Man With A Past

When Dean Kuykendall, journalism department, struts his stuff during the vaudeville interim of the A.T.O. fall term party tonight, the gathered assembly may be so informed but they will be watching a past master. Kuykendall consented to do a backface act and a little fancy buck and winging for the A.T.O. men and their guests during a high-light show of the evening. But he didn't tell them that he once spent more than a year doing the same thing in the RKO southern circuit.

Fine Example

Students taking descriptive writing soon learn that C. C. Hamilton, of the English department demands simplicity and specificity in their work. His best example to date is the definition of an expert. "A man who always hits the bulls-eye without shooting the bull."

Mais Oui

Michigan State's cooperative meat rears its head in many guises lately. Thursday is a graduate English class Dr. C. M. Newlin, discussing possible use of a book as source material for a paper to be written by student William Potter, asked if he read French. "No," said Potter firmly. And without batting an eye he said, "But Mr. Reid can read it." And Reid, over in another aisle, muttered something that sounded like "J'ai

Delicitions

Women of Campbell hall are to have the men that work move the tables for them. They never expected to have "turn the tables" on them. The men surprised them by filing into the dining room in the night, and, with the help of their bushy-haired conductor, rendered "Happy Birthday" plus an encore.

Union Growers Plan Business Meeting

Michigan onion growers will meet in room 401 of the Agricultural building Wednesday. It was announced yesterday by Paul M. Carter, college muck crop specialist. During the day the association members will convene for a December business session. The day's program begins at 10 a. m. and will include discussion of a proposed bill regulating the sale of onion qualities of Michigan.

Under the Wire

ROME, Dec. 6.—Three reasons for the shakeup today which removed Marshal Pietro Badoglio as chief of the Italian general staff put Gen. Ugo Cavallero in his place are proposed by well-informed observers here. Reasons are: Badoglio ordered the change; Badoglio to be the "goat" for Italian defeat in the Greek campaign; he is said to have fled from the Italian offensive.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 6.—The entire British south Atlantic fleet has been ordered to search waters off the eastern coast of South America for a suspected German "battleship" which crippled a British ship in an engagement off Montevideo today. Mexican foreign officials said it had been learned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, who has power to issue short term government notes to finance national defense, today received approval of Senate finance committee to issue notes. Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan, former assistant attorney-general, may be sent as a special government envoy to French Africa. Social possessions. It was learned today by authoritative sources.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 6.—Death was decreed by Gen. Antonescu's government for all Rumanians investigating rebellion. Life imprisonment for hard labor for all their followers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Much stronger than she was last spring in real Britain today, said a U. S. army general today who has just returned from England on an anonymous observer with the R.A.F. The general, who went through the war as part of the agreement in the British high command, said she was in the near future.

Term Will See Seventy-Two Seniors Get Diplomas

Seventy-two seniors will complete their work for degrees and receive diplomas at the end of fall term, Registrar R. S. Linton announced yesterday afternoon.

Included are 25 Liberal Arts students, 16 from the Agricultural division, 13 from Engineering, 10 from Applied Science, and eight from the Home Economics division.

Graduates, to whom diplomas will be mailed early in January, may, if they wish, return to the campus in June to go through the regular commencement exercises, Linton said.

LIBERAL ARTS
Graduating seniors in the Liberal Arts division are Jane E. Andros, Lansing; Deeta Jane Baker, Detroit; Robert B. Belland, Ludington; Elmer G. Boyer, Lansing; Delbert R. Brundage, Flint; Shirley W. Burnell, Memphis; Matthew R. Campbell, Lansing; Albert C. Cochrane, Almont; Alice Cortright, Lansing; Jane Annette Eames, Pontiac; Vernon B. Fox, Grand Rapids; William R. Frank, Wayne; Hazel E. Frazier, Jackson; Margaret H. Hassett, Flint; Mary E. Johnson, Detroit; Robert M. Johnson, Chicago; Robert W. Kosht, Detroit.

Tom R. Nelson, Fremont; Helge T. Pearson, East Lansing; Dalal K. Safadi, Lansing; Russell D. Siebert, Lansing; Bruce A. Upton, Flint; Leonard Westrate, Coopersville; Gerald S. Yeiter, Lowell; and Julie N. Potvin, Alpena.

IFC Will Give Food to Needy Families

All fraternities, working through Inter-Fraternity council, will again take part in the preparation and distribution of baskets of food to needy families this Christmas. Last year 15 bushel baskets were delivered by IFC members to needy homes.

