Can Politicians Behave?

Politics is funny business.

Everything was not so sweet-smelling on the campus election front last year. That situation was not at all helped by the rules which Student Council clamped down on expenditures.

Rather than stick its neck out again the council voted last week to remove all restrictions and allow unlimited expenses. Then it was found that this could not be done since the administration insists on a limitation of campaign expenses. Either Student Council must make that limitation or the administration rules are automatically in effect.

So Student Council drew up the rules printed in the last issue of the State News which limit campaign literature to mimeographing and provide for some council supervision of all electioneering.

The rules were passed by the council not as arbitrary laws, but as requests for cooperation in securing better student government. Some candidates may be able to evade the rules, but they won't be "putting one over on the council." Anyone who does not cooperate with the regulations will be striking a blow at Michigan State student government and at himself, as a member of that student body.

Don't bother to compliment a coed on her clothes. She'll probably forget to repeat it to her roommate when she gives the clothes back.

Read Any Good Books?

Depending on how one looks at it, congratulations or condolences are in order for students in the Applied Science division.

The scientists led all other divisions in checking out 18,000 of the 68,000 books the college library dispensed last year. The rest of the Spartans also did quite well, it seems, for the Michigan State college library was among the leaders in schools this size for total circulation.

Since 1935 the circulation of the library has jumped 57 per cent, a fact which can be interpreted several ways. Maybe students just can't find anything else to do, or maybe they have suddenly acquired a fondness for study.

If neither of these two ideas accounts for this new interest, then it must be that the library staff deserves the credit for selecting readable books. It wouldn't be a bad idea to drop in sometime and look their stock over. It's free and there is no prospect of an immediate shortage.

Concepts and collections can rejoice in March. They won't have to pay income tax, anyhow.

Treaties vs. Bombers

Terrible as is the might of Adolf Hitler's military machine, British government heads these days must be losing sleep over another phase of the Nazi threat.

Winston Churchill's government is not afraid of the efficiently-drilled legions that drill tirelessly day after day on the other side of the narrow English channel, practicing invasion maneuvers. The British have learned not to fear the swarms of Luftwaffe bombers with their loads of incendiaries, high explosives, and possibly paratroopers. The menace of the German underground fleet of elusive submarines is very real to Britain, but the faith of the islanders still rests with the royal navy.

What Britons fear is the deadliest of Herr Hitler's weapons, the conference table. Time after time diplomats from the lesser European nations have been summoned to "confer" with the fuhrer, and always they have come away leaving him what he wanted.

Germany's pact with Russia and Japan may soon be equal in importance by her latest deal involving Bulgaria and Turkey. Experts hint that Nazi force may now knock Greece out of the war, while England may find Japan forcing another front of the war in the Far East.

If these events come to pass and Britain finds herself truly fighting with her back to the wall, she can blame the diabolical genius of Adolf Hitler, who thus far has proven himself one of the master statesmen of all time.

Quotable Quotes —

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"There are in the United States far more universities, colleges and other operating institutions, and far more voluntary organizations for worthy purposes than the nation can possibly afford. In the years to come many of these are bound to disappear." Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, predicts a weeding out of universities and philanthropies.

"National defense and education are close kin, for both of them are plans to preserve the way of life to which we Americans have dedicated ourselves and our children. The way of life, which we call democracy, is held together with the idea that every man is to have a chance." Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, sees America strategically strengthened by education.

What Other College Students Think on Timely Topics

Music Hath Charms—

Few subjects have inspired the columns of comment in the nation's college press that have poured forth since ASCAP and the radio networks terminated relations.

Music, it seems proved once again, is a prime factor in the collegian's existence, and editorial reaction, for the most part, has been clear-cut.

The Harvard Crimson in an analysis of the dispute points out that the main line of defense for the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers "is the fact that in the mid-twenties its rights was recognized under the copyright law to assess broadcasters for etherizing its music. The society was for a while satisfied with a 5 per cent cut. But when networks incorporated and, finding themselves not liable to royalty fees, proceeded to juggle their books so as to lessen the amount paid by individual stations, ASCAP began to feel double-crossed."

