*Number and Arrival Date Still Remain Indefinite

Won't Displace Regular Students Before ERC Call

Despite semi-official announcements that Michigan State has been selected for an army specialized training program center, there still are no confirmed orders, either calling enlisted reserve students to active duty or sending new-uniformed students on to the campus.

Although once again the sources were not official, there was every indication that the army would not be able to induct all or part of the ERC by April 4, the date tentatively established for active duty.

The college has not received any official order that new soldier-students will be sent here in any specific number or at any certain date.

"However, I know they're coming," Pres. John A. Hannah stated yesterday.

Regardless of when the uniformed students begin to arrive, Hannah said that none of the regular students will be deprived of either classrooms or living quarters.

Will Find Room

"Any new men assigned here by the army will be housed temporarily wherever possible until permanent quarters are available," said Hannah.

The consensus was that present ERC students would not be called in totally by April 4, and that new uniformed students will not compose the bulk of males on campus until sometime in June or July.

Hannah said it was likely Michigan State would receive 3,000 men eventually to make full use of its facilities. He said the first contingent of soldiers would

Frosh to Nominate Class Officers Wednesday

Election rules were laid down yesterday for 15 members of the freshman class who are running for office in primary elections tomorrow.

One eight-by-eleven poster and one four-by-five picture will be allowed each candidate on election day only, according to election chairman Bud Fenton. Electioneering cannot be done within 10 feet of the polls. Handbills will be allowed, however, and candidates are required to submit campaign material to the student council for approval, Fenton stated.

Candidates will be narrowed down to two for each office by the primary. "So far as I know," Chairman Fenton said, "all candidates are eligible."

Six men are nominees for president: Richard Hardman, Eng.; Pete Navarre, L. A.; Charles Barr, L. A.; Charles Pettol, Ag.; and Warren Davenport, L. A.

Three women are running for vice-president: Joan Lewis, H. E.; Dorothy LaMont, L. A.; and Doris Zens, Vet.

Asiatic Discussion Group Offers $200 in Campus Essay Contest

Tong-Mi, recently organized Asiatic study group, will offer $200 in prizes for the best essays written by regularly enrolled students of the college on: "Korea, Her Relation to the War and the Post-War World," it was announced yesterday.

First prize will be $100, second $50, and third, $10. Fourth and fifth prize winners will receive $10 each, while those placing sixth through tenth will win $5 each.

Rules of the contest state that entries must not exceed 3,000 words, they must be typewritten and double-spaced on 8 1/2 x 11 paper, and must have stapled to them a sealed envelope containing name, address, home address, class and division. A bibliography must also be attached. Entries must be in the hands of the essay committee, Tong-Mi office, foreign language building, not later than March 20, and Tong-Mi shall have the right to use them as desired, it was stated.

Material about Korea is available in the College library. Essays should show evidence of study in the history, culture, and political situation in Korea, and a careful analysis of Korea's future relation with world peace.

Final judges of the essays will be Korean authorities in Washington.

Soviets Cap Stalingrad's Fall With the Capture of Kursk

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The fall of Kursk, one of the principal bastions of the German 1941-42 winter line, in a smashing Soviet offensive was announced tonight in a special Russian communique, marking a victory approaching in importance the Russian triumph at Stalingrad.

As the crumbling of this northern pivot of the Nazi defense line was announced, pressure was increased on another of the key Nazi defenses—Esterway to the Caucasus, where the Russians are besieging the city from the south and another column is driving down from the north.

The capture of Kursk imperiled the entire German defensive line in Russia.

In Nazi Hands 14 Months

The railroad city had been in German hands since Nov. 11, 1941, falling to the Nazis only four and a half months after they had launched their drive into Russia. It was a main springboard of the German offensive last summer that swept to Voronezh and Stalingrad and overran much of the Caucasus.

The Russian counter-offensive of last winter carried nearly to Kursk, but fell short of the city, where the Germans had built one of their strongest positions in all Russia.

Violent Attack Succeeds

Kursk was occupied after "a violent attack" assisted by "an encircling movement from the northwest," said the special communique as recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

The announcement came as a

Tickets have been moving rapidly for the IFC-PanHel ball which takes place this Friday, and features Stan Kenton and his band, Doug Reeve, IFC chairman announced today.

Reeve emphasized that the party is not a closed event, "despite anyone's statements to the contrary."

