Today's Campus

Simple is the Word

Certain courses on campus are considered simple by many students. But Bill Otto, Liberal Arts major, knows there is something simple about Prof. J. D. Menchhofer's 102 speech class.

Menchhofer was discussing division of speeches in class yesterday. As an example of a group, he gave students Doolittle, Dawson, and Otto. "That'd be as simple as a group as I could get," he exclaimed.

"You know, Otto and I are simple, pure and simple," Menchhofer continued. "I'm pure and simple."

Students in the class think Otto is a browner, for he still talks to Menchhofer.

Young Cynic!

One green-potted freshman was impressed with the ability of the local Gable, Johnny Rischman. During tryouts for Accent on Youth, John was reading the role of Galloway, Broadway character actor.

The butler in the scene had demonstrated his ability to sweep the floor with his palms. The actor had the next line, which was addressed to Rischman—and after taking over the 200 pound Heppie he wasn't too much convinced his reading of "Can you do it?" was a threat, however.

Thazzith 'ere?

A zither is a musical instrument similar to a zither," Director W. B. Hamel explained to men's glee club when the word came up in a song at rehearsal the other night.

"But what's a zither?" questioned Ed Kivela, president of the club.

"A zither is a thing with strings that you lay on a table and play by scratching it with your fingernails," shot back the maestro.

"Oh, you mean a table cloth," the zither voice from the back where Ron Bishop was hiding.

Swimmers to Hold Life Saving Class

Red Cross life saving instruction will be given on Wednesday this term by Green Splash, swimmer's swimming honorary society, according to Dorothy Campbell, president. The pool will also be available for open swimming on Tuesday evenings.

A mixed splash party will be held on Wednesday, October 16, at Jean Boyl as general chairman. At that time the Green Splash will present a special swimming formation.

Council OKs Plan for New Safety Zone

Approves Cut-off To Aid Drivers, Pedestrians

Plans were approved Monday evening by the East Lansing city council to reconstruct the traffic island at the intersection of M. A. C. on Grand River avenues, so that pedestrians will no longer be menaced by cars turning left from the eastbound side of Grand River.

At present the island is continuous from Abbot road to M.A.C., but under the new plans a portion of the island will be cut out about five feet from the M.A.C. end. Through this cut in the island a strip of pavement will be laid.

ELIMINATES CONGESTION

The paved channel will allow traffic to turn from the eastbound lane into the westbound lane of Grand River without having to go around the end of the island. This will eliminate congestion at the Grand River and M.A.C. intersection.

The pedestrian crosswalk will be located east of the new cut-off, enabling people to cross the street without having to watch for cars coming from several directions.

BLACKTOP APPROVED

Work on the new cut-off will be carried on by the state highway department.

The council also approved the plan to blacktop Southlawn road and County avenue in the Tourain subdivision north of West Grand River avenue.

Plant Installs Power Boiler

Rebuilding and expansion of Michigan State college's power plant is nearing completion, according to W. A. Davenport, superintendent of the building and grounds department.

The boiler installed in 1924 is being remodeled. It will compare with the new one installed last year and is the best tube type. Both boilers will generate about 1,000 horsepower. One new boiler is being installed.

So that the equipment will be on hand in case of an emergency, the rebuilding must progress slowly, Davenport stated.

Women Nominate Representatives

Marjorie Kooman and Glen Evelyn Walkley were nominated to the position of off-campus representatives to the Judiciary board this week.

Judiciary board elections will be held in all off-campus houses before Monday, Oct. 14.

Fans Free Fieldhouse Of Formidable Fungus

By Dave Jones
To your list of strange building problems, add "Fungus in the Fieldhouse."

A growth of mold, discovered early last summer on the under side of the new Jenison fieldhouse roof, caused college officials some concern until brought under control, Sec. J. A. Hannah revealed recently.

The trouble began a year ago, during the accelerated college building program, according to Hannah. Walls of the fieldhouse were up, and workmen were ready to begin on the roof, which was to be constructed of poured gypsum and asphalt, topped by copper.

