German Seize 140 Yankee Nationals As Hostages

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Germany is trying to force the release of its captured armistice commission in north Africa—by seizing as hostages the American diplomats and other nationals in France.

The state department disclosed this today in announcing "the German government has now assumed complete jurisdiction over the American group and is taking the into Germany under guard of German SS troops."

The Americans—totaling about 140 diplomats, newspaper correspondents, Red Cross workers and others—were caught in France last November by the break of diplomatic relations with Vichy.

The department said its prompt proposal to exchange French officials held here for the American group detained in France had met with an unfavorable response.

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—An all-metal, low winged plane, believed to be an AT-6 dive bomber, crashed near the Ford Willow Run bomber plant tonight, killing two men.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP)—Saying they were content to "let the government make the next move," union representatives of 10 of the 16 locals involved in a wildcat strike of 10,000 anthracite miners reported at a special meeting tonight that their membership had decided to continue the walkout.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Minnesota built up an early lead on the strength of brilliant shooting in the first 10 minutes and then went on to easily defeat the Michigan State basketball team in a surprise move. Coach Carl Nordly of the Gophers started a team of reserves and one of the sub forwards, Rod Larson, stole the show by popping in nine points in the first 10 minutes.

Marines, Navy Seeking Officer Candidates and Enlistees

Physically qualified men between the ages of 20 and 21 years inclusive, who have a college degree, or have had two years of education from some recognized or accredited college and at least two years successful civilian business experience, are eligible for enlistment in the United States Marine corps as officer candidates to be trained and commissioned for regular combat duty. Such induction must be effected before Feb. 1.

The navy and marine corps enlisted men who are still enrolled in college at this time or will be enrolled in college on or before March 15, and all high school seniors who can be accepted and enrolled on or before March 15, are eligible for enlistment.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Charles E. Bedaux, who made a fortune out of a controversial system designed to increase workers' efficiency, has been arrested in North Africa on a charge of trading with the enemy, the state department said today. Secretary Hull said he had received news of the arrest.

MSC May Lease Fraternity Property to U.S. Army After Winter Term

By BARBARA HAFFORD
Fraternities will not fold up next term if and when the army takes over Michigan State college for further training of men in the Army Enlisted Reserve corps, Dean F. T. Mitchell said yesterday.

"By the end of spring term, depleted membership will make fraternity operation as a unit almost impossible," Mitchell said. "And with the consent of the fraternities, the college will lease their property which will in turn be rented to the army along with college property." This will make it possible to

AWS Recommends 1 a. m. Leave

Coeds to Have 1 a. m. Permission if Hannah O.K.s

By NEVA ACKERMAN
Recommendation of 1 a. m. permission for women students for Saturday nights of winter term will be taken to President Hannah for his approval today following its passage by A. W. S. council last night. The rule, if approved, will probably be placed on a trial period after which it must be voted on by women students.

The recommendation was passed by a close vote following a committee investigation. A. W. S. council, as was pointed out by Dean Elisabeth Conrad, is but an interpretive body, and does not have actual power to pass such a law. It must have faculty approval and vote by the student body.

Report of the investigating committee and discussion group brought up arguments for and against as follows:

Pro:
1. More time is needed than half an hour to walk from Auditorium to get something to eat and get to the dormitory or house on time.
2. This is the last term for most men on campus.
3. Student opinion appears to favor it.
4. Those who don't care to stay out so late may come in earlier if they choose.
5. If the permission goes through, entertainment will be arranged lasting until that hour.

Con:
1. Precedent—it has never been found wise to grant this permission before.
2. Parties can begin at 8:30 instead of 9.
3. Housemothers should be considered. Later permissions make their job harder.
4. Big parties are Friday night.

Sugar Beet Checks Senior Ball Will Be Headed by Sewell; Pick Committees

By PAUL PALMER
Pay definitely will be forthcoming within a few days to M. S. C. students who invaded sugar beet fields during the labor shortage last fall to help save the beet crop, according to statements by E. L. Anthony, Dean of Ag., and Clinton V. Ballard, state leader of County Agricultural Agents.

"We expect to make final settlements with the sugar company by the end of the week, and will be paying off students soon thereafter," said Mr. Ballard.