Featured with Stan Kenton's band at the ball will be singer Dolly Mitchell, formerly with Paul Whiteman. Kenton's band played for the University of Michigan J-Hop last night with Les Brown.

The comely Miss Mitchell, known as a "personality" singer, received notices in a recent issue of "Metronome" magazine as "a big asset to Kenton's band... she looked wonderful... she sold marvelously."

Lansing Ruling to Set Pattern for MSC Time

The Lansing city council voted last night, 12 to 3, to turn the clocks in Michigan's capital back an hour from Eastern War time.

Will East Lansing, and consequently Michigan State college, switch back to pre-war time on Feb. 15? According to Mayor Carl G. Card of East Lansing, the decision reached by the Lansing city council meeting last night, will very likely affect the college town also.

Card stated that at the council meeting, to be held here next Monday evening, this city would probably follow in the footsteps of its larger neighbor, Lansing, whatever the decision of the latter.

When asked whether he had any inside information as to which way the Lansing vote would swing, he observed, "The next person's guess is as good as mine."

Hoover Suggests Military Slow-Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Two Republican congressmen introduced legislation today to draft workers for war factories and farms where necessary, while former President Herbert Hoover suggested that the manpower situation could be eased by tailoring military inductions and munitions making to shipping limitations.

Shipping he saw as the key to the question, holding that soldiers and sailors, and tanks and guns, need not be produced "faster than can pass through the shipping bottleneck," with consideration for reserves against 1944.

Meanwhile Senator Austin (R-Vt.) and Rep. Wadsworth (R-N.Y.) introduced identical bills providing for the drafting of war workers and farm labor through selective service if necessary. The legislation would require the registration of all women 18 to 50; these, with all the men now registered under selective service except those already drafted, would be subject to compulsory assignment to the factories or farms. Mothers would be excepted.

MSC May Have Oriental, S. American School

President Hannah Names Two Faculty Committees to Study Possibilities

Pres. John A. Hannah announced yesterday the appointment of two faculty committees to study the possibilities of developing at Michigan State college a department of oriental and Latin American culture.

Encouraged by nationally known industrialists in the post-war plan, President Hannah declared that industry wants college men and women who not only speak the languages of the countries in the Far East and in the Latin American countries, but who thoroughly understand the social, economic and political structure of these countries. Employees with the specialized training, stated President Hannah, will be needed in greater numbers than ever in large industrial concerns when peace comes.

The committees are: Oriental culture: Dean L. C. Emmons, chairman, Liberal Arts; H. C. Barnett, foreign language; Dean E. A. Bessey, botany and graduate school; J. M. DeHaan, psychology; W. R. Fee, history; Irma H. Gross, home management; Dr. Grace Song Line, foreign language; A. J. Panshin, forestry; N. C. Rather, farm crops.

Latin American culture: Dean L. C. Emmons, chairman, Liberal Arts; Dean Ernest L. Anthony, agriculture; Merle Ford, home economics; Paul Honigshelm, sociology; H. R. Hunt, zoology; Mrs. Alicet Leathers, foreign language; Hans L. Leonard, history and political science; H. J. Stafseth, bacteriology; H. J. Wyngarden, economics.

... Expensive Party

One Liberal Arts sophomore knows now that it doesn't pay to forget important things. In fact, one such episode cost him plenty. Much to his surprise and chagrin, a good-sized bill awaited him Monday morning when he returned from classes. Tuxes sent by a Lansing clothier. Ten days ago he rented a tux from the firm, paid his $4, and promptly forgot about the rental after going to a formal party. Now he owes the clothing store $35, and still has no claim on the tux.

Many were the sighs of relief around campus after results from the recent Errol Flynn trial indicated that the M.S.C. students' public interest No. 1 had been acquitted. Two coeds, more avid than the rest of the Flynn fans, have posted three pictures of the movie hero in their room, with these words inscribed beneath: "Thank God for American justice."

OPA Ups Bakery Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The office of Price Administration today scrapped its price ceilings for pies, pastries, doughnuts and cakes and established a new pricing formula which, it estimated, will increase consumers costs five to fifteen per cent. Bread prices are not affected by the action.

Allied Planes Bomb Key Bases in Italy, France, Germany

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Feb. 8.—United States and British bombers struck a series of devastating blows against key Axis bases in Italy, Germany, and France yesterday and last night, and fighter planes sped back to France this afternoon in a continuation of the huge sky offensive.

