... Gaggling for Good

Abbott and Costello, ace Hollywood comedians, have finally decided to come to Lansing to look over the situation, but their visit won't be funny business; that is, essentially. The screen duo is coming here to help Lansing theaters sell war bonds and stamps by their gags and quips. Their tour began at Salt Lake City July 22 and will bring them to Lansing next Tuesday.

... Surprise Package

Prof. Edward C. Prophet of the geography department was still reeling a little this week from the surprise his wife delivered him last Wednesday in the form of triplet daughters, but Mrs. Prophet and the babies were described as doing "very nicely."

However, Professor Prophet had recovered enough to get together with his wife and revise naming plans for the children. Though prepared for pairs, the couple was caught off guard by triplets and had to call them A, B, and C for awhile. Later they followed this motif in the middle names of the infants, calling them Kathleen Alice, Rosalind Beth, and Suzanne Carol.

... You Bring Lunch

The women of East Mary Mayo will be hostesses at a picnic on the dorm terrace Tuesday at 5 p. m. All off-campus women have been invited and are asked to bring their own lunches, but the dorm management will furnish the beverage. General chairman of the affair is Mary Jean Wood, and helping with arrangements is Kay Welch.

... Blondes in Demand

Gentlemen prefer blondes and to do precision instruments, the Office of War Information told coeds at Michigan State this week.

Blonde hair, if it has never undergone a permanent wave, can be used in precision instruments. Consequently, there is a market for it in an eastern war plant.

The hair must be 18 inches in length and of fine texture. If it proves satisfactory, it will be purchased. Or, if preferred, a medal will be given instead of cash, the cash being turned over to the Red Cross.

Health Center Gets 43,680 Calls In Year, Annual Report Shows

Total Persons Hospitalized Drops From 2,363 to 2,167 For School Year; 3.7 Days is Average Patient's Stay

By Norabelle Wilcox

An appendectomy every week would be phenomenal for most persons, but for Olin Memorial Health center, that is all in the year's work.

According to the Health center report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, prepared by Dr. C. F. Holland, director, this type of surgery heads the list in number of cases. The surgical cases totaled 146, as compared with 140 during the previous school year. Twelve of these were for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

The number of calls at the clinic dropped from 50,142 to

Scott Mixes Skits, Music In Concert

Late Arriving Crowd Is Entertained by His Versatility

College auditorium was the scene last night of a violent struggle in which Henry Scott attacked his piano with everything from his elbows to a grapefruit. Measuring the battle by the applause, the audience came out the winners.

Scheduled time for the program was moved ahead to avoid blackout complications, and many latecomers were surprised to find themselves entering in the middle of the concert.

Scott gave the traditional piano compositions of Liszt and Chopin their traditional performances, with the technique if not the affectations of a "great concert pianist" whom he presented

Enrollment Rate Is 'Four a Day'

Campus army enlisted reserve activity has slowed down to an average of about four enrollees a day, Sgt. Frank Sowers said yesterday. Sgt. Sowers, supervisor of the program on this campus, announced that 37 more men had been accepted since July 29.

Despite being "in the doldrums," the office will remain open throughout the summer, Sgt. Sowers said. The list of those accepted since July 29 follows:

Robert A. Mampel, Marvin L. Lyons, Virgil E. Anderson, Roy B. Church, Richard O. Speir, Wilbur R. Vincent, Robert J. Blett, Robert L. Ludwig, Charles M. Risch, David F. Coons, Dayton F. Secor, Harold J. Schuppach, Robert D. Bliss.

William E. Stephens, Donald J. Longstreet, Reed A. Near, James C. Shanks, Jr., Erwin S. Meade, Jr., Alben L. Beck, Charles E. Suttin, Jacob Jeltama, Joseph A. Reid, Robert P. Shimkus, Orville A. Smith, William N. Udell, William C. Vissing.

Richard E. Baker, Roland C. Van Valkenburgh, Thomas J. Kelly, William S. O'Brien, Dewey G. Doramus, Frank Sparks, Jr., Harry R. Cooley II, George G. Poulos, Raymond A. Kusewski, Jared E. Doran, Jr., Herbert C. Sibilsky.

43,680. The number of men examined was three times greater than the number of women examined, and the total number of examinations made showed an increase of about 33 percent over the previous year.

