Tin-Pan-Alley Girl

A full-fledged song writer at 18, such is the record of Carolyn Johnson, vivacious Union dormite. Her latest hit, "A Kiss a Day," will be played by Arno Weiss and his orchestra at the Union dance Friday evening.

Although she has been in the business for only a year, Carolyn has already produced several outstanding song successes. These include "When You Went Away," "Singing in the Spring," "Last Summer," "The Girl Who Works for Harry Gooding," and "The Girl Who Works for Harry Gooding," in her home town, Ypsilanti. Carolyn is a freshman.

He Rings the Bell

"He's the hit of the show," was said of Edward Osborn, Chicago sophomore, whose original number, "Bell's Bells," brought down the house at the first preview of Varsity show in the gymnasium Wednesday night.

Osborn is well known to State students through his appearances at Coral Gables last winter. He had also had radio experience in Detroit and Chicago, and now has a regular spot on WKAR programs.

Excuse, Please!

Although the sociology department has been located in Merrill hall since the beginning of the year, the department sign still remains on the house on faculty row, which is eventually to be converted into a home economics practice room.

The changing of campus departments this fall has accounted for more than an amusing incident. A group of men who were attending a convocation on campus were suddenly walked into the house, now used for a women's dormitory, which had formerly housed the economics department, and reached the second floor before they were told of the change. One of the occupants saw them come in, didn't want to stop them, "just because I wanted to see what they'd do," he said.

Once is Enough

Jimmie Hays, student council president, will not be so eager to learn about drumming technique in the future. At Jimmie's request, Tony Smith, drum major of the Michigan State band, was exhibiting the fine points of baton-twirling. Smith slipped on one occasion when he was supposed to catch the stick, and the end caught Hays just above the eye. So Jimmie has a large bump and a slight abrasion as the result of his curiosity.

Take It or Leave It

The big piles of leaves that are being raked up on the campus these days, might be fuel for some fires at the pep meeting Friday night. Members of the football team came back from Columbia, Mo., talking about the bonfire that feature every pep rally at that school. But if the cheer leaders don't choose to use them, the members of the nursery school classes will be glad to do so, until they are piled away. One young man talked out of the home economics building Wednesday afternoon, and a pile of leaves, and made it at full speed, shrieking with joy until his shouts were smothered as he dove into it.

Broken Household

Members of the publications department staff are scattered widely over Ag. hall, while the department offices are being remodeled. New plaster walls are being constructed, and the offices should be 100 percent better when work is completed. But in the meantime, members of the staff may be found in such odd places as the dean of agriculture's office, or the bulletin room. The multigraphing department was moved earlier in the year to the languages building, so persons who want mimeographing done need not be delayed by the construction.

Greeks Plan Homecoming Decorations

Fraternities, Sororities to Compete for Gold Loving Cup.

Sororities and fraternities again will compete in decorating for homecoming. Sorority decorations are to be completed by 11 a. m. and the fraternity by noon, Saturday.

The custom of decorating society houses for homecoming has been a tradition at Michigan State for many years. Decorations always pertain to the opposing team, and are judged on a basis of originality, completeness, aptness, and artistic qualities.

Eileen McCurdy, Panhellenic president, announced yesterday that Miss Elizabeth Conrad, dean of women, Prof. A. G. Scheele, art, and Prof. L. N. Field, drawing and design, will judge the sororities. Judges for the fraternities will be Prof. E. B. Brainerd and Miss Katherine Winckler, both of the art department, according to William Bell, president of the Interfraternity council.

A loving cup will be awarded to the winners of each group, who will hold it for one year. The Kappa Kappa Gamma and the Sigma Nu won last year.

Sororities may light their decorations for night inspection if they wish, but the interfraternity council has decided that no flood light will be used.

Denies Camp Is Considered

Hannah Says Authorities Not Approached About Trailers Camp.

John A. Hannah, college secretary, yesterday denied a rumor that the State Board of Agriculture was making plans to have a house trailer camp on college property and under college supervision.

"We have not even been approached on the matter," stated Hannah.

Since the city council at its regular meeting Monday night, November 8, reaffirmed its stand that no house trailers would be allowed in East Lansing, it was said that the college administrative body would meet to set aside a plot of ground and furnish lights and water for trailers.

In denying the report Secretary Hannah intimated that he was in sympathy with students' getting their housing facilities as cheaply as possible but pointed out that a great amount of planning and money would be required to establish a camp, and that because so few would benefit by it, the project would be impractical.

Bureau Members Convene at State

The eleventh annual convention of the State Farm Bureau opened at 9 a. m., yesterday in the Union building with a session for the insurance division. Three hundred persons were in attendance.

