Flashlight Baton

Last Saturday night just before the basketball game all lights in the demonstration hall except a brilliant spotlight were put out. The flashlight was trained on Old Glory as it was pulled up the wall in the flag-raising ceremonies. As the flag went up the Star Spangled Banner. The 80-piece band together in the dark Keith Stein, acting director in the absence of Leonard Falcone, solved the problem by using a flashlight. According to Mr. Stein the flashlight acted as an excellent baton.

Italian, Too

Next fall when school opens in foreign languages will be added here. Italian will be added to the curriculum. This language will be taught by Dr. R. T. (Al) Too, next year Latin will be offered as a major course. Students then will be able to secure a major in Latin. The addition of Italian makes the sixth foreign language taught here.

No Smoking

Director of Athletics Ralph H. Young issued his annual plea to the student body to refrain from smoking in Demonstration hall during the basketball games. It also blurs the view from the upper stands when a cloud of blue smoke swirls above the court. So please, all you basketball fans, refrain from the wicked weed during the games. If you can't resist, there are smoking rooms down beneath the stands.

Hi-Pressure

The Wolverine has two real high-pressure saleswomen. Doris Snowski and Shirley Scott have each sold about 150 yearbooks. They are the first two who have ever in the history of the Wolverine sold more than a hundred. Incidentally, the price of the Wolverine is going to take another jump on February 15. The tax will be $475 after that date.

Thrill! Thrill!

Margaret Pemberton, though only a freshman has reached one of the highest points that a red may reach in the social life of any college campus. She will lead the grand march at the 11th. She will be the guest of William Carpenter, president of the Junior class.

Foundry Gets New Machines

Ford Donates Molding Equipment for Use.

Two pieces of equipment, one a 60 of Henry Ford, have been added to the college foundry since the new year. They are expected to supply much better facilities for study and research. The Ford gift, a molding machine, is of the latest construction. It will be used in the regular courses of study. Of wide use in commercial foundries, this machine provides an up-to-date method of molding. It is of the jolt-squeeze, stripping plate type, and is operated by compressed air.

Home Economics Adds New Course

An addition to the Home Economics curriculum, a demonstration course, is now being offered to all seniors in the department. The foods equipment division of the course is being taught by Miss Beatrice Grant. Miss Hazel Strahan will supervise the clothing and textiles lectures. Girls who desire positions with consumers, home service companies and manufacturing concerns will find this course particularly helpful.

Teaches Short Course

Mrs. Eleanor Brewer, formerly of the extension department, is now teaching a clothing unit of the short course department.

Elizabethan Play Will be Presented To Two Audiences

"Doctor Faustus" to be Played Here Thursday in Church.

Drama Concerns Medieval Scholar

Detroit Federal Theater Group Picked Cast for Production.

The recent Broadway revival, "The Tragical History of Doctor Faustus", will be presented Thursday evening in the Peoples church by a cast of professionals chosen by the Detroit Federal Theater directors.

The play will have two showings, at 7:00 and 9:00. Students will be admitted upon presentation of student activity coupon books.

MARLOWE IS AUTHOR

Written by Marlowe, this famous Elizabethan drama concerns a scholar of the Middle Ages, who, sated with all that ordinary life had to offer, sought to revive his jaded senses by striking a bargain with the Devil, wherein he sold his soul for twenty-four years of unearthly power.

For two score and four years, Faustus had his every wish granted, with demons as servants he glutted himself with the sensual pleasures of life, considering neither the wishes nor the happiness of others. At the conclusion of this period of unholy glory, he was forced to keep his share of the agreement, and was taken to hell—before he was taken away he realized his damnation and repented, though he prayed in vain for divine forgiveness.

CAST IS CAPABLE

A capable cast headed by A. Courtney White as Faustus, Chester Adams as Mephistopheles, Peggy Fenn as Helen of Troy, and Alma Brook and Louise Gerard Huntington as Faustus' good and bad angels, add much to the brilliance of the production.

Elaborate costumes designed by Stephen Nastfogel, and executed by Charlotte Christie and unique sets and lighting effects, conceived by Nastfogel and executed by Jacques LaPere, technical director, combine to make "Doctor Faustus" one of the most outstanding presentations of the Detroit Federal Theater.

Farm Week News Writing Contest Announced Today

The publications department announced a contest for members of the news and feature writing classes today. The students will write stories for the twenty-third annual Farmers' Week to begin January 31. Advance reporting of the event and actual news coverage of the week's activities will comprise the two divisions of the contest.

Prizes will be presented for the best work in both the forecasting and the reporting divisions of the contest, and both writing groups will receive separate awards. First prize will be $3, second prize $2, and there will be three $1 checks. Assignments will be given out in the news writing and feature writing classes today.

Church Will Hold School

200 Have Registered for Weekly Classes in Religion.

A weekly school of religion is being conducted at the Peoples church beginning tonight at 7:30. It will be conducted for five successive Monday evenings. About two hundred have registered already and many more are expected. These courses are open to everyone.

CAST IS CAPABLE

The programs for each of four groups are as follows: 1. The Psychology of Personality Rebuilding, Jan. 10—"Using and Abusing Our Heredity" by Dr. H. R. Hunt, professor of zoology, Michigan State college, Jan. 17—"Extroversion and Personality" by Professor R. S. Linton, associate professor of education, M. S. C., Jan. 24—"The Effect of Conflict on Personality" by Dr. J. M. Bobbitt, instructor in psychology, M. S. C., Jan. 31—"Characteristics of an Effective Personality" by J. M. DeHaan, associate professor of philosophy and psychology, M. S. C., Feb. 7—"The Integration of Personality" by Dr. Paul M. Flory, professor of philosophy and psychology, Olivet college.

