A New Trick

Not quite all the methods of passing Tuesday parades have been used up.

Showing upperclassmen a new sheet of paper, Jim Kroll and Ray Gannon, Lansing freshmen, went canoodling on the placid Red Cedar Tuesday afternoon. Several conflicting versions have been offered to cause for the upset that just one-half hour before the weekly spectacle Kroll and Gannon, uniforms, buttons, boots, and all, added one more ripple to the sparkling river.

FFA to Meet On Campus Two Days

Five Impromptu Dormitories to Be Created for Boys

Five impromptu dormitories will be created on Michigan State college campus today as nearly 3,400 youthful Future Farmers of America invade East Lansing for a two-day meeting.

Cots to sleep the boys will be placed in the fieldhouse, women's gym, "Demonstration hall, livestock sale barn, and Agriculture hall.

Started 21 years ago in conjunction with Farmers' Week activities, the Future Farmers of America was finally evolved and came to have its own statewide meeting.

TO SELECT JUDGES

Major purpose of the annual convention of FFA members is to select the state judging teams to be sent to the national convention in Kansas City. Contests to decide the winning judges will start the program off Thursday morning with competition in grain, livestock, and dairy products judging. Contests in dairy cattle, poultry, and potato judging will round out the competition Friday.

Divisions of Liberal Arts, Engineering, Veterinary Medicine, and Applied Science have arranged demonstrations for the benefit of the visitors which may view the contests.

At 4 p.m. today the State-Hillsdale baseball game will be seen by the youths. Other activities this afternoon will include a sports fest and a series of athletic demonstrations sponsored by the physical education department.

Speaker for the occasion has not yet been named.

Freshman Sings With Whiteman Orchestra

Almost any student might get to hear Paul Whiteman in person and an up-and-coming one might land an autograph. But it really takes something to get an opportunity to appear as soloist with the "king of jazz."

Janet Miller, freshman music major from Flushing, has what it takes for she sang with Paul Whiteman and his band Sunday night in Flint.

It all came about as the result of her winning an audition sponsored by the Capital Theater in Flint where Whiteman made his appearance Sunday. Prizes for the winner was an opportunity to sing with the well-known band. Number chosen by Miss Miller was "All the Things You Are."

Miss Miller is a voice pupil of Fred Patton of the music department.

ASCE Chapters To Meet Here

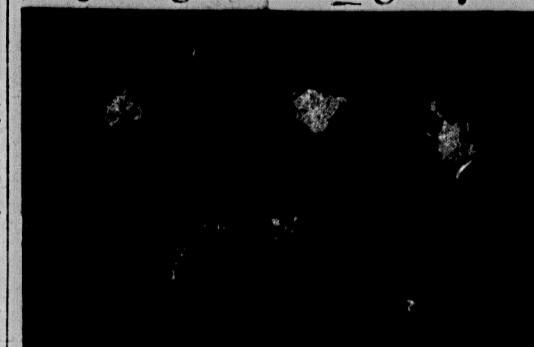

Civil engineering students from three Michigan branches of the American Society of Civil Engineers will be entertained by the Michigan State society at the annual banquet here Friday, May 17, according to Robert Wunderlich, president.

Michigan College of Mines and Technology, University of Michigan, and University of Detroit chapters will attend.

Committees for the banquet, which will climax a meeting in the Union building, were named Tuesday night. Don Baker will be general chairman. William Gilham will assist him. William Reiger and Nila Hammarskjold are committee members for programs and tickets, while Dale Granger and Earl Bengry are in charge of publicity.

Speaker for the occasion has not yet been named.

Preparing for the Big Day

Prof. B. R. Prolix, head of the college hotel course, watches as James A. LaDu, who will be student manager of the hotel, is instructed by Bruce Anderson, Olds manager, in the hotel's business practices.

Senior Hotel Ads to Practice Theories at Olds Friday

Not every senior gets a job as general manager even before he graduates, but James A. LaDu, Michigan State college hotel administration senior, will start at the top as manager of the Hotel Olds, Lansing, Friday afternoon.

Unfortunately, the job lasts for only four hours, from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday, May 3. LaDu will be assisted by 13 other M.S.C. hotel administration seniors in their operation of the Lansing hotel, as part of the annual hotel administration conference, to be held here May 3 and 4.