The delay in making payments, Ballard explained, as being due to the time required to haul the beets out of extremely wet fields. The basis of pay runs according to tonnage of beets picked.

Whether payments will be made by checks or in cash has not yet been decided, but a convenient plan will be worked out.

Governor Kelly Names Rosecrans' Successor

LANSING, Jan. 13 (AP)—Governor Kelly today appointed Col. LeRoy Pearson, a hero of the first World war, to succeed the late Col. E. M. Rosecrans as adjutant general of Michigan.

The appointment, recommended unanimously by the state military board, followed by a few hours the funeral of Col. Rosecrans, who was buried in Deepdale cemetery here with full military honors.

have upkeep and an income for the duration, whereas if houses were to close down, they would lose a great deal of money. The college will make sure that a reasonable sum of rental and maintenance is paid to insure the perpetuation of the house as an entity, according to Mitchell.

"The East college dormitories for men," he stated, "will house approximately 1,000 men on the college scale, although the army will no doubt fit more in, and by using the fraternity property, 550 to 600 more can be housed. Mitchell added that there is no program in the picture to See FRATERNITIES—Page 4

Russians Take More Villages in Caucasus

Nazi Radio Reports Reds Have Begun New Drive on Upper Don River

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Red army fanning out in the Caucasus has captured 12 more settlements, Moscow reported tonight, and a German broadcast said the Russians had begun a new offensive in the Voronezh area of the upper Don river 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

The midnight Soviet communique heard here by the Soviet monitor did not mention the Voronezh sector, but said the Red army still was rolling northward along the Mineralnye Vody-Rostov railway in the central Caucasus.

The Russians now were believed to have reached a point only 210 miles southeast of Rostov in the drive from the Caucasus mountains. To the north along the Don river the Russians still were meeting stern German resistance and repeated Nazi counterattacks.

Flying Fortresses Blast Axis Bases in North Africa

ALLIED HDQ., NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 13 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses, destroying 34 Axis planes aground and aloft in a brilliant raid on Castel Benito airfield, 10 miles south of Tripoli, have torn a considerable hole in the already thin air cover on which Field Marshal Rommel is depending for an effective retreat from Libya into Tunisia.

In this, the heaviest assault yet delivered from the west on the Axis in Tripolitania, not an American plane was lost, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Fortresses' attack, delivered yesterday, topped all other action in the north African theater.

Allied Bombers Swarm Over France in Daylight Raids

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Flying Fortresses defying swarms of German fighters scored numerous direct hits today on industrial plants at Lille in the third heavy raid on that German-held French city and the 17th bombing attack there since it was captured by the Nazis in 1940. Three Fortresses were lost, an official announcement said.

Memorial Plaque Records MSC Dead of World War II

The first record of Michigan State's war dead was erected in the main lounge of the Union building last week-end, a simulated bronze plaque which was presented and will be maintained for the duration of the war by Blue Key, junior and senior men's honorary.

The names of 11 men from this campus who have died in the war effort are already embodied in the plaque. Because of the shortage of bronze, a plastic substitute is being used, according to Jack Rasmussen, Blue Key president. Other names will be cast in the plastic and added as they are brought in, he said.

LETTERS . . . to the Editor

DEAR SIR: The recent article in the State News of the initiation by Blue Key and the resultant comments were of great interest to many State students.

The comments were not only of great interest to those who have been the victims of the referred to political and fraternal dealings but also were welcomed by a few who were on the supposed "in" of such dealings—maybe even a committee member or two.

I have seen how inefficient a student nominating and selecting committee can operate. It is not entirely the fault of the students. Friendship and fraternal bindings are sometimes very strong and difficult to violate. It is difficult for many conscientious students to choose the most eligible men for the honorary organization.

A new system of Blue Key membership selection seems to be in store for the State chapter. A possible solution would be to establish a method by which organizations would submit a list of their most eligible men.

Under this method each organization such as the Wolverine, State News, Varsity club, Alpha Phi Omega, the Spartan, Green Helmet, and various other organizations on the campus would submit a list to the selecting organization.

The number on the list would be determined by the ranking of the organization. It might be possible to have the deans of each division submit a list of the men most prominent in their division. These various lists would then be brought before the entire membership of the selecting organization and each student voted on.