Group 2. Dictatorships and Democracy, Jan. 10—"The Merits and Demerits of Democracy", E. H. Ryder, professor of history, M. S. C., Jan. 17—"Comparison of Types of Society", O. E. Urey, assistant professor of economics, M. S. C., Jan. 24—"Nazism in Germany", Panzer Snyder, attorney, Lansing, Jan. 31—"The Crisis Within Japan", Dr. W. R. Fee, assistant professor of history, M. S. C., Feb. 7—"Can It Happen Here?", Professor E. H. Ryder.

Group 3. The Literary Beauty of the Bible, Jan. 10—"Organization and General Survey", Jan. 17—"Narrative and Didactic Poetry", Jan. 24—"Prophetic Prose and the Short Story", Jan. 31—"Lyric and Didactic Poetry", Feb. 7—"Elegiac and Dramatic Poetry". This course will be conducted by Dr. F. W. Schneider, former professor of religion at Morningside college, Sioux City, Iowa.

Group 4. Guiding Children in Christian Growth will study the psychology of children and methods of teaching them. This group will be conducted by Miss Helen Boyd, director of religious education, Michigan Congregational and Christian conference.

Engineering Students Will Test Auto Engines

The mechanical engineering department has secured the loan of four automobile engines to use in their regular lab work during the rest of the year. The motors are from Ford, Olds, Pontiac, and Chevrolet automobiles. They will be used for testing and checking.

WKAR Plans Contest For Cameramen

Best Pictures of Rural Life to be Submitted to Newspapers.

A camera contest, open to all Michigan residents, will be conducted by the Michigan State college publications department in connection with a new radio program, "Let's Take Pictures," presented weekly on the college station, WKAR.

Best pictures depicting Michigan rural life will be selected soon after the deadline, midnight Wednesday, February 9. No cash prizes will be offered, but best pictures submitted will be made up for use in Michigan newspapers, credit to be given winning contestants.

Conditions around which the contest will be conducted follow:

1. Must be taken by amateurs.
  2. Must be submitted by person who took picture.
  3. Negative must be sent with picture.
  4. On additional paper submit name and address, when and where picture was taken within the state.
  5. Mail not later than midnight Wednesday, February 9, to Publications Department, Michigan State college, East Lansing.
- Everett Swingle, of the M. S. C. publications department, who conducts the WKAR "Let's Take Pictures" broadcast at 3:15 p. m. each Tuesday, explained that the contest's purpose is to stimulate not more pictures but better pictures.

Name Allen For Board

New Act Makes Registration of Civil Engineers Mandatory

Prof. C. L. Allen, local civil engineering head, has been appointed a member of the new administrative board of civil engineers, according to an announcement issued from his office Saturday. The board was created by the engineer's registration act, passed by the Michigan legislature. Comparing the work of the new body to that of the examining board of the bar association, Professor Allen explained that it would supervise registration of civil engineers. This was made particularly mandatory by the recent act, he said. Under the old law this was not true.

The new legislation became effective January 1. The first meeting of the board was held in Professor Allen's office on January 6. He served on a similar body under the old act and is the only member to be retained.

According to Professor Allen, the old act, in effect since 1919, was inefficient since it did not compel the registration of civil engineers. He said that the recent legislation was passed to remedy this defect.

Outsiders Found Guilty as Drunks

H. C. Broden, 22, of East Leroy, was convicted yesterday on a charge of drunken driving and was fined $50 and costs and confiscation of his driving license.

His companion in the car at the time, Henry Duncanson, 21, of Battle Creek, was convicted on a charge of being drunk. He was fined $30 and costs. Both cases were tried yesterday in Justice of the Peace Whittemore's court.

The two men were arrested at 6:15 Saturday night at the corner of Michigan avenue and Harrison road in East Lansing.

Swedish Girl to Talk To International Club

Marta G. Dalen, graduate student in home economics, will speak to the International Relations club Wednesday, January 12, on Sweden, her native land. The meeting starts at 7:30 p. m. in room 120, Morrill hall, and is open to all interested in attending.

Councilmen Hear Report On Sewage

City Firemen Answer Fifty Calls During Last Year.

A report of the East Lansing sewage disposal system was presented to the city council last night by Frank Theroux, of the M. S. C. civil engineering department. Mr. Theroux had made a survey of the efficiency of the disposal system, at the request of the council.

The Michigan Stream Control commission is working to reduce pollution of streams by cities which empty sewage into nearby rivers. Theroux reported that the East Lansing disposal plant now purifies the sewage to the extent of 43%. Because it does not accomplish complete purification, and in keeping with the stream control commission's activities, it is evident that a change will have to be made in the city's sewage disposal equipment in the near future.

In his report of his survey, Mr. Theroux discussed possible means of doing this, taking into consideration the factors of population increase and cost of construction and maintenance. Members of the council discussed the report with Theroux, but no definite action was taken.

A fire report was also presented to the council, listing 49 calls and one false alarm during the past year. Total amount lost, that is, the value of burned property not covered by insurance, was $5,785. The report covered all of 1937.

Graduate of 1893 Surveys Changes Wrought in 45 Years

By a Grad of '93 to Glen Stewart, M. S. C. Alumni Secretary

I receive occasional copies of the Record and note with interest news concerning the older graduates. Finishing as I did in 1893, I can remember quite distinctly the first issue of the Record. It consisted of one sheet, three by four inches in size, printed only on one side.

Occasionally some of the '93 men are mentioned in the Record nowadays, and some of them may be interested in knowing that in a small way I have returned to agriculture, at least I own a piece of farm land. Nominally, I am, and have been for over 30 years, geologist of the Bethlehem Steel company.

Bell Hop First Open Formal

Nate Fry Will Play at Hotel Ball.