Approximately 12 fraternities plan to have a group of underprivileged children come to the house for dinner. After dinner, Christmas parties with toys and clothing for the youngsters will be given. According to G. M. Heath, housing director for men, about 100 children, both white and colored and between the ages of 5 and 12, will attend these parties.

Flyer Is Safe In Crackup

Donald Bos, civil engineering student from Grand Rapids, was uninjured when his plane crashed into the old state hangar at Capitol city airport Thursday evening.

Bos, an advanced student in the civilian pilot training program, has had about 60 hours flying time. He had just taken off, heading north, when his plane stalled and swerved, striking the hangar. Two wings on one side of the plane were smashed.

A preliminary investigation was conducted by representatives of the state board of aeronautics and the civilian aeronautics administration. A thorough investigation of the crack-up will be made by the air safety bureau, and a complete statement will be issued within a few weeks.

This was the third accident in the civilian training program here. Three students and an instructor have been injured on former occasions. The accident was the first in the advanced training course which started in September.

Eliminations Limit Teams Debates Decide Eligible Duos

Fourteen Michigan State men and 12 women have been chosen for varsity debate as a result of Tuesday and Wednesday night's tryouts. Paul D. Bagwell announced yesterday.

Members of the men's debate squad will be: Fred Perry, Glen Wagner, Elmer Sedlander, George Herbert, Al Thorburn, William Barclay, Robert Haflich, and Russell Gibbs.

MEN TO DEBATE
Richard Hartwig, Charles Sayre, Joe Kroll, Robert Nichols, John Solar, and George Field. Judges for the men's tryouts were Paul Bagwell, J. D. Menchhofer, Burdette C. Stampley, and Robert G. Turner of the speech department, and Dr. M. M. Knappen of the history and political science department.

Women chosen for varsity debate are: Harriette Ysberg, Lenore Warner, Charlotte Whitten, Isabelle Strieter, Ida Mae Steven, Grace Sidoti, and Sally Palmer. Marywin Mathis, Frances Hillier, Geraldine Gifford, Constance Cooley, and Jean Binkley.

STAFF JUDGES

J. D. Menchhofer, P. D. Bagwell, B. C. Stampley, R. G. Turner, and H. V. Cordier, all of the speech department, judged the women's tryouts.

According to Bagwell, additional tryouts for women may be held to choose two more members.

Tables Are Turned; Faculty Men Will Pour At Coffee

Michigan State's student council is proving its strategy by holding its one student-faculty coffee of the term next Wednesday from 4 to 5:45 p. m., almost directly before finals.

Purpose of the coffee is to break down barriers between students and faculty, to give students a chance to profit by their professors' knowledge and experience, and professors a chance to enjoy the fresh ideas of students.

Committee in charge of the coffee, appointed by Student Council president, Richard Groening, is composed of William Knox, chairman, and Jane Clark and Jean Mills. Jane Blair, Fred Perry and Shirley Andrews are assisting the committee.

Faculty professors and deans will preside at the coffee table, a slight reversal of the usual procedure. Those pouring are: E. B. Hill, farm management; C. G. Card, poultry husbandry; Ward Giltner, dean of Veterinary Science division, and A. G. Scheele, art.

H. S. Patton, economics; C. F. Holland, director of the health service; B. R. Proulx, hotel administration; A. A. Applegate, head of the publications department, and Lieut.-Col. A. J. Zerbe, professor of military science and tactics.

C. W. Chapman, physics; C. I. Allen, chemical engineering; B. B. Roseboom, physiology and pharmacology; L. G. Miller, mechanical engineering; M. M. Knappen, history and political science; R. L. Underwood, music, and J. W. Stack, zoology.

One Faculty Founder to Attend Anniversary of Church

When students gather Sunday morning for the regular religious services at Peoples church, there will be at least one person in the congregation, Prof. Chace Newman, retired professor of drawing and design, who will remember the first service 33 years ago.

Newman and some of his contemporaries, Prof. A. R. Sawyer, former head of engineering department; E. E. Bogue, forestry; Thomas Blaisdell, Engineering; E. H. Ryder, history department, and later dean of Liberal Arts; A. C. Anderson, dairy department, and J. Snyder, president of the college at that time, began the movement for foundation of the church in 1905. On Dec. 8, 1907, the first church service was held, with the Rev. Fred Corbett as pastor.