Free Movie Dates Transferred to Wednesday

Change to Accommodate Persons Who Travel Home Weekends

The second in the series of four Friday night post-season dances will be held in the Union at 9 p. m. tomorrow, while two movies have also been announced to complete second session entertainment.

The movies for this session have been scheduled for 7 and 9 p. m. on Wednesday nights instead of Saturday as formerly, to allow students to attend who are not here week-ends. Both showings are in Fairchild theater, the first Aug. 19 and the second Aug. 26.

Next week's picture is "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," with James Stewart starring, a Frank Capra production. The Aug. 26 film is "Foreign Correspondent," directed by Alfred Hitchcock, with Joel McCrea in the title role. Short subjects will be shown with both pictures.

Admittance to both movies and to the dance tomorrow is by fee receipt. Guests are admitted to the dance, according to Summer Session Director S. E. Crowe, but because of the size of the theater, only students and those holding summer session entertainment tickets will be admitted to the movies.

Econ Department Loses Two Men To Army, FBI

Motts to Be Inducted Today; Dickerson Leaves for FBI

Dr. H. S. Patton, head of the economics department, yesterday announced the loss of two staff members, one to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the other to the armed forces.

Doctor Patton said that M. B. Dickerson, instructor in economics, was to report in Washington Saturday for duties with the FBI, while G. N. Motts, assistant professor of agricultural economics, was to report at Camp Grant, Ill., for induction today.

Doctor Patton announced that Dickerson's place on the staff will be taken by Prof. Chester Egner who will come here from Elmhurst College (Illinois). Professor Egner has been completing his graduate work recently at University of Wisconsin.

Dickerson, an honor graduate of Michigan State college and an instructor for the last three years, has been working recently with Prof. E. A. Gee of the economics department, now on leave, in the audit division of the U. S. army ordnance at Flint.

Mott has been a member of the economics department since 1939. He was feted by other members of the staff Monday night at the home of Prof. C. S. Logsdon, and was presented with a leather-cased writing manual.

Traffic in East Lansing Stops for 30 Minutes

Light in Ag Building, Gas Jets in Home Ec and Bacteriology Found Burning, Mar Spotless MSC Record

East Lansing, along with large war production centers and thousands of small municipalities, blacked out Wednesday night in a great drama that veiled three midwestern states.

Although the hour of the blackout was changed less than two days ago, officials expressed high praise for the manner in which citizens adjusted themselves, and termed the alert a "huge success."

In East Lansing, air raid wardens and 32 auxiliary police directed by Chief Richard Rogers reported no violations. Meanwhile, Harry Lott, head of the East Lansing OCD, carried out practice incidents with air raid wardens from the control center in the city hall basement.

Two Lights Found Burning

However, on the college campus, Prof. M. M. Cory, East Lansing air raid warden, reported two minor violations. Wardens on campus detected a light burning on the fourth floor of Ag hall in the northeast corner, and pilot lights of gas stoves in the Home Economics and Bacteriology buildings.

Shortly after sirens began to sound at 9:57 p. m., East Lansing and the campus lights twinkled into darkness.

Only a flasher light near the grade school at Grand River avenue and Hillcrest street pierced the darkness. A police car extinguished this light within two minutes. Absolutely no car traffic passed through the city, officials reported.

From downtown Lansing, President John A. Hannah, who had just returned from a brief

300 Students from 28 United Nations to Meet in Washington for Conclave

Kellogg Foundation Grants Scholarships

In an effort to aid the war effort by encouraging more efficient farm practices, the Kellogg foundation has granted 240 short course scholarships for the coming year, Short Course Director R. W. Tenny announced yesterday.

Recipients will be able to attend either of two eight-week sessions with tuition and all expenses paid. This will be the fifth year the foundation has granted such scholarships, Tenny said. The two sessions this year will be conducted from Oct. 26 to Dec. 18 and Jan. 4 to March 5.

Other short coursers will come from counties south and west of Mt. Pleasant, with about 120 such students expected to attend the two sessions. Men students will study general agriculture while women will take up a home economics curriculum.

Three hundred students from the 28 United Nations—many of them in uniform coming directly from the world's battlefronts—and others from the Latin-American republics not yet at war, will meet in Washington next month at an International Student assembly, it was announced yesterday by Trude W. Pratt, general secretary of the U. S. Committee of International Student Service.