STARTED TOO EARLY

Ordinarily, a poured gypsum roof is laid during the summer and allowed to dry thoroughly before being covered with asphalt. To avoid delaying work on the fieldhouse for several months, however, the "go ahead" signal was given, and asphalt was put on over the still-moist gypsum. Then the copper sheeting was added, sealing the moisture within the roof.

Inside the fieldhouse, the roof was finished with sound-absorbing insulating board, and that was that.

Everything was fine during the winter, but with the coming of spring the water trapped in the gypsum of the roof began to appear, soaking through the insulation and dripping from the ceiling. MOLD MULTIPLICATION

The dampness, coupled with the heat in the fieldhouse, provided an ideal place for mold to grow, and grow it did, appearing on the ceiling in great quantities.

It's all gone now, however, states Hannah. When the cause of the fungus was determined, huge fans were installed in the fieldhouse to dry out the ceiling. Once dry, the entire inside was repainted, leaving the building none the worse for its "experience."

The convention will consider in particular the problem of woodland management, the marketing of woodlot products, and the latest techniques in conserving soil.

Professional foresters from the states of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky are to be at the convention.

IFC Will Train Its Frat Men In Etiquette

Highlighting term plans of the Interfraternity council is a plan to inaugurate Sunday afternoon teas in the various fraternity houses on campus.

According to I. F. C. president, John Lifsey, these teas will be in the form of faculty-student get-togethers. It is intended that they will further the fraternity men's training in social graces, conversation, and parlor etiquette to the extent that he may be better able to cope with any situation in which he may find himself.

Other plans include sending a suitable representation of Greeks from this campus to the Regional Inter-fraternity conference to be held Nov. 8 and 9 at Ohio State university.

Prominent field men from the national offices of local chapters of Greeks are being invited to come to Michigan State college to view the fraternity system in use here, and to offer any helpful criticism. To date no reports have been received from these representatives, says Lifsey.

College Greets 'High' Seniors

Plans have materialized already this fall term to interest prospective students in Michigan State college for next year. Thirty high school seniors from Grosse Ile will arrive this morning to look over the campus.

Robert S. Linton, registrar, and Grosse Ile students in attendance at Michigan State have been invited to have luncheon with the group.

Following the pep talks, a tour of the campus has been planned in order that the group can learn more about the college and its buildings.

Lawrence F. Kruger, superintendent of Grosse Ile schools, has arranged with the Ford Motor Car company for a bus to bring the group to East Lansing.

YW Cabinet Holds Panel Discussion

A panel discussion led by Grace Nahstoll, program chairman, on Y. W. C. A. members' reactions to basic questions of religion and social service was held yesterday. Results of the meeting will be used to determine further discussions along similar lines to be held during the term.

Barbara Scarlett, Owosso sophomore, will represent women intramural sports managers on the W. A. A. board. She is also sports manager of North hall where she will be assisted by Lenna McCarthy and Margaret Parker.

Four Proposals Will Appear On November 5 State Ballot

Final wording and the order in which four proposals will appear on the general election ballot Tuesday, November 5, has been announced by Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state. Interested parties have agreed on the wording of proposals which were in controversy, Kelly said.

Following are the proposals: Proposal No. 1: "Shall the constitution be amended to authorize the election of school districts to exceed the 15-mile limitation for building purposes?"

Adoption would permit elections to issue 15-year bonds to build or rebuild schools.

Proposal No. 2: "Shall the constitution be amended to establish a new system of civil service for state employment?"

Proposal No. 3: "Referendum on section 3 of article 1 of act 261 of the Public Acts of 1939, which amends the

Sophs Reset Inter-Class Rush Date

Council Endeavors To Form Frosh Cheer Section

Date for the annual freshman-sophomore class field day has been advanced from Oct. 23 to Thursday, Oct. 31, it was announced by Roger Blackwood, sophomore class president, in a report made to Student council last night.

Alex Borkowski, Grand Rapids freshman living in Abbot hall, was named as one of two freshman representatives on the field day committee. The other is to be selected this week from among several candidates by the Student council committee which is working with the sophomore class committee in planning the event.

CLASS GAMES SCHEDULED

Usual inter-class games will be scheduled for the rush day late Halloween afternoon, and plans for an evening program are now being made. Highlight events of the latter include burning of freshman pots, burying-the-hatchet ceremonies, and an all-college dance.

