What Now?

Registration officials have worried too. Shirley, English instructor helped in the registration, is wondering about the status local "Man without a country" student who was quite willing to be conscripted had to be let down because he was not a citizen. Protestingly, he explained that he was not a citizen of any foreign country.

Don't Smoke!

Members of E. G. "Room" will be getting along little today. "These days, N.M.S. farm specialist at Michigan State, speaking with the game department, was booked for a talk over the radio the other day. The speaker getting off a burning introduction said, "Introducing R. Dunn."

We'll Get Ahead

The poor professor who is keeping this wake-proof coffee to sleep through his lecture. After retiring quite early one night at Hillcrest village, suddenly sat up in bed, still up. The other girls watched and solemnly bumped her against the wall several times, reflected an instant, and murmured, "Well, it's solid."

Chem Twister

For the books happened in chemistry lecture the other day. A. J. Clark had just told the chemistry department for freshmen. The class was asked questions about anything understood. It was a freshman who asked: "How many fish can you have before you are on the prohibition list?"

A Posts to Be Decided Today

Balloting for off-campus men's representatives to Independent Student Association will begin at 12:30 p. m. in the Union sun porch, and close at 4:30 p. m. Abbot and Wells indicate they will cast their votes in respective dormitories between 5:30 and 7 p. m. today. Thirty-two positions to fill and only 31 independent candidates up for election. Dormitory women must file their names by Friday, Oct. 25, with election held the following day.

Under the Wire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—Demands for an immediate and sweeping investigation of foreign propaganda were made today by Sen. Bennett Clark and Sen. Borah following a hearing on the subject by a subcommittee of the Dies committee. Taken from the New York office of the Hearst-controlled Trans-Ocean news service, the evidence is reported to show a fit-up of propaganda activities with German consuls over the country.

HUNTING, Oct. 16—Thousands of trucks are ready to begin hauling with the opening Thursday of the Burma road. Chinese sources hidden auxiliary roads will offset the quadrangle of Japanese soldiers reportedly ready to blast China's vital supply artery on its opening.

DESSA, Oct. 17—Black Sea naval forces of the U.S.S.R. today moved south from this port toward the Rumanian coast and the Danube. An Italian pressure increases, 300,000 to 350,000 Soviet soldiers are reported on the Rumanian frontier while negotiations go on between Moscow and Turkey on the question of protection of the straits.

LONDON, Oct. 17—Ever-grounded Nazi raiders dodged through rain today this morning to show the British capital with incendiary high-explosive bombs. The ministry of information credited aerial anti-aircraft fire with halting the planes at a great height and averting their mission.

BERLIN, Oct. 17—"Hundreds of aircraft" participated in the nightly raid on London. Most bombs fell today. The Germans also claim destruction of a troop train in England with great loss of life.

Formal Rushing Ends With 145 Pledged By 12 Sororities

Closed Season to Last Until Nov. 12

Pledge duties will begin this week for 145 Michigan State women who took pledge vows Tuesday evening in 12 sororities, Norma McKiddy, Panhellenic president, said yesterday. Pledging services officially marked the end of the formal rushing season for this year.

Closed rushing, a period of four weeks during which no rushing parties may be held, will last until Tuesday, Nov. 12. Kappa Kappa Gamma took the highest number with 21 pledges, followed by Kappa Delta with 19 pledges. Alpha Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta each pledged 18. Alpha Xi Delta pledged 17, Alpha Chi Omega 16, Alpha Gamma Delta 10, Alpha Omicron Pi 8, Sigma Kappa 7, Chi Omega 6, Zeta Tau Alpha 4, and Epsilon Chi 1.

AGDS PLEDGE 10

Alpha Gamma Delta pledged Shirley Busse, Detroit; Eleanor Chamberlin, Carson City; Jean Hadley, Ann Arbor; Jean Hart, Albion; June Pete, Ferndale; Virginia Pool, Royal Oak; Jeanette Sadler, Romeo; Virginia Thorpe, Traverse City; Dottie Van Rossum, Grand Rapids; Ann Woolfenden, Royal Oak.