While LaDu, whose home is in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, relieves Bruce Anderson as general manager, he will be assisted by Robert Ballard, East Lansing, and Richard Bower, Lafayette Hill, Penn., as assistant managers.

NAME OTHERS TO SERVE

Other students and the positions they will serve are: Robert Belland, Ludington, and Robert Ryan Sioux City, Iowa, room mail clerk; William Streiff, Jackson, cashier; Gerald Yester, Lowell bell captain; John Donovan, Midletown, N.Y., head porter; Miss Marjorie Patterson, Yonkers, N.Y., housekeeper; Charles Ackef, Owosso, chef; Nolan Allen, Cambridge City, Indiana, steward; Ted Crowe, East Lansing, head waiter; Wayne Withey, Rochester, N.Y., dining room captain; Herbert Flaster, Brooklyn, N.Y., auditor.

The concerts, known throughout Michigan, are unique in the state, according to Falcone.

"No other college in Michigan has a band shell and no other offers special concerts of the caliber and interest shown here," he stated. This year's series will feature members of the band as soloists.

Concerts will again take place in the band shell across from the auditorium, which will house the concerts in the event of rain.

The appearances by the band are as the climax to several months of preparation, broken only by the band's appearances at football and baseball games, military parades, concerts during Farmers' Week, and a few other occasions, Falcone said.

Plans for the entertainment of student councils of YMCA's in Michigan will be completed at a meeting of the YMCA student cabinet in the student parlor of Peoples church tonight.

About 70 men from 10 different campuses are expected at the meeting Saturday, May 18. Dr. Harold Colvin, of Chicago, will be the guest speaker, and George Campbell will be worship leader.

Harry Brunner will present a special report on the object of the association and the program for the coming year as well as other business.

They Go by Signs

A thoughtless student brushed past an Alpha Phi Omega sign the other day and scurried over a campus lawn as he was hurrying to a class.

The resulting reaction of the half dozen student witnesses nearby was indeed gratifying, especially to those who might think that school spirit is a thing of the past. A unanimous chorus of boos and hisses directed at the individual succeeded in causing a hasty, embarrassed face and a few awkward strides back to the sidewalk.

This student illustrates the pressure that student opinion is capable of placing upon the inevitable few who are too busy or too lazy to observe the few traditional "Matters" asked of them.

Yesterday Alpha Phi Omega deserved warm commendation for agreeing not otherwise than company. Most of the two-thousand paths have disseminated under a fresh blanket of green and dirt because they have succeeded in making Michigan State "green" again.

"If an institution cultivates the policy of critical inquiry, the intellectual responsibility and integrity can I believe is obligatory. It follows as a matter of course that controversial questions should be freely discussed. Young men and women arriving to discuss the different social ideologies and theories, whether in our classroom. Why shouldn't they?" Antioch college's president, Alex D. Henderson, urges free college discussion at all times.

C-DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY CHRISTMAS ROUND

Copyright 1940 by David Evans Studios, Inc.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—When rocky exchanges saluted Joschitsch von Ribbentrop summoned diplomats and the press to a grim presentation of the Nazi white paper the other day, it may have been that he was chiefly concerned with covering up some dynamite which the Allies had discovered.

At that meeting Ribbentrop claimed that Germany went into Norway because secret Allied plans to penetrate Benito Mussolini had been discovered. But the real truth, as reported to official sources here, was very different.

What actually happened was that six or seven days before the invasion of Norway, French and British intelligence services set word of a treasonous plan to launch a whaling war about mid-May.

This lightning war was to include the invasion of Norway, the invasion of Holland, the occupation of France by Mussolini, and an attack on the Maginot Line. Apparently this strategy was hatched at the famous Hitler-Mussolini conference at the Brenner Pass, and was calculated to cover the Allies off their rear.

Naturally when Allied intelligence agents learned of this the next thing the British did was check into the situation in Norway. There, thanks to British sounding the Norwegian government which is a labor government—quarreled certain high-classed soldiers who were sympathetic to the Nazis, to some extent, in their view to them.

So Norway started to clean house. Naturally when the pro-Nazi Norwegians were fired, it seemed to the Germans in the fact that the Allies were in on them just as they started into Norway almost immediately.