USED GRADE SCHOOL

Meetings were first held in an old school building on the site of Central grade school, and later in the college chapel in old College hall where Beaumont Tower now stands.

The first church edifice, a two-story structure containing an auditorium, dining room, and church parlors, was located where the College drug store is now.

Enlarged congregations called for the construction of an adjoining auditorium and finally in 1926 the church moved into its present building.

It was used as a community center.

Staff Man Will Read Paper at Harvard

Dr. Robert P. Adams of the English department, will deliver a research paper before the Modern Language Association of America Dec. 27 at Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass.

His subject will be, "Humanist Conceptions of the Renaissance."

Spartans Out to End Seven Year Jinx In Wolverine Clash

Coaches Optimistic As To Outcome

Determined to break the jinx which has prevented them from winning a game at Ann Arbor since 1933, a squad of 17 Michigan State cagers are to leave East Lansing today for the 42nd all-time basketball meeting with University of Michigan tonight in Yost fieldhouse.

A crowd of approximately 6,000 is expected to watch the Spartans and Michigan clash once more. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Not since State's 26-25 victory in the team's first clash of the 1933-34 season have the Spartans been able to trim the Wolverines in their own lair. In that campaign, with Bob Herrick, Mike Rouse, Maurice Buysse, and Arn Van Faassen leading the way, State won both encounters.

LOSE FIVE IN ROW

The Spartans are annoyed by the fact that they've lost five in a row to Michigan and in the last 10 meetings have beaten the Wolverines only once. That lone occasion was the last game of 1938.

Only Ohio State is an older enemy of Michigan than State and the Spartans have no older foe than Michigan. In the 41 games played to date, Michigan has registered 23 victories.

HAVE LONG RIVALRY

The rivalry opened in 1909 with State winning both contests that year. Michigan abandoned the sport for eight years, then picked it up again in 1917 and has met the Spartans ever since. The Wolverines have scored an aggregate of 1,168 points while State has collected 957.

Coach Ben Van Alstyne, beginning his 15th campaign here, pointed out that "It's pretty hard to tell just how we will stack up with them. It's too early. All I hope is that we get our share of the breaks that someone always gets in Michigan State-Michigan rivalry, and that we can match them in speed."

COACHES AGREE

His lack of optimism this season has been matched only by that of Benny Oosterbaan, the two-See BASKETBALL—Page 4

Sinfonia Picks New Members

Formal initiation for pledges of Sinfonia, men's honorary music fraternity, will be held Sunday in the music building. Following initiation the new members will be guests of the fraternity at a luncheon at Hunt's Food shop.

Sinfonia project for this year is the introduction of a series of informal discussions, accompanied by guest speakers and designed to create in the members of Sinfonia a sympathetic interest in and an intelligent knowledge of fields of knowledge other than music.

Dr. Milton Muelder of the history department was the first speaker of the series.

Pre-Lecture Dinner Dates Keep Speakers On Time

By PEGGY TROUT
Learning first-hand from Cornelia Otis Skinner that she plans to do a play after the holidays rather than continuing her work in monologues, and hearing about the evacuation of Dunkirk while having dinner with H. R. Knickerbocker sound like experiences from a page of Alexander Woolcott's diary.

To C. P. Halligan, professor of landscape architecture, and S. E. Crowe, professor of mathematics, dinner dates with notables in the fields of science, research, economics, international politics, drama, and the dance are almost bi-monthly occurrences.

NAMED BY PRESIDENT

Appointed by Pres. R. S. Shaw as chairman and secretary-treasurer of the faculty-student lecture committee, Halligan and Crowe greet and entertain those who appear on the lecture series at a pre-lecture dinner.

This dinner is a precautionary measure, according to Crowe, who remembers the time William Lyon Phelps, retired professor of English at Yale university, was invited out to dinner by an East Lansing resident and returned to the Peoples church 15 minutes late for his lecture.

"We've made the dinner a rule to protect speakers ahead of time from previous engagements," said Crowe. "We have to be hard-boiled about it."

FIVE MORE LECTURES

Five numbers remain to be given on this year's lecture series. C. F. Kettering will speak Jan. 8; Leon G. Turrion, Feb. 13; John Mason Brown, Feb. 27; and the Honorable Hu Shih, March 10. Date for the play "Life With Father" starring Lillian Gish and Percy Warram is pending.