Alpha Omicron Pi pledges are Jean Cajlin, Lansing; Alice Cressman, St. Johns; Mary Dewey, Lansing; Jean Hilleary, Flint; Martha Kell, Powers; Margaret Ann Kronbach, Detroit; Catherine Meehan, Cincinnati, O.; Donna Tubbs, Detroit.

Pledges to Alpha Phi are Rosemary Anker, Detroit; Joan Ball, Lansing; Barbara Ballard, East Lansing; Ruth Blodgett, Detroit; Shirley Clark, Grosse Pointe; Gloria DuBois, Grand Rapids; Ruth Hammond, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Phyllis Jameson, Lansing; Doris Johnson, Detroit; Ida Kirk, Crosswell; Bette Kruger, Highland Park; Margaret Manville, Detroit; Madeline Mumley, Detroit; Nancy Mundy, Toledo, O.; Marcia Van Auken, Saginaw; June Walsh, Buffalo, N. Y.; Jeanne Whaley, Lansing; Phyllis Woodlock, Lansing.

Crossed Signals? Football, Dancing To Mix In Union

From smashing plumes through the center of the line to polished grace on a dance floor will be but a short step for Spartan men and women Friday night.

Catering to football fans Union House is offering rival attractions. While Art Howland and his men play for dancing in the ballroom, a radio set in the faculty dining room will be giving the play-by-play account of the Michigan State - Temple tilt which will take place under the lights at Philadelphia.

For those unable to tear themselves from the dance floor a blackboard in the ballroom will record the score of the game quarter by quarter.

Women Choose Group Leaders

Discussion leaders for women's orientation classes have been named by co-chairmen Christine and Helen Horn.

Personality will be the topic presented by Miriam Nickle, Anna Marie Holmes, Grace Nahstoll, Betty Jo Acharid, and Margaret White. Jean Sprinkle, Margaret Andre, Jean Fjetland, Judy Crozier, and Phyllis Dean will discuss dating.

Sororities will be explained by Dorothy Price, Mary Jane Renwick, Betty Anthony, Martha Browne, and Helen Hebblewhite. Frances Street, Pat Carr, Roma Jean Fritz, Betty Corbushley, and Gerry Rolfe will speak on independence.

The study discussion group will have as its leaders Jean Grant, Janet Rockwell, Mary Lou Dodge, Marion Rambo, and Myrtle Schmidlin. These groups will work together in adjusting freshman students to their new college life.

Club Will Fete New Members Oct. 21

Social committee of the Michigan State College club will sponsor a stag party for members and new men on the staff, Monday, Oct. 21, at 8 p. m. in the Union club rooms.

Bridge and miscellaneous games will constitute entertainment, and cider and doughnuts will be served.

First fall term party to be given by the club will take place election night, Tuesday, Nov. 5, in the Union ballroom. Coy Ecklund's band will furnish music. Bridge will be played also.

Special arrangements are being made for the broadcasting of election returns during the evening.

Cardinell Will Speak On Refrigeration

H. A. Cardinell, research associate in horticulture, will speak at the first fall meeting of the Detroit branch of American Society of Refrigerating Engineers, Thursday, Oct. 17, at the Fort Shelby hotel in Detroit.

He will discuss "Comparative Results in Refrigeration Using Ice and Mechanical Refrigeration." His talk will be based on comparative data on the costs and efficiency of farm storages refrigerated by ice and by mechanical refrigeration.

1400 Answer Draft Quiz At State

Students Approve First Peace-Time Conscription

An estimated 1,400 M.S.C. students, faculty, and employees who make their legal residence outside the East Lansing area, appeared at the college's special selective service registration bureau yesterday as wheels were set in motion for the nation's first peace-time conscription.

Members of the Faculty Folk club volunteered their services for the day and approximately 30 were sworn in to act as registering clerks by Dean of Men Fred T. Mitchell, bureau head.

