belong to several learned societies. He is quoted universally on plays, ethics, education, politics and sports.

Lucius Beebe, commentator on the New York Herald-Tribune, in writing of Phelps, says: "The full life, the balanced life—these are the tenets in Professor Phelps' philosophy. He combines the manifold functions and activities of the guide and the townsman, lover of God and mankind, and genial commentator on the progress of human comedy."

Dance

The annual harvest ball is scheduled for Friday, October 29, in the Union ballroom. "Bill" Porter's 11-piece orchestra will play, and tickets are 80 cents a couple, available at the Union desk, the Smoke Shop, and from members of the Ag council.

Decorations are to follow a harvest theme in keeping with the season, and cider will be served. Plans have been under the direction of the Ag council, with Burt Kranz as general chairman. Other committee heads are Joe Shull, programs; Aiger Hanson, decorations; Ernest Herrbach, tickets.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pettigrove, and Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Freeman will act as patrons. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Anthony, John Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Baldwin, and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hill.

O'Hara Will Address
Legionnaires Monday

Donald O'Hara, superintendent of the East Lansing public schools, will address a meeting of the William Riker Johnson post of the American Legion to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at Hunt food shop. Superintendent O'Hara will discuss school problems. All ex-service men of East Lansing are invited to attend.

Mitchell's Talk Will be
Feature of Two-Day
Convention

Dean F. T. Mitchell and Alice Long, chairman of the invitation committee, have sent letters to 134 schools, inviting them to send delegates to the student council convention to be held in East Lansing, Friday and Saturday, October 29 and 30.

According to James G. Hays, president of the Michigan State council, from 50 to 75 delegates are expected at the convention. One of the highlights of the two-day program will be the luncheon meeting Saturday noon when Dean Mitchell will be the speaker.

MAKE HOUSING PLANS

The delegates will arrive Friday morning. On their arrival they will check in at the Union building, where they will be met by members of the Pan Hellenic council. Eileen McCurdy, president of Panhellenic, and Arthur Freeman will have charge of housing the women and men. Cards were sent to the delegates asking them to state their sorority or fraternity affiliations so that arrangements could be made with the sororities and fraternities to house them.

Friday afternoon, Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout honorary fraternity, will conduct tours around the campus. Sammy Yeeter, president of Alpha Phi Omega, will be in charge of the tours.

WILL ATTEND BALL GAME

The delegates will be invited to attend the Harvest ball, which is to take place in the Union ballroom, Friday evening, at 9 o'clock. Arrangements for the tickets were made by Clarence Dennis. Dates for the dance will be supplied for those wishing them by the Independent Men's date bureau.

Howard Swartz has reserved a block of 100 seats for the Michigan State-University of Kansas game, which is to be played Saturday afternoon.

Chairmen of other committees for the convention are: Ted Mackrell, general manager; William Hasselback, finance; and Joseph Rube, speakers.

Speech Topics
Are Outlined

Extemporaneous Speaking
Tryouts are Planned.

James A. McMonagle, state director of the extemporaneous speaking contest, has announced the following topics to be used in the state extemporaneous speaking contest, November 23:

For men: The Far Eastern Crisis and Conservation of Our National Resources For women: The Spanish Situation, and The Welfare Problem.

Tryouts at which time state contestants will be chosen, will be held Wednesday, October 27, in room 1, woodshop, at 7 p. m. Any student wishing to try out should choose one of the above questions for thorough preparation. One hour before the contest he will be given a choice of two subtopics of the large question he has studied.

First place award will be $10 and second place will receive a $5 prize. The contests for men and women will be separate, and prizes will be awarded to each group.

Child Group to Meet

The East Lansing Junior Child Study club will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Smith, 809 West Lawn, Tuesday evening, October 26. There will be a business meeting and reports from the state convention.

By GEORGE MASKIN

A rivalry, which each year grows more intensified, will be renewed in Macklin Field today starting at 2 p. m. when Michigan State's "bearded" football team opposes the once-highly-touted Marquette Hilltoppers.