The purpose of the assembly will be to discuss the contribution students can make toward winning the war and toward shaping the peace that is to follow the war. The assembly will meet at American university from Sept. 2 to 5.

Prominent speakers already have consented to address the various sessions and panels of the assembly, it was announced. Among them are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Dr. Hu Shih, ambassador of China, and Harold Butler, British minister to the United States.

Faulty Choices Hold No Pleasure

A LONG time ago, some deep thinker said, "The most delicate, the most sensible of all pleasures, consists in promoting the pleasure of others."

Couldn't this statement be applicable to the teaching profession? It is our opinion that members of the teaching profession should derive pleasure from their work; not appear bored and wearied by the monotonous nature of the classroom procedure.

Certainly the amount of pleasure and knowledge to be lifted from a course depends to a large degree on what the student puts into it. But we have to overlook this premise to reach our more specific problem.

If a member of the teaching profession receives no pleasure from his work, he is not helping to reflect pleasure from his students. This in turn provokes a bored and unreasoning attitude from his students. In the end, a vicious cycle has developed.

True, as our deep thinker put it, "The most delicate . . . pleasure, consists in promoting the pleasure of others." However, this does not appear to be a case of delicate pleasure. It stands out more boldly and it boils down to fitting the proper person in the proper place.

Brilliant research men sometimes are lacking in classroom finesse, and their pleasures and other person's pleasures can be protected only by keeping them out of the classroom.

The pursuit in which we cannot ask God's protection must be criminal: the pleasure for which we dare not thank Him cannot be innocent.—Richard Fuller.

First Birthday of Atlantic Charter

ONE year ago Aug. 14 President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill announced that they had signed a common statement of aims and principles for the kind of peace free men can make.

That statement became known as the Atlantic Charter. It was adopted in the United Nations Declaration signed in the White House on New Year's day, 1942, by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill for the United States and Great Britain, by Ambassador Litvinov for Russia and by Foreign Minister Soong for China. On the following day representatives of 22 other countries signed the Declaration and the number of United Nations rose to 28 when Mexico and the Philippines adhered to the Declaration June 14.

The Charter has thus become the central statement on the kind of peace that the United States and United Nations are now fighting for the chance to build. It is a world-wide charter, as its text plainly states. It applies to all the world's peoples, to those who live on the Pacific and Indian oceans as well as to those who live on the Atlantic. It is called the Atlantic Charter because it was signed aboard a battleship on the North Atlantic during last summer's meeting of the President and Prime Minister.

The little done vanishes from the sight of him who looks forward to what is still to do.—Goethe.

THINKIN' OUT LOUD

By Sheldon Moyer

JUST noticed that Old Gold cigarettes are beginning to take advantage of the plug supplied by that monthly, pocket-sized magazine, "Weeder's Digest."

Out in the middle of Texas, between Dallas and Houston, stretched over the flat lands is a crossroads called College Station. This is the home of Texas A. & M., another land grant institution like Michigan State.

College Station takes its name from the railroad stop. There is no town or village to speak of, only the school which stretches out over the plains.

Insignificant as this institution may sound, Texas A. & M. is well known for its football teams and its most recent All-American, John Kimbrough. But actually, the school has more important things to boast of, namely, that it has graduated annually for the past 20 years more army officers than West Point; that in the present World War it has more than half of its living graduates, including two major generals and seven brigadier generals, in the service.

Texas A. & M. is indeed a school where military science and training has been a major part of the curriculum. Now the school has been selected for the locale of a dramatic story based on the 67 year old history of the college. The title will be "We've Never Been Licked," and will be of the inspirational type, embracing the military, agricultural and mechanical background of the college.

School must be a good place for people to stay out of trouble. Or isn't it?

Regardless, here are some excerpts from a letter written by an MSC coed. She wasn't in school this summer, and did she have her troubles! She'd been vacationing at a Michigan lake with her folks, and was headed back to her home in the east where her pappy doesn't own an "X" card.