There is no question that the British, the Norwegian government, had time to assess the intelligence, the British had gathered maps of Norway and had discussed the possibility of military operations there. Some of the were diverted to the Chamberlain cabinet even wanted to do what Ribbentrop suggested, that is, to commence going into Norway, but the Chamberlain and a majority of the cabinet were against it.

This was about all the truth there was to the Ribbentrop white paper.

REUNION DINNER

Several weeks before last weeking Governor Ed Rivers of Texas had officially lined up his new delegates for a third term to make a trip to Washington and reported to Roosevelt that much could be had the strongest Democratic vote.

The following year Rivers, Mr. President, reported Rivers said he got all the Texas delegates bagged in from most of the association. But you know how easy we were when you get us in a bag. They're scattered and scattered and I don't know where they're going to get out.

Then, Gov. Ed, replied the president, just keep hold of your bag.

However, the Governor of Oklahoma was not as enthusiastic as the president. Doubtless, also, he was interested in finding him down on the first team. He said:

"Well, I can hold on all right. All I want is if I'm holding them now, but if I'm holding them now, some one else, then they want to know about it so they can catch and then, come."

Then, you know, when the new comes, Ed, repeat the process. "Awwwww, you just hold him to that bag."

Now, the above conversation is particularly significant because it represents the attitude of almost every Democratic state boss in the country. Mayor Hague of Jersey City and Mayor Kelly of Chicago, for example, are for a third term for Roosevelt, but they don't guarantee to towning their delegates to Roosevelt's fan-favorite big-expenses, if he is a New Dealer.

You Say This

To Editor of State News:

In the State News of Tuesday, April 20, there appears an editorial advocating the opening of college buildings on Sunday so that they may be inspected and visited by the parents of students, the citizens of the state and others that may be interested. The writer points out the importance of creating and maintaining good will between the college and the taxpayers of the state. With this we all agree.

I think, however, that the taxpayers of the state would like to ask that college buildings be kept open on Sunday if it were decided to them the actual cost in dollars and cents. Michigan State college receives the bulk of its income by direct appropriation of the Michigan legislature from the various subdivisions provided by the Federal government.

I have asked Mr. Decamp, superintendent of buildings and grounds, to prepare for me a statement of the actual cost of keeping the college buildings open on a per Sunday basis. If the buildings are to be kept open on Sunday it will be necessary that all buildings and other areas open to the public be cleaned at the close of the day.

There are 40 major buildings including the dormitories and Union building that are always kept open on Sunday. It is felt noted that the cost of cleaning the portion of these buildings that would be open would be approximately $1000.00. There would be no staff members in the buildings and it would be necessary to hire janitors to be in all of the buildings during the period the buildings are kept open to prevent college property and equipment order and damage. At less than 40 persons would be required at a cost of $125.00 per day. The maintenance of buildings in all open buildings would be absolute, especially due particularly to the large number of school children that would use these buildings as playgrounds. Electric rates would be required to meet these. In the newer buildings the ventilation costs would have to be put up in operation at an additional duty and for electric service of $60.00. Obviously the cost is cut down in all those buildings on Saturday afternoon and Monday morning. It is very conservative estimate that the average cost of cleaning and maintaining these buildings would be at least $100.00 per day if the buildings were to be kept open on Sunday. During the summer months there would be no additional cost. During the winter months it would be a very considerable cost. It is estimated that the various maintenance services including water, heating, repairs of buildings, and so forth would total not less than $350.00 per day. The total of these items is $325.00 which does not include any charge for additional acreage.

All employees of the college are entitled to at least one day off a week. If the buildings were to be open on Sunday it would require a staggering of the working days so that each employee would have one day off per week.

If the buildings were to be open Sunday, the greatest number of visitors to the campus is during the summer months and it would be necessary to keep them open 80 Sundays during the year at an additional cost of, in excess of $27,000.

The ruling that all buildings are to be closed for student use after 10 p.m. on weekday evenings and all day Sunday is a ruling of the faculty and may be modified only by action of the faculty.

I am sure that you will agree that these facts should be presented to the student body and others interested that way from time to time be fixed at their inability to inspect college buildings on Sundays and other holidays.