American bombers left Naples, Italian port, in flames with a powerful attack by daylight yesterday, and also spread destruction over Sicily and on the Axis air base of Caghari in Sardinia. British bombers then followed through with a night attack on Sardinia. Only two Allied planes were lost in those operations.

In France big British night bombers roared over Lorient, Bay of Biscay U-boat base, and left the target area "one mass of flames" with their two-ton blockbuster bombs.

What About Final Exams for 'Seniors'?

A LONG established precedent at Michigan State college has been that graduating seniors do not have to take final examinations at the end of their last term of school, provided their midterm grades are satisfactory.

Now that senior men with 180 or more credits are slated to take a six-hour comprehensive examination to receive their diplomas, wouldn't it be logical to cancel final examinations where midterm grades are satisfactory?

It seems that some action should be forthcoming on this matter. Perhaps it even would be wise to extend the precedent to all men departing for the armed forces.

Great joy, especially after a sudden change in circumstances, is apt to be silent, and dwells rather in the heart than on the tongue. —Fielding.

Supports Post-War Subsidization

CONSIDERABLE controversy has enveloped the problem of whether college students should be permitted to continue their education or whether they should immediately be inducted into the armed forces.

Alexander Meiklejohn, author of "Education Between Two Worlds" and educator with ideas of his own, sides with those who approve the army-navy college program.

Here's what Meiklejohn has to say about it:

"I'm not saying that a young man will get a good education by going into the hell of war. I am only saying that, if he is fit to fight, he will get a bad education by staying out of it."

And in an article in New Republic, entitled "The Future of Liberal Education," Meiklejohn discusses what comes after victory for colleges.

"The sin of the Axis powers is that they have carried to a brutal and fiendish extreme principles of action which in less, explicit, less exaggerated, degree all the dominant nations have been following. Our war will be justified only insofar as we succeed in abandoning these principles, in establishing cultural attitudes which are rooted, not in strife and competition, but in fellowship and cooperation. Fundamentally the international reconstruction is one of re-education."

As a first step, Meiklejohn suggests: "The army and navy have rightly suspended liberal education during this war . . . They have taken young men out of schools and colleges. They have trained them, have fed and housed and clothed them, have paid them, to fight. When the war is over, every one of those young men should be given the opportunity to go back to school or college, to continue his liberal education until he has won a college degree. And if he takes the opportunity he should again be paid for his services to his country . . . We need thinking quite as desperately as we need fighting."

When the destination is desirable, expectation speeds our progress—Mary Baker Eddy.

Asks Speed-Up on Plan Colonel Rodney 'Visits' for Tax-as-You-Go Campus, Leaves Again

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)

The house ways and means committee arranged today to take testimony from Budget Director Harold D. Smith, administration fiscal adviser who has urged swift action on pay-as-you-go tax legislation.

The budget director had urged that the treasury and congress get together immediately so the plan could begin by April 1. He hinted at White House intercession to hasten agreement.

Col. Dorsey R. Rodney, newly appointed Michigan State college ROTC commandant, arrived here yesterday, it was reported by the military department.

However, he only came to pay a "visit" and confer with acting PMS&T Lt. Col. Edmund H. Stillman. Col. Rodney is still on leave and will not take over his appointed post for "three or four days," he disclosed.

He expressed the possibility that he might visit Fort Riley, Kan. in the meantime.

ALONG THE WINDING CEDAR

By Len Barnes

COLLEGE students shouldn't be censured too strongly for their "So what" attitude on the announcement that certain colleges, Michigan State among them, have been selected for use in the army training program, for induction dates still seem as indefinite as ever.

Last official news on ERC status said that ERC men would be taken out of colleges as soon as the college they were attending was activated by the army.

So the news that Michigan State will house 3,000 army men by April 1, when the plan goes into effect, should mean that ERC men will be leaving sometime prior to that date.

But unofficial sources hereabouts hint strongly that many ERC men may not leave as soon as indicated. What does that mean? Nobody knows.

But if you find yourself in the army in April, you'll know you got your orders in March.

Though nothing official has been said on it, there is a possibility that senior ROTC students will come under regular army pay for their spring term in college. If they can't find anything else for senior ROTC men to do spring term, a lot of them could be utilized as drill masters for those 3,000 army men coming to the campus.

Why don't they either enforce or abandon the no-flowers-for-open-college-parties rule? Up to this year, it was enforced to a point where doormen demanded that women remove flowers or stay out of the dance. Lucky was the couple that could sneak by with a flower camouflaged in the woman's hair.