"Yeh, we finally got home, but it isn't my fault. I'm sort of in the doghouse. In the first place, I left our suitcase at the hotel. Secondly, I left the dog at a gas station in the ration zone, and didn't discover it until we were six miles away. Thirdly, I drove about one-half the way home, and after arriving safely, I side-swiped a car while shopping . . . I was looking the other way at a fellow whom I hadn't seen since Christmas. I got in deeper when at night I started with the peech for the drugstore and ended up playing bridge until after the store closed . . . Anyway, I brought home some fellows from the G. O. G (grand old gang) and they wouldn't get out 'cause they wanted to talk. My mother was not happy with me, I think."

(Continued from Page 1) and for the hospital, run through the alphabet from abscess to vein ligation; the most frequent complaint in both departments being "upper respiratory infection." Measles attacked 226 students in their college years. Vaccinations totalled 5,226.

The number of persons hospitalized dropped from 2,363 in 1940 to 2,167 during the past school year, while the average number of days spent in the hospital, 3.7 per person, shows a slight increase.

Pneumonia is Frequent

Dr. Holland states that pneumonia is alarmingly frequent, and is increasing during the summer sessions. Overwork and a decrease in vitality may be contributing factors here.

The causes of the three campus deaths for the past year were acute nephritis, poliomyelitis, and suicide.

While the number of students hospitalized is much lower during post session, there are usually between 10 and 20 patients in the hospital during the regular school year.

About 10 nurses are employed in the health center, under the supervision of Miss Candace Appleton, R. N. Miss Appleton is spending the month of August vacationing in Sault Ste. Marie.

The Sporting Scene

By BRUCE MONKS

WITH the Chicago Bears-College All Stars football game scheduled for Aug. two weeks from next Saturday, the king of sports, football, is once again thrusting itself on the sporting scene. From that time until the games on Jan. 1, all other sports will be sidetracked.

Even now the professional football squads are holding forth their practice fields preparing the opening of their season second week of September. Michigan State's schedule starts out with a tough team to handle and very few State's varsity football players will receive their invitations to report for practice.

Each Bachman returned from vacation in northern Michigan this week has not issued his football roster list.

Over half of last year's letter men graduated or joined the armed services and Bachman has to do some rebuilding. The entire line of last year's starting eleven will not be around at the start of practice and only two of the regulars are returning.

Gridiron Season Nears As Sept. 9 is Set For Opening Practice

Football once again loomed on the Michigan State horizon this week as coaches studied eligibility lists and began setting practice dates.

Head Coach Charles W. Bachman returned from a brief vacation early in the week to complete final arrangements for fall practice.

Meanwhile, Sept. 9 has been set as the tentative date to open training. The initial game on the schedule is Oct. 3, allowing approximately three and a half weeks for practice sessions.

Although the traditional Oct. 3 opener is with Michigan at Ann Arbor, this year the Wolverines will be in a contest one week earlier, giving the Spartans the benefit of an additional six days of practice.

in one of his numerous "concert satires."

Audience reaction rated equally high the three entertainment types which Scott presented: Classical piano numbers, swing selections, and the satirical monologues and one-man skits which held the program together.

High spot among Scott's novelty selections came when he played "Chopin in the Citrus Belt," using an orange and a grapefruit for right hand parts. He wore mittens to complicate two of his other keyboard selections.

Whether playing Boogie Woogie of his own arrangement of "Pastoral" by Scarlatti, Scott had his audience with him. After three encores, he bid a final goodbye to allow his hearers to beat the blackout home.

Softball Leagues Resume Action This Week

Gleason's Annex Heads Independent Loop; Tie in Dorm

The intramural softball leagues resumed activity this week after the opening of the second session. Every team except the Hams in the independent league was listed on the schedule.

For first place a three-way tie exists in the dormitory league, with Mason 2, 6, 8 sharing top honors. Gleason's Annex holds the same position in the independent loop in view of the fact that it won the only game played in that league.

Mason 4 won its first game in the dorm league last night when it edged out a victory over Mason 3, 7-6. The score was tied three-all when Mason 4 came to bat in the fourth inning. It staged a winning rally when it was issued three walks and two singles, and together with two Precinct 3 errors, scored four runs.

In the only independent game played this week, Gleason's An-

Farmhouse Takes First Place In Spring Term Scholastics

Repeat Leadership of Winter Term; Averages Higher Than Expected

By Barbara Dennison

Bettering their first place average of winter term, the men of FarmHouse fraternity again took top honors spring term with a 1.932 active average.