The council voted last night to invite Carlos Espindola, a citizen of Ecuador who is studying at Olivet college, to address the council at its next meeting Oct. 23. Espindola, aided by his government, is organizing a Pan-American congress of students in the United States.

INVITE LATIN STUDENTS

Michigan State students from Latin American countries will be invited to attend the same meeting.

Efforts are being made by a Student council committee, headed by Sec. Joe Goudie, to arrange a freshman cheering section for football games.

The council voted $50 to Men's council to cover costs of operation and contemplated projects now under consideration.

'Dude Ranch' Is Dance Theme

The Michigan State college Student club is sponsoring a "Dude Ranch" dance in the Little theater Friday, Oct. 11.

Decorations and floor management will be carried out in typical western style, with Bob Dean's orchestra playing for dancing from 9 until 12 p. m.

Attending students are urged to dress informally or in full cowboy regalia, as they wish, according to Don Farmer, general chairman of the party.

Hostesses Consider Housing Problems

Hostesses of approved off-campus houses for women met at 4 p. m. yesterday with Dean of Women Elisabeth Conrad and Miss Mabel Petersen, women's housing supervisor.

Miss Petersen led the discussion, with Miss Alfred and Mrs. Olin present to answer individual questions.

Trapps Sing, Play In First Fall Concert

Wagner Conducts Austrian Family In Novel Program

A wistful voice from old Austria came to East Lansing last night when the singing Trapp family opened 1940-41 concert course in M.S.C. auditorium.

Directed by Dr. Franz Wagner, six women and two men, all members of the same family, presented a balanced concert of folk numbers, madrigals, and chorales, sung in an interpretation entirely Austrian.

For the first half of the concert, Baroness von Trapp appeared in a black dress with gold trimming and a gold ruffled collar, reminiscent of an Austrian queen. With her were five women, costumed in white silk dirndls with black vests, and white ruffled collars, and the three men wore black pants with black coats fastened just below the high white collar.

RELIGIOUS THEME

Religion was the theme of the first group, which included "To Thee the Holy Ghost We Now Pray," a 13th century tone sermon humbly petitioning the Lord to hear their prayer. "Agnus Dei II from Missa Brevis," by Palestrina, and a soprano canon, was an ancient liturgical prayer for peace, typical of Palestrina's work.

Turning to the gay madrigals of Germany for the second group, the chorus sang in native tongue of joyous times in Austria and Germany. "Most popular of this group was "The Silver Swan," by Orlando Gibbons, which combines better strains of German, Russian, and English madrigals.

ANCIENT INSTRUMENTS

Block flutes, a spinet, and a viola da gamba formed a part of a group preceding intermission. Tones of the flutes resembled a cross between a flute and a clarinet. Ancient English melodies and a chorale, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," composed this group, which mixed vocal and instrumental music.

Costumed in gay attire of old Austria, the Trapp family concluded the program with airy folk songs, lilting love songs, and two American favorites, "Old Kentucky Home," by Stephen Foster, and "Home on the Range," by Guion. The latter, arranged by Franz Wagner, presented an entirely new treatment of this familiar cowboy ballad.

Women Slate Carnival Date For Nov. 14

The date for the annual Cod Carnival has been set for Nov. 14, it was announced Tuesday night by Margaret Jensen, carnival general chairman.

Sponsored by A. W. S., the carnival will feature booths for seventeen different organizations. This will enable new women students to become familiar with the various activities offered at Michigan State college.

Members of the contact committee for the carnival, headed by Helen Manning, include Betty Crum, Connie Seeley, Geraldine Hansen and Rosalie Beltz. The publicity committee, with Norma Hastings as chairman, consists of Letitia Young, Peggy Barnett, June Prescott and Sally Flack.

Headed by Nellouise Potter, the arrangements committee is comprised of Mary Jane Renwick, Jean Litzke, Janet Rockwell, Betty Cobb, Harriet Carpenter and Ruth Foster.

This year the carnival will be held from 4 to 8:30 p. m., so that Lansing women may attend. Freshman counselors will escort their "Little Sisters" in the traditional manner.

