Music Has Charm

A short solo while directing music practice last night proved especially profitable to W. B. Kimmel. Showing his proteges that it should be done, the director, leaning out with his version of "Down by the River, Oh Lord," sang for 1 am poor and weary.

The imitation turned out to be highly effective for a sudden shower of pennies descended upon him from the tenor section. Nothing daunted, Kimmel picked up every one of the coppers and, remarking that it was the first time in a long while that he had received money for singing, declared they were just what he needed to pay his income tax.

Retort Supreme

Beta Alpha Sigma, art honor society members, put up a sign on exhibits near the Union cafeteria this week that caused comment by meticulous spellers. It had the word "Sponsored" on it. "It's too bad college students can't spell," one passerby said. Sec. J. A. Hannah.

In reply, the artists merely quote motto which they use to practice lettering with. The motto is: "I repeatedly said that artists can't spell. Why should they? Good spellers can draw."

Miss In the Dark?

Larry Hardy, East Lansing junior, and Betty Corbushley, Lansing senior, were a slightly red-faced pair yesterday when they stepped from the elevator of Ag hall.

During the ride down from third floor, Hardy leaned his elbow on Betty's shoulder. One passenger interpreted this as a sign of endearment, for the nudged the elevator operator and said, "Turn off the light."

The operator did and for the rest of the trip the cab was dark.

When the elevator stopped at first floor, the pair walked out, Hardy mopping his face with his sleeve. The rest of the passengers still think he was just acting.

No Flowers?

In spite of Student Council's ban on flowers at formal dances, Senior Ball committee members report that there will be flowers at the party.

When Student Council President Groening announced yesterday that the ban would be enforced, Senior Ball committee members said that there will be flowers at the dance. Decorations call for 100 flowers in the backdrop on stage.

Honorary to Print Activity Calendar

Deadline for turning in organization activity plans to be printed in the Tower Guard spring term calendar is Saturday noon, states Shirley Freeman, Liberal Arts sophomore from East Lansing, president of Tower Guard. Reports may be left at the Union desk.

The spring activities calendar will contain all dates and places new scheduled for college dances, Union Board dances, lectures, concerts, intramural and varsity sports, and other organization activities.

Feeling the need of eliminating the date conflicts between campus groups, Tower Guard members pioneered winter term with the first all-college activity calendar. Their goal is to continually improve the calendar through increased cooperation from organization heads.

ISA Men Resolve To Comply With Election Rules

Student council election rules will henceforth be binding as far as Independent Students' association is concerned.

Acting to prevent evasion of regulations by ISA members, the Independent council Tuesday night passed a resolution providing for expulsion from the organization of any member violating the rules set up by Student council and college administration.

Text of the resolution, which was passed unanimously, reads: "The ISA council shall abide by the election rules as set forth by the Student council of Michigan State college both in letter and spirit, and any ISA member who shall fail to abide by such election rules shall be removed from the ISA membership lists as provided in the ISA constitution and by-laws."

Commenting on the resolution, Organization Chairman Bill Bonner said yesterday, "This action leaves the issue squarely up to the bloc and the IFC. We have shown that we will obey the rules and it will be seen what they do."

Reger Wins Ag Position On Council

433 Students Vote In Special Election Called by Petition

Max Reger will take the Ag position on Student council next fall instead of Robert Gay, it was decided in a reversal of the Ag division vote Tuesday in the third election for the post. The totals gave Reger, Parkersburg, W. Va., junior, 228 votes to 188 for Gay, a junior from Rockwood.

Gay previously had gained a 165 to 153 margin over Reger, and the special election was run off on Reger's petition.

The special election drew 433 voters, approximately 72 per cent of the division's 597 students.

11 LOSE VOTES

The intensity of the battle apparently drew this number of voters, extremely large in view of the 33 per cent of eligible students who voted in final elections last week, election officials said.

Only 17 lost their vote in Tuesday's election as compared with 60 who voted incorrectly on the previous ballot, it was announced by Richard Groening, Student council president. Printed instructions were placed in the voting booth.

MEMBERS TO ATTEND MEETS

New members of the council will be required to attend a series of meetings of instruction on parliamentary procedure sponsored by Blue Key early next term, according to Groening. Under constitution rules the winning candidates are also to attend meetings of the council spring term to get an insight into its workings. Charles Chamberlain, Caledonia senior, in charge of the program for Blue Key and attendance will be open to the student body, it was announced.