First man to register was Lloyd Champion, senior Agriculture student from Ironwood, who waited in line about an hour after arriving around 6 a. m. ahead of some 25 others who were in line before the doors opened at 7:17 a. m. Asked his opinion of the selective service act, Champion replied: "I think conscription is a good thing. It seems to me that it is the duty of everyone to aid his country in any way possible."

OBJECTORS REGISTER

This statement seemed to echo the sentiments of a majority of the conscripts who apparently believed as Ron Heath, housing director, who himself is of draft age, put it: "I sincerely believe it is the conscientious duty of every person of draft age to register and take it in the best possible manner since it is now the law of the land." However, a few conscientious objectors registered as such and presented their claims with the rest.

Typical of these objectors was one 21-year-old student who declared: "I registered as a conscientious objector because I find it incompatible with my religious convictions to take any part in war or compulsory service in any form."

MAKE TABULATION

Shortly after the special registration bureau closed, a tabulation was made of the number of conscripts registered and this tabulation turned in to the city clerk. The city clerk's office will turn in all its results to Governor Dickinson.

Under the provisions of the selective service and training act of 1940—which is the official title given the draft law—the governor will then report to officials in Washington.

Entomologists Get Aids to Bug Study

Five new microscopes are now the property of the entomology department. Arrival of the microscopes is a welcome addition to the department as they have never had enough of them, say staff members.

Cost of the microscopes is about $110 apiece.

Conscription Wins Approval Of MSC Women Students

By Janet Hall

"It's a good idea" seems to be the consensus on the peace-time conscription law as far as Michigan State women are concerned. The draft law has won approval from many campus women because they feel that trained men will have a better chance for survival in case of war. Others favor less compulsory measures.

Rosalie Nagel, music sophomore, was very emphatic on this point when she stated, "I think every fellow should have army training and be prepared to defend our country if we should be attacked. He would have more of an even chance. We should have a law compelling men to enter army camps immediately after completing high school or else the training should be included in their high school course."

Special arrangements are being made for the broadcasting of election returns during the evening.

MSC to Bring Owls Out For Night Grid Match; To Play at Philadelphia

Grads to See First Organized Cheer Section at Work

For the first time in several years Spartan gridders will carry the ball to the encouragement of an organized cheering section when they meet Buck Shaw's Santa Clara Broncos for the annual Homecoming game a week from Saturday.

A group of 300 freshmen will be picked to occupy the reserved section, according to Joe Goundie, chairman of the section committee. Seats will be on the left of the team benches in the east side stands. "Freshmen who meet qualifications and are picked for the section will have better game seats than most juniors and seniors," Goundie said.

Appointment of a chairman to organize a cheer section was made by Student Council at its last meeting. Prevalent campus feeling that student cheering should be better organized prompted the action. Dick Greening, council president, said.

Section registration details are now in the hands of Goundie and his committee and will be decided by the end of the week.

Library Opens New Top Floor Reading Room

Added facilities for student study are provided this fall with the opening of a third-floor reading room in the college library, Phillipa Yelland, general assistant, said today.

Using space formerly occupied by the college museum, the new reading room has seats for a hundred students and is open from 7:30 a. m. until 10 p. m. on weekdays, and from 2 to 6 p. m. on Sunday.

With the unusually large enrollment this year, it is hoped that the new reading room will take care of many students seeking a quiet and comfortable place to study. Miss Yelland added, so that there will be places in the main reading room for those who need to use circulation and reference books.

The two reading rooms in the northeast end of the library basement are again open for study, as is the special room for graduate students on the first floor, with the browsing room in the basement affording a place for more informal individual and group study.

Bachman Names 36 for Temple Trek

By Sheldon Moyer

Thirty-six Spartan gridiron warriors will leave the Michigan State campus this afternoon for Philadelphia where they will tangle with Temple university Friday night.