Further plans for the carnival, which will have a circus midway as its theme, will be made at a joint committee meeting Saturday.

MSC Men to Attend Purdue Vet Course

Dean Ward Gilmer, of the Veterinary Science division, and E. S. Weimer, of poultry husbandry, will be present at a veterinary short course to be given at Purdue, October 16 to 18.

Purdue Speed Attack Causes Extra Work In Spartan Camp

Coming Up!

Tom Johnson, sophomore tackle, has been mowing them down in practice drills this week. He may supply the added punch that will stop the Riveters' speed attack.

28 Win Grants For Part-Time Short Course

Scholarships in the Michigan State short course department are being given through NYA to 28 students. Professor William A. Thayer, class of '23, is supervisor of the course.

Under the new plan the students go to classes in the morning and work in the barns in the afternoon, thereby taking two terms to complete the course. They have their own co-op house at 912 Burcham Drive.

Students enrolled for the fall and winter term course are: Maurice Habbitt, Grayling; William Cronkite, Brighton; Willis Ellis, Marre; Edgar Germain, Fowler; Paul Heltunen, Aurora; Peter Hyypio, Chassell; Edward Jakubik, Millington; Athold Johnston, Rosebush; Jack Jouppe, Kaleva.

Russell Koon, Edwardsburg; John Miller, Brooklyn; Herbert Morrison, Harrisville; Wilbert Nurkka, Paynesville; Ray Polister, Almont; Glen Perry, Cedar Springs; Elroy Prince, Ithaca; Ralph Reetes, Curran; Leonard Sheldon, Adrian; Max Sneyry, Marion; Darwin Snyder, Breckenridge; Clayton Super, Carney; Dennis VanSloten, Rudyard; Edward Volt, Sebawaing; Theodore Wakevairen, Trout Creek; William Batho, Pickford; Walter Chellis, Ellsworth; Lloyd Miller, Fairview; William Miller, Brooklyn.

Astronomers Aim To Snatch Stars Down to Earth

Star-gazing is a non-profit job, or so it is said, but the Astronomy club has a lot of fun doing just that, and what is more they learn something by so doing.

In coming the skies at its bi-monthly meeting, the club will once again use the telescope made last year by Torpia Lapenes, the club's ex-president.

All students who are interested in gazing at the stars from a scientific angle are welcome to use the homemade instrument, the club states. The first meeting of the year will be held Wednesday night, Oct. 16.

Purdue Alums Plan To Meet Here

Purdue alumni living in Michigan will hold a meeting and dinner in the Union after the M.S.C.-Purdue football game Saturday, Oct. 12.

Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue university, will be main speaker. Also on the program will be Elbridge B. Baugh, and Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretaries of Purdue and M.S.C. respectively. C. J. Borum, of Lansing, is chairman of the affair.

Holsinger Returns - Impressed With 'Riveter' Play

Mutual respect for their opponents is likely to temper both teams' efforts when Spartan gridders meet the Purdue Boilermakers on MacIn field, Saturday afternoon.

Scouting parties from both teams returned to their respective homes Sunday with tales of the other club's prowess. While Coach Mal Edward is drilling his Purdue charges to stop State in the air, Charley Bachman is wondering how he can halt the Boilermakers' highly-touted speed offense.

PLAN TO STOP BYELENE

Following Spartan Coach Joe Holsinger's reports of the Purdue-Ohio match Saturday, which Ohio State won 17 to 14, plans are being laid in the State camp to stop diminutive Mike Byelene, a plenty fast little guy at right half, and Johnny Galvin, his nearly-as-good running mate.

First heavy drill of the week occurred yesterday when three teams strutted their stuff against Bachman's white-clad outfit who run off opposition plays. Intensive line drill is scheduled for this afternoon in an effort to whip the Spartan forward wall into shape.

CHARGING TOO EASY

Movies of the Michigan game, run off earlier this week, show a high-playing, easy charging line. Elimination of these faults and injection of a bit of fire in spots of the line will be the most vital step toward a victory over Purdue, Bachman thinks.