Attendance statistics for this year show that the average attendance at lectures is 3,787, while the average student attendance is 2,150. Cornelia Otis Skinner tops the list with a total audience of 4,987. The performance of the Graft ballet, which ranked second as a student attraction was attended by 4,368 persons.

Three students work with Halligan and Crowe on the selection of speakers. Those chosen for membership on the committee this year are William Knox, Saul Ste. Marie senior; Robert Page, Rockland junior; and Dorothy Price, senior from Niagara Falls, N. Y.

USE THREE WAYS

The committee has three ways of getting performers for the lecture series. Writing to invite speakers directly, without the intervention of a third party was done in the case of Ambassador Hu Shih and Charles F. Kettering who will appear this year. Lecturers may be secured through booking agencies or speaker's bureaus who send their representatives here to submit outlines of lectures and prices for the selection of the committee.

The Graft ballet performance was secured through the Horner-Moyer agency in Kansas City, Mo.; John Mason Brown who will speak on dramatic criticism this year was obtained through Lee Keedick, New York; and Eva Le Gallienne's appearance was secured through the Redpath Bureau in Chicago. Other performances, such as the Ballet Russe are booked with their own managers.

EARNART POPULAR

Most popular speakers during recent years, according to Crowe, were Amelia Earhart and Richard Halliburton. When a questionnaire concerning 12 potential speakers was presented to an audience of students two years ago, more checked Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's name than any other.

All-College Dance Heads Nine Party Weekend

By Harriette Yabery
Highlighting social activities this week-end will be the Scabbard and Blade-Renshing Rifle all-college formal with Al Kavelin and his "Cascading Chords" playing for dancing in the auditorium tonight.

Large insignias of Renshing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade will form the background of the stage, and a machine gun will be mounted on either side of the stage. A large flag will be draped in the rear of the auditorium.

According to William Mallory, president of Scabbard and Blade, the flowers will be worn at the dance. His guest, Miss Gloria Deuch, will be dancing in a full tulle skirt topped by a short-sleeved black velvet jacket.

Speaker Gives Labor Rights

No emergency is so great that labor must give up its fundamental right to strike," Don Taylor, regional U.A.W.-C.I.O. representative, stated before the campus discussion group meeting in the parlour room of the Union last night.

Labor will not hesitate to roll up its sleeves and go to work for national defense," Taylor stated. "It is not labor to make sacrifices which management is unwilling to make. It is to copy European Communism and Fascism."

A. L. Williams, English instructor, and E. L. Ballachey, professor of psychology, both members of the American Federation of Teachers, discussed the A. F. of L. view at the meeting. Williams spoke of the differences between the two main labor organizations, stating that he believed original differences of craft and industrial unions no longer were the forces keeping the factions separated.

Williams compared the union to a "mountain feud" in which the parties had forgotten the cause of the argument. He said union peace must come soon, the alternative that the union will widen in the future.

Ballachey discussed various phases of the activities of the A. F. of L., stating that 35,000 teachers are active in the union.

Two Students Work To Find Cause Of Rose 'Browning'

Experiments to find the cause of browning in roses, not by students, are being carried out by two floriculture seniors, Alger Lee from Lakeland, and Frances Elliot, Coloma.

The students will conduct their experiments with roses growing in various nutrient solutions, C. E. Wildon, associate professor of floriculture, stated. The plants will be raised in infertile silicate compound resembling white sand, in which solutions containing different types of plant foods will be forced.

In the first experiments, Wildon stated, excesses of 15 liquid nutrients will be tried to see what effect they will have on browning, as the rose disease is properly known. Duplicate solutions will be used, making a total of 30 experimental rose beds.

Dancers Will Entertain At Banquet

Orchestrated, Physical Education Women Will Perform

Orchestrated, national dancing organization, and members of second-year tap-dancing classes of the women's physical education department, will present three dances at the 21st annual football banquet in the auditorium, Saturday.

Miss Ange Kuehl, assistant professor of physical education, will direct the dances.

Sue Brodie, Detroit junior, will solo an acrobatic and soft shoe dance.

Friend Helps Artist Get Cello In Fairy Tale Style

By Janet Hall
When Gregor Piatigorsky, 'cellist, performs in the college auditorium Wednesday, he will use his famous Montagnana cello which he obtained in a way more like the old fairy tales, than real life.

For six seasons Piatigorsky had appeared in Boston while on tour. In the course of his annual visits he gave a private recital at the home of one of the members of the Boston Symphony board of directors, and in this way came to know the American quite well.