Swinging open the winter formal season with the first all-college party of 1938 is the "Bell Hop," Friday, January 14. The party will be in the Union ballroom with music by Nate Fry.

Chairman of the party is Robert Mummey; assistants are: invitations, Robert Poszik; music, Herbert Hunt; publicity, Charles Pearson. Patrons include Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Proulx, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis.

The "Bell Hop" is the second annual party to be sponsored by Sigma Gamma Upsilon, hotel administration honorary, last year being called the "Hotel Hop." A page boy of the Hotel Olds Tickets are available at the Union desk and from members of the fraternity.

All members and candidates of Fraternity will meet Wednesday night at 7:15 in demonstration hall.

Play Tryouts Start Today

Shakespearean Actors Also Sought for Spring Production

Tryouts for "Wild Duck" will be conducted by Dr. W. Fawcett Thompson from 7 to 10 p. m., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 11, 12, and 13, in the little theater on the third floor of the home economics building.

For students who cannot appear during these evenings, tryouts will be held during the three days according to the schedule posted on the bulletin boards in the various campus buildings.

In addition to those who aspire to roles in the current play, Dr. Thompson is anxious to interview students who are particularly interested in competing for parts in the spring term production of "The Merchant of Venice." During this term he plans to meet groups who wish to act in Shakespearean plays to discuss methods of interpreting characters and the technique of reading poetic drama.

Cover is Designed For '38 Wolverine

The 1938 Wolverine cover has been designed, and is really something new and different. M. S. C. in huge pastel yellow letters on a dark background dominate the cover, instead of the usual relief of Beaumont Tower. The word Wolverine is written on a banner cutting the letters M. S. C. and relieving the monotony. The colors featured on the cover will be used throughout the book.

Short Circuit Causes Fire at Bell Home

The East Lansing fire department answered a call to the home of Arthur Bell, 626 Elm street, about 5 p. m. Monday.

A short circuit had occurred in the wiring of an electric motor used on a forced draft heating system, and a small fire resulted that filled the house with smoke. The only damage was to the motor and the smoke damage to the house.

Broadcasting Orchestra to Play for Season's First Big Dance.

Spartan Girl To Get Award

Party Scheduled for Friday, January 21, in Lansing.

Charlie Agnew, heard nightly on the Mutual network, will direct his nationally known dance orchestra at the band formal, Friday, January 21. The dance, in the Lansing armory, will start at 9 and end at 12:30 p. m. It is the first all-college off-campus formal of the year.

During intermission plans are under way to introduce the winner of the Spartan girl contest. Though details of the ceremony have been kept as secret as the name of the winner herself, rumors indicate that she will lead the grand march, and afterwards will receive as an award a cash prize and gifts of flowers.

PLAYS SEMI-CLASSICS

According to Dean Winters, chairman of the party, Agnew presents music styled in much the same manner as Paul Whiteman. Besides his ability to swing out with dance music, he is noted for his ability to render the semi-classics in a danceable manner.

With the strains of his theme song, "Slow But Sure," Agnew will present a band which has played in many of the night clubs and hotels in the United States. He comes here after a three-months engagement at the Stevens hotel in Chicago. Besides the Stevens, he has presided at Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, the Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati, the Baker hotel in Dallas, and the Terrace Gardens in Pittsburgh.

APPEAR HERE BEFORE

This will be the second formal at State for which Agnew has played. About five years ago he made an appearance here, and according to those who heard him, was well received.

YMCA Will Discuss East

Speakers Will Present Views on Chinese Education.

"What's Happening to Education in China" will be the topic for the regular open meeting of the Y. M. C. A. to be held from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, January 11, after the basketball game. All college men are invited.

Speakers will include Bert Portnoff of the International Relations club and Robert Allured, chairman of the United States' Peace committee. The possibility of the creation of a fund to aid needy students in the Far East will be discussed.

In view of the fact that life in several of the major university centers of China has been severely dislocated this meeting will be of exceptional interest. China has always drawn its leadership from a relatively small class of educated men. This group must be preserved and the government is doing all it can to keep these institutions going. Several of the schools have moved their headquarters far inland—where they are now in need of housing and equipment. Many students, with their sources of income from home shut off, are destitute.

Mr. Riggs, the representative of Peoples church at the University of Nanking, has recently been cited as doing exceptional work among the refugee students.

As They Like It

Asked by a group of sympathetic coeds, Sunday, how he felt, a fraternity pledge, who has just come through the first Fraternity week, which everyone knows still definitely smacked of "hell," replied, "Fine, I never had so much fun in my life."
And that perhaps explains, better than anything else the continuance of the horse-play of informal initiations, despite efforts by the Interfraternity council to lessen it.
Probably there is enough of the exhibitionist in all of us, certainly in most men of college age, to get a kick out of creating a furor on the streets of Lansing on a Saturday night, by strolling through the crowds in red pajamas. Yes, the pledges of one house donned pajamas and robes (with plenty of warm clothing under them) not because they had to, but just for the fun they got out of it, and the psychological effect it might have on persons who saw them hitch-hike home from the cemeteries into Okemos way.
In one house where the actives played tennis, with pledges serving as balls, and paddles for rackets, the neophytes are reported to have enjoyed the games as much as the actives.
Fraternity men are only human in liking to show their superiority. So long as pledges continue to enjoy being victims, there is little need for anyone to worry about them.
This does not detract from the advantages offered by the examination in fraternity lore, and lecture on fraternity life offered by the Interfraternity council as a part of the initiation program. That program in its present form has enough of its old vitality to satisfy fraternity men, and enough of the educational type of instruction to better fulfill its purpose.