Hence the new contracts placing a 7 1/2 per cent dent on income from all chain programs. "On the other side of the musical fence," continues the Crimson, "stand the networks, arguing that ASCAP has already dug too deeply into radio's coffers and now seeks only to pursue its advantage. Furthermore, they say, charges should be made upon the music presented, with no fee blanketing all sponsored broadcasts."

Impatience Grows—

The Daily Kansas sees some good in the controversy, but closes on a note of impatience: "You may have to go to the 'Campdown Races' two or three times a day, but you do get to hear some of the really fine things of Stephen Foster that were formerly buried under the avalanche of popular music. Even so, we'd rather have our choice of the whole shebang. So, boys, please settle the squabble and let's get back to work."

The Syracuse Daily Orange, the Cornell Daily Sun, and the Daily Nebraskan resent the public's being "taken in" by the whole situation. The Sun says that "again the ugly head of the interclass struggle has risen, and meanwhile the people of the United States are suffering as usual." The Nebraskan feels that "ASCAP's monopoly seems not too healthy a thing," and finds that "music lovers are getting angry at BMI for not having what they want and at ASCAP for denying them the right to hear their favorite songs."

The Public May Revolt—

The Daily Iowan hazards a guess that the public will force the networks to effect a settlement. "Eventually those of us who really enjoy our radio music will become tired of Stephen Foster, et al, and unless the new BMI can supply us with an increasing number of GOOD popular, semi-popular and classical tunes to our liking, ASCAP will win its battle with the networks, an increase in radio rates for its music, and the blessings of music-loving Americans who care nothing about the economics of the battle but who insist upon their musical favorites. The fairness of ASCAP's demands we will not discuss. Our only conviction now is that the day is approaching when ASCAP music will return to the networks, and several millions of air-minded Americans will have brought it about."

Back at Harvard, the Crimson concludes: "Just which party capitulates is a question to be answered by the listening public. If America's $6,000,000 radio sets start turning more and more to ASCAP-contracted independent stations, and advertisers follow the trend, the networks will have to throw in the towel. But if the combination of new BMI, old American, and foreign tunes suits listeners' tastes, the Society of Composers will find itself in an awkward position. Whatever the battle's outcome, American music should emerge with a new lease on life."

WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

(Copyright, 1940, by United Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Wendell Willkie went all-out for the President's lend-lease bill, but personally he doesn't like Mr. Roosevelt any better than before. Willkie made this clear to friends following his conference at the White House.

Winston Churchill, he indicated, had it all over Roosevelt in ability and personality, was "much simpler and more direct in manner."

"There isn't anyone in America quite like Churchill," Willkie said. "He was the most congenial companion I've met in a very long time. He has a buoyancy that is incomparable."

Willkie also told his friends that he had absolutely no intention of taking a job under Roosevelt.

"The President hasn't offered me anything," he said, "and I hope he doesn't because I'll turn it down. One thing I don't want is an appointive office. If war should come I will enlist in the armed forces, but I'm not taking a government job."

Willkie is still undecided what he will do, but is leaning toward a return to law. He has been offered a number of lucrative positions, one carrying a salary of $120,000 a year.

TWO FOES MEET

For Willkie personally the most dramatic part of his hectic day in Washington occurred at the Union Station en route to the midnight sleeper.

He was wearied, tumbled and alone, trudging through the great domed waiting room, when suddenly he came face to face with General Hugh Johnson, also outward bound.

During the election campaign Johnson was one of Willkie's most rabid boosters. But this love turned to vituperation when Willkie declared for the lend-lease bill. Since then Gen. Johnson, in his syndicated column, has been "scorching the pants off" the man who only a few months ago he acclaimed as a shining Sir Galahad.

So the other night both men looked at each other in silence, then Willkie remarked pleasantly, "Well, Hugh, nice to see you."

"Oh, hello," replied Johnson. Again there was a silence, which was broken by Willkie with an inquiry about Johnson's destination.

"Oh, I'm just going fishing," and then, thawing a little, the General added that he had not been able to attend the Senate committee hearing because he had been busy with an article.

DISAPPROVES CHAMP CLARK

"That fellow Clark (isolationist Missouri Senator)," remarked Willkie conversationally, "is one of the dullest persons I've met in a long time. I don't see how he keeps in office."