AWS to Send Three To National Convo

Associated Women students' organization of Michigan State college will send three delegates to the national convention of the Intercollegiate association of women students to be held at Lubbock, Texas, Marjorie Baldwin, president, announced yesterday.

Juana Christensen, incoming president of the local group, Margaret Jensen, incoming vice-president, and Marjorie Baldwin, outgoing president will attend, it was announced at AWS meeting Tuesday night.

The delegates will leave Sunday, March 30, and arrive in Texas April 1st. The convention will be in session April 2, 3, and 4. The theme has been announced to be "Building New Frontiers."

Convo Draws Four

Future Marriages Can Benefit From Lecture Course

Students with matrimonial intent who wish to gain further knowledge on marriage will benefit from the marriage lecture course to be offered spring term, according to Kathryn Freeman, chairman.

Although the course is held for the benefit of seniors, underclassmen may apply if they send a note listing a special reason. To Miss Freeman at 548 M.A.C. avenue, by Saturday.

Tickets for seniors will be placed during spring registration. The annual course is sponsored by Mortar Board and Excalibur. The sessions will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings at 7:15 beginning April 7 and running through April 24.

The committee in charge of the project consists of Starr Keesler of Excalibur, Marie Gorte, president of Mortar Board, and Miss Freeman.

Davis Says U.S. Labor Needs A Strong Guide

The only answer to the labor problem in defense production is a strong, central, coordinated ruling body which would have the power of compulsory arbitration and voluntary acceptance of its decisions.

This is the opinion expressed by J. C. Davis, assistant professor of economics and technical adviser on labor for the Michigan defense advisory council, last night in the last of a five-lecture series on "The U. S. and the War." Davis spoke on "Labor and Wartime" before an audience of 125 in the music auditorium.

Labor peace during the war-time that seems inevitable rests on the quick establishment of such a supreme labor-ruling body, Davis declared, since a body of this type needs a great deal of experience before it can function smoothly. The body he suggests will eventually be formed Davis thinks, but he is afraid that "it will come too late."

There is no simple answer to the problem such as many people propose, Davis asserted, because of its inherent complexity. The prohibition of strikes would be illegal because of the 13th Amendment, which forbids involuntary servitude, he stated. And in places where it has been tried, it does not stop strikes, he said.

The situation is more serious today than it was in the first war, Davis stated, because of several factors. Whereas only 2,500,000 workers were organized in 1917, a total of almost 9,000,000 are now on the union rolls, he points out.

These enrollees are largely new to the unions, unions have not had very much experience in conciliation work, and unions are now many and varied as compared to the single unit faced in the World War, Davis believes.

The English have made one mistake in their treatment of the labor problem, Davis feels, in that they have left wage rates to negotiation of employers and employees. This could lead to disaster, and a government control set-up would prevent a great deal of friction, in Davis' opinion.

Matrix Elects New Officers

Clarice Carr, Lansing journalism junior, will serve as president of Matrix, women's journalism honorary, for the coming year as the result of elections held Tuesday afternoon.

Elected as vice-president was Betty Crum, Lansing Liberal Arts junior. Carolyn Tunstall, Liberal Arts junior from Detroit, will serve as secretary, and Charlotte Whitten, Ionia Liberal Arts junior, will act as treasurer.

Plans for the first annual high school publications conference to be sponsored by Matrix on April 5 are progressing rapidly, according to Bettyann Geasley, this year's president. Thirty schools in the vicinity of East Lansing have been invited to attend the conference.

Friday at 1:45 p. m. through the month of April a series of four Matrix broadcasts over WKAR on women in journalism today will be aired.

Home Ecs Discuss Plans for Tea

Plans for a joint tea to be held between the freshmen students and the freshmen Home Economics instructors on April 9 are being discussed by freshmen board, Peggy Herth, Lois Hotte, Joana Vidrow, Pat Parmelee, Katherine Switzer, and Joan Pomeroy are working on the committee for the tea.

This work was composed by Gomer L. Jones of the music faculty and dedicated to Lewis Richards, late head of the music department. The B-flat concerto of Beethoven will mark the debut of Frank Mannheim, pianist and associate professor of music, as soloist with the orchestra.

Jones, Welsh-born composer and musician who has been with the music department since 1938, based "De Profundis" on a Bach chorale which was a favorite composition of Professor Richards. The composition is divided into three variations, with choral background, provided by the college a cappella choir, included in the work. The composer has requested that there be no applause.