The Spartan Office

Although the size of the Spartan office has been a frequent subject for facetious comment, the fact remains that it is time for the college to furnish the official student magazine with better accommodations. Begun last year, with official sanction from the first two Spartan staffs have struggled along for more than a year with office facilities which would be inadequate for any kind of publication. Unfortunately, the magazine originated after the Union annex, with its provisions for offices for the other two official publications, the State News and the Wolverine, had been built.
Now that the Spartan is more than a year old; now that it has definitely established itself financially, it is time for the college to provide a place for its staff to work.
The logical place for its offices is in the Union annex, along with the offices of other campus publications. While it is true that classroom space is at a premium, the room next to the State News office might be spared.

A new publication building would be the best answer to housing college publications, but until the time that such a building is financially possible, adequate space must be provided within present facilities.

Lesson in Slanguage

Current slanguage on college campuses is always a source of bewilderment to persons outside the college realms, and is not infrequently over the heads of professors. But a recent item in the Muskegon Chronicle, in which Dr. Lois Whitney, assistant professor of English at Russell Sage College for Girls, is quoted, suggests that Michigan State students have something to learn from the polished young women at the staid old school.

For example, it is doubtful that "Gleeps, she's a nub!" would mean much to local students, but it's the common way of saying "My, isn't she attractive?" at Russell Sage. A "meatball" is still something to eat at State, but in their lingo it means simply "a stupid person."

Other terms and phrases little heard here are:

- Quilling—Making up to a professor.
- Jelly date—Pop or soda date.
- Fruit fly—One who studies in a campus candy shop.
- Mallet brain—Particularly stupid.
- Kee Wee—Good, swell, almost anything.
- Ding—To blackball.
- Skylooking—Unromantic term for the urge to make love.
- Table party—Informals.
- Wheel a sled—Drive a car.
- Handout—Engagement ring.
- Abstiquate—Get out.
- Drag—A date.
- Get in a wax—Get worked up.
- Wolging—Snaking or stealing another girl's date.

Some of the Russell Sage expressions are used here with practically the same meaning. No State student would be doubtful about "apple-polisher", although "browner" is more common. Nor would "beepreese" stump many, although R. W. O. C. or R. M. O. C. are State substitutes. "Gander" meaning to look is not unheard of here, while "drip" and "drizzle-puss" are likewise terms for varying degrees of tiresome persons.

While "smooching" is most often heard, most State students know what "orange peeling" means, and the same is true of "hardware" in place of jewelry, "Goon", "bull session", and "jam session" are a part of the language used daily here, although the latter, with its meaning of "a good, noisy, free-for-all" at Russell Sage is better known as a "rat race".
In commenting on her survey, Doctor Whitney expressed the belief that the ideas for the terms and phrases come from newspaper gossip columns, but says "The American college undergraduate seems to have a genius for slang".
"At any rate it would afford an interesting study for a philologist," she concludes.

Another Independent Project

The food problems of some 300 men students are being solved by the boarding clubs sponsored by the Independent Men's league.

Perhaps the secret of the success of these clubs is that they offer friendships to the boarders along with good food, reasonably priced, and plenty of it. They do their best to emulate home atmosphere.
Members of one of the older clubs exchange inexpensive gifts at Christmas, have graduation dinners, and reunions for past members.
The clubs are organized with a member of the independent Men's league acting as intermediary between the group and the woman in charge. To him go the members with their complaints, which he irons out with the proprietor.

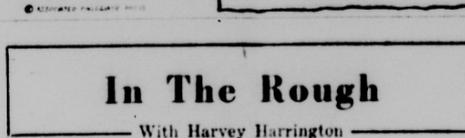

A spirit of comradeship among independent men is engendered by the clubs. This comradeship supplies the members with something all of them need in college, and at the same time is a unifying factor in the Independent Men's league.

"The college, as a producer of adults, should shift emphasis from future values to the significance of present experiences. The terrible discount on present values is akin to the evils of hoarding. Life in college is as real as life anywhere." Pres. Henry M. Wriston of Brown university asks students to "Wake Up and Live" in the present.

"Swing" Swingle, who takes pictures for the college publicity department, thought it would be a keen idea to take pictures of social life at Michigan State, and chose the grill for his theater of operations.
"Swing" snapped and clicked all around the grill one afternoon, and returned to boss Applegate with a distful of candid shots.
Not one of the pictures was worth a darn, however, because of the college girl's bent for drooping a cigarette from her mouth while sprawled around looking glamorous.
Indeed, it would be a bad idea to send those out, except the high mucky-mucks, for the small-town viewers-with-alarm would stand agog at the picture of college-ette smoking.

From the TOWER

by JACK YUNCK

We agree completely with the State News editorial of a few days ago advocating a change to the semester system by this college. There are so many faults and disadvantages in using the term system in a college of this size that one wonders why it has been used this long. There are few courses that can be adequately taught in a term and there is a bad tendency at the end of a term's work to leave a sigh of relief and proceed to forget whatever was learned as quickly as possible. One of the few services that a college education can do for the student is to integrate and evaluate whatever knowledge a student may have, and the term system is one of the greatest obstacles to just this thing. The sooner it is abolished the better it will be for the remains of education.

With all due respect to the pride of the college in its big registrations, the number of people registered in schools seems to be more of a problem than a cause for pride. The college simply contains more students than it can serve. Classes are overloaded and instructors are overburdened. One of the worst of unnecessary burdens placed upon these instructors is the very narrow-sighted and ineffectual adviser system. The faculty advisers, who are told, are supposed to advise all of the students assigned to them completely and competently in all academic matters. And more than this, it has been hinted in lectures that they are also willing and able to act as private and social adviser if any problem of this nature confront the student. They are expected to be, in short, a sort of cross between consulting psychiatrists and private tutors for each of the twenty or so students assigned to them.