The three-day meeting is being continued today with the annual Farm Bureau session followed by a banquet and dance in the evening. A representation of approximately 800 was scheduled.

A session for women of the Bureau will begin tomorrow morning with a 7:30 o'clock breakfast. Election of several officers and other business matters are being taken care of at meetings in the Hotel Olds and the Farm Bureau headquarters in Lansing.

Artists Direct Course

Four senior art students, Jean McGillivray, Jean Knight, Barbara Struble, and Raoul Nies, are now conducting general art courses in the curriculum of the Peoples university in Lansing. Art classes are held every Thursday and Friday night at 7:30.

"You Ain't Heard Nothin' Yet"

Sherman Rogers' Talk Attracts Record Crowd

Stating at the outset that he bore no animosity to any individual or group, and adopting the colloquialisms of the prize ring, Sherman Rogers, "lumberjack orator," spoke to the largest student convocation in the history of the college Tuesday morning. There was an estimated attendance of 2,000, which packed the gymnasium.

Rogers' topic, "Vital Americanism," included a variety of subjects, ranging from total abstinence to the superiority of America as a nation over other nations. His audience, made up largely of students, with a few interested faculty members and townspeople, listened attentively during the talk, which Rogers said he had given 3,400 times before.

Addressing the student body as "boys and girls," the speaker reminded his audience that no championship is ever won in the prize ring. "It is the way you have lived and the way you have prepared before you step into the ring that count." A strong advocate against the indulgence in liquor in any form, Rogers supported his view by stating that "all the failures I have seen in my life were because of too close a contact with the whiskey bottle." Also, along temperance lines, he advised in his straightforward manner of speaking, "don't get mad because anger is insanity and who wants to be crazy a lot of the time?"

"If the communist is right, he will triumph; if he is wrong, let's prove him wrong." America is the only free country on earth, and, according to Mr. Rogers, the entire responsibility of keeping it that way rests on the shoulders of the "youngsters" in the nation today. In some countries, the lecturer pointed out, "you don't have to say anything; just think something against the government and you get two years in jail."

Rogers stated that there should be no man on earth who does not

Book Fair Planned For Next Weekend

A book fair will be held at the Peoples church in East Lansing on Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20, when several book dealers will exhibit new editions of popular books.

As special features of the fair, in cooperation with the East Lansing public schools, special matinee and evening performances will be given with puppet shows, impersonations of authors, talks, and other activities.

The fair is a cooperative effort staged through the cooperation of the dealers, the public library, and the schools. Many of the art classes are making posters as their contribution to the activities in preparation for the fair.

want to live in a country where there is absolutely no freedom of press or speech or religion. Every restraint is put upon people in certain sections in Europe. We hear that Mussolini is a good fellow. "Sure he is," says Mr. Rogers, "he says so himself."

According to Rogers, youth in colleges today are gaining everything in the world except experience. They can develop intelligence and fairness and use them as weapons to fight the most subversive of forces. "There is more opportunity in the world than there ever was" and if the people of America pull together in an era of unexampled prosperity in a lot less time than any of us believe."

Frosh to See Prep Chiefs

Heads of 82 High Schools Indicate They'll be at Conference.

Eighty-two high schools have indicated that they would have a representative at the fourth annual M. S. C. freshman-principals conference to be held Saturday, November 13, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, according to Dean Fred T. Mitchell, chairman of the committee for arrangements.

Freshmen whose high schools will have representatives here have been notified as to when and where they are to meet. In case of a conflict with classes, excuses will be granted by instructors upon presentation by the students of slips signed by the principals.

Dean Mitchell urges that all freshmen take advantage of this opportunity to meet their high school superintendent or principal. "It not only is beneficial to the students but is of value to the high schools in letting them know whether or not their curriculum is complete as a preparatory course for college and whether or not it is being efficiently taught. "Comp" List Is Revised at Council Meet

Three Parties Planned for Those Who Remain During Vacation.

The "comp" list, which provides complimentary tickets to the formal parties of classes and campus organizations, was revised at the Student council meeting Tuesday evening, November 9.

Other business considered by the council was entertainment for students remaining on campus during the Thanksgiving recess; the possibility of making "MSC" Shadows, the official alma mater, and the pep meeting Friday night.

"SHORT" LIST

The revised "comp" list will this year include the following persons on the "short" list, William Bell, Interfraternity council president, James G. Hays, Student council president, Harry Spelman, Howard Swartz, Joe Rube, Clarence Dennis, and George Gargett, elected members of the Student council.