Sincerely yours,
John A. Hanish

Foresters, Vets Win First Games

Foresters, Vets and Ringers all came through with victories on the independent league front Tuesday evening. Foresters defeated Alpha Chi Sigma 3 to 4. Jack Woodward, hurling for the winners, allowed six hits, and Richard Lanning gave up seven runs bungles to the Foresters.

Vets beat the Kingpins 5 to 4. Steve Vets was assured the game after their half of the first inning was over as they had scored six runs and the hits at that time.

Four of the five hits made off Clarence Klooster, Vets' hurler, were made by Loren Anderson and Dick Tevittiger, each hitting two singles. Bill Lee had the Vets eight hit attack and Jim Deedy, losing pitcher, with a pair of singles.

Ringers won the other game scheduled when the Mustangs forfeited.

Courageous Betas Challenge Gals

With what probably amounts to the height of resolution and bravery, the Beta Kappa girls have challenged Alpha Chi Omega to a softball game next Thursday evening.

The game will prove the ladies keep the decision by a one-sided bargain, the matter which they shirked out the hurling contest.

Later parents from the Beta Kappa camp have it that five of the betheens have departed in search of singer material.

Anyone caring to spectators of such events are warned that there will be no admission charge. It is understood that all candid cameras would be barred.

PS - The Beta Kappa girls will be allowed to use a bat, but will have to swing it from the right side.

Marquette's Trackmen Reverse the Situation on State's Thinclads

By Joe Simek

Up to last year, Michigan State's trackmen had little difficulty in piling up huge scores against Marquette, but the situation now has completely reversed itself, with the Hilltoppers in the driver's seat.

The Golden Avalanche which State meets at Milwaukee Saturday, has come through with 11 straight victories, to stamp it as one of the strongest dual units in the mid-west.

Frank Jennings' boys have not been heavy winners in the big relay meets, but they have the balance to outscore their rivals in dual meets and in the Central Collegiate conference championships.

HAD ONLY SHARE

In winning the CEC crown here last winter, the Hilltoppers had only a share of one first place. However, in lining up against the Spartans they appear to have a concentration of power in the jades and the hurdles. The Blue and Gold swept the hurdles and all running events up to the mile in the indoor encounter.

State's chief hope in the sprints will be sophomore George Dorian, who has been slow in rounding into shape. Dorian not only is a fast runner, man but has great possibilities at 220 yards. Bob Webster is another possible sprinter, having shown up well in the indoor meet with a victory in the 100-meter dash.

Cape Chester Olson is making the trip at No. 1, followed by Fred Perkins at No. 2. Herman Struck will add power at No. 3, while Irvin Roberts, Floyd Kruse and Sam Pratt will fill remaining positions except.

Olson and Perkins, Struck and Pratt, and Roberts and Kruse comprise the doubles combine. Also making the trip are Bob Harris as alternate and Joe Clemer as manager.

State's jumping and all-round star Walter Arrington is turning to the quarter-mile with an eye on the national decathlon title. At the Kansas relay, he turned in a 3-second quarter-mile and it would not be surprising to see his long stride carry him over the distance in 30 feet.

In Saturday's meet he still looks like the best bet in the high jump although his height may have fallen off as the result of his death-hor training, but he is particularly anxious to even a score with Bob Sherrill, ace Hilltopper, who won the broad jump in the indoor encounter. Arrington was only a fraction under 24 feet at Penn which is good enough to win most dual jumps.

The broad jump looks like the strongest event for the Spartans, with Barry Ryan and Stan Keefer being better than average performers.

HANDLER HITS EIGHT

In the shotput big George Handler is finally beginning to get the 16-pound ball out, but his son, and sophomore Lew Smiles has also looked good.

Les Brinkner and Bob Freedlund should come in for points in the discus, but State's sophomore swashbuckler Bill Morgan will have to match throws with Don Vossler, who has been hitting over 200 feet this year.

Police Bertil, grandson of King Gustav of Sweden, recently shot an 88 on the Mid-Penn golf course at Dunbar, N. C.

My Friend, Joe Holmes, is now a horse

JOE always said when he died he'd like to become a horse. One day Joe died.

Early this February I saw a horse that looked like Joe drawing a milk wagon. I sneaked up to him and whispered, "Is it you, Joe?"

He said, "Yes, and am I happy!" I said, "Why?" He said, "I am now wearing a comfortable collar for the first time in my life. My short collars always used to shrink and irk me. In fact, one choked me to death. That is why I died."