Final selection of the three dozen players who are making the trip was made last night after a practice session under the floodlights on Old College field.

For the first time this season, Coach Charley Bachman is looking forward to a contest in which his team will not be at full strength. Paul Griffith, senior left guard, and Jack Arnon, Grand Rapids fullback, were still on the ailing list as the Spartan trucks went on a baggage car this morning.

Group to Stage 48 Different Productions

"Studio Theater presentations for the coming year will exceed last year's number by at least two and one-half times," stated Don Buell, faculty advisor, in announcing Oct. 22 as the date of the first meeting.

The organization, primarily a freshman enterprise has entertained about six thousand people since its formation under the auspices of Theta Alpha Phi two years ago. Culminating its first year of existence, it boasted a total of 18 appearances plus one three-act play. Last year a grand total of 45 appearances with 19 different one-acts was reached.

Studio plans for the coming year include presentation of at least 48 one-acts, one three-act play, with requests for performances mounting at a proportional rate.

Membership is open to any student in good scholastic standing, who is not yet eligible for the national dramatic fraternity. Members have but few qualifications to meet, says Buell. These include appearance in one play as an actor, service on one technical crew during the year, plus attendance at the bi-monthly meetings. Dues include payment for two tickets for major dramatic productions.

Officers for the coming year are: Paul Ritts, president; Geraldine Pierce, vice president; Norma Lou Arnold, secretary; Mark Butcher, treasurer; and Pat Sibley, corresponding secretary. Carol Lott is Theta Alpha Phi advisor.

Frosh Receive Dairy Honors

Quentin Austrander, freshman student at Michigan State, and Milo Horrocks, members of the Michigan dairy production demonstration team, were the recipients recently of $150 scholarships as a result of their taking top honors in the dairy production demonstration contest held in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Both men are from Cheboygan county.

En route to Pennsylvania they were coached by Neville Pearson, assistant state 4-H club leader. At present, Austrander is earning his college expenses caring for the college dairy herd.

Speakers Indicate Engineer Outlook

Two speakers, Dr. C. C. DeWitt, head of the chemical engineering department, and Wilson H. Holmes, 38, now employed by Standard Oil company in Venezuela, were featured at the open meeting of the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers held last night in the Chemistry building auditorium.

Dr. DeWitt spoke on the subject "What Industry Expects of the Chemical Engineer." Mr. Holmes, a former member of the chapter, spoke briefly of various experiences in his work in South America, as well as answering several questions during the informal get-together that followed. Members of the program committee served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Sculptor Attends Statue Dedication

Assistant professor of sculpture, L. D. Jungwirth, attended the unveiling and dedication of his fifteen-foot granite statue of Father Gabriel Richard in Detroit yesterday. The ceremony took place in the new Gabriel Richard park on East Jefferson.

TAKEN INJURED PLAYERS

Both players, however, were included on the squad roster, indicating that Bachman has some hopes of using them. Griffith is nursing a leg injury suffered against Purdue last Saturday and Arnon is weathering a sore back which he received in practice on Tuesday night.

Less serious among the ailing players were Wait Ball, Lansing sophomore, who has a bad leg, and Chuck Carey, new backfield find, who was weathering off an attack of bronchitis.

If Arnon does not start against Temple, it will be the first time in State's last eight games the Grand Rapids senior has not been in the lineup for opening kickoff. Griffith's condition is slightly worse and it is likely he will see only limited action.

STATE RATED HIGH In spite of injuries, Michigan State rates a better than even chance to chalk up its second victory of the year and its fifth straight over the Owls. The closest Temple has come to beating the Spartans was in 1936 when they played a 7-7 tie.

All of the other contests have been equally close. 12 points being the widest margin of State's victories. In 1935, it was 12-7; in 1937, 13-6; in 1938, 10-0; and last year, 18-7.

With Mike Scheib patting the attack in the final game of the 1939 season, the Spartans rolled up what they considered to be a comfortable lead against Temple. But the Owls struck back in the second half and it took a stout-hearted State defense to control the rampaging gridders from the city of brotherly love.