"Well, I don't know," murmured the isolationist General non-committally. By this time they were at the track gates. Again there was silence, broken this time by Johnson.

"Wendell," he said, "how about a bottle of beer before we turn in?"

"Thanks, Hugh, but I don't think I'd better. I'm very tired and I've got a busy day ahead. Thanks just the same. Be seeing you."

Johnson nodded and the two men went their ways, even farther apart.

Medicine Will Be Vet Party Theme

Decorations committee promises something entirely new and unique for the Medicine ball, to be held Saturday, according to Rommy Steensma, senior from The Hague, Holland, general chairman.

The dance, an annual affair sponsored by the Junks American Veterinary Medical association, will be held in the Union ballroom. Coy Eklund and his band will furnish the music.

Patrons include Dean and Mrs. Ward Gilmer, and Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Alfredson.

The party will be semi-formal.

News Roundup

Anzacs Sent to Singapore Greek Plight Is Uncertain

In reply to continued rumors that Japan is mustering land and naval forces for an early blow at England's empire in the Orient, thousands of famed Australian Anzac troops, singing "Roll Out the Barrel," were rushed to Singapore by British naval convoys yesterday to fortify strategic points on the Malay Peninsula.

Dutch officials in Java prophesy that two Japanese battle fleets, reputedly being organized in the Gulf of Siam, will strike at Singapore and the Dutch East Indies in "the very near future."

Approximately 90,000 Japanese troops are now stationed on Hainan and Formosa islands, according to reliable reports, and all American and British citizens in the Malay region are being urged to leave.

SENATE DEBATES BILL

Republican leaders in the senate vigorously criticized Wendell L. Willkie for supporting the lend-lease bill yesterday, as the senate completed its third day of debate on the British-aid measure.

Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, and Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Republican, were among opposition leaders.

Word of the possible German invasion followed the British warning that further action was necessary if Greece does not seek an early peace with Italy-Italian terms. Athens officials announced, in the meantime, that Greece would reject any Axis promulgated peace.

The recent non-aggression pact between Turkey and Bulgaria shattered the last barrier to movement of German troops into Bulgaria, and the official Turkish statement explaining that Turkey is under no obligation to Greece has removed the possibility of Turkish entanglement in Balkans.

TO GERMANY — COLLECT

An official German radio appeal to accept collect radiograms from the United States has resulted in a large number of German messages, R.C.A. announced today.

The radiograms are supposed to inform German broadcasters of type of short wave broadcast Americans want to hear from Reich.

The New York office of R.C.A. reports that New Yorkers hastened to answer the appeal with a multitude of 25-watt direct criticisms of German and of Germany.

Snow Limits Attendance At Concert

Casadesus Plays Bach, Chopin, And Debussy

An audience of only 1000, including less than 600 students, braved wind, snow and cold Tuesday night to hear Robert Casadesus, noted French pianist, present a concert in college auditorium.

Casadesus included compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin and Debussy on his program. Although small, the audience was enthusiastic, demanding four encores from the artist.

OPENS PROGRAM WITH BACH

The first part of the program included two compositions, the Italian Concerto of Bach and Beethoven's Thirty-two Variations in C Minor. The Bach concerto is divided into three movements, while the variations of Beethoven were played without interruption.

Casadesus opened the second portion of the concert with the most famous of the Chopin sonatas, the B minor, Opus 58. The four-movement work demanded a variety of technique seldom required by any single piano work.

Audience reaction was particularly favorable to the six Debussy preludes which concluded the performance. The compositions of the French impressionist provided contrast to the more formal works of the earlier composers included on the concert program.

CONCLUDES WITH DEBUSSY

The Debussy compositions included three from each of the two "books" for piano, which the composer had published in 1910 and 1913.

Hughes Will Speak At Chem Banquet

SAM STREET HUGHES

Municipal Judge Sam Street Hughes, who was virtually assured of being Lansing's next mayor when he polled 61 per cent of the votes cast at a special mayoral primary election Monday, has accepted an invitation to speak at the sixth annual Chem Booster banquet, it was announced yesterday by Robert Knaup, East Lansing senior and general chairman.

