Despite Congressional approval of a Women's Auxiliary Army corps and official announcement of the plan's details by President Roosevelt, many of Michigan State's women students still main stam, "It can't happen here," or, at least, "It won't affect college attendents."

A scattered survey of female opinion regarding the women's corps, which was approved last week and will begin operation in August, revealed a few bursts of enthusiaem, a great deal of non-chalance, as well as ignorance regarding the plan.

Limited to women over 21 years of age, the WAAC will begin recruiting in August and will take over such army jobs as aircraft appling, switchboard operation, and laboratory work.

ANYTHING FOR A STORY, I says, so I dropped out to the carnival back of the Gables the other night, just to let you dear readers know about the impact of the War on the Carnival. Sounds impressive, doesn't it? The exact amount of the sacrifice is naturally a military secret, but you know how it is: Take 10 cents or $10 to a carnival and you come back broke. Besides, the last time I pitched a baseball (in the seventh grade) I set an unofficial record for batters walked.

BUT TO GET to the point, the tires on the carnival trucks looked a bit smooth and it's a question whether they'll wear out before gas rationing sets in. What do you do with a carnival during a war? Personally, I sure hate to be stuck with a couple of pythons for the duration. Hmm, they are just about the right size for tires, PRIORITIES AND STUFF crop up all over, even in carnivals. Even the taffy is thinner this year-one-eighth inch as compared with estimates of one quarter inch last year. But you lose less of your teeth on the streamlined sweet.

THE REAL SOMETHING-NEW-HAS BEEN ADDED feature was the hammer game where you'try to ring the bell for a cigar. They have it marked not in prosaic numbers, but in 30-50-75 Japs, TOKIO, BERLIN!, and if you really hit it you smack Little Adolf right in the teeth. But

THE CARNIVAL people are interesting, too, One of the biggest hits is "Bröwnie" Rogers, 42 inches tall. He weighs 54 pounds with his Stetson and whin, but he can really crack the thing. He's 28 year's old and has been in the business since he was a little fellow, 8 years Believe it or not, but his wife is normai size, rather pretty, and they have a son 20 months old who is almost as tall as his dad right now.

SPACE AND A FEW other considerations forbid mention of the feature of the carnival you fellows are doubtless panting to hear about. (Like heck you are: you've been out there already.) Anyway. just as a closing tip, it's closed. A carnival man said the state police couldn't be "fixed" as easily as some they run into:

Coaches, Coaching, Politics

Profs. Charley Bachman, Ben Van Al styne, John Kobs, and Karl A. Schlademan should be mighty happy today.

Newly elevated to full professorships they should still be gloating over the courage and zeal shown by Student council last Wednesday. A new path has been blazed.

Hereafter, if precedent is established by their action in postponing elections, no one needs to be eligible. Bach can have the Michigan game postponed if one of his halfbacks flunks chemistry. Van can move un a trip east if one of the boys commits a scholastic foul.

A new era has dawned. Certainly if the politicos can openly flaunt the Student council constitution, the rulings of the college administration as published in the catalog of the college, as well as all previous prece dent, anyone else can, too.

Student council has shown initiative and drive that will go down history-and to think, it only took a little coaching from the bloc to do it.

Looks Better 'n Better

Addition of the recently announced Enlisted Reserve corps plan, together with other voluntary enlistment systems, has changed the percentages that students and prospective college-goers have to consider.

Directly after Pearl Harbor, confusion was the by-word. Men in college felt that the might just as well forget about further schooling and join some one of the armed

But time and careful consideration of potential manpower has evolved plans that have altered all that. The percentage of possibility of finishing one's college education has increased steadily.

It will pay every man at Michigan State to look into every opportunity offered, and it is almost his duty to explain the possibilities to brothers and friends at home where the various plans are not so well understood.

The nation urgently needs all the skilled hands and trained minds in the country.

U.S. Stresses Seriousness Of Shortage in Rubber

WASHINGTON, May 22 (TP)-War Production Chief Nelson and Rubber Coordinator Newhall disclosed today that the rubber situation in this country is far worse than the average citizen realizes, and asked that unwarranted optim- Mortar Boardism be stripped from national thinking for the duration.

Nelson told a news confer-₩ ence that rubber was "the AWS Chairmen most important single scarce commodity today," and painted a picture of the United States, commodity today," and painted a picture of the United States, with 90 per cent of the world's crude rubber supply now in Axis hands, being called on to supply her own military machine and that of Great Britain and Russia.

GAS RATIONING TO AID

Nationwide gas rationing was described by the two officials as one method of conserving rubber." Coordinator Newhall said that it was his personal opinion that no requisitioning of civilian tires was necessary, but added that some system of shifting nonessential passenger cars to war boom areas was a possible development. The matter of how and when a system of government-enforced tire conservation, through central of gas supply, should be set up was clearly left to Detense Transportation Director Eastman. Here's a little thing that will help a lot

It's a patriotic duty to help keep tele- and do not hold the line merely to talk phone lines clear so that important war messages will not be delayed. Even though your line may not be needed for war calls, a "traffic jam" of calls might tie up a central office, stopping emergency messages from getting through. And scarcity of war material makes it impossible for us to add to central office capacity as fully as we should like to do.

Keeping telephone conversations short will help. We suggest that you know beforehand what you want to say; speak distinctly so you won't have to repeat, of trivial things.