TOUGH BACKS BACK Andy Tomasic and Al Jurkiewicz, the two backs that threatened in this last half attack, will be back with the Owls again Friday night. Only this year they will be the principal cogs in a brand new type of football brought to Temple by Coach Ray Morrison, formerly of Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt.

After a light practice before noon today, the Spartan squad will entrain from Lansing at 2 p. m. The special cars carrying the team arrive in Philadelphia Friday morning and the Spartans will spend hours before the game at a nearby country club. Saturday morning after the game they will See FOOTBALL—Page 4

Students Help Faculty

At Dartmouth, the English department has appointed a faculty committee to meet with a council of 12 men majoring in English in devising college educational policies. This marks the beginning of undergraduate representation in departmental councils at Dartmouth.

Good Will Via Radio

Two men whose writings appear regularly in the State News are playing a leading role in a new and different project aimed at strengthening Pan-American good will. They are Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, co-authors of the Washington Merry-go-round column, who each Sunday night present a 15-minute radio newscast paid for by the United States of Brazil.

Allen, culminating with a "prediction session," in which they predict "things to come" of world importance in the near future. The two newspapermen have received commendations from President Roosevelt and from the President of Brazil, through his foreign minister.

The trade magazine, Variety, called it "the most significant of all" the new fall programs, and went on to say, "Brazil is doing something Uncle Sam never was able to do or smart enough to do—namely, buy radio time in the other fellow's country to openly, frankly, graciously speak a piece about itself and its hopes for better relations." Sponsorship of the new program by the Brazilian government is a good move, especially now when much effort is being directed toward Pan-American solidarity.

Captains All?

Going to war has taken on a new slant. Don't be surprised to hear neighborhood children substituting for the ambition to be a soldier the ambition to be a captain. Unfortunately, they're due for disillusionment. Not everyone can be a captain, for not everyone's name is Roosevelt.

Appointment of the President's son, Elliot, to a captain's commission in the army air corps with the job of buying supplies may perhaps have a background not generally known. Regardless of what's behind the appointment, however, it has a distinctly unpleasant odor, and in view of all that has been said in Congress and by the President about the draft being conducted in a fair and just manner, it will be mighty hard for a number of $21-a-month conscriptees to stomach it.

Classes for Aliens

"Give aliens a chance educationally" is the theme of a letter sent to Michigan school administrators this week by Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction. Asking, "shall aliens be cut off from employment—from a chance to make a living, or shall we, as Americans, offer them an opportunity to become Americans?" Elliott urges educators to set up local citizenship classes. The educational division of the WPA can offer assistance, but local groups will have to take the initiative. It is a commendable project, and local school systems who take advantage of it and sponsor citizenship schools, probably in evening classes, will be doing their share in building America.

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press) "There is no greater menace at the moment than the danger that sensitiveness to evil should become numb by reason of constant familiarity with evil. We shall not save our way of life through denunciation of the wrong; salvation can only be achieved by active practice of the right." Pres. Charles Seymour of Yale University calls for an alert creed in which right excludes all wrong.

WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

(Trade Mark Reg.)
By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

(Copyright, 1940, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.) WASHINGTON—We have seen how the United States and Great Britain planned to cut off Japan's scrap iron, oil, cotton and copper during the first invasion of China in 1937, and thus paralyze the Japanese military machine.

This plan was revived again during the Panay incident in 1938, but each time there were differences of opinion inside the administration and the plan fell flat.

Today, almost exactly the same problem faces the administration, and again there are basic differences of opinion, differences which are honest and natural when the future peace of the country is at stake.

The group inside the cabinet which favors a complete stoppage of Japan's raw materials of war, especially her oil, includes Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox, Secretary of Interior Ickes, and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, also certain admirals in the navy. Perhaps it is significant that the strongest advocates of complete embargoes against Japan are the three Republican members of the cabinet, Stimson, Knox and Ickes.