How this is done nobody knows. It isn't very easy to imagine an instructor acting, in his spare time, as general nursemaid to twenty students, telling them how to get good marks in an assortment of freshman subjects that probably slipped him in his youth and which he has long since forgotten and now then straightening out a few personality quirks or hidden phobias, or even telling Jean or Jane or Mary how she can stop being a wallflower.

If all these things are to be part of an academic education someone should be found to do them besides the instructors, who have troubles enough in their professions without being called upon to be rapid-fire character analysts and spare-time motivators at the same time.

We Must Wage Peace

(In the light of all the agitation from various quarters for a boycott against Japan—your correspondent offers, without comment, the following statement which comes from an individual at the University of Michigan.)

A Statement in Opposition to a Boycott of Japanese Goods:
A boycott of Japanese goods in the United States is not a Christian approach to the problem of restoring peace in the Orient and creating good will among the nations of the world. Japan's invasion of China is unjustifiable. Efforts to stop the war and relieve suffering caused by it are highly commendable. But in our common search for enduring peace, the following points must be considered.
1. Coercive economic measures do nothing constructive about the causes of the Oriental war, but rather add to the economic maladjustments which are at the bottom of it.
2. Boycott will increase the misery of the Japanese masses and thus entrench fascism, which thrives in economic chaos.
3. Boycott will defeat the avowed purpose of restraining militarism. It will increase Japan's need of China's markets and strengthen the military clique by verifying its claim that Japan must stand alone against an unfriendly world.
4. Boycott against imperialism by an imperialistic nation is hypocrisy and will be met with scorn and resentment by Japan.
5. Anti-Japanese propaganda necessary to make a boycott effective will engender hatred both here and in Japan. Hate breeds war.
6. Defeating militarism does not stop it permanently, as Germany is proving since she was "crushed" in 1918.

Let us wage peace in the Orient. We recommend action along the following lines as alternatives to the boycott:
1. Agitate for effective international conferences to bring about economic adjustments essential for a peaceful world.
2. "Share economic resources" should be an international motto if we are sincere in seeking peace.

2. Urge that we put our own house in order before we condemn Japan's imperialism—that the U. S. give up extra-territorial rights, the right to maintain armed forces on Chinese soil and to dictate China's economic policy.

3. Demand repeal of the Asiatic exclusion clause of the immigration act of 1924, so that Orientals will be admitted on the same basis as other nationals.
4. Urge the president to invoke the neutrality law, not as an isolationist stand, but rather to indicate our intention to avoid military participation in another world war.
5. Support efforts to relieve suffering in both countries. Indicate our willingness to aid in post-war reconstruction in China and Japan.
6. Prevent antagonism between Chinese and Japanese students in this country. Support efforts at reconciliation and friendship.
7. Cooperate with liberals in China and Japan to maintain channels of confidence and good-will across national boundaries and to strengthen the liberal movements within those countries.

FarmHouse Leads; All-Fraternity Scholastic Average Falls Off

Hesperians Score Best Grade Boost

Alpha Gamma Rho Rates Second Place With 1,658 Standing.

Coming from the second place where it was last spring term the FarmHouse fraternity passed Alpha Gamma Rho to take the lead in scholastic averages among the fraternities with an average of 1,730. Alpha Gamma Rho, leader during the spring term, dropped to second place with an average of 1,658.

The all-fraternity average dropped from its spring term average of 1,397 to 1,244. This includes the grades of active members, regarding the marks of pledges, the Hesperian house made the most advance, jumping from seventh to sixth place, with an average of 1,281.

State to Aid Game Week

Herbert Announces Two Essay Contests for School Pupils.

Professor Paul A. Herbert, head of the Michigan State college forestry department, will be chairman of the wildlife restoration week, March 17 to 21 in this state. The Passenger Pigeon, once common in Michigan, is now extinct. Professor Herbert has made it one of the best game birds in the world several years ago. "It is to prevent further occurrences of this kind that wildlife restoration week will be proclaimed by President Roosevelt," Professor Herbert said.

Two essay contests will be held, one for high school and one for college pupils throughout the state. Essays may not exceed 500 words for high schools or 1,000 words for college. Subject of the first, which will be conducted through the cooperation of the Department of Conservation and the Department of Public Instruction, will be "The Wildlife of My Community—Yesterday and Today." Contest papers are to be in the hands of school principals by Jan. 1, 1938.

Prize in both contests will be a trophy engraved with the name of the winner. Second prize will be silver medals, and bronze medals will be presented to third winners.

Labour will meet in the Wolverine office Wednesday night at 8 o'clock of business. Be there.

Acclaim Brought To State Campus By Date Bureau

Was the date bureau a success last term or was the date bureau a success last term? If some of the things that came as a result of it are taken into consideration, we'd say that it was a howling success.

Result number one—some of the couples that obtained dates through the bureau are now going steady. Think of it—going steady. That in itself is enough to show that the bureau was a success, but to doubly assure the people that put a lot of time into the project, there was another result.

Result number two—Life magazine has written to the bureau and asked for pictures to be sent to them. That's really something, too. So be careful, all you date bureaus, because you might be snapped just when your girl tells you she'll go steady with you.

So the Independent Men's Date bureau is opening its doors again this term. They're located on the second floor of the Union, and are open for business Wednesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9, Thursdays from 5 to 6, and Friday from 7 to 8 p. m.

with a company in New York city for recordings of his orchestra. If these negotiations are successful, the records will be aired over the college radio station, WKAR.

Codes will be given the usual 1 o'clock Friday night permission.

Tickets are available at the Union desk and from members of the band.

Patrons for the party are Captain and Mrs. H. J. Gohlfelt, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkins, and Prof. and Mrs. Fred Patton.

LIST 40 GUESTS

A guest list of over forty persons, including college administrative officials, the deans of the divisions, and the group sponsors, will be honored.