Sponsored jointly by Alpha Chi Sigma, national professional chemistry fraternity, and M. S. C. chemistry department, the banquet will be held Tuesday in the Union ballroom. The purpose of this annual affair, it was stated, is to bring together all chemistry majors, chemical engineers, and others interested in subjects dealing with chemistry for an evening of entertainment and shop talk.

Alpha Chi Sigma pledges will present a short skit during the evening and additional entertainment is being planned by the banquet committee consisting of Robert Knaup, general chairman; Jerry Wiley, senior from Mancelona; Robert Smith, Middleville senior; John VanHouten, senior from Grand Rapids; and Herbert Chapman, Holland (Mich.) senior.

CLINICS

those who have had these courses.

TO STRESS INTERVIEWS

Points to be stressed at the clinics include determining openings in a particular field, writing of the letter of application seeking an interview, the interview itself, and the follow-up of the interview.

Last year's clinic, first of its kind at Michigan State, consisted of actual interviews between employers and applicants on the stage of Fairchild theater. Employment managers from the Olds Motor Works, Michigan Bell Telephone company, and J. C. Penney company conducted the clinic, interviewing four college seniors for positions in their organizations.

GIVEN TO COUNCIL

Green Helmet's action in relinquishing the project to Student council came after the organization's decision to limit its activities primarily to freshman aid and orientation.

Since the job application clinics are designed to aid seniors and upperclassmen, it was thought that Student council could better handle the project.

Falk Will Play At Dorm Prom

Mike Falk and his 11-piece band from Detroit have been signed to play at the first combined formal party of women's dormitories set for March 1 in the auditorium. Clara Thompson, general chairman, announced yesterday.

Falk, who has made several previous appearances in the vicinity of East Lansing, has both a man and woman vocalist with his band.

Tickets for the party are now on sale in all women's dormitories from social chairmen. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold in each residence hall.

Arrangements for the dance are progressing rapidly, Miss Thompson said. Working with Miss Thompson on the general committee are Betty Meakin, Hester Myers, and Marjory Guldorf.

Skinner Talk Is Best Attended Of Fall Series

Figures released recently by S. E. Crowe, chairman of the lecture series committee, and C. O. Wilkins, college treasurer, show that attendance for the five fall term entertainment numbers averaged 3,737, with average student attendance at 2,150.

Some performances drew audiences exceeding the 4,570 seating capacity of the auditorium, combined figures for both lecture and concert programs reveal. The Cornelia Otis Skinner lecture set the record with an attendance of 4,987, while Lily Pons' performance was a close second with 4,764 attending.

An audience of 4,366 saw the Graff Ballet to make it the next most popular feature. Average crowds were present at the H. R. Knickerbocker and General Hugh Johnson lectures.

Miss Pons' concert brought out a record student attendance, but general attendance was greater at Miss Skinner's performance. In addition to students' books, 1,455 season tickets have been sold and the largest sales of general admission tickets were made at the Pons and Johnson appearances.

Crowe revealed.

This term, Charles F. Kettering spoke to 3,474 and Leon Torrou to 2,573 students, faculty and townspeople.

Three more lectures remain on the term schedule and will include John Mason Brown, Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, and the play, "Life With Father."

Survey Shows Collegians Hope to Have Normal Lives in Spite of Draft, War

AUSTIN, Texas—"What does the future hold for me?" That is one question that many a college youth, faced with an upset world, is asking himself today. Is the collegian giving thought to the time when he leaves the campus—how soon would he like to be married, what is his life work to be?

Because of the uncertainty brought by the war, these are questions of importance especially to those on the threshold of adult life. To discover what students of the nation are thinking about their future, Student Opinion Surveys of America, of which the State News is a member, has held interviews over a cross section of colleges and universities. The results:

1. Nearly two-thirds of the men and women now in college hope to be married within three years after they leave school.

2. Many college women—about four out of every ten—want to teach, at least for a short while.

3. Almost half of the men are planning to do engineering work, to teach, or to go into private business.

Comparatively little pessimism was manifested upon the campuses over the country. Practically all students are proceeding with their preparations for a normal life. But this is not to say that collegians are not aware of the changes going on about them. Other surveys have pointed out that students are keenly interested in the European troubles, and in keeping this nation out of them.