Eileen McCurdy, president of Panhellenic council, captains of varsity teams, football and basketball, to be chosen, Harper Scott, baseball, and Kenneth White, track; Ola Getzler, editor, State News; William Hasselback, president Independent Men's League; and Nancy Farley, A. W. S. president.

"LONG" LIST

Trojans Set For Alma '11'

Regular Lineup to Start Final Game for First Time This Season.

East Lansing high school will close its books on the 1937 football season this afternoon when the Trojans journey to Alma to battle the Alma High Panthers.

With only two wins on the right side of the ledger for this year, the Trojans have not had what one would call a successful season. Injuries, plus the hardest schedule an East Lansing team has played in years, combined to hold the victories down. However, the team is determined to finish with a triumph, and the fact that Alma has a strong team has not discouraged them one bit.

The Trojans, for the first time this season, will be at top strength for the game. Injuries, which have been hindering them all year seem to have healed, and with all regulars in playing condition, the chance for a victory over Alma is much brighter. Dick Morris, first string center, who was the only casualty last week, has returned to active duty after a period of idleness because of a head injury.

Air Book Reviews Over WKAR Lanes

A series of radio book reviews over WKAR, under the direction of Prof. E. P. Lawrence, is being sponsored by the English department of Michigan State college.

The program, entitled "Books in Review," is broadcast every Tuesday from 2:15 to 2:45 p. m.

The November guest reviewers are Prof. E. B. Lyon, history department, "American Political Biography, Past and Present," November 16; J. M. Bobbitt, psychology department, "New Frontiers of the Mind," by J. B. Rhine, November 23; Miss Laura Hemminger, English department, "We Are Not Alone," by James Hilton, November 30.

PAUL DUMONT

Ingleson Advises Coeds on Tactics Of Date Conduct

William Ingleson spoke Tuesday evening, November 9, at the Home Economics club Personality Clinic on "Men Like Good Dates." The speaker had conducted a survey of 40 men on campus to determine what they considered the requisites of a good date. The group was selected from all four classes of the college and from every division.

Asked, "What qualities are most important in a good date?" Ingleson's group of men replied, "A sense of humor. If a girl has a good sense of humor, she's a good date." The fellows also wanted their girls to know how to do things correctly, which means to know your Emily Post.

During the discussion following the lecture, the question came up: "How do fellows feel about meeting on the first dates?" Ingleson shot back with, "How do you feel?"

The conclusion was reached that the girl must settle the question. And she must do it, not as a dramatic scene, but with a gracious air and a sense of humor.

Chief Merle Croy Issues Warning

Fire Chief Merle Croy yesterday issued a warning to East Lansing home owners to guard against letting their grass and rubbish fires get out of control, following two calls to extinguish grass fires.

With the great amount of leaves being burned, and with the wind as strong as it is, small fires very easily get out of control and though we have had no damaging ones yet, they may very easily cause house fires," said Croy.

The two fires, which were easily put out, were on vacant lots in the 200 block on Gunson street and the 100 block of Kensington road.

Coeds to Entertain

West Mary Mayo co-eds will serve coffee to homecoming guests after the Carnegie Tech game, Saturday. Barbara Sullivan is in charge of the affair assisted by Frances Bates, Marian Baker, Jean Wyatt, and Ruth Baker.

Kelty Attends Meet

Prof. R. H. Kelty of the horticulture department has just returned from a three day's stay in Washington, D. C. where he was a speaker on the International Beekeepers' convention program.

Crowd Sees Whyte Change Individual Acts into Program

Historical Sketch is Highlight; Musical Organizations and Individuals Add Pep; Stewart Reports All Tickets Gone; Many Alumni to Listen In.

By JACK SINCLAIR

"It's Michigan State college night on Pontiac's Varsity show."

These words will introduce to a nationwide audience at 9 p. m. Friday this college's own radio program. Made up of college talent, the program is the seventh of a series presented by leading colleges of the nation during the fall radio season, and is Michigan State's first program of this kind.

Climaxing weeks of auditions and rehearsals, the first dress rehearsal was held last evening in the college gymnasium.

Dashing energetically from one part of the stage to another, now arranging actors before the microphone, now calling directions to engineers off stage, Director Gordon Whyte began the task of uniting the individual components of the show.

Pep Fest Set For Friday

Greek Groups Will Attend in Blocks.

As an opener for the Homecoming weekend festivities, a pep meeting will be staged on the Union steps tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, to be followed by a torchlight parade. According to James Hays, head cheerleader, the newly organized freshman cheering section will take an active part in the pep fest.