The complete guest list includes President and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Sec. John A. Hannah, Dean Elizabeth Conrad, Dean and Mrs. L. C. Emmens, Dean and Mrs. Fred T. Mitchell, Prof. L. L. Richards, Miss Elsa Richards, Col. and Mrs. S. D. Smith, Leonard Falcone, band director, Capt. and Mrs. M. H. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Young, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bachman, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stein, Mr. and Mrs. O. Enfield, Prof. and Mrs. A. J. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Kalmbach, Leo Carlson and guest.

Church Will Hold Supper and Meeting

The annual meeting of the members and friends of Peoples church will take place Wednesday evening of this week. There will be a supper at 6:30. At the meeting later in the evening the reports for the year 1937 will be read and the officers elected for the present year. All members are urged to be present.

All Juniors who have not had their pictures taken for the Wolverine will have appointments made for them in the last two weeks in January.

Ag Officials To Visit Here

State Mentioned as Possible Site for Laboratory.

Four officials from the United States Department of Agriculture will visit Michigan State Wednesday and Thursday to investigate the possibility of placing a regional poultry research laboratory here.

The laboratory will seek information to reduce the death loss of chickens and experiment with nutrition, breeds and genetics. Other federal research laboratories, experimenting with cotton, soy beans, livestock, and grains, are located at various colleges and universities throughout the country.

The location of the poultry laboratory is not yet decided, and the choice lies between Michigan State, Ohio State, Purdue or Cornell.

Michigan State officials feel that they have advantages to offer that none of the other colleges have. A 2,000-acre tract of land is available near the campus, and the laboratory staff would have access to the library and pathology laboratory. They further believe that living conditions for the staff would be better here.

The Department of Agriculture will spend $250,000 in the first five years for buildings and equipment, and after that will spend $100,000 annually for maintenance.

Selection of Michigan State college for the location of the laboratory would reflect credit on the college, as well as bring $100,000 annually to the college.

The selection will be made within the next ten days.

Housing Project Will Provide New Homes for Birds

Three hundred bird families will find comfortable new homes awaiting their return next spring to the college campus.

One hundred houses have already been completed and more than half of them have been placed in the forest plantations near the stadium and forestry cabin.

Before nesting time all of the college woodlands and forest plantations, including the Kellogg reforestation tract near Battle Creek, will be adorned with attractive, rustic bird-houses, according to Prof. Merrill Deters of the forestry department.

Actually, there is a great need by many species of birds for nesting quarters in many managed woods and forest plantations. Professor Deters states: "Hollow trees are scarce in young groves, and the hole-nesting birds, like the wrens, nut hatches, bluebirds, chickadees, tree swallows, and titmice, normally nest in tree cavities."

South Williams Elects Officers

At the second meeting of the term at South Sarah Langdon Williams hall, the following girls were elected to office: Kay French, president; Muriel Lyon, vice president and secretary; Irma Shumway, treasurer; Dorothy Snyder, social chairman; Billie Tell, publicity chairman; Betty Wagner, Joyce Steilberger, Betty Ludwig, and Jean Reinhold, representatives of the ground, first, second, and third floors, respectively.

Musicum Series Opens

Early English Carols and Dances Attract 200 Persons

With the first of a series of six programs, the music department at Michigan State college launched its Musicum series into the second year of presentation Sunday in the Union ballroom.

About 200 persons attended the program to hear a quintet under the direction of Dr. Leonard Ellsworth sing early English carols. A group of Orchestral dancers, directed by Miss Ann Kuehl of the physical education department, also presented two early English dances.

The next program on the Musicum series will be presented at 4 p. m., Sunday, January 23, in the Union ballroom, and will consist of music from the court of Frederick the Great of Prussia.

The complete program for the opening presentation was as follows:

- Henry's Head Carol.
- Conventry Carol, from the peasant of the Shearman, and Tunes.
- Anonymous Carol, by Henry VII.
- Dance: Longweaves for six.
- Advent Carol.
- Nativity Carol.
- Carol of the Virgin.
- Round for a many will.
- Annunciation Carol.
- Carol of moral counsel.
- Political Carol.

Forestry Teacher Plans Ski Trails

A new awakening of interest in winter sports has drawn the forestry department into recreational fields. Anyone who wishes to ski may soon be able to do so within an hours drive of the campus.

J. H. Husted, forestry instructor, has inspected the Kellogg reforestation tract near Battle Creek and has started plans for ski trails through the hills and woodlots of the plantation.

Foundrymen Set Meeting

Convention to Meet at Michigan State This Spring.

Members of the American foundrymen's association from Michigan, northern Ohio, and northern Indiana will gather at Michigan State college on April 15 and 16. Wayne L. Cockerell, M. S. C. instructor in mechanical engineering, announced today.

The meeting will be the eighth annual session conducted with the Detroit chapter of the American foundrymen's association cooperating with the engineering division of the college.

The program, according to Cockerell, will deal with foundry defects, discussed from the metal, mold and equipment standpoint. Speakers will include men of national reputation, and there will be a demonstration of the reaction of molten metal to the temperature of hot iron. The program also will include informal discussions of foundry problems.

Foundrymen will hold their annual dinner on Friday evening, April 15, in the Union, and on Saturday afternoon they will have an opportunity to visit various M. S. C. departments in a specially arranged tour.

Foundrymen also will see the college engineering experiment station's new Detroit making indirect arc furnace, used for making melts of cast iron. The furnace, just recently installed, will be used to make melts up to 300 pounds as part of the station's research and instructional program.