Indications point to a crowd of more than 20,000, the largest to attend a State home game in two years, turning out to see what experts contend will be an easy afternoon for the Spartans.

There is little hope of today's game duplicating the previous four meetings between the two rivals, each of which was decided by six points. State won both in 1933 and 1934, while the Toppers finished in front the next two seasons.

NO BUVID

Marquette no longer boasts a Buvid, or a Guepp, or a Cliff, who for three years helped to make history on the Hilltop. In their place, the Milwaukee school today will have a group of willing sophomore backs, none of whom compares with his predecessor.

The Spartans are confident of snapping their two-game losing streak to the Hilltoppers. State also is primed to emerge from its recent scoring slump, which has seen the Spartans go without a touchdown in the last two games.

To check the "ready-to-fire" Spartans, Marquette will start a comparatively veteran line, which is strong on defense, but still far from being a finished product on offense.

STATE LINE SUPERIOR

State's first string front wall will be superior to the Toppers' from an experience standpoint, and should outcharge its rivals both on offense and defense. There is little doubt, the Spartan backfield holds a wide advantage over the Hilltoppers.

Marquette comes to East Lansing with a coach strange to local gridiron wars, Paddy Driscoll, once an assistant to Charley Bachman at Northwestern. Driscoll succeeded Frank Murray last winter when the latter resigned to accept a job at West Virginia.

The M. S. C. band held its annual smoker in the Union building last Wednesday evening, with Allan Knoll, band president, presiding as toastmaster.

Members of the band introduced themselves to fellow band members, following which a few remarks were delivered by Pres. R. S. Shaw, Sec. John A. Hannah, Leonard Falcone, band director, Orrin Enfield of the music department, Lewis Richards, head of the music department, Capt. H. J. Goughly of the military department, Capt. Mark Doty, band drillmaster, Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary, Prof. A. J. Clark, head of the chemistry department, and Fred T. Mitchell, dean of men.

Glen Stewart showed moving pictures of various campus scenes. Recordings by the band, made last spring, were played, followed by the serving of cider and doughnuts.

By a Whisker

The beards which members of the Michigan State football team have so carefully raised during the last week are due to be shaved down the drain pipe today, provided the Spartan football warriors succeed in crossing the Marquette goal line at least once. What difference the beards will make in the play of the State team is questionable, although the desire of the griders to remove the fuzz from their faces certainly gives the eleven more reason for victory.

Beards and whiskers generally are associated with aged, biblical and scientific men. Football players obviously can't be placed in either of the first two categories, but by some stretch of imagination they might be called scientific. Science, is accurate, tested and systematized knowledge. All of the various formations of the team are accurate. They have been tested and systematized.

The hair-covered faces have served to detract from the handsome masculinity of the State football players. At every step players are greeted by laughter from bystanders, who see no reason for their gridiron heroes adopting a new vogue. Besides, the feminine fan feels somewhat ashamed strolling on the campus with her admirer sporting a face which from a distance appears rather dirty.

Certain of the squad members have been the victims of considerable kidding merely because their beards, when untouched by the sharp edge of the razor, have failed to sprout with the same speed as those of their colleagues. A few of the Spartans, blessed with plenty of whiskers, already have taken on the appearance of historical characters.

If the beards win for Michigan State today, it will be the first time in the history of local football that the anti-shaving league has had a hand in bringing home the bacon. Let us hope the team wins by more than a whisker.—G. J. M.

Drive Carefully

Typical of police efficiency was the return of a car stolen Monday from the chemistry parking lot. A Michigan State coed left her car to attend a class and returned to discover it had been stolen. Immediately at 2:21 p. m. she notified Richard Rogers, campus cop, who relayed the news of the theft to the state police. The troopers apprehended the criminal and returned the car before 3:30 the same afternoon.

This efficiency, police have announced, will be applied hereafter to those who break campus driving and parking regulations. East Lansing ordinances, recently extended to include the campus are to be strictly enforced in the future.