National defense, however, has had its effect. Some three per cent of the men say that they want to go into aviation. Projected against enrollment figures, that would mean that colleges today contain some 20,000 air-minded young people.

Others of the most popular professions among men are journalism, law medicine, chemistry, accountancy, and salesmanship.

Among women, selected as the ten top choices were: marriage, journalism, secretarial work, nursing, social service, drama, fashioning.

Miss Opal Laen, president of the city PanHellenic council, and Mrs. Charles Barr, vice-president, will pour. Miss Frances Reis and Miss Evelyn Mansfield, faculty advisers to PanHellenic council, Pat McKiddy, president, and Marian Phelps, vice-president, will be in the receiving line.

Matmen Prepare for Kent After Losing to Oklahoma

Merrill Drops First Collegiate Bout

Coach Fenley Collins and his travel-weary wrestlers arrived here late this morning, a little disappointed in their 20-5 loss to Oklahoma A. and M. Tuesday, but soon were drawing up battle lines for Kent State in Jenison fieldhouse Saturday evening.

The wrestling meet will precede Coach Brick Burban's boxers' home debut against Bucknell, with the first bout starting at 7:30.

(Special to the State News)

STILLWATER, Okla., Feb. 19.—Oklahoma A. and M., perennial national collegiate wrestling champions, maintained their perfect season by handing Michigan State its first defeat in eight starts, 20-5, here Tuesday night.

Although the Sooners won five decisions, garnered one fall, and were awarded the 155 pound match by default, the Spartans were outpointed in each bout only by a narrow margin.

The national champions' only pin came when Buddy Arndt, Tulsa Central senior, threw a former high school teammate, Bill Maxwell, in 8:10.

The only one-sided pairing of the evening came when State's 175 pounder, Co-Capt. Charlie Nelson from Ponca City, rushed Leon McKenzie to pin him in 1 minute 10 seconds.

At Whitehurst, national collegiate 136 pound king and undefeated in collegiate competition, was extended to hand State's junior Leland Merrill his first loss as a college wrestler, by a 3-2 count.

The touring Spartans, in action the third time within five days, ran into unexpected trouble when the Jennings twins dropped the two opening contests.

Cal Melhorn started off by keeping "Cut" Jennings tied up to win 4-1, and then Sidney Marks, a former Spartan freshman, outmaneuvered "Bo," 3-1.

In the 165 pound clash, State's Dave Plets could not move Virgil Smith while staying out of serious trouble, and lost a 3-0 decision.

The heavyweight contest proved to be a surprise when sophomore Mike Dendripos stayed all the way with Lloyd Arms, holding the Aggie griddle to a 3-0 win.

Tankers Leave On Two Meet Jaunt Today

Twelve Michigan State swimmers leave this afternoon on the first leg of a two-meet trip to the University of Cincinnati Friday night and the University of Kentucky Saturday.

State's record against the Ohio school in the past 12 years has been nine wins and three losses. A year ago the Spartans turned back the Bearcats 58-15 while in 1939 Cincinnati finished on top, 42-33.

The meet against Kentucky will mark the first tank competition between the two schools.

Two Saginaw boys, Ralph Nelson, sophomore, and Jimmie Thomas, freshman, stole the show in the varsity 49-25 victory over the freshmen. Newton established a new varsity record in the 100 yard free style, swimming the distance in 55.5 to better Dale Hanson's old mark of 55.6 set in 1940.

Polo Match To Close Out 12-Year Tie

Culver Will Meet Spartans Second Time This Year

Culver Military academy's crack black horse polo team and the Spartan varsity will clash Saturday evening in demonstration hall in the feature game of the home season here.

The strong Flint Eagles, Michigan state amateur polo champions, will face the Ivory Rangers of Detroit. The first game will start at 7:30 p. m.

The Spartans have met the academy team twice a season since 1928, with each squad winning half the matches. Culver has won eight matches this season and has been defeated only by Michigan State earlier in the season.

Capt. Gerald Peterson's team has won six matches and been beaten once by the Ivory Rangers, 23-4.

Riding for the Spartans will be Capt. Fred Gibson, Northville Junior, Norman Spatz, Saginaw Junior, and Ed Chazey, Chicago Junior.