Coach Charles W. Bachman and members of the football squad will appear on the speakers' platform. Cheers and college songs, accompanied by an impromptu band, will form the bulk of the fest. The fire-engine Spartan mascot has been repaired since it was damaged by fire during the Kalamazoo-State game two weeks ago, and will be used tomorrow night.

The freshman cheering section will present several specialty acts. A rehearsal of this group will be held Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. Fraternities and sororities will attend in blocks leaving for the rally will last about half an hour.

John A. Hicks Dies Tuesday

East Lansing Business Man Succumbs at Home.

John A. Hicks, for 28 years a resident of East Lansing, died of a heart ailment following a long illness, Tuesday night at his home, 319 Grove street. He was 62 years old.

Mr. Hicks was well-known in the real estate and building business. He is survived by his wife, Bertha, three sons, Keith, Kenneth, and John, a brother, Edward, living in Los Angeles; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Blue, East Lansing; Mrs. Louise Dunn, Lansing; and Mrs. Daisy Behren, Buffalo.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the Goraline-Runciman funeral home. The Rev. N. A. McCune will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Alumni-Student Game Is Scheduled Saturday

The feature of homecoming weekend in the women's sports department will be the annual alumni-all-student hockey game at 10:30 a. m. Saturday on the field in front of the gym. Members of the student hockey team will represent State in the Mid-West all-college hockey field meet Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20, at the University of Chicago. From 20 to 25 colleges are expected to be represented there.

RAND OPENS SHOW

The program will be opened by the college military band, which, combined with the Men's Glee club and the A Cappella choir, will provide the formal music of the evening. Typical collegiate music will be portrayed by several members of the student body. One of the highlights of the show is a short dramatization of college history. The plot, written by Jeanne Lantieri, is centered about a couple who, after the death of Benjamin Franklin, the site of the first college building. The show promises to be fast and snappy, packed with bits of Spartan spirit, aided by the words of Master of Ceremonies Paul Dumont and several short comedy acts.

A large audience viewed the rehearsal last night, and according to Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary, who is in charge of tickets for the show, the hall will be packed at the second preview this evening and the broadcast today. All tickets for both performances have been given out, except last.

A great deal of enthusiasm about the MSC program has been shown by campus residents and state alumni throughout the nation. Many alumni groups have scheduled radio parties for the event Friday night, which is one of the most important on the MSC calendar of activities at MSC. The program takes an added importance, owing to the eve of the Michigan State Homecoming celebration.

The sponsors of the Varsity show series, Pontiac division of the General Motors corporation, will select the best acts from a number of the season's shows to be combined in one gala program, which will be aired on New Year's eve.

Club Announces Foresters' Ball

Forestry students will hold the first annual Foresters' ball, an informal open party Saturday, November 20, in Demonstration hall. Red Drennan and his orchestra have been booked for the occasion.

Committee chairmen, announced yesterday by Bill Pitts, president of the Foresters' club and directors of the Foresters' ball, are: program, Charles Tansel; patrons and invitations, John Ladd; tickets, Ken Cavanaugh; decorations, Claf Oxford; general arrangements, Len Kardes; and publicity, Ray Turner.

Tickets will go on sale today at the Union deck, and in the Smoke shop. The committee chairman will sell tickets.

Homecoming Fills Minds Of Socialites

Plan All-College Dances This Weekend; Ten Dance Today.

Socialites and fraternities will decorate their front yards this weekend and entertain their guests with various coffee after the game, but the parties on schedule are few.

There will be an all-college dance in the Union hall Friday and Saturday nights, sponsored by the Union board, and the second by the Varsity club. Both dances will be informal, with State City supplying music for the latter.

Radio programs will furnish the melodies for the Farmhouse party Friday night. Student club is also planning a dance for that night.

A Faculty tea was held in the Union hall Tuesday from 3:30 to 5 p. m. Another one is scheduled for Friday at the same hour. Tonight at the all-college meeting of Y. W. C. A. at 7:15, we find Father Gabriels of the Church of the Resurrection, in Lansing, speaking to the girls on the subject of social relations between college men and women. There will be a tea dance to follow.

Council Proceedings

Common Council Rooms, November 8, 1937, East Lansing, Michigan.

Regular meeting called to order by Mayor L. L. Frimodig Present. Ald. Card, Adams, Barnhart and Maher.

Minutes of meeting held October 25, read and approved as published.

Report of sewage disposal plant for the month of October received and placed on file.

Report of milk inspection for the month of October was received and placed on file.

L. F. Newell appeared before the common council and requested special parking privileges for a new trailer in the rear of his home.

After considering the matter the council decided that the ordinance should be enforced and the request denied.