MANHHEIMER TO SOLO

The B-flat concerto of Beethoven, with Mannheim as soloist, is the first of that composer's works in the concerto form, although it was not published until after a later concerto written by him, and is therefore numbered as his second. Mannheim, who came here this year to head the piano faculty of the music department, has appeared in concerts both in this country and abroad, although tonight's concert will be his first under college auspices here.

Beethoven will also be represented on the concert by his "Overture to Coriolan" as well as the "B-flat Concerto." The overture, in Beethoven's "tragic key" of C minor, will open the concert.

Honoring the Finnish composer, Jean Sibelius, whose 55th birthday is being celebrated by the musical world this year, the orchestra will play that composer's famous tone-poem "Finlandia," as the final number on the program. Also included in the second portion of the concert will be "Pelleas and Melisande," a two-movement romantic suite by Gabriel Faure, and the "Eighth Slavonic Dance" of Dvorak.

JONES HAS PEN NAME

Gomer Jones, composer of "De Profundis," writes under the pen name of "Llewellyn Gomer," adopted while he still lived in Wales to avoid confusion with other Gomer Jones, of whom there are several in Wales. Jones has also composed two other works to be given performance here in the near future.

Under the Wire

WASHINGTON, March 12—Labor department officials were busy yesterday dispatching trouble shooters to new strike scenes. An unprecedented outbreak of disputes has in several places halted work on huge defense orders. A double-barreled volley was fired by the C.I.O. as President Philip Murray's demand for a 10 cent per hour wage raise in the steel industry followed close on the heels of United Mine Workers Pres. John L. Lewis' insistence on new contracts for 4,500 mine workers. The greatest defense tie-up in history is predicted if the demands are not met by the end of the month.

BELGRADE, March 12—New pressure was brought to bear on Yugoslavia today as 60,000 Italian troops massed on Albania's northern border. Despite the menace from two sides, Yugoslavians government leaders still are expected to refuse to join the Axis. Desire for U. S. friendship is given as the reason for their holding out for a mere non-attachment pact.

BERLIN, March 12—German army plans reportedly call for the first assault on England in April or early May, before the lease-lend has time to aid the British. It is said that Nazi maneuvers in the Balkans are for the sole purpose of closing the German back door to attack by England.

WASHINGTON, March 12—Twelve thousand modern bombers and 24 over-age ships, 74 of them destroyers, as well as pursuit planes are to be sent to Britain under the $7,000,000,000 grant asked of Congress by President Roosevelt, aviation and naval experts said today.

NEW YORK, March 12—Striking New York bus drivers will talk over a possible settlement with their union representatives Thursday night as history's greatest transportation strike appears near an end.

WASHINGTON, March 12—Pat Harrison, chairman of the Senate finance committee, warned today that new taxes on corporations, individuals, and countries will soon be forthcoming to pay for the $35,000,000,000 being spent on national defense and aid to Britain. A general agreement is expected to allow taxation of federal, state, and municipal securities.

Liberal Arts Is Only Uncrowded Division

This is the sixth and last in a series of articles concerning the history, purpose, and activities of the college's six divisions.

By KEN KUHN

Last, but far from least. This is the story of the college's youngest division, Liberal Arts.

It was a two-fold demand that culminated in the establishment of this division in 1924," according to present Dean L. C. Emmons, who succeeded E. H. Ryder in 1934, first dean of Liberal Arts. "In the first place, there was a demand from the student body for a satisfactory general cultural course. Second was the demand of the faculty to be able to teach more advanced courses consistent with their specialized training."

The incorporation of these demands into a single division of instruction was a unique. The uniqueness lies in the fact that Michigan State college is one of the few institutions in the country that has a separate Liberal Arts division. Most schools combine their courses in the sciences with those in the arts into a single division, but such is not the case here.

If Liberal Arts should be combined with Applied Science, M. S. C. would have one of the 12 largest arts and sciences divisions in the country, the dean stated.

AIMS ARE TWO-FOLD

"Concerned almost solely with cultural work," the basic aims of the Liberal Arts division have always been two-fold, to render service to the technical divisions of the college by offering cultural and semi-applied courses which are basic to any college curriculum, and to blend together the work of the various departments with a few technical courses to constitute a general education plus sufficient specialization to enable the earning of a living," Dean Emmons explained.