On the other hand, the state department plus some of the admirals favor a go-slow policy toward Japan. They believe in applying the embargoes gradually, or as Ickes describes it, "cutting off the dog's tail by inches."

JAPAN NIGHT ATTACK Specifically, they do not believe in cutting off Japan's oil supply, which is the all-important question under diplomatic discussion between the British and American governments.

The state department concurs that cutting off Japan's oil would paralyze her fleet after her present two and a half months' supply was exhausted. But they also believe it would force Japan to move into the Dutch East Indies immediately in order to get more oil.

However, the embargo-now group within the cabinet contends that the Dutch East Indies are fortified sufficiently to withstand four months' siege, and that with the U. S. fleet on guard in that general area, Japan could not risk an attack on these islands.

What makes the intra-cabinet debate doubly vital is knowledge that as long as the British fleet keeps the Italian and Nazi fleets bottled up in Europe, the U. S. fleet can operate as a one-ocean navy, thereby keeping most of its vessels on guard against Japan in the Pacific. But once Britain's naval defense weakens, then the United States will have the navies of the European dictators to contend with in the Atlantic, plus the Japanese in the Pacific.

And a two-ocean drive on South America by both the dictators and Japan is more than the navy likes to contemplate. That is the chief argument behind the "total-embargo now" group.

LIMITED EMBARGO ON OIL The cabinet difference first came to a head more than a month ago when the action-now group placed on the President's desk an executive order embargoing the sale of oil. They argued that with the military clique in Japan actually threatening war, they could not continue to give the Japanese navy this vital fuel. The President concurred and signed the order. Then it went over to the state department to be carried out. And the state department revised the order so that it applied only to high-test gasoline.

The embargo-now group also advocated an immediate stoppage of all scrap iron shipments to Japan. But the state department again intervened so that scrap iron shipments continued on everything except "No. 1 scrap," and even No. 1 scrap could be shipped on license. It has only the other day that the sale of all scrap iron, after much urging by the national defense commission, was finally embargoed.

The question of cutting off oil to Japan still is a moot question inside the cabinet, and is being discussed with the British government.

NAVY VS. STATE DEPARTMENT Last week one argument over this point and over general naval policy in the Far East developed into a hot debate between the navy on one side, and Hull and Welles on the other. It took place at the White House, in front of the President, who did most of the listening.

Hull and Welles contended that if we stopped Japan's oil supply she would certainly attack the Dutch East Indies, and that the United States could not possibly afford to have ships in that area because they might be needed in

News Roundup

Balkans May Cause Split Between Russia, Germany

Europe's political hot-spot, the Balkans, may be acting as a wedge in a split between Russia and her theoretical ally, Germany.

There have been many flareups in the Balkans during the present war, but none as yet have developed into major conflicts. The German occupation of Rumania may, however, be the long-awaited spark that will set off the "powder keg" since Nazi activity in the Balkans has alarmed Russia into arming the Soviet-Rumanian border.

Fears that Hitler's troops may march into Greece and Turkey with an eye to Egypt and other near-Eastern objectives, have produced belligerent statements from Greek and Turkish officials, and a reported pact between the Soviet and Turkey.

WAR SCENE SHIFTS

Just as observers predicted following the latest Brenner Pass conference of Hitler and Mussolini; the main theater of war is shifting eastward in Europe, although the air raids on London and Berlin have not let up. Rome is predicting a new Axis drive on Suez.

While Europe's armies are on the march, machinery got under way yesterday to build the largest peace-time armed force the United States has ever had. Michigan's private draft row, which developed over charges of politics-playing in Governor Diekinson's state draft board selections, was ended by President Roosevelt, who placed his stamp of approval on the selections. Lack of time for investigation is the reason the objections were overruled. Appeal boards set up in the state are expected to act as checks against discrimination.

GUARD MOBILIZES

October 15 was also mobilization day for 4,500 officers and men of the Michigan national guard. A large part of the troops will strain Wednesday for Camp Beauregard, La., after drills in Detroit armories.