One day in the autumn of 1934 while the 'cellist was walking down a London street he met his American friend. Both were surprised and pleased as neither knew the other, was in England. Piatigorsky accepted his invitation to dinner, but conversation lagged and the meal was not particularly successful. The 'cellist's thoughts seemed far away. Finally in answer to the host's question, Piatigorsky said:

ONE MAN CAN FIX IT
"It's my cello. It's sick. I don't know what to do with it. Something is always going wrong with it. There is one person in Florence who might be able to put it in shape. But I don't know. Besides, I can't go to Italy just now. And I am playing concerts almost every day."

The next day Piatigorsky's friend called him and said that the one thing he wanted to see in London before he sailed was a collection of old musical instruments, and would Piatigorsky show it to him.

GO TO DEALERS
The two men went to the house of W. E. Hill and Son, international dealers. Here they looked over the instruments, until the Bostonian asked to see a good cello. Hill brought out an old Montagnana, 1739, handed it with a bow to Piatigorsky, and asked him to try it.

The 'cellist tried a few scales, and then started playing in earnest. A half hour had passed before his friend patted him affectionately on the back and whispered "It's yours," before he left to catch his boat.

CELLO WAS BURIED
Piatigorsky nicknamed his new instrument "The Sleeping Princess" because it had been buried in an old English estate and had not been played for almost a century.

SPARTANS MAY ATTEND

WKAR Highlights

By Patty Jean Sibley

Highlight of the weekend's broadcasts will be the Kapsers show broadcast from the State Theater at 3 p. m. Saturday.

A WKAR production, the show is under the direction of L. D. Barnhart. Art Howland and his band will form the background of the show. Jon Rovick is master of ceremonies. Paul Ritts, announcer, and Marty Vial and Bill Sydenstricker will be featured on the program.

Blue and silver stars, evergreen and red candles will make up the decoration above the mantle at the Sigma Kappa society semi-formal Saturday night. Large decorated Christmas trees complete the decorations.

Miss Betty Bushnell, general chairman, will be escorted by Ray Sheild and will wear a rose tulle dress with silver accessories, while the society colors—lavender and maroon—will be worn by Miss Harriette Yabery in a tulle, hoop-skirted dress. Her guest will be John Main. Music for dancing will be furnished by Arn DeCamp.

Miss Jure Esslinger, guest of Arthur Land, chairman of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity term party, has chosen royal blue crepe semi-formal fashioned with a full skirt.

Bob Dean Will Play

Also dancing to the music of Bob Dean in the third floor ballroom will be Donald Boerema, president, who will have as his guest Miss Phyllis Walker wearing a blue chiffon dress trimmed with rhinestones.

Bobby Ambers and his band from Detroit will play for dancing at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity semi-formal tonight in the Little theater. Harry Jackson, general chairman, will escort Miss Josephine Smith, and Frederick Colwell, president, will be with Miss Helen MacDonald.

Theta Chi fraternity's term party will be held in the forestry cabin and will feature a skit written and produced by Joseph Griffith, Robert Robillard, and Richard Huddle.

Two radio parties are also included in the social calendar this week-end, one at Robinson house and the other at the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity house.

Phi Chi Alpha Men See Baseball Picture

Wally Pipp, former first baseman for the New York Yankees, presented an American League baseball film at Phi Chi Alpha fraternity house Thursday evening as a part of the fraternity's annual Christmas party program.

Speaker Urges Ag. Labor Cooperation

Greater cooperation between agriculture and labor was advocated by Prof. O. Ulrey of the agricultural economics department at a meeting of the Lansing Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday evening.

Ulrey suggested discussions between the two groups as an aid in solving their mutual problems. Need for greater government regulation of business, agriculture, and labor was also emphasized.

Purpose of the meeting was to acquaint Chamber of Commerce members with the problems of agriculture. In addition to Ulrey's talk, J. F. Yager of the Michigan State Farm Bureau spoke.

Firestone to Speak With Engineers

E. W. Oldham of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company will be on campus Dec. 12 and 13 to interview chemical, industrial, mechanical engineers, and chemists.

On Dec. 12, at 9 a. m., there will be a general meeting of all students interested in room 111, Oldham will conduct individual interviews there.

Dietitians Tell Club of Work

The work of student dietitians in hospitals was the subject of talks given Thursday evening at the meeting of the Foods and Nutrition Junior-Senior club.