Toward the achievement of these aims, a curriculum has been devised which is divided into five courses employing the second largest staff of the college, 202 members who do 47 per cent of the teaching in this institution, and 12 departments of instruction.

A Liberal Arts course is offered in which the student may pursue a very elastic curriculum with a wide range of choice of specific subjects and which offers 16 subjects in which the student may select his major. There are, however, a sufficient number of requirements to insure that the student will become familiar with several fields of knowledge in the first two years. It is this course that draws the largest division enrollment, which has 1,200 this fall term.

Inaugurated but three years ago, a course in public administration offers work along two general lines. General public administration is designed for the student who intends to take a major in the course in preparation for a position in state or government service, for those already employed in government service who desire further academic training, and for those qualified students who are majoring in specific vocational fields that plan to enter government service. Public welfare administration is offered for students interested in professional training in social work in the public field.

A broad college education in preparation for entry into some field of industry, commerce, or finance. Through the combination of the cultural elements of the liberal arts course with business administration, an effort is made to acquaint the student with the theories and practice of modern business and to develop a general understanding of the social approach to business. Last fall term saw 600, the second largest division enrollment in this course.

IS ALMOST UNIQUE

Approximately 200 students are following one of the most unique courses in the country as they study the hotel administration course. M. S. C. is one of the two institutions in the country that offer four years' training along this line. Offered to meet a special demand for personnel adequately trained in present-day hotel methods, the curriculum aims to give the student fundamental training in the basic sciences underlying successful hotel operation, as well as courses in the technique of hotel management. The course is endorsed by the American Hotel association.

The fifth course in the Liberal Arts division is the music curricula which is divided into two parts. Public school music courses are designed for the student planning to teach or supervise music. Applied music takes in students who wish to major in any one of six branches of personal music training. Music attracted about 150 students this fall term.

A very elastic curriculum is characteristic of all courses within the division of Liberal Arts, Dean Emmons explained. "We hold the student to about 35 per cent fixed requirements with only about 20 per cent of the work taken outside the division. I believe this division is unique in this respect since we have continually offered most of the student's electives in the division and required most of the work to be taken within this division. Most other institutions have swung far away from this policy, but the trend now is back in this direction."

"This fall's enrollment of 2,192 students in Liberal Arts makes it twice as large as any other in the college," the dean revealed. "See DIVISION—Page 3"

Both Letter And Spirit

Even the puniest member of one of the freshman phys ed classes ought to be able to knock Student Council down with a feather today.

It wouldn't even take a healthy swing, for that legislative body is still weak from an unhealed of happening. Almost unique in the election annals of the college, a political group has, of its own accord, voted to cooperate with the council in enforcing election rules.

The reference is to the L.S.A., which at its council meeting Tuesday night resolved to abide "Both in letter and spirit" by student council rules. The group put teeth into its action by the provision that members violating rules will be ousted from the L.S.A.

This laudable move should serve as a dash of cold water in the face of the council, which has for two years been made a laughing stock by flagrant violation of the rules it sets up.

If Student Council cannot or will not enforce its rules it must have help. The L.S.A. has shown its good faith and willingness to make student government work. If other political groups are not willing to abide by the same rules it is time that the council acted, and public opinion should demand that the regulations passed by the governing student body of Michigan State college be carried out to the letter.

Turnabout Marking

Ever wonder what the "prof" thinks of you when he looks out over the class at the bright, blank morning faces?

It's a safe bet that he doesn't know just what to think. At least he doesn't until he end of the term when he gets to be able to tell whether that pained expression comes from being awakened by the lecture or from the beginnings of an idea.

On the other hand what do you think of the "prof"? You may have expressed your opinion vociferously to friends and even casual acquaintances, but he doesn't know. An instructor can only judge how he is getting his personality across from the "brownies," who, goodness knows, are no fair criterion of anything.

Applied Science council this week is circulating questionnaires designed to rate instructors. The students in that division can do a lot for themselves and for the classes in Applied Science by filling out their rating sheets fairly and carefully, not with prejudice and bias.

The State News hopes that the rating sheet idea may soon be tried out in the other divisions of the college. It should be a boon to both instructors and classes.

Parade of Opinion

By Associated Collegiate Press
What Other College Students
Think on Timely Topics

THE QUESTION OF FRANCE

Effectiveness of General Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces in aiding the British in their African successes, continued rumblings from Vichy and Paris, and the growing belief in well-informed circles that Marshal Petain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler are heading for a showdown, have served to focus attention once more on the situation in which conquered France finds herself. Undergraduate students of foreign affairs in the United States feel that France's role is still destined to be important, despite the fact that Petain's regime has virtually no alternative to complete collaboration with the conquerors.