Sidney Whittemore, justice of the peace, presented a list of supplies and equipment for use in the police court, which was referred to the supplies committee.

Mr. V. J. DeCamp, chairman of the traffic committee, made the following recommendations:

That the no parking zone on the E. F. corner of West Grand River and Lexington be extended 20 feet to provide for a loading and unloading area for the Abbott building.

Extend the no parking zone in front of the State Theatre to the entrance of the Abbott building to provide a loading and unloading area for the Abbott building.

That no parking signs be placed on East Grand River, Bogue to Cedar streets.

Ald. Card moved that the recommendations of the traffic committee be approved and that the proper signs be erected and the police department be advised of these changes.

Supported by Ald. Barnhart and second. All yeas.

O. E. Robey, B. F. Egan, E. J. Maher and other persons appeared to protest the erection of a gasoline station at the corner of East Grand River and River street, and after a lengthy discussion of the matter they were advised that it was beyond the council's power to act on this question.

Ald. Maher introduced an ordinance to change the name of Kedzie street to Kedzie drive, which was given first reading and referred to the committee on ordinances.

Ald. Maher moved that the council resolve into a committee of the whole to consider the Kedzie street ordinance.

Supported by Ald. Barnhart and second. All yeas.

The ordinance was given second reading and after due consideration the committee arose and reported the ordinance as follows:

An ordinance to change the name of Kedzie street to Kedzie drive.

The city of East Lansing ordinance, Section 1. That the name of Kedzie street, being a street extending from Grand River street, east, north to Burcham drive

Hofmann Takes One Bench, Three Pianos on His Tours

Josef Hofmann, the celebrated pianist who will appear at the Peoples church Monday evening, admits himself a crank about furniture that wiggles. He has invented a collapsible piano bench which travels everywhere with him. Its legs may be adjusted to floorboards of different levels. He also will bring with him three Steinway pianos and a tuner, Maurice Gatch, to keep the pianos at concert pitch.

Hofmann will be appearing before a small audience here in comparison to the ones he has played in recent years, having toured three continents and been in every major music center in the United States.

Section 2. That this ordinance shall take effect 30 days after final passage.

Ald. Barnhart moved that the report of the committee be adopted and the clerk be instructed to post the ordinance setting the date for public hearing to Monday, November 22, 1937, at 7:30 p. m., in the common council rooms.

Supported by Ald. Adams and second. Yeas: Ald. Adams, Card, Barnhart and Maher.

After his debut in New York, young Hofmann's concert tour swelled from forty to eighty engagements. However, after four appearances his father decided that the boy's health was of more importance than immediate fame.

At this time an anonymous patron offered $50,000 to educate the boy further. Josef and his family then returned to Berlin to continue his education.

At 18, Hofmann returned to the concert platform, a mature and immediately recognized artist.

After two years of touring Germany, England and Russia, the pianist appeared again in this country subsequently making his home here and becoming a naturalized citizen. He has been almost constantly before the public as a concert pianist and composer, and of recent years has been director of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

For the last three years he has been dividing his time between Europe and the Americas, making extensive concert tours on all three continents.

At 18, Hofmann returned to the concert platform, a mature and immediately recognized artist.

After two years of touring Germany, England and Russia, the pianist appeared again in this country subsequently making his home here and becoming a naturalized citizen. He has been almost constantly before the public as a concert pianist and composer, and of recent years has been director of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

For the last three years he has been dividing his time between Europe and the Americas, making extensive concert tours on all three continents.

To Broaden Nurse's Story

WKAR Group to Dramatize Edith Cavell's Life.

The story of Edith Cavell, the English nurse who met her death before a firing squad, will be dramatized over WKAR at 1:30 p. m. today. This is the second in a series of plays dealing with famous women characters in history.

Dr. Donald Hayworth, speech department head, is the director of the play.

Those taking part in the play will be Lucille Vogel, Marston Busch, Richard Hardy, Clifford Jenks, John Buchanan, Edmund Rudon, Albert Sims, Nolan Allen, David Jess Parks, and Harriet Barton. Miss Barton is in charge of sound effects.

The presentation is historically accurate except in the fact that the events of the trial, which lasted five days, were compressed to Doctor Hayworth, an interesting play and one quite in fitting with the celebration of Armistice.

Fresh Foresters To Hold Smoker

Freshman forestry students will get together this evening in the Forestry cabin at 7:30 for a smoker.

The purpose of this smoker is to get freshmen foresters better acquainted with one another.

A feature of the meeting will be the election of a freshman representative to the Forestry club cabinet.

Motion pictures of recent Michigan State football games will be shown. Rustic songs of the forest and refreshments will complete the program.