Students are warned to take heed lest they be subjected to the payment of numerous one-dollar fines. Fines will be collected from those violating the "no parking" signs in front of the Union and elsewhere. Other violations are speeding and riding outside cars.

The students have only themselves to blame for this "clamping down" by local lawmen. All driving rules were plainly printed on little cards handed out to registering students at the beginning of this term. So the students are now being given their last chance to demonstrate that they have a respect for traffic rules and a thought for the safety of their fellow students, but this chance will be their last.

Unsung Heroes

If experience as a spectator counts for anything members of the Michigan State college band should be the best football experts in the student body. These unsung heroes of the gridiron wars not only provide music, color, and drama at the Michigan State games, but when the Detroit Lions play in Detroit, the college band goes through its paces in the University of Detroit stadium.

Probably members of no other campus activity give as much time to it as do the band boys. Martial airs floating across the campus on autumn evenings are a sign that the band is going through its daily session of practice. Music is only a part of their training as they must learn to march, a drilling which includes new formations for every home game. Nor do their hours of practice end with the football season, but continue through the year, culminating only at commencement time. The band's musical excellence is demonstrated at the annual spring concerts.

Sunday the band will be hosts to the Michigan High School Band and Orchestra association, at the second annual band clinic here. High school musical organizations will have a chance to see the State band drill, and to discuss problems of musical organizations. That State's band is indeed a tribute to its excellence, as is the Detroit Lions' selection of it from all other Michigan college bands.

While no longer a military unit, the band receives military training in drill. This precision, combined with fine musical training under Leonard Falcone, who has welded the baton for the last ten years, makes the organization a credit to Michigan State wherever it appears. The time and efforts of the individual members should not be forgotten. Surely the Michigan State student body is proud of its band. Do not hesitate to let the boys know it.

From Other Campuses

Isn't It the Truth

From Kansas State college comes this unique comparison of newspapers and women:

"They have forms.

They are bold face type.

They always have the last word.

Back numbers are not in demand.

They have a great deal of influence.

They are well worth looking over.

You cannot believe everything they say.

They carry the news wherever they go.

If they know anything, they usually tell it.

They are never afraid to speak their own minds.

They are much thinner than they used to be.

Every man should have one of his own and not borrow his neighbor's.

Fraternal Loyalty No End . . .

The Delta Sigs threw Larry Distel, Delta Chi, in the river the other night. That wasn't so bad—I've had the same idea myself several times. And commendable are they that had the intestinal fortitude to walk right into the Delta Chi front room in quest of their captives.

That was bad—very bad. The Delta Chis made no move to resist the big bad wolves running off with their stellar columnist. What loyalty, what unity, what a fraternal bond! Bully for you, Delta Chi—you aren't going to be dragged down by the inhibitions and the traditions of the fraternity organizations—"All for none, and none for all!"

Behind the 8 Ball

With JACK PARKER

Well, as our dramatic columnist Staley Haugh, told you in the last issue, he is very definitely scheduled for Thursdays—so from now on, both of our readers will have to get us in Saturday's sheet. We have been designated to bring up the rear.

Everywhere one goes on the campus these days they hear nothing but those two magic words "Varsity Show." Never before in the history of the school has anything swept this campus with so much enthusiasm and true school spirit. If Jimmy Hayes, chairman of the so-called "Enthusiasm" committee, can keep that spirit at its section of anything else notwithstanding.

In connection with the plans now under way for the broadcast, we'd like to take this opportunity of telling you that all would-be performers, singers, actors, comedians, or what have you, should see Bob Ritter. Bob has charge of gathering up all the talent for the entire production, and before you can be heard by the mighty ears of NBC's Gordon White you must pass the test with Bobbie. Anyone wishing an audition or knowing of something that might be good, can get in touch with Ritter at the studios of WKAR, or by phoning 5-0263. Gross, Lewis Publish Text Book for Home Management Course Requires Four Years of Work.

The text book on home management, on which Dr. Irma H. Gross and Miss Mary Lewis, of the Michigan State college Home Economics division, have been working for the past four years, is now completed. It will be ready for publication before the first of the year.