DOESN'T RING TRUE

At Iowa State college, the Daily Student waxes skeptical in calling attention to Petain's recent assertion that France is a sovereign nation, vested with the duty of defending her soil, extinguishing divergences of opinion and reducing differences of the colonies. "According to the French official," continues the Student, "an agreement was made for the two countries (France and Germany) to collaborate in rebuilding a crippled France. Hitler 'forced' no one to dictate; no pressure," Petain said. Maybe so," observes the Iowa publication, "but somehow it just doesn't ring true. The stigma of Hitler's propagandistic methods seems to taint Petain's every word. . . . That Hitler won't shape the rebuilding of France as he wants it."

WAR WOULD CAUSE BREAK

The University Daily Kansan joins in the view that "the French government, totalitarian since its armistice with Germany, has little choice but to . . . the consequences of a war on Great Britain. . . . declaration of war on Great Britain. . . . action of war on its traditional ally would precipitate a breach of diplomatic contact with the United States and South American nations. . . . considers essential to European peace."

COLONIES CARRY WEIGHT

It is pointed out by the Cornell Daily Sun that France, unwillingly, or otherwise, lining up with the Axis powers, the question of her colonies has come back into the news. . . . is reported to have warned the Vichy government that further signs of military co-operation between Germany and France may result in this country seizing Martinique and French Guiana. But there are other elements in our affairs with France. . . . important, there is Dakar, in French West Africa, a port which an offended France might turn over to Germany.

IS THREAT TO U.S.

This base on the South Atlantic, some 1,800 miles from Brazil, in event of an Axis victory would be a serious menace to our security in this hemisphere. . . . It is, of course, out of the question for us to go over to Africa and occupy every "enemy" point of operations. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the president will have to consider the role of Dakar, in any decision which will determine future relations with France." Thus, while formal United States friendship for France continues, the consensus of collegiate editorial thought is that Germany will tighten its iron grip on France and that the prostrate Vichy government will be forced to assume a key role in Hitler's attempt at world revolution.

HENRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON—Behind the scenes, Henry Wallace played quite a part in the Mexican-U. S. agreement to work out joint plans for national defense.

It was Henry's job, during his trip to Mexico as vice-president-elect, to put across some quiet diplomacy with new President Avila Camacho aimed to smooth out all U. S.-Mexican problems. This he did, and became completely "simpatico" with high Mexican officials.

However, Henry also brought back a very worrisome picture of Nazi activity in Mexico.

Being a farm boy from Iowa, and somewhat about the Zimmermann affair during World War I when the German foreign office invited Mexico into an alliance against the United States, Henry went down to Mexico as an unbeliever as far as Nazi propaganda was concerned. But he came back, his skepticism gone.

The great mass of the Mexican people are sincere believers in friendship with the United States, Henry found. But a small minority, plentifully supplied with Nazi-Fascist cash, has been doing its best to poison friendly relations. In fact, there were some indications that the Nazis might even go to such lengths as outright sabotage or damage to the United States in such a way that Mexico would get the blame, thereby stirring up animosity between the countries.

U.S. Speeds Aid to Britain; Balkan Clash Holds Fire

The United States stepped into its role as producer of war materials for Great Britain exactly four minutes after President Roosevelt signed the lease-lend bill, HR 1776, Tuesday.

The House of Representatives—

lives approved all senate-legislated amendments by an overwhelming majority, 317 to 71, early in the afternoon, and the president affixed his signature at 3:51 p. m., putting the act into effect. Four minutes after signing the measure, Roosevelt ordered the immediate shipment of an undisclosed quantity of war material to Great Britain and Greece.

In the meantime White House sources announced that the president is prepared to ask congress for a $7,000,000,000 appropriation, largest peace-time expenditure in U. S. history, to finance the British aid program.

BALKANS AWAIT WAR

An open conflict in the Balkans between Axis powers and Great Britain seems inevitable in the face of recent military maneuvers.

British naval transports are reported to have landed troops from Britain's African army at Salonika, Greek port on the Aegean sea, yesterday, and Germany meanwhile continues to move its army toward both Greece and Turkey.