Speakers told of their internships at various colleges and universities throughout the country. A year of such experience being required before a student can become a full-fledged dietitian.

Several hospitals offer this training and the programs they follow are approved by the American Dietetics association. As each hospital varies somewhat in the presentation of the course, the speakers were able to give members an idea of where they might like to go.

Training includes work in the hospital, clinical and kitchen experience, and other problems dietitians are likely to meet. Speakers were Dr. Charlotte Young, Mrs. Lois Hays, Miss Dorothy Gibson, Dr. Jean Hawks, of the Home Economics staff, and Mrs. Eula Waltz, an alumnae of 1939.

BY SANTA

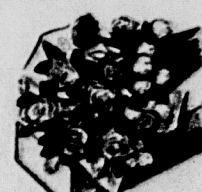

By this time you should certainly have started to buy your Christmas presents. There are only 14 more days in which to do all of your shopping. That isn't a very long time, with end-of-term work and exams at hand.

One of the best ideas among this year's Christmas gifts is photographic equipment. Cameras are increasing in popularity. Perhaps you have someone who would appreciate a new camera more than any other gift. Or perhaps one of your friends could use a new camera case or some film.

Shutter, lens, and body. And many are being featured in many of the women's stores this week. When life is so hectic, gifts that are practical, beautiful, and useful are always appreciated. Remember, your Christmas gifts to the East Lansing stores.

Eight Boxers Ready to Clash In Second Round Monday

Boxing bouts scheduled for Monday night at the University of Illinois gymnasium will feature eight bouts in four weight classes. The only first-round match will take place in 127 pound division with John Hasey meeting Bob Brown. Second-round contests card Herb Fuller vs. Bill Dickinson and Bill Ryan vs. John Skarina in the 145 pound class. Lyle Bennett vs. Bill Wiseman in the 155 pound class, and Allen Lockman vs. Bob Parker in the 165 pound division.

In the 127 pound division, Charles Schumacher, John Keenan in a 135 pound match. Schumacher wasted little time in taking a point advantage in the opening round with a two handed body attack. The final two rounds were a repetition of the first, with final bell.

The second bout, also a 155 pound contest, in which Bill Wiseman tackled Mack Finlan, ap- pearing still going strong at the postured to be one of those equally matched affairs. However, shortly after the second round got under way, Wiseman opened with a flurry of rights and lefts that drove his opponent to cover. Drawing Finlan into the open, Wiseman again launched his attack and this time knocked his foe out in 2:35 of the second round.

HEAVIES ARE FAST

The fastest moving bout of the four, however, was the third of the afternoon and the first 175 pound match pitting Bill Peterson against Bill Warriner. This match was a battle of contrasts throughout. Peterson, tall and thin, is a boxer using an open style of attack, while Warriner, on the other hand, shorter and more compactly built, leans toward the inside brand of boxing. With these factors involved, both boxers showed trouble in fathoming the other's defense, but Peterson, with a longer range, managed to land enough blows to cop the decision.

The final bout pairing Chuck Calkins and Carl Levin in the 175 pound classification proved to be the closest match. The opening round ended in a draw. Calkins

Dalers Choose 1941 Captain

Ralph B. Monroe, lanky sophomore from Farmersburg, Ind., was elected captain of the 1941 cross country team at a meeting of the team Friday noon. He is the first sophomore to be chosen for the captaincy of the dalers since Tom Otley received the honor in 1933.

Running in his first year of varsity competition, Monroe figured strongly in the Spartan team score in all of the eight meets run this fall. He won the Pittsburgh dual meet, placed first and second, respectively, for the Spartans against Indiana and Penn State. In the bigger meets he placed not lower than fourth as a team member.

Something new in cross country runs held on the campus will take place in the all-college championships which will be run today at 3 p. m. Due to the heavy snowfall last week which caused the postponement of the race from last Saturday until today, the race will start and finish in Jenison fieldhouse.

Kappa's Win Tourney Title In Volleyball

Last Period Spurt Takes Crown From South Campbell

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority captured the women's intramural volleyball championship Thursday night when it defeated South Campbell, last season's champion.

Georgia Weidman and Elizabeth Zerbee of the Kappa's and Ruth Rynalski of South Campbell led the scoring, each tallying six points. Close behind were Betty Nonenpreger, Betty Bowser, and Ann Backstrom, who scored five points each for the Kappas.

KAPPA'S LEAD AT HALF

With Backstrom serving the first three points, the Kappa's jumped to an early lead and were out in front, 7-3, at the end of the first quarter.