In second and third places were Theta Chi with 1.655, and Alpha Gamma Rho with 1.605 active averages. Two of these three groups also had pledge averages within the top three.

Averages Are High

Pledges of Theta Chi led with 1.705, followed by Alpha Gamma Rho with 1.618, and in third place was Sigma Nu, making a 1.570 pledge average.

"Spring term averages are usually the highest," according to Ron Heath, housing director for men, and this may be proven in part by the fact that no fraternity had an active average below a one-point.

The remaining active grades in order are: Kappa Sigma, 1.524; Alpha Epsilon Pi, 1.518; Phi Delta Theta, 1.516; Delta Chi, 1.491; Pi Kappa Phi, 1.468; Phi Kappa Tau, 1.446; and Sigma Nu, 1.396.

All-Frat Average is 1.46

Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed next with 1.389, followed by Beta Kappa, 1.385; Hesperian, 1.379; Alpha Tau Omega, 1.341; Delta Sigma Phi, 1.292; Lambda Chi Alpha, 1.272; and Phi Chi Alpha, 1.231.

Considering the position many men were in concerning the draft, Heath stated, "I think the scholastic average of the fraternity men held up very well this spring in spite of the fact that they were under unusual pressure due to war conditions. The all-fraternity average for spring term was 1.46."

Following previous records, pledge averages as a whole seemed to be slightly lower than active averages. Only three pledge groups made higher grades than the active members of the chapter.

In fourth place the pledge group of FarmHouse fraternity made a 1.497. Others are Kappa Sigma, 1.458; Beta Kappa, 1.447; Pi Kappa Phi, 1.391; Alpha Tau Omega, 1.258; Phi Kappa Tau, 1.237; Delta Chi, 1.229; Lambda Chi Alpha, 1.166; Delta Sigma Phi, 1.121; Alpha Epsilon Pi, 1.050; Phi Chi Alpha, 1.036; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 1.014; Hesperian, .950; and Phi Delta Theta, .845, finish out the list.

vacation Wednesday, said only the WKAR and state police radio towers could be seen in East Lansing. President Hannah praised Professor Cory and W. F. Davenport, college air raid warden, for Michigan State's efforts in making the blackout a success. President Hannah observed the blackout from atop the City National building.

Early reports from air raid wardens and central control stations in this vicinity indicated that citizens were not totally taken by surprise.

Only 34 hours were allowed to overcome more than a week's publicity on the scheduled time for the blackout. The change was ordered by army officials because the original 11 p. m. alert coincided with the change of shifts at several large war production plants in Detroit.

The half-hour blackout—which covered 50,000 square miles in Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin—affected more than 12,000 persons in this area.

Approximately 500,000 officials were on duty to guard against emergencies such as accidents, fires or burglary.

In Michigan, a total of 41 counties were veiled in darkness. Various state officials were to turn in reports of the blackout's success to the state defense council Thursday.

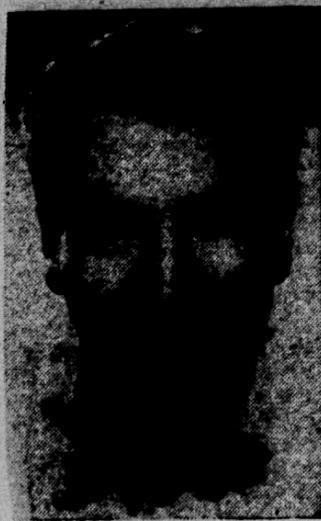

Observers in key cities were Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner and Capt. Donald Leonard, state commander of the citizens' defense corps, Detroit; Lieut. Col. Harold Furlong, administrator of the state defense council, Lansing; Capt. Caesar J. Scavarda, of the state police, Flint; Ford M. Hutchinson, deputy chief of the defense corps utilities division, Grand Rapids; and Lieut. Col. Owen J. Cleary, state air raid warden, Battle Creek.

Episcopal Services

The Episcopalians will hold their service of the Holy Communion at 8:45 a. m. in a partially remodeled chapel this Sunday. The back wall of their Chapel of Christ the King has been knocked out, and folding doors have been hung to permit the seating of up to 65 communicants.

All religious groups on campus extend cordial invitations of welcome to the service men stationed on the Michigan State college campus.