Three American steamships will go to the Orient for evacuation of American citizens, the state department has announced. Only 3,000 of the probable 17,000 Americans in the far east intend to come home on the ships, it is believed.

Northwestern university students hold a "flunkers' frolic" at their final examination period.

Electrical Detective finds wanted pair

Telephone men know this piece of apparatus as the 108-A Amplifier. It is an "exploring amplifier," developed by Bell System engineers to identify pairs of wires in telephone cables—some of which contain as many as 4242 wires.

The cable man explores this mass of wires with the pencil-like probe. A tone sounding in the headphone tells him when he has found the right pair.

Ingenuity—special equipment—attention to details—play an important part in making your telephone service the clearest and fastest in the world.

Why not report "All's well" to the folks at home? Rates to most points are lowest any night after 7 p.m. and all day Sunday.

Game Will Be Broadcast On WKAR

Station Will Begin New Series About Celebrities' Wives

College radio station WKAR will make its first night radio broadcast in eight years when it goes on the air with the Michigan State-Temple football game Friday night.

Permission for extension of broadcasting time into the evening hours had to be obtained from station WWL, Loyola University of the South, in New Orleans, since the two stations are on the same wave length.

Following the granting of this permission the Federal Communications commission approved the broadcast.

WILL BE PLAY-BY-PLAY
 Beginning at 8:15 p. m. Jimmy Dudley will handle WKAR's play-by-play account of the game direct from Philadelphia. Dudley, a professional sports announcer, will be assisted by Forrest Owen, chief student announcer.

A special series of half-hour plays never before broadcast except on an NBC coast to coast hookup will be on the air weekly over WKAR by special permission of NBC. The series, entitled "There Was a Woman," will be broadcast each Thursday at 4 p. m. under the direction of L. D. Barnhart.

TELLS WOMEN'S INFLUENCE
 The influence of women on the lives of famous men is the general background of all of the stories, says Barnhart. This week's show is the story of Fanny Osbourne Stevenson, wife of Robert Louis Stevenson.

Ella Bos will play Fanny Osbourne and James Burgess, Robert Louis Stevenson. Other roles will be filled by Jan Rovick, Al Timreck, John Rischman, Elizabeth Yeager, and Gerald Smith. Music is under the direction of Ted Root. Jack Callaghan is the announcer.

MSC Politicos Plan Wallace Welcome

The Young Democrats club of Michigan State college, newly organized on campus, is proceeding with plans to welcome Democratic vice-presidential nominee Henry Wallace, who will speak in the college auditorium Oct. 24.

A club office is being maintained by the group in a trailer on the corner of Grand River and Charles street.

Club officers are: Frank Guerniero, president; Ila Mae Stevens, vice-president; Beth Card, secretary; and Bill Sheveland, treasurer.

Hotel Ad Frosh Hear Advice From Proulx

Hotel administration department of Michigan State college held a meeting and met together for its old and new students on Tuesday, Oct. 15.

B. R. Proulx, hotel administration head, was speaker of the evening. He urged the hotel ad freshmen to learn all about their campus. He also stressed the importance of personality in determining one's future.

Don Cleveland, president of the association, introduced its officers, Jack C. Strickland, vice-president, and Jack Curtis, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Skinner To Give Own Monologue

Original Sketch Is First on Lecture Series for 1940

Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress and author, will appear on the first program of the student lecture series today at 8 p. m. in M.S.C. auditorium. She will present "The Loves of Charles II," one of her original Modern Monologues.

Miss Skinner has appeared on the Lansing Town Hall series several times in recent years.

Her first important dramatic role was at Bryn Mawr where she played Macbeth opposite Ann Harding who played Lady Macbeth. She left Bryn Mawr to study at the Sorbonne and at other noted dramatic schools in Paris.