Turkey's entry into the war, reportedly to stop the German drive to the east, seems more probable now than at any time since the 15. at 2 p. m.

After the concert, tea will be served. Mrs. L. B. Sholl is general chairman of the meeting.

ENTOMOLOGY CLUB—

Franklin Sherman, of the entomology staff, will address Entomology club members on "Opportunities in Entomology" at the club meeting tonight at 7:30 in the entomology building.

The Vichy government, in a denunciation of England's refusal to relax the blockade, claimed the 90 per cent of the French population wanted England to win the war, but that "starvation" might alter their sentiments.

Final Exam for telephones

Putting a new telephone on one of its final tests. Over and over, it can repeat these odd sentences without the slightest variation. They contain all the fundamental sounds that contribute to the loudness of sound in our speech. This mouth can also make tests with simple tones of known pitch and intensity.

At the same time other telephones are being steamed, baked, frozen, lifted and dropped into their cradles by tireless machines. All this is part of a carefully planned curriculum that makes every piece of telephone equipment prove it is capable of giving you the best possible service—under any and all conditions.

Five Grapplers Seek Titles At Cleveland

Pletz Enters Interstate Tourney

By Bob Asley

With Dave Pletz included as a last-minute entry, a band of Michigan State wrestlers is slated to leave East Lansing this afternoon for Cleveland and the Interstate Wrestling tournament. The tourney opens at Case Institute with preliminary events tomorrow night and will continue through Saturday night.

The eleventh-hour addition of Pletz to the Spartan contingent originally scheduled to compete in the Cleveland tourney swells the State entry list to five representatives. Co-Capt. Hutson, Leland Merrill, Bill Maxwell and "Cut" Jennings had already been entered.

Pletz, like three other Collins-coached entrants, will weigh in for the tournament at different poundage than that at which he wrestled during the regular season. The lone East Lansing matman on the State squad won five dual meet matches this season as a 165-pounder, but for the tournament, he will tip the scales at 155 pounds.

From Cleveland comes word that the Spartans probably will be facing representatives from eight schools besides Case, Kent State and West Virginia. Rochester (N.Y.) Mechanics Institute, Alfred University, Findlay (Ohio) college, the University of Buffalo, Wayneburg (Pa.) Teachers, Baldwin-Wallace, Ohio university and Akron college are also likely to enter.

Despite the additional entrants, however, the Spartan grapple is still given an excellent chance of returning to East Lansing with at least three individual titles and possibly the team championship.

Junior Women Cop Bowling Crown

Amassing a total three-game tournament score of 1699, the team led by Mary Alice Work captured the Women's Athletic intraclass bowling championship Tuesday afternoon by outpointing the freshmen who were paced by Pat Stone, by 30 pins.

All women students participating in the tournament were required to have 10 practices before entering the intraclass competition. An uneven distribution of students representing the classes resulted in having the first five highest scores of each class tallied for results.

Tankers Face Two Hoosier Obstacles

End Dual Season On Road Against State Teachers

By JOHN ST. JOHN
 Coach "Jake" Daubert's Michigan State tank team will bring its 1941 dual meet schedule to a close with a three-day road trip this week-end, with meets against the University of Indiana at Bloomington tomorrow night and Indiana State Teachers' college at Terre Haute on Saturday.

In previous contests with the university, State split even in two meets. In 1939 the Daubertmen lost 53-18, but last year they downed the Hoosiers 44-31. Saturday's encounter with Indiana State will be the first on record between the two schools.

The university team, which placed but two points in the Big Ten championships Saturday, will bank heavily on the efforts of its backstroke and freestyle artist, Hank Benedetti, for a victory over the Spartans.

Monday the Spartans will begin workouts in preparation for the National Intercollegiate meet to be held here March 28-29.

State to Send Eight to Two Relay Meets

Eight men will represent Michigan State in two track meets Saturday and Sunday. The Spartans will take part in the annual relay meet at the University of Indiana at Bloomington tomorrow night and the Indiana State Teachers' college at Terre Haute on Sunday.

Coach Karl Schladehman will take five of his runners to Chicago to compete in the American relay and Assistant Coach Frank Dittman will drive the remainder of the group to Indianapolis, Ind., for the Butler Relays. Both groups will leave Friday.

Making the journey to Chicago will be Dale Kaulitz, Cleon Smith, Karl Mader, Danny Rosenbaum and Starr Kessler, all 440 men. From this list Schladehman will select a mile relay team to compete in the fifth mile relay at the open 440 dash.