"Why didn't you tell me about your short collar?" I exclaimed. "I would have told you about Arrow shirts. They never shrink out of fit! Not even the outdoors."

"Smart," said Joe. "My horse needs a shirt like that. I'll tell him about the button-down Gordon Oxford. Maybe he'll give me an extra quart of oats. And, gosh, do I love oats!"

EAST LANNING

Back in Game

Harvey Cook, senior catcher, will be behind the plate against Hilltoppers today. He hasn't seen action since the season's opener a few weeks ago.

BASEBALL

The big punch of the game was saved until the last half of the ninth. George Monroe had been coasting along in fine shape with a four-run lead, spreading eight Michigan hits along the route. Bill Steppen, best Wolverine batter, walked. Freddy Froehle hit a long Texas League and Navy Duncan followed. Dave Nelson's grounder to fill the bases with none out.

RUER TRADES OUT

Big George Rueter depopulated the sacks with a clashing triple. Then came the unique error that actually saved the game for State. George Harris hit an easy bound to George Monroe, who passed to Bill Morrison, covering first. Morrison dropped the throw when Harris slid hard into the bag, and Rueter started on home. Morrison recovered in time to throw to catcher Doc Mansur, who dethroned Rueter with a decisive tag for the final out.

But the trouble wasn't over. For clutch hitter Lee Reppeling singled. Rueter relieved Monroe and sent Frank Mikulec to the mound. Mikulec possessed Charlie Park and Eddie Sodick to ground to Morrison for the dual outs.

Outstanding fielding work was turned in by Maurice Bolster and Dan Mansur, reserve catchers, who were surprise selections for receiving duties. Bolster figured in two double plays which resulted in putouts at the plate.

Frat Teams Advance

In two games sandwiched between nights of mystery due to rain, two new Block Seaders emerged in the Intercollegiate baseball. Lambs Chi Alpha, led by the one-bit pitching of Bob Freedlund, took undisputed possession of the Block 2 lead with a 3-0 win over Phi Delta Theta. In Block 3 Sigma Nu upset the defending champions, Alpha Gamma Rho, to become the only undefeated team in that block.

For four innings the Lambs Chi-Delta Theta was anybody's game as neither Freedlund nor Fred Golds had allowed a hit. But in the Lambs Chi half of the round bats to Vester, Allison, La Fleur and a pair of felder's choices swiped three runs for the visitors. In the fifth Dick Westfield tapped out a double to split

Kobs Brings Home the Bacon

When the Michigan State athletic staff gathered for its monthly staff meeting yesterday, Ralph Young, Charley Bachman, Ben Van Aelstyne, Pendley Collins, and Jake Daubert all rose and bowed graciously to John Rabs.

John had just brought back to the Spartan stronghold the first Wolverine skin to be nailed on the mount of the new football this year. In fact, since M.S.C. had lost a decision, Michigan has registered victories in football, basketball, track, swimming, badminton, tennis, and starters. We say three because that's all he got.

Paul Kremer, who usually rounds out the foursome, will attempt to play with a brace on his knee. It may work but the percentages are all against it.

With spring in the air, everybody's attention on baseball, it may seem rather strange to talk of football. But that's just what we intend doing. Watching Charley Bachman and his aides sending some odd and wild hoping through the passes puts you in a football mood, whether you are ready for it or not.

You can hardly tell when Michigan State is coming up with a good football team.

The best barometer of feeling of all on the matter is the amount of talk that goes on concerning the State-Michigan clash. This year there has been plenty of it, and by next fall it will have risen into a veritable crescendo.

Why all the discussion? It's simple enough. John R. Rab has heard the lowdown noted around and it's no secret to him that Michigan State is due to be a lot tougher next year than last year. In addition, he has heard rumors of the 1940 gridiron. So, putting two and two together, he has decided that the game between the inter-state giants ought to be pretty much of a toss-up by game time next October.

How are the Wolverines fixed for reserve power? That's a big question, which only time can answer. But one thing is sure. Most of Michigan's shock troops will come from last fall against Minnesota without Evanski. It was a sorry exhibition.

Bob Weifall should be a great fullback next fall. He, along with Harmon, will do most of the ground rushing for Michigan in 1940.