The title of the book is "Home Management with Special Reference to the College Home Management House." It will treat with the subject on a problem basis.

The book has been written for use in college home management houses. It has grown out of the co-authors' experience in teaching the course at Michigan State, and dealing with the girls in their household problems.

Dr. Gross is head of the home management and child development division of home economics, and Miss Lewis has recently taken a leave of absence from Michigan State to study for her doctor's degree at the University of Chicago.

Plan Eight Parties For Entertainment Saturday Evening

Central School

Ghosts of Halloween are stalking the corridors of Central school this week and the fourth graders are ready to welcome it with their rooms decorated with borders of cats, pumpkins and witches.

Pupils of the sixth grade are planning to publish their own newspaper and are electing the staff officers.

Last Monday, the entire school heard Sargeant Snyder of Lansing give a safety talk.

The patrol boys had a picnic supper in the school on Wednesday when the weather prevented their holding the affair outdoors.

The 6B's have elected the following officers: president, Richard Johnson; vice president, Virginia Gilhooey; secretary, Joan Dodge; treasurer, Burton Edelson.

Hotel administration students will hold a dinner and meeting Thursday, Oct. 26, at 6:30 p. m., in the main dining room of the Union building.

Excalibur Will Tap its Five New Members at Union Dance.

Success of Tea Dances Growing

Patrons for Fraternity Dances are Listed; Events are Varied.

Football Bluebeards can come out from behind their shrubbery tonight and help the rest of the college celebrate at any one of eight parties that are planned to liven up the week-end.

Excalibur will tap its five new members tonight in the Union ballroom during intermission while Frankie Prindle and his orchestra take a rest. Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Applegate and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Geil will be patrons for the evening.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is holding its fall term dance at the house, with Nate Fry's band playing. Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blair will chaperon the affair, and Dean and Mrs. R. C. Huston will be guests.

Sigma Nus are entertaining at an open house, with Major and Mrs. A. C. Stanford, and Captain and Mrs. M. H. Doty as patrons. Phi Kappa Tau, Epsilon, and Delta are all having the fall term parties at their respective houses. Prof. and Mrs. H. E. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bowman will be at the Phi Tau house. Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Gay and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Strong will chaperon the party, while Prof. and Mrs. H. Wengarden and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stewart will be patrons for the Delphics.

The FarmHouse has taken over the Little Theatre for its fall term dance, with Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Hill and Prof. and Mrs. C. G. Card as patrons.

The Forestry Cabin will be the scene of the Alpha Epsilon E. term party. Prof. and Mrs. R. L. Cook and Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Hart are chaperoning the affair.

Last Thursday's tea dance specialty, a girl's leading contest, was a huge success from the standpoint of the spectators, although only 10 or 15 couples were entered. Other such contests and specialties are being planned for each of the succeeding affairs.

Community Personals

Mrs. J. L. Snyder entertained Mrs. Charles L. Weil of Port Huron with a reception Tuesday afternoon. Fall flowers were used throughout the rooms. Refreshments were served. Mrs. E. H. Ryder presided.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. McBride and daughter, Virginia, left Wednesday for Columbus, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Spartans Await Marquette Game

(Continued from page 1) the razzle-dazzle formations which have come to be a part of the Marquette football system. The Hilltoppers' chief offensive weapon is through the air, and that is where Driscoll is counting to gain on State.

With the Spartans also well fortified with passers and receivers, it is expected the game will develop into a battle of passes. But State has a running machine, which won't be ignored by the quarterbacks today.

State's great passing combination of Johnny Pingel and Ole Nelson will be back in the picture. Nelson missed last week's game at Missouri as the result of a shoulder injury suffered the previous Saturday in Manhattan.

Pingel and Gene Ciolek, alternating left halfbacks, will be the No. 1 ball carriers in the Spartan backfield. Jack Collidge and Eddie Pearce do most of the work at right half, and also are slated for a busy session.