Though Bachman has refused to commit himself on a starting team to date, observers believe that at least three posts will have new men.

Bob Friedlund is likely to get the starting call over Bruce Blackburn at right end, while Willie Davis is staging a nip and tuck battle with Bob Sherman for the starting quarterback call. If Mike Scheib keeps running the way he has in earlier drills this week he may outlast Wy Davis from the left half spot.

MUST STOP BACKS

But no matter who gets the starting call, the big question on which victory will hinge still is, "Can those speedy Purdue backs be grabbed and stopped soon enough?" After watching this week's drill Bachman is inclined to answer in the affirmative.

Geo-gangue Takes 21 New Pledges

Geo-gangue, an interest group composed of student geologists, enlarged their roll call by 21 new pledges Tuesday night.

New pledges swell the group to a total of 56. Requirement for admission is that the member shall be majoring in geology.

Meetings will be held every second Tuesday evening.

Central Booking Office

With those who have tried to book a program or a meeting on campus, this proposal ought to find ready reception. To avoid conflicting events and excessive detail in checking with three or four offices before an event may be scheduled, why not set up a central booking office? All college events could be booked through such an office. Personnel could be composed of NYA students under supervision of some member of the college staff. With such an office operating, a person calling a meeting would be required to con-last only one office to find out what other events are scheduled for the same time, what rooms are available, and to definitely set the time and date for his meeting. It would eliminate the present necessity of checking several different offices for each event a person or group wishes to schedule. Here is a good project for some organization looking for something worth while to do.

Enrollment Levels Off

For the past several years, Michigan State has experienced an enrollment increase of more than 10 per cent a year. This trend may be expected to level off soon, however, as it has already begun to do at the University of Michigan. State is still growing, of course, but this year's increase of 109 students over last year is smaller than previous increases. Enrollment at the University, meanwhile, which has not shown a heavy increase for several years, dropped 70 students below the number enrolled last year. State's total is now 6,745 students, as compared to 6,636 students enrolled last year.

We're Proud of Our Band

Here comes the band! And Staters can be mighty proud of it. Night after night, all during football season, the college band spends many hours perfecting drill formations with which to entertain football fans. Without a letup, band members, led by Director Leonard Falcone, rehearse all year long to produce good music for numerous college occasions. The band never makes the headlines on the sport pages, and it never brings a crowd to its feet cheering, but it's doing a fine job and filling a major need in its varying schedule of performances.

WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND
(Trade Mark Reg.)
By
Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

(Copyright, 1940, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Big business members of the commerce department's business advisory board got the surprise of their lives at the banquet they gave to new Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones.

The towering, multi-millionaire Texan has not been noted for his New Dealism. As RFC boss, sometimes he bluntly opposed the White House, and his elevation to the cabinet met with four mutters in certain inner administration quarters.

So when Jones rose to address his business hosts, they leaned back in comfortable anticipation of soothing remarks. A few minutes later they were sitting bolt upright in startled astonishment. "These United States," said the new secretary of commerce, "have been good to us. We have made money, we have nice homes, wear good clothes, have fine cars and can afford banquets like this one. We can look back 50 years, when most of us started, and chart the courses we followed. But we can't look ahead that far and see where we are going."

WELFARE IS PROBLEM
"But there are some things we do know about the future. One of them is that the days of making great fortunes are over. That is finished. Another is that the upper third, you and I, have got to have a more public-minded viewpoint. We must realize that the welfare and well-being of the lower third is our problem. We are not living in a world by ourselves. We are as much a part of society as the fellow on the other side of the tracks."

"His problems are our problems and unless something is done about them, the world we know and want to preserve won't last very long. We business men can't afford to be blind, or obstructive, or stupid. You can't turn the clock back. Remember that."

Equally unexpected was the reaction to the Jones talk. His business hosts applauded vigorously. Note—Lone guest not in dinner clothes was Averill Harriman, director of numerous corporations and railroads and former head of the advisory board. Harriman's old friend, Defense Commissioner Sidney Hillman, jokingly started a subscription fund to buy him a dinner jacket.