YW Girls Will Hear Speech on Orient

Mrs. B. D. Niles will address the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon of this week at 5 o'clock on the subject, "Chinese vs. Japanese Philosophy." Mrs. Niles has spent six years in China as a teacher in Teachers' Training college in the city of Chengtu, province of Szechwan. She has also taught at William and Mary and Central State Teachers' college at Mt. Pleasant.

Members of the American foundrymen's association from Michigan, northern Ohio, and northern Indiana will gather at Michigan State college on April 15 and 16.

Faculty Gathering Features Guest Tea

A faculty tea, given by Ethel Krans, will be served in the tea room, room 9, of the home building, Wednesday afternoon, January 12, from 3:30 until 5. Students, faculty members, and friends are welcome to attend.

Good morning. Another week finds us a little less under the influence of the post-holiday dolours and we predict a complete recovery by the end of the week. While waiting for this spiritual rejuvenation to take place, remember, smile, it won't hurt.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA—The Alpha Gams will hold their formal dinner dance Saturday night in the Union, with Nate Fry supplying the music. Two recent pledges are Vibecca McCane and Magrieta Pryor. A few of the Delta Chi pledges put on a very interesting floor show during the dinner hour Saturday night. They were also very sweet and obliging about answering the door bell.

Shirley Cook and Katherine Hooper are going to Detroit Tuesday to see Sonja Henie perform.

PHI DELTA THETA—The Phi Deltas will have their formal initiation next Sunday. Their formal dinner dance is planned for next Friday.

HESPERIAN—The Hesperians wish to report that their pledges are in healthy condition, probably because they distinguished themselves by winning that scholarship plaque. They say the survivors are even able to sit up and laugh about their experiences. The eighteen Hesperians who attended the Kappa formal Saturday night have decided that they had a smooth time, and add significantly, "and we know a good party when we're at one."

KAPPA ALPHA THETA—The Thetas are having their formal next Saturday.

Vivien Knepp, a senior, is back in school this term.

State's 'Up And Coming' Cagers To Play Three Games This Week

Hawaiian All Stars Furnish Opposition For State Tonight

State Shows Improved Form in Halting Undefeated Kentucky Quintet, 43 to 38; Wildcats Stage Rally in Waning Minutes but Fall Short.

By VIC SPANIOLO

Three games in five days is the difficult task that faces State's rising basketball team this week. Tonight in Demonstration hall, the Hawaiian All-Stars, who started the Spartans on a long losing streak last year, returns seeking their second victory over Coach Ben VanAlstyne's cagers.

This week-end the Spartans take to the road, traveling into the eastern sector to battle the University of Buffalo on Friday and Syracuse on Saturday.

The Hawaiians who are on a tour of the United States have played many of the top-notch cage squads of the country and have demonstrated to the dismay of their opponents that they play a swift and deceptive brand of ball.

Observers who have watched the All-Stars in action claim that they are more agile and speedy of foot than American players. It must be remembered that against the Spartans last season, the Hawaiians outplayed a taller team, making State members look slow in comparison.

Last Saturday night against a great and previously unbeaten Kentucky Wildcats Michigan State ended the Wildcat winning streak, 43 to 38. Incidentally, Kentucky overpowered an ever-dangerous University of Pittsburgh five a week ago. By this one can readily see that the Spartans have an "up and coming" team.

At the opening whistle State's starting quintet set a furious pace that proved too much for Kentucky. It was a far different story from that of the California contest. From the outset until the closing gun State displayed an accurate passing attack that netted easy baskets in addition to a defense that staved off a belated rally in the closing minutes.

The individual scoring honors went to Captain Joe Hogan who was the spark plug of the Wildcats and who accounted for 14 points, mostly from bad angles. Frank Shidler, State center, deserves mention for his close guarding of Kentucky's Thompson.

Possibly the most responsible factor in the defeat of Kentucky was the sure-fire play of the front line, composed of Shidler, George Falkowski, and Marty Hutt, who together chalked up 30 points.

The work of Howard Kraft and Leo Callahan at the guard posts was remarkable. Both played stellar games and assured VanAlstyne that the guards are capable of producing in great style.

Badminton Hours Open For Men

Time has again been arranged for faculty and graduate students to play badminton on Tuesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock at Demonstration hall. A large group that has never played before has expressed a desire to play.

Inquiries may be made of Mr. McCarty, chairman, extension 144.

Speed Demon!

Gerard Boss Leaves Early

Gerard Boss, one of the most colorful Michigan State trackmen in the college's history, has run his last race although he still has another term of competition left.

By taking additional credits, Boss qualified to be graduated at the end of last fall term, three months ahead of schedule. He wasn't due to receive the sheepskin until the end of this term.

Loss of Boss means State will be without the only Spartan who captured a first place in the outdoor state intercollegiate last spring.

The distance star was twice a member of the State cross country team, which won the I. C. 4-A.

SPORT INTERLUDES—Lands Meet

By GEORGE MASKIN

Hitting the high spots:

Athletic Director Ralph H. Young has come up with another prize accomplishment—bringing the National Collegiate cross-country championship meet to Michigan State next November.

Young has been recognized as the "go getter" of the State athletic department for several years, and through his efforts the Spartans have made vast strides forward in the collegiate sporting fraternity.

There'll be plenty of titles at stake during the meet, since in addition to the national crowns—individual and team—the winners also will carry off the Central Intercollegiate trophies, which will be decided at the same time.

Russ Daubert, State's dashing swimming coach must shudder each time he gets thinking about the opening meet of the season against Michigan, January 26.

In case Daubert failed to see the results of the Wolverines' latest meet in Cleveland, we might pass along the information, Michigan men only established four new A. A. U. records during the course of the evening.

Isn't Stranger

We didn't see the game, but word has it Michigan State's basketball team defeated Kentucky because the Spartans were "hot" and the Colonels were having an "off night."