PINGEL TO START

Bachman plans to start Pingel and Collidge along with either Al Diebold or Leslie Bruckner at quarterback and George Kovachich at fullback. Usir Hancey, regular fullback, still is suffering with a bad knee, but will see service.

For Marquette Johnny Maltich and Harry Levensaar, a pair of sophomores, are the key men in the backfield. Maltich, who tips the scales at 156 pounds fills the quarterback spot while Levensaar handles the left half assignment.

Captain Ray Sonnenberg

The only Topper back who faced State last fall, gets the call at right half with Moynin Busch performing at fullback.

Two changes mark the State starting lineup. Nelson will return to left end and Lyle Rockenbach fills the left guard position vacated by the loss of Tommy Gortat through a bad knee injury.

Frank Gaines is back at right end after subbing at the other flank last Saturday. Harry Speelman and Howdy Swartz remain at the tackles. Fred Schroeder, at right guard and Ron Alling at center.

Marquette's chief strength in the line is at center and the two guards where veterans hold down the jobs. Czernecki and Bettlinger team at the guards along side of Schoemann, the Toppers' big center.

In four games to date, State has won three, beating Wayne, Michigan and Missouri while losing to Manhattan. Marquette has taken the measure of Ripon and South Dakota, but lost to Wisconsin and Kansas State.

Church Club Holds First Fall Meeting

Sixty Attend Missionary Society Luncheon in Peoples Church.

The first meeting this fall of the Missionary society was a luncheon held in the dining room of the Peoples church, Wednesday, to honor the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Charles L. Weil of Port Huron.

The tables were arranged in the form of a Grecian cross and were decorated with fall flowers, berries, vines and leaves.

Miss Joyce Mallman played two piano numbers.

Mrs. E. H. Ryder, president of the society, read two letters loaned by Mrs. W. E. Bunney from her mother, Mrs. Pearl Null, and her sister, Miss Miriam Null, who started for Nanking, China, in August, but because of the war, have been living in Japan. Miss Null's letter stated that if the war continues in Nanking, the Presbyterian board may transfer her to Manila, Siam, or India.

At the close of the luncheon, the president introduced the chairman of the afternoon, Mrs. J. L. Snyder, who introduced the speaker, Mrs. Weil. Professor and Mrs. Weil lived on the campus from 1893 to 1906.

Mrs. Weil organized the society, called the Try and Trust King's Daughters circle, which later became the Missionary society. She told of her early experience in starting the King's Daughters' circle, and of having returned in twenty years to find each function in a better condition than she had ever anticipated. Some women who aided her were: Mrs. Beal, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Vedder, Mrs. Barrow, Mrs. Bogue, Mrs. Babcock, Mrs. Myers, and Mrs. Collingwood. The luncheon was under the

SPORT INTERLUDES..

Game of Picking Winners

by George Maskin

During the football season the average spectator, who knows next to nothing about the game (A. E. Pi boys take note), turns expert and attempts to pick the winners of a string of games scheduled for that particular Saturday. If he's lucky he may win a few dollars.

Watching the self-styled experts in action is a thrill to be sure. They have before them 10 or possibly 15 games, the cream of approximately 300 contests to be played in the United States during the forthcoming week-end.

The sponsors of the various pools make their contests most attractive. "Pick eight winners," they say, "and you get five bucks. Pick 13 or more winners and we'll pay you $10 for your efforts."

To these self-styled experts, picking winners appears a snap. No sooner are they handed the list of games than they inquire when will they be paid off, so confident are they of their ability to call the winners.

There's a hitch to these pools. One tie is sufficient to blast your chances of collecting that extra five or 10-spot with which you had planned to spend a big week-end.

One derives no greater satisfaction than calling a long shot successfully. Your chances of selecting a majority of winners in a football contest are most favorable, but to score correctly on the outcome of 15 or even eight major games is purely a case of luck.

Math expert Jack Sabo says chances are 8,000-1 against your picking 15 out of 15 and 9,500-1 calling eight or eight.