With tallies from Rynalski, Janet Hall and Carol Long, South Campbell crept to one point of the champions who lead, 13-12, at half time.

NONENPREGER SCORES FIVE

The two teams went into the fourth quarter with an 18-all tie score, but then Betty Nonenpreger dropped in five tallies to give the Kappa's an edge which carried them to the title.

Final standings in the 1940 tournament are: first, Kappa Kappa Gamma; second, South Campbell; third, Sigma Kappa; fourth, Alpha Omicron Pi; fifth, a five way tie among Alpha Chi Omega, West Mary Mayo, Alpha Phi, Alpha X Delta and Alice Cowles.

Fifteen teams competed in the tournament which was under the direction of Thelma Elworthy, volleyball sports manager, and Miss Dorothy Parker of the physical education staff.

Sigma Nu, Phi Tau Place Two Men on First Team

By Hal Schram

Sigma Nu and Phi Kappa Tau split top honors on the State News 1940 All-Fraternity touch football team. Both teams placed two players on this year's all-star squad while Lambda Chi, Beta Kappa and the Hesperians placed one man each.

With Jack Twist and "Bud" MacKichan leading the way, Coach Willie Lott and his Sigma Nus swept to the Block 2 championship. MacKichan's hard running and sensational passing made him one of the best all-around backs in the league.

On the other hand, Twist at end was the climax type of player. Twice he individually won games by intercepting opponent passes and racing for game winning touchdowns.

PHI TAUS PLACE TWO

A fast line and brilliant defensive work combined to bring Phi Kappa Tau into the intramural championship picture. Coach Don McGaw and Dave Laidlaw were the sparkplugs of this fast moving team. Laidlaw's defensive work was especially good while McGaw's blocking and leadership kept the Phi Kaps in the race all the way.

Bob Dodge ran and passed the Hesperian forces into a confounding position, while Bill Morrison was top man for Beta Kappa.

sport All-American who will officially open his third season as head cage coach of the Wolverines tonight.

Meanwhile, State's victory hopes were given no aid Friday night by the announcement that Carl Petroski, sophomore center from Schenectady, N. Y., will be unavailable tonight. Petroski, a No. 1 reserve at center or forward, injured his leg in scrimmage.

Petroski's absence will put more emphasis on the relief duties of center Frank Mekules and forward Dudley Jones. Earl May, another Schenectady sophomore, will also move up a notch.

HAS NO EXPERIENCE

Only Bob Morris, senior forward from Grand Rapids, will line up against Michigan without the experience of having started in a previous engagement with the Wolverines. Morris, however, proved that two years as understudy to Marty Hutt haven't hurt him any by leading State's attack against Kalamazoo.

Max Hindman, Joe Gerard, Mel Peterson, and Bob Phillips will compose the rest of the starting quintet.

State Hands Ohio Riders 23-3 Defeat

Michigan State's polo team proved again last night its rank as one of the top collegiate indoor teams in the nation by opening the 1940 season with a 23-3 trouncing of Ohio State.

The Buckeye riders, handicapped by lack of an indoor hall for practice, succeeded in breaking into the scoring column only after the second chukker was nearly done.

Leading the hard-riding Spartan attack were the Nos. 1 and 2 men, Norm Spatz and Capt. Fred Gibson who pounded in 10 and 11 goals respectively.

Ohio State still ranks as one of the country's better teams. Last winter the Spartans hung a 23-11 shellacking on the Buckeyes, playing in Demonstration hall.

Women to Sponsor Fencing Tourney

Scherma Scotta, women's honorary fencing sorority, will sponsor a tournament today at 2:00 p. m. in the fencing room of the women's gym.

The three main bouts will feature Jean Knight and Dorothy Leathers, Eloise Henkel and Elaine Andros, Harriet Snyder and Lois Newman.

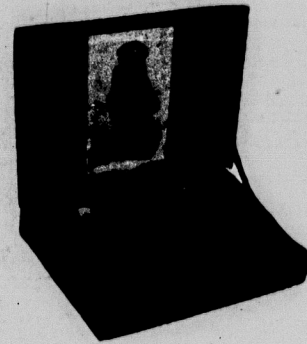

William Hammond will direct the journey and will be assisted by four members of the men's fencing team. Today's winners will vie for the championship at a later date.

Harvard and Yale alumni subscribed $107.089 to the Harvard fund last year.