Along with the active student membership it would be well to have two or three honorary Blue Key members from the faculty and administration sitting as an advisory council. A student's prominence would easily be shown if he then appeared on several of the submitted lists.

The mere presence of two or more prominent and respected faculty members would make each member more conscientious in his vote. It would definitely discourage political and fraternal "deals."

What the new system will be is not yet determined but I'm sure there will be one. This is to assure the student body there are Blue Key members striving for the best and the Blue Key organization will continue to carry on its various services in the best possible manner.

ALONG THE WINDING CEDAR

By Len Barnes

EVERY once in a while someone pens a burning letter to the editor and purposely leaves it unsigned.

The latest example came through the mails yesterday. Where the signature should be, the following was written, "There are times when a person who sees certain things may be a faculty member or have some high position where it would be unwise to reveal his name to anyone." I'll bet a week's supply of sugar the writer wasn't a facultyman.

Some of the questions he raises are interesting, however.

"Does Applied Science council ever have any meetings, and what does it do?" he asks. Student council has been trying for quite a while to find out what most of the divisional councils do or could do. So far this year the Applied Science, Liberal Arts, and Vet councils have done approximately nothing.

"Student defense council is a total flop this year, he says. 'Is it because of lack of cooperation with Student council?' The lack of cooperation hasn't all been on the part of Student council. The defense group has tried mightily to get organizations to sponsor activities. Students just won't work.

Lots of Lethargy

If our unknown correspondent ever sat in on a Student council meeting, he'd see a limitless lethargy on the part of many members.

They attend only enough meetings to remain eligible, and almost the only activity they show is occasionally to criticize an idea of one of the few good members. The attendance will probably taper off even more this term—Student council keys have come, and the Wolverine picture has been taken.

One on the Wolverine

It's too bad Franklin P. Adams' audience couldn't have been present at a dinner Sigma Delta Chi men tendered him Monday night. For the amiable gent from Connecticut was a lot more entertaining than at his lecture Tuesday night.

We got a boot out of his experience in the Wolverine office. He walked in and asked to use a typewriter.

One of the sophomore editors said, "You can use one, but you can't take it out of the office." He sat down and asked for a piece of paper. She proffered some yellow dog copy paper. He sat down quietly and typed for a half hour, with members of the staff working all around him, oblivious of his identity.

Entries in Intramural Boxing Tournament Reach New High; Will Weigh in on Monday

By JOHNNY MARKS
Entries in the State News All-College boxing tournament have mounted steadily throughout the week to bring the total to 50 at present and brighten the outlook of making this year's meet the largest in intramural history.

Organization managers and men who plan to enter the meet unattached should get their entry blanks into the State News sports desk as soon as possible. Entries in the meet will close on Friday, January 15. Coach Al Kawal will also take entries in the varsity boxing room.

Weigh In Monday
Contestants in the eight divisions will weigh in for the meet in the varsity boxing room from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m., Monday, Jan. 18, the opening day of the tournament. Four pounds overweight will be allowed, Coach Kawal stated.

A total of only three men in the 135 pound class makes this division the one with least entries while the 155 weight group tops all others with 10 entries.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon heads the team division with seven men so far and the Sigma Nu comes next with four. The SAE's will feature a brother act, Bob and Chuck Cannan who will fight in the 120 and 135 brackets respectively.

Kawal ruled that the entries of any organization in one weight division is unlimited. All men finishing in the upper brackets of the tournament will be figured in the team scores determining the college team champions.

Individual winners will have a choice between a coat style intramural sweater or a gold medal for first place. Second place winners will be presented with silver medal awards.

Kawal points out that all entrants must have a physical OK from the College hospital before they can box and he suggests that they get this as soon as possible and present it to him.

Juniors to Get Uniforms Soon

Junior advanced military students will no longer be mistaken for basic cadets, for after much delay and many rumors word has finally been received by the ROTC office that uniforms will be here about the beginning of next week.

The delay, which was caused by priorities on military equipment, has been ironed out and special arrangements will be made so that any alterations may be made speedily. Previous announcement from the department has revealed that the college will keep the uniforms after the present class uses them.