AVERAGE PICKER EITHER GUESSES OR ASKS FOR INFORMATION IN DECIDING WINNER

The average person who wagers in one kind of a pool or another has only a scattering of information, if that much, to back his choices. He either is guessing or asking some friend, whom he feels knows more about the sport.

Those who call 'em in the news papers each week pride themselves on finishing the season in the vicinity of the 750 mark. That is naming the winner in advance in three-fourths of the games.

For the last three years, Charley Bachman has tried his luck picking games for the Detroit Times. There are few persons more closely associated with football than Bachman. Yet his average this season shows Bachman has prognosticated correctly in but seven out of every 10 games.

To the entry in pools, past records determine his choice. To Bachman, a keen student of the game and a coach, other factors enter into the picture when he checks off the list.

A good example is today's Michigan-Iowa game. Most local self-styled experts favor the Wolves, figuring Michigan has the better team. Bachman strings along with Iowa, however, on the grounds Michigan won't have recovered from its three hard games with State, Northwestern, and Minnesota.

Bachman is taking Missouri over Nebraska almost for similar reasons and says Ohio State (because it has had a two-week rest) will topple Northwestern.

The scene of the game, possible injuries to key players, the continual improvement of a team, are a few other items taken into consideration by the real expert, but ignored completely by the self-styled expert.

SPARTANS GENERALLY FAVORED TO TOPPLE MARQUETTE: MARGIN OF VICTORY VARIES

In every instance, as far as we have been able to determine, State is favored over Marquette. The question now debated is: "By how many touchdowns will State win?"

The Spartans are due to emerge from their current scoring slump. If this is to be the day, Bachman feels his team will have one of those big scoring afternoons with the ball crossing the Marquette goal line several times.

There is the pessimistic fan who says State will take the Toppers by one touchdown and then, too, there is the highly optimistic rooter who can't see anything but a 30 or 40-point triumph for the Spartans.

The expert refuses to comment on the possible score, and after guessing wrong for the last two Saturdays, we have decided to follow in the steps of the wise men. As you will recall, we said State would down both Manhattan and Missouri by one touchdown.

There is no reason to believe Marquette will defeat State today. The rival first-string lines are equally as strong but when it comes to the backfield and reserve strength, State enjoys a wide edge. The Spartans also will be playing on their home stamping grounds, which according to Bachman is a six-point advantage for State before the game starts.

For a week the players have gone without a shave, pledging not to clip their whiskers until they rush the ball over the goal line. The beards are becoming a nuisance, which gives the Spartans an added incentive to do something.

And they will!

Elsie Hands Trojan '11' Third Loss

First-Half Onslaught Nets Elsie Easy Triumph Over Local Team.

By DON ANDERSON

East Lansing lost its third game in a row yesterday when the Trojans were overpowered by a heavier Elsie eleven, 14-0.

Both of the Elsie touchdowns came in the first half. The first score came midway in the first quarter after Rando, Elsie quarterback, intercepted a Trojan pass on the East Lansing five-yard line. A series of running plays carried the ball to the three, from where a tricky reverse, with Bouck carrying the ball, scored a touchdown.

In the second quarter, after an exchange of kicks, Elsie gained possession of the ball on their own 30-yard line. Bouck then faded back and tossed a perfect pass to F. Carter, who ran for the second touchdown. A plunge for the extra point was good.

East Lansing had several scoring opportunities, but failed to take advantage of them. The best of these came when Kosht, Trojan guard, intercepted an Elsie pass on the home team's 5. Two forwards failed, however, and Elsie took the ball on downs.

On the whole, Elsie played the better football and deserved to win. East Lansing lacked sustained drive, their running plays being smothered by a heavy Elsie line. Bouck, F. Carter and Fields were outstanding for the victors, while Gaines and Anderson played well for the Trojans. Gaines particularly deserves praise for his defensive work.

CHIEF SAYS: Bearded State '11' Will Win Today

By Harry Speckman State Football Star

Well, Bachman's "Bearded Bearcats" are ready to settle an old score with Marquette today. They are the only team which has defeated State twice since Bachman came here, and I'll bet my whiskers they can't do it three times.