ARMY UNIFORMS

Young men who want to be officers in the new army are finding that the greatest obstacle is the cost of getting dressed. The army does not provide uniforms for its officers, and the cost at a tailor shop is enough to send them back home as conscientious objectors.

The quartermaster corps of the army estimates that $250 would be required to purchase a "modest outfit" for a young officer.

WILKIE AND LABOR

From the start of his campaign in the Chicago stockyards, Wendell Wilkie has plugged tenaciously away at wooing labor. It has been a hard, uphill fight.

But the gritty GOP standard bearer has stuck doggedly to it and has gone out of his way everywhere to sell himself to the workmen. Just how tough a proposition this is, is illustrated by the following incidents:

1. In Lansing, Mich., the Oldsmobile auto management asked the shop committee if it would be all right to close down for an hour, so that Wilkie could visit the plant to talk to the workers. The answer of the shop committee was that the union had no objection, provided the company paid the men for the time they listened to the candidate.

MacGOWAN REFUSED

The company refused, and the proposed meeting was canceled. 2. Husky, white-haired Charles MacGowan, vice-president of the AFL Boilermakers and Shipbuilders union, is a lifelong Republican and personal friend of Wilkie's. Several years ago, at a conference with MacGowan in the New York offices of the Commonwealth & Southern Corp., Wilkie instructed

Wheat Embargo Widens U.S.—Japanese Breach

Japan will no longer be permitted to import wheat from the United States, as a result of state department action Tuesday. Added to the recent scrap iron embargo, this latest move in the Far East battle of nerves will serve to widen the breach between Japan and America.

Although state department officials do not say the move is intended to hinder Japan in her campaign to set up a new order in the east, neutral observers say that is the purpose of the embargo. American citizens in various parts of the orient have been warned to return to this country while there are still transportation facilities available.

U. S. CLOSER TO BRITAIN

These latest developments in the Far Eastern situation may be considered by some as further steps in the more complete alignment of Britain with the U. S. since both nations have a vital interest in Japan's Asiatic plans. London was caught napping by German bombing raids within the past few days and casualties have been unusually high. Millions of Londoners on their way to work failed to take seriously air raid warnings and were caught unaware by Nazi bombs which rained widespread destruction over the city.

National defense contracts will not be used as lures to enforce compliance with NLRB rulings, according to testimony given by Attorney General Robert Jackson before a House committee recently. The committee, which is investigating the labor board, heard from Jackson and Sidney Hillman, labor member of the national dean assistant: "I want you to see to it that hereafter no supplies are bought from any concern that doesn't play ball with the boilermakers' union. These boys are our friends."

MacGOWAN RELATES THIS INCIDENT

MacGowan relates this incident proudly. But when the GOP national committee asked MacGowan for an endorsement of Wilkie, MacGowan replied with a polite but firm "no."

"I'm sorry to have to do this," he explained, "for I have a deep affection for Wendell Wilkie. He's one of the grandest guys I know and our relations on labor matters have always been good. But I've got to think about my own people first."

"I guess I would have been in there pitching for Wilkie if he had showed labor he had more to offer than the New Deal. He hasn't done that. He has made a lot of promises about putting people back to work, but he hasn't told how he would do it. Promises aren't enough. So I'm casting my lot with Roosevelt."

Intramural Flashes • • By Hal Schram

Six football games Wednesday night settled but five touchdowns in the third evening of State's 1946 touch football campaign.

In the fraternity league Coach Phil Goodrich's S.A.E. squad scored a 12 to 0 decision over FarmHouse in the highest scoring game of the evening. An intercepted pass by Frank Campbell set up the first touchdown early in the second quarter.

The passing of Bob Perry and pass receiving of Fred Holz gave Theta Chi a 1 to 0 first down victory over Phi Delta Theta in the evening's opener. Jim Lamb and Dick Ode provided the punch which let the A.G.R.'s score a similar decision over Phi Chi Alpha in the remaining first game.

Coach Ed Kitchen and his Vikings romped to a 6 to 0 victory over the Kingpins in the most exciting game—in the Independent league. A pass from Bud Meade to Eddie Arnold scored for the Vikings early in the third period. Lansing Independents beat Williams by the familiar 1 to 0 score, while Gang Busters failed to do any busting and dropped a 6 to 0 verdict to the East Lansing Independents.