Polevaulter Ted Worch and Bruce Dryman are slated for action in the Butler polevault. Bob McCarthy will run the 60 yard dash.

Greensmen Meet

Greenskeepers from all parts of the state will gather on the campus today for a two-day conference on golf course problems. Discussions will range from testing and fertilizing golf course soils to seeding fairways.

Spartan portlines

By Joe Simcik

Something new in the way of problems will be faced by Charlie Bachman when he trots out his gridders for spring drills the first week in April. For the first time in Charlie's coaching career many of his veteran lettermen will also go under numbers other than those included in the programs.

Spartan gridders to receive questionnaires from Uncle Sam's armed forces include Bill Kennedy, Bill Rupp, Frank Keras, Charles Carey, Walt Pawlowski, Ed Kipmawer, Vic Beardsell, Jack Fenlon, and Tony Arena.

With the status of these men in the hands of local draft boards, their service in Spartan molesters remains doubtful. Bachman's chief problem will be what to do with these men. While it is generally regarded by many coaches that football teams are built in spring practice, just how is a mentor to develop a team with a large number of key men in uncertain roles?

One method would be to leave all men tagged with questionnaires out of intensive team drills. But the problem arises, what to do with these men? Should valuable time be spent in coaching them? These are the thoughts of the coaching staff today. It is rather a strange lot for these men to be considered as outcasts, but their role in Michigan State football plans will have to be decided soon.

YOUNG

Michigan State is willing to meet any training camp teams in all risks as soon as they are developed.

Young pointed out that during World War I many college teams arranged regular schedules with the army, posts and that the relations were most satisfactory. While at Kalamazoo college, State's major domo helped dedicate Camp Custer's athletic program.

The two baseball games on the spring trip at Fort Benning, Ga., with an officers team will be the first contests with men in uniform, and brings out the eagerness of Michigan State to contribute to national defense plans.

Athletics have long been recognized as a vital cog in army training, both from the standpoint of physical fitness and from the recreational slant. Competition from service teams is usually of high order.

Michigan State's football team last fall rated as one of the best defensive eleven in the country, and now Ben Van Alstyne's eagerness can lay claim to being one of the best guarding fives in the nation.

Holding the high scoring Blackbirds of Long Island university to 26 and 23 points in dividing a pair of games is the best defensive play ever to be turned in against the high flying Blackbirds.

The Spartans also put the dam-

Boxers Alter Line-Up For Penn State

Bill Ryan, Green On State Roster For First Time

By AUSTIN BRENNEMAN
 Jinxed by recent injuries in the heavyweight and lightweight divisions, Coach Brick Burkhans is marshalling his forces to meet one of the east's top ranking boxing teams, Penn State, Saturday night in Jenison fieldhouse.

Glenn Menter will probably box in heavyweight spot because of the rib injury of Charles Clark. Capt. Joe Cestowski and Carl Thompson, regularly boxing in the 165 and 155 pound weights respectively, will move up one division.

Bill Ryan, scrappy Bessemer junior, is slated for the 155 slot despite his 140 pounds. Ryan's cut lip has healed and he appears to be ready to make his debut against one of Penn State's stars. The Nittany Lions are especially strong in the 155 and 175 pound weights.

Everett Davidson, regular 145 pound puncher, is out with an injured left arm, and his spot is to be filled by Maurice Green, sophomore newcomer, who has shown up well in recent bouts.

After a two weeks' layoff, Clyde Marshall is ready to box again in the flyweight slot, having caught up with his studies. The Jackson senior will take his old weight, replacing Ed Gunderson, who appeared against Wisconsin last week.

Poloists Gird For Kenyon

When the Spartan polo trio es against the strong Kenyon dege squad Saturday night in demonstration, Hall, the State men will be out for their fifth victory and a clean sweep over the Ohioans.

The Spartans faced Kenyon for the first time in 1937 and won both matches of the season. In the following season, the two teams split, and last year State again came out on the long end.

Kenyon last week defeated the Military academy who earlier in the season upset State by a 13-9 score. Riding for State will be Capt. Fred Gibson, Norm Spatz, and Ed Chazey.

In the second game of the evening, the Lansing Redwings will face the Flint Eagles. Game time for the varsity contest is 8 p. m.

All but seven of last year's 151 education graduates of Winona (Minn.) State Teachers college have obtained positions.