The Ivory Rangers will be led by 16 year old Jack Ivory and Volney Bailey, one of the highest scoring polo players in the Midwest.

The Flint Eagles made their last exhibition here last week when they took the varsity by a score of 15-7. Brothers Bert and Don Beveridge will lead the squad when they appear here Saturday.

Fencers to Enter Detroit Matches After First Win

Encouraged by their first victory of the season at Case last Saturday, Spartan fencers will compete in the State Junior fencing championships at Detroit Saturday.

Entered for State will be 60s Captains Bob Thalken and George Willis for the varsity and Bill Hammond, police administration senior, the second ranking fencer in the Midwest last year, who will compete unattached.

Co-Capt. George Willis led the State fencers to their first victory of the season, a 16-5-5 decision over Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland Saturday, when he won two foil bouts and three epee starts.

Bob Thalken followed Willis with three victories and a tie in epee which scored by a point.

Lyle Burdy was undefeated in two foil bouts while Leonard Herscher, Albert Booth, and Milton Branch each added a sabre victory to State's score.

Loren Tokey in epee, and Armand Marinard in foil also won one bout apiece for State.

The Spartans are scheduled to cross swords with the University of Wisconsin on Feb. 28th in the Jenison gymnasium, in the first home meet to be held in the new quarters.

Ten Teams End Dorm Season

With the 1941 dormitory basketball season on its last legs, 10 teams saw action for the final time in games Tuesday night.

In the top notch game, of the evening Coach Les VonEberstein and his "Mason 6" aggregation dropped a stubborn Wells C outfit, 20-16.

It was the offensive work of Bob Vroman that led the Masonites to their fourth triumph in five starts. Vroman racked up 8 points.

Coach Russ Gustke and his Abbot 11 quintet prevailed over a hard playing Abbot 17 five. Don Pedgineo took scoring honors with 12 points.

Behind the scoring efforts of Johnny Griffin who banged in 12 points, Coach Harry Chandler, and his Mason 3 outfit rang down the curtain on a winning season with a convincing 26-9 triumph over Abbot 15.

A powerful Wells F quintet had things just about their own way in trouncing Abbot 16, 30-6. Martin Lorenz, shifty Wells forward, took top scoring honors for the evening tallying 16 points.

Mason 2 won over Wells A via the forfeit route, 2-0.

State's freshman basketballers rang up their third straight victory of the week as they outlasted the DZVs, 30-28, Wednesday afternoon. Tuesday they ran away with the Evergreen Manor, 40-28.

Trackmen to Make Home Debut Against Marquette

Followers of Michigan State's track team will get their first look at Karl Ehlademan's 1941 edition Friday night as the Spartans open the home indoor track season against Marquette university in Jenison fieldhouse. Starting time is slated for 8 p. m.

Conrad M. Jennings, Avalanche coach and athletic director, who has been developing winning teams at Marquette for 20 years, will bring with him many of the stars that won both C.C.C. championships last year.

Although he has turned over his coaching to Melvin "Buster" Shimek, one-time national collegiate two-mile champion for the Hilltoppers.

Shimek has developed two veteran distance men who promise to cause trouble for the Spartans. Ely Francis, slender two-miler, will trot out against Al Mangan, an improved runner for the Hilltoppers.

The mile battle will pit the Hilltoppers' veteran Dick Wickersham against sophomore Ralph Monroe.

STRONG IN DASHES
Marquette is particularly strong in the hurdles and dashes, where it swept the Spartans last year. Schladerman will counter with sophomore Dale Kautitz against Art Schwope and George Foster in the low hurdles and also send Kautitz against Don Volberg, Marquette star end, in the quarter mile.

In the sprints, the Avalanche veterans, Howard Miller and Walter Shelton, will match strides with sophomores Bob McCarthy and George Doran.

State's stoutest hopes lie in the arms of two ailing stars. Capt. Walter Arrington will be taken out of temporary retirement, and big Lew Smiley, who injured his leg against the Marquette gridgers last fall, will make his first start of the season.

The vaulting pit is slated to see heavy action as the Spartan men will send five men led by sophomore Ted Worch against Harvey Rucwald, speedy Marquette footballer, and Ralph Gelhar.
