Disappearing Act

· Have you noticed?

Or rather, haven't you noticed, Gradually it is becoming less easy to pick out the college auditorium and Jenison fieldhouse and gymnasium.

There was a time soon after they were finished, when it was hard it miss those massive structures from anywhere in the vicinity. They hit the eye like the many tons of bricks that are in them.

Offhand it wouldn't seem an easy task to disguise the two largest non-commercial buildings in the state, and it isn't. In fact, it is quite probable that whatever efforts are made. If will always be possible to detect traces of the buildings, even in the twilight.

But the lint is that the trees and shrubs which has been transplanted are having their effect. The buildings are beginning to blend into the leafy background of the cam-

It was a good idea after all Cymicism had its day for a time as students discussed the utility of the bandshell creeted by the class of 37. Some contended that, useful as it might be for occasional purposes, it would be more to the point if the band could get a change to play its spring

That was a problem which could only be left to the Weather man, who finally tired of chasing the musicians indoors and let them finish the season on the banks of the Cedar.

The a stience of 4,000 persons which attended? the final concert attests to the popularity with Michigan State students of such passive outdoor activities of a spring eve-

The size of the crowd also shows some thing esc. It is a tribute to the band, both to the musicians and their director, and to the selection of numbers. All types of selections were chosen by Director Leonard Fal cone, making it hard for anyone to complain that his favorite had been excluded.

The combination of Michigan State's fine band and the bondsholl, together with some leng-needed cooperation in the weather, made the 12th annual concert series truly a

By TOM GREENE AN INTERESTING METAPHYSICAL by the registrar's office that temporary identification cards issued at spring registration have been void since April 30, Apparently if your card had expired you are no longer you. If not, just who are you? With no identification it would appear that there is little chance for an individual in this organized society of today. He can't work in any defense industry, drive a car, or sell raspberries from door to door.

THE LEGISLATURE even had a bill before it when it closed up shop that would have practically required girls attending public dances to wear a birth certificate around their necks. They bore such slogans as "No A.E.F." and "Convoys Mean Coffins." If the anonymous, morticians, want their grave markers they can get them in the State News office. It seems that the man whose job it is to pick up paper about the campus decided that the crosses didn't add to the scenic beauty and picked them up too. Having heard rumors that the Communist party had been holding mass meetings hereabouts he presented the evidence to this office.

COMMENCEMENT JUNE 14

For four long years your friends among the graduating seniors have been on a merry-go-round seeking an education. Many have worked hard both in and out of school in order to receive their diploma on June 14.

Surely you wish to give them something in recognition of their achievement. Even a small gift to a "best" friend will be greatly appreciated.

During the next few weeks, the State News will carry Graduation Gift suggestions to fit every purse and every friend.

The Varsity club's recent an-nouncement of becoming an ac-tive organization must be taken seriously, if its inducting as honserieusly, if its inducting as hon-orary member of Frank Mitchell. Jectrical foreman of the building and the building and grounds department is any indication. For without a question of doubt, Mitchelt easily qualifies as the most rabid of Spartan fans. On top of that, he is a record breaker in his own right.

Mitchell began attending Aggle uports contests as a student in the fall of '97 and rarely has minued a game of any sort since then. In May, 1899, he became a regular employe of the steam

At the head of a fast field of dash men stands another local product, Hugh Davis, Lrasing central figer, who has turned in a 10 flat century for his chief effort. His record in the 220 stands at 22.6, and his leap of 22 feet 8½ inches rests within three inches of the frosh record. Phil Emmons of East-Lansing and Ray Hutches at Cary, Ind., have also registered creditable times in the sprints.

Standing alone in the Javelin is Leonard Labb, also from Lansing this toss of 170 feet 8 inches makes him a suize team member for next year's varsity field corps.