All candidates for the varsity fencing team should report to Coach Charley Schmitter in the fencing room of Jenison fieldhouse between 4 and 6 this afternoon and tomorrow. Freshmen should report Friday at the same time and place.

Use Small Colleges

OLIVET, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP)—Dr. Robert G. Ramsey, Olivet college dean of students, suggested today in a letter to Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Board, that facilities of small colleges be used by the government as centers for the re-education of wounded service men.

Lady Luck Fawns on 'S' Wrestlers on Eve of Opener With Wolverines

With the opening of the varsity wrestling season against the University of Michigan next Monday night nearing, bad luck hit the Spartan squad yesterday with the possible loss of Iggy Konrad, 136 pound sophomore, scheduled to replace injured Bo Jennings this year.

Konrad suffered a knee injury in Tuesday's practice session and was held in the college hospital yesterday for treatment. Whether or not he will be able to make his initial varsity appearance against Michigan is still in doubt.

Coach Fendley Collins has begun to hold ranking matches in the more hotly contested weight divisions early this week to determine the varsity line-up. Most of the positions for the Michigan match are just about determined.

Herb Thompson, last year's varsity 121-pounder during the early part of the season, is recovering from an elbow injury received in practice last week and will be ready to go against the Wolverines.

Ice Hockey Clubs Express Desire for 'Mural Loop'

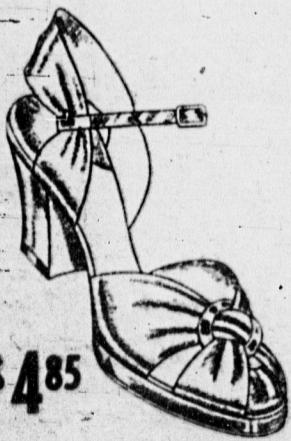

Several leads have been received in regard to the proposed intramural hockey league suggested in the State News yesterday morning. Morgan Gingrass, varsity football star and resident of Marquette, where the ice game is as common as coffee, for breakfast (was), claims he has a team that will take on all comers.

The Hesperian house, under the tutorage of Herb Quinn, is ready and rarin' to go as is the Sigma Nu sextet, which has already seen some action. Independent teams are also in the process of being formed.

With playing conditions greatly hampered during the week because of classes up until sun set and inability to hold games at night, it is generally conceded that contests should be held on the week end either Saturday or Sunday afternoons.

The sports staff still welcomes your comments and team entries.

All freshman who are interested in becoming varsity baseball managers should meet Harry Wilkinson in Demonstration hall at 5:15 this afternoon.

GUADALCANAL DIARY

by
RICHARD TREGASKIS
$2.50. This is a new chapter in the story of the United States Marines. Because it was written by a crack newspaperman, who knew how to do his job, it lacks rhetorical trimmings and melodramatic outbursts. Tregaskis realized that he had a terrific story to send home; he added to the impact by telling it in simple straightforward English.

The Diary begins on Sunday, July 26, 1942, on a transport bound for a destination still unknown, even to the Commanding Officer of the troops aboard. It tells of the fierce preparation by naval guns that preceded the landing on August 7th, and of the landing itself. ("Well, this is it!" said the marines—and climbed into the barges. Tregaskis was with the first of them.) It describes the occupation by our forces of the tiny seven-mile strip that included the invaluable airfield built by the Japs, and of our men's magnificent defense of that strip against innumerable attacks by superior air, land and sea forces.

Until the author's departure in a B-17 bomber on September 26th, he ate, slept, and sweated with our front-line units. His story is the straight day-by-day account of what he himself saw or learned from eyewitnesses during those seven weeks. There is no stressing here of the mortal danger which Tregaskis so often shared with the fighting men, but there are tales galore of the heroism of the marines themselves. No one can read Guadalcanal Diary and not feel grateful to those superb troops for what they accomplished during that ordeal by fire, and to the author for telling us exactly how the thing was done.

"Get the message through!"

YES... get the message through! That's what counts when the Army's on the move... when war production must be spurred... when Victory is at stake. And Long Distance telephone lines... more vital than ever in this war... must be kept adequately clear to speed military and war production calls.

So, please help speed the service that speeds Victory, by using Long Distance only when MOST URGENT... by GIVING THE NUMBER of the distant telephone when you must call... and by being BRIEF on all calls.