Incidentally, have you seen Norm Olson's beard? It's so long we could pull the "hidden ball" trick in it. Jack Coolidge takes the prize for having the slowest growing beard. Jack could go without a shave until Christmas and nobody would know the difference.

Gibson Cops Novice Meet

Fletcher W. Gibson, star freshman daler, again served notice that he will carry on State's reputation in the cross country field, when he led the pack in the sixteenth annual novice run yesterday afternoon.

The meet was open only to those runners who had not participated in cross country at Michigan State before. There were twenty-three starters, all but three of them being freshmen. Running conditions were unfavorable; the weather was cold and the course was wet and slippery, but Gibson broke the tape in 18:33.3 for the three and one-half distance, easily fifty yards ahead of Joe Martin, who came in second. Martin also shows great promise as he has consistently finished near the top in all three of his runs here.

Former Aide Faces Bachman As Rival Coach in Battle

For the first time since Charley Bachman started his coaching career, the Spartan football mentor will face "Paddy" Driscoll, who succeeded Frank Murray at the helm of the Marquette grid team, as a rival coach.

Both Bachman and Driscoll played together on the Great Lakes Naval eleven during the early stages of the World War. Bachman coached the team besides playing on the line. Incidentally, this aggregation was called by many the best team in the middle west at that time.

Shortly after the war ended, Bachman received the appointment of head coach at Northwestern university. When given the privilege of naming his assistant, he chose Driscoll as his lieutenant. Early in the twenties both went their respective ways because different positions were offered them.

Now, after 18 years of separation, Bachman meets Driscoll in a new role, that of a rival coach.

Yearling '11' Held to Tie By Central

Central State's First Year Men Surprise Spartans With Fine Play

A powerful freshman football team from Central State Teachers college battled a fighting Michigan State freshman squad to a scoreless tie Thursday night under the floodlights at Pottengill field. A crowd of 500 spectators witnessed the fracas.

The Bearcats' surprise showing against the Spartan yearlings was due to the all-around play of the entire squad, and especially to the work of two stalwart linemen in the person of Becker and Alexander, left end and left tackle, respectively.

All the laurels, however, should not be given to Coach Danny Rose's squad. Michigan State's own Spartans contributed equally as fine a performance to the evening's festivities. Among the notable feats turned in by the Spartan freshmen was the ground gaining and open field running of Merlin Mitchell, the defensive work of Abdo, Minchua, Griffith and Anderson, and the sensational punting of Ward Walstrom.

The Spartans launched their initial drive late in the second quarter but after advancing the ball into the shadow of the Bearcat goal they lost it on downs. Although a majority of the first half was played in Bearcat territory the steady punting of Walstrom kept the Spartans at bay.

In the third period Michigan State again plunged deep into touchdown territory but the interception of a pass by Seltzer brought the Spartan drive to a sudden halt.

Tics Win Third Straight Game

Delta Sig-Hespie Game to be Replayed Later

There was a comparative lull on the fraternity touch football front after Tuesday night's action. The rain slowed down the two games that were played.

S. A. E.'s powerhouse won their third game, 12 to 0, at the expense of the Delphics. Unable to connect with any consistency with their passing attack because of the wet, soggy ball, they resorted to running to win. Dale Granger grabbed a Delphic punt on his own 20-yard line and ran 80 yards to score.

The Tics also won their third game of the season, defeating the Sigma Nu's 1 to 0 in a defensive game. The Sigma Nu's completed more passes than the Tics but could not keep their attack going long enough to be dangerous.

Assistant Director of Athletics Lyman Frimodig, who has charge of the fraternity football schedule, heard the Delta Sig protest over the decision in their game Tuesday with the Hespies and decided that the game was a tie instead of a Hespie victory, as had been previously announced.

This means that the game will have to be replayed unless the AGR's defeat the Hespies or the Delta Chis defeat the Delta Sigs.