The records show State has scored 40 or more points in six of its seven games this season, and Saturday was one of the nights the Spartans finished in the 40-point column. State is just consistent this winter.

In Saturday's edition of the State News, Charles Dutton of the sports staff quoted Wrestling Coach Fendley Collins as saying mat bouts should produce more action during the 1938 season with the new rules in vogue.

It long has been our impression, collegiate wrestling lacked the entertainment quality furnished by other sports. Few of the bouts supplied sufficient interest to stir the paying customers.

Like Ben Van Alstyne in basketball, Collins predicts a "new deal" in State wrestling this winter. The new rules probably will help.

Consistent Team

Harvey Woodstra, a hurdler, shouldn't have much trouble making the State track team. Although making his first bid for varsity recognition here, Woodstra needs no introduction in Michigan track circles.

A couple of years ago, representing Grand Rapids Junior college, Woodstra stepped off with one of the hurdle championships in the state meet at Ann Arbor. Woodstra won't be around long, however, having only one year of competition left.

The prolonged football season may cost State's track team Darwin Dudley, fast-stepping quarter-miler. Dudley remains undecided whether he'll take the winter term off, athletically, and re-join the thinclads in the spring.

Heading West?

Ben VanAlstyne probably will show the Michigan State basketball team on the West Coast during the 1938 Christmas vacation.

If VanAlstyne's present plans carry, the Spartans will take on California, Southern California, and Stanford, among others. It would be the first time a State basketball five has performed west of the Rocky mountains.

Van is hunting for opponents to be played both enroute to and coming back from California.

Basketball Flash! Michigan beat Butler, and Butler was in turn defeated by Marquette. State plays all three teams during the next month in Demonstration hall. The Spartans face a hard road in the home schedule.

Speedy Hawaiians Face Spartan Cagers

One of the most colorful basketball teams to play in the United States, the Hawaiian All-Stars will make their second appearance in Demonstration hall tonight when they face Michigan State. Among their stars are Chew Chong Ching (left), a forward, Ah Chew Goo (center), another forward and the smallest member of the team, and Takeo Goya, a guard.

State Track Team Loses Sprint Ace

Michigan State's hope for a strong entry in the dashes in track competition this year received a heavy jolt yesterday with the announcement Rudy Flake, fleetfooted sophomore, had withdrawn from college.

Coach Ralph H. Young had been counting on the first-year sprinter to team with Wilbur Greer, brilliant junior sprinter to score prominently for State in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Although practice has been in order more than a week, the full squad still is to report. Young figures the team will be at full strength within the next three days.

The thinclads will swing into competition January 29 when the annual freshman-sophomore meet will be staged. The intercollegiate season won't get under way until February 12, on which day State will face Michigan Normal.

Freshman trackmen are working daily, along with the varsity, and the coaching staff is anxious for all yearling candidates, who have not reported to date, to do so this week.

State Wrestlers Girl for Initial Meet of Season

A series of important bouts this week will determine the personnel of the Michigan State wrestling team which opens its 1938 season next Saturday, facing the strong Wheaton college matmen at Wheaton, Ill.

The meet will be the first of two in three days for the Spartans. Next Monday, State hooks up with the University of Michigan grapplers, in what should be the best meet of the season.

Place Ninth

United Press association, in rating the nation's college football teams for the last five years, places Michigan State in ninth place.

During the period the Spartans have triumphed 33 times, while losing only seven games and gaining ties in four. In three of the seasons, State lost only one game.

State was the only Michigan school to place in the first 25.

TO PLAY TONIGHT

The short courses will play their second game in the gym tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

Short Course Cagers Capture Season's Opener

Michigan State's short course basketball team opened its 1938 season last Saturday by turning back the Adrian freshman five, 22-6. The Spartan quintet moved out to an early lead that was no time during the game was threatened.

Kimmel set the pace for the victory, collecting four baskets for eight points. Waldeck hit the mark for three goals, while Ormick dropped home a pair of baskets.

Frosh Cagers are Impressive in First Practice of Season

Had one been in Demonstration hall last week he would have seen a very interesting contest in progress. Coach Ben VanAlstyne had his varsity reserves scrimmaging against a raw and inexperienced freshman basketball squad.

But, much to the surprise and amusement of the handful of spectators, the yearling outfit was turning in a very impressive showing.

The freshman quintet was composed of Chester Aubuchon and Mal Peterson at the guards, Roble and Ray at the forwards, and Oren Hindmen at the pivot slot. This last stepping quintet was keeping Carpenter, Henry, and the remaining three varsity cagers fully occupied in maintaining the fast scoring pace which the yearling courtmen set.

Of the five first year men mentioned above, Chet Aubuchon and Oren Hindmen were outstanding. The dribbling, passing, and shooting of Aubuchon has already drawn praise from both VanAlstyne and Tom King, the freshman coach.

Aubuchon is from Gary, Indiana, where he was an all-state guard in high school. The shooting of Hindmen and his work under the basket.

Pingel Proves 'Iron Man' Of State Eleven

Johnny Pingel not only was the outstanding member of Michigan State's 1937 football team, but the halfback star also was the "iron man" of the Spartan eleven.

According to figures released yesterday, Pingel played 361 out of a possible 340 minutes during the nine regular games. In addition, Pingel saw action in 23 minutes of the Orange bowl game at Miami.

Second place honors went to Captain Barry Speelman, who also was voted the most valuable senior. The Firechief, during the season, played 331 minutes, to beat out Fred Schroeder, the handy man of the line, by one minute.

The season's dope sheet also revealed Coach Charles Bachman in no game played less than 23 men.

START NEXT WEEK

Announcement was made today by the athletic department that interfraternity, interschool, and independent basketball will begin next week. The schedules have not been made out but will be available by the first of the week.