Bits of news from here and there along the intramural front... Lyman Frimodig, czar of State's intramural activities, has been burning the midnight oil these past few nights straightening out the Independent touch football league... The Independents must reorganize each year, having no set amount of teams or participants as do the dormitories and fraternities... This has caused "Frim" no end of trouble this year as the boys have been a little slow in getting under way...

Coach Howard Lehman of Kappa Sig was especially pleased with the blocking shown by his line in the Delta Chi victory Monday night... Incidentally, it has been the best blocking shown by any team this season... At least five more entries are necessary before the he schue tourney can get going... Only 11 entries have been turned in to date and 16 is the smallest working unit...

... First round results on final tennis tournament must be posted not later than 5 p. m. today... Better step on it, boys... Tuesday night games in the touch football league brought forth some interesting observations. While the Greeks were taking the night off, the Dorm and markers while Radwanski took care of an unneeded third touchdown.

A spectacular pass from Coach Fred Bayer to End Henry Battie gave Mason 7 a 7 to 6 decision over Wells C. The game-winning pass came with 50 seconds remaining and the two teams deadlocked at 6 all. This bit of aerial astuteness netted a first down which both squads needed in order to eke out a victory.

Mason 2 won a 2 to 0 decision over Abbot 15 in another contest decided on the first down method.

Correction
It was Abbot 13 and not Mason 1 who won a 1-0 first down decision Monday evening. The score was reversed in Tuesday's State News.

Independent players went at it hammer and tong. The DZV outfit had the easiest job during the evening, winning a 7 to 0 forfeit decision from the Vets.

Evergreen Manor completely outplayed the Ajax All Stars to rack up a 12 to 0 decision in the 9 p. m. attraction. The passing of Ray "Windy" Penichter and pass snaring of Harold Rhinehart proved to be the deciding factor in the game.

Coach Bob Phillips' "Sophies" took a 7 to 0 verdict from the Campbell Kids when Ralph DeVette intercepted a pass and ran 32 yards for a touchdown.

Don Pedgen and Chuck Radwanski proved to be too much for Wells D as Abbot 11 swamped the hapless "freshies" by a 20 to 0 count. Pedgen accounted for two markers while Radwanski took care of an unneeded third touchdown.

Ralph Young Named To Amateur Board

Ralph H. Young, Michigan State athletic director, was elected second vice-president of the Michigan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union at the annual meeting in Detroit Monday evening.

Lloyd W. Olds, track coach at Michigan Normal, was named president.

MSC Harriers Open Season With Penn State Saturday

Michigan State's cross country team will open its season with a dual meet with Penn State at State College, Pa., Saturday.

Breaking custom, Coach Lauren P. Brown will not make the trip, being detained by his duties as head of the mimeograph department. The eight-man squad will be in charge of Francis Dittich, assistant track coach.

TO RUN BETWEEN HALVES

The team will leave the campus at noon today. The night will be spent in Youngstown, Ohio. Friday morning the Spartans will complete the last 150 miles of the trip and arrive at State College in time to inspect the course.

The meet will be run between halves of the Penn State-West Virginia game.

A year ago the Spartans turned back the Nittany Lions 24-33 on the Red Cedar course, but a close meet between two untried teams is anticipated. The Penn State course is made difficult by numerous steep hills, and the Michigan State harriers have been working out on hills for the past week in preparation for the steep climb.

SMITH TO RUN

Pre-meet dope has made the Lions' captain, Bill Smith, the man to beat in the race. Smith takes particular pride in winning against the East Lansing team, because he enrolled as a freshman here four years ago but dropped out of school after the first term.

By winning the IC-4A run two years ago, Smith established himself as one of the best hill and dale runners in the country. Last year his pace fell off a bit, but he is expected to have another big season this year.

Thus far Coach Brown has not uncovered any outstanding individual stars, but is depending on team balance for team power as was the case last year. Scott and Mangan have been leading in the time trials, but the rest of the squad has been widely separated.

Capt. Ed Mills has yet to show his last year's form, and several sophomores are counted on to improve with the season.