STARTED WITH FATHER
 After this study she made her professional debut with her father in Ibanez' "Blood and Sand." After many subsequent roles in professional plays, Miss Skinner found that her interest lay in character sketches rather than in full length plays.

She began writing and enacting monologues, which she has presented in Europe, Central America, and South America, as well as throughout the United States.

WRITES ON TOUR
 Her original monologues include "The Wives of Henry VIII," "The Empress Eugenie," and "Mansion on the Hudson."

Miss Skinner, who does most of her writing on tour, has also written three books, "Tiny Garments," published in 1931; "Excuse It Please," published in 1936; and "Dithers and Litters," recently published. The "New Yorker" and other magazines have published her articles.

DRAFT

During this time local election officials will sort the forms of all draftees and put them in the correct draft board district in order to place the completed forms in the hands of the proper draft boards.

After this procedure is completed, the entire draft process will be under the direct supervision of draft officials and the local boards.

These boards will classify all registrants into the much-publicized four classes:

- Class I—Persons available for training and service in the land or naval forces.
- Class II—Persons deferred because the public interest is best served by their staying at their usual work.
- Class III—Persons deferred because others are dependent upon them for support.

Class IV—Persons deferred from service either by the law itself, or for physical disability, or other reasons.

Local boards will mail notices of preliminary classification to each registrant who, if not satisfied with his classification, has the legal right to ask an appeal board for reclassification.

The board will also give each registrant's card a serial number. Registrants whose number comes up in the national lottery at Washington, D. C., will have an additional order number placed on their cards. Conscripts will then be sent a lengthy questionnaire which must be returned in five days. Answers will be used by local boards in deciding whether draftees are to be called for military training and service.

Former Golf Star Shot In Hunting Accident

Tom Briand, former Michigan State golf star, was critically injured while hunting in West Virginia Tuesday morning, it has been reported.

Briand was number two man on the varsity golf team from 1936 to 1939 and was well known for his competitive spirit.

Registration at Kent State university (Ohio) hit 2,536 to break all records.

Pittsburg Here Saturday For Cross Country Meet

University of Pittsburgh harriers will be out to break their Spartan jinx when they match strides with Michigan State's cross country squad on the Red Cedar course Saturday morning.

Comparing records of the two opponents for the 1940 season finds the Spartans in a most impressive position. Pitt in its initial clash of the year fell before Purdue at Lafayette, Ind. However, the Panthers were expected to vindicate this loss against Army Wednesday.

Leading the veteran Pitt team are Co-captains Walter "Zeke" Sterner and Frank McCabe, both outstanding stars in the past two years.

Ed Mills, Spartan captain, who was not completely rid of his stomach ailment last week before the Penn State run, is in much better shape for Pittsburg.

Al Mangan, veteran senior, has been running strong all fall, and is expected to be in the battle for first place Saturday.

Splashes Through. After the usual trot around State's four-mile cross country course in last Monday's practice run amid a drenching rain, several members of the squad objected to Capt. Ed Mills' method, saying that he did the crawl stroke on the last lap.

Temple Game Fullback Puts on Power Drive

Outstanding in both Spartan games this fall has been all-around play of Jack Amon, senior fullback from Grand Rapids.

George Zimmerman knocked Bob Maumaw out of the running by scoring a 4 to 3 victory, while Mike Santos advanced into the quarter finals with a 2 up decision over Bob Denton.

Three games were played Tuesday night in the dorm football loop. Coach Glenn Ballagh and Bob Sharp got together early in the fourth quarter on a sleeper play to give Abbot 17 a 7 to 0 decision over Delta Chi.

The passing of Les Von Eberstein and the receiving of Bob Vreman proved to be too much for Mason 5 as Coach Bob Telder's Mason 6 outfit won a 2 to 0 first down victory.

A pass from Bob Bauchat to Joe Kurzynski gave Wells F a 6 to 0 decision over Mason 9.

Things are definitely coming to a head in the all-college golf tourney. In second round matches played yesterday George Steljes defeated John Seckerka 3 and 2.