But at the J-Hop last weekend fully a quarter of the women and men in attendance wore flowers. Of the other three quarters, the greater share probably didn't care to buy them, but some few passed up a chance to buy flowers in deference to the no-corsage rule.

College officials are certainly right when they say it is hard to tell a man going into the service in a week or two that he can't buy flowers for his date. Is that then a waiving of the rule?

The University of Oklahoma, announcing students no longer could drive automobiles on campus, was asked to define "automobile."

One student said, "Anything that's classed as a jalopy (worth less than $25) shouldn't be classed as an automobile." The university said "A car is anything that uses gasoline and backfires."

LETTERS

To the Editor

DEAR Sir: Your recent expose of the systematic organization of the fraternity bloc here on campus made interesting reading.

I am a freshman, completely ignorant of intricate college politics, but I believe a united effort on the part of freshmen independents could effectively overthrow the bloc.

As I view the situation, it appears that the success of a minority bloc depends upon systematic organization. Frats and sororities place their candidates solely because of a high voting percentage in their group.

Independents, who comprise the vast majority, could obviously make their vote felt if they would stir out of a traditional lethargy and take a little interest in the elections.

Perhaps the majority does not consider the election an important one. Perhaps they feel that the issue is too small on which to waste valuable time.

A college campus serves as an effective proving ground for popular vote. Let's prove that the majority vote carries the weight at Michigan State!

Respectfully,
RALPH O. DUNN, JR.

Stimson, Land Oppose Drop in Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Sentiment for increased lend-lease aid to China mounted congress today as the foreign affairs committee Secretary of War Stimson and Shipping Administrator E. S. Land stress the need for continuing the mutual aid agreements for another year.

Rep. Curley (D-Mass.) announced that he had filed a resolution which would curtail per cent of all lend-lease aid for China—a step which he would, if carried out, end China to defeat Japan in months and save the lives more than 500,000 Americans.

Stimson and Land voiced convictions that "to avoid damage to post-war international relations" this nation should seek a post-war "dollar cents" settlement of international debts arising from lend-lease program.

State's Carl Petroski Proves to Be Jinx for Notre Dame Basketball Teams

It might be well if Coach Ben VanAlstyne had five Carl Petroskis around when his Michigan State cage team meets Notre Dame. The senior basketball player from Schenectady, N. Y. who has never been able to establish himself as a full-fledged regular because of his on-and-off-type of ball playing is always red-hot when the Spartans and Irish tangle.

It was against Notre Dame in his sophomore year that Petroski received the rating as a potential Spartan cage great. In that final of the 1941 season Petroski broke into the lineup and was one of the main factors in the stunning Irish upset by the Spartans that season.

With the memory of Carl's performance in the previous year's final Van injected Petroski into the 1941-42 team's starting lineup and he was the No. 1 center for the first six or seven games, but his hot-and-cold showings finally were his downfall.

However, when State journeyed to South Bend last winter, Regular Fred Stone was having a bad night in the pivot lane so Van called on Carl. Before he had been on the floor for many minutes he pulled the waning Spartan defense together and started his club on the offensive with three quick baskets. Although State lost in the final moments of play, 52 to 49, Petroski was one of the game's standouts.

Last Saturday the Irish and Spartans meet on the Notre Dame hardwood, but this time Petroski was in the role of a starter, a spot he was pushed into when Stone had to be left behind because of sickness. However, before the evening was over the Polish boy proved to his coach and teammates that he wanted that center post.

Notre Dame spanked the Spartans for the later's tenth loss of the season, but this didn't stop Petroski from turning in another grand job. Besides leading the State scorers with eight points Carl did something that very few other Irish opponents have been able to, and that was to hold highly touted Bobbie Faught to a pair of baskets and a free throw.

Wolverine, Spartan Cinder Squads in Dual Meet at Ann Arbor Tonight

ANN ARBOR, Feb. 8 (AP)—Seeking to maintain Wolverine prestige on the cinder track at least until the war scrambles college sports beyond recognition, a well-balanced University of Michigan track squad opens its dual meet season against Michigan State here Tuesday.

Evidence now at hand would indicate a Wolverine victory by a score of say, 54-50, with perhaps three or four points variance either way.

Nip and Tuck

The probable score is the estimate of local experts who have scrutinized the form sheets and are convinced the Spartans will make it nip-and-tuck through the final relay. Wolverine strength in the relay, they say, should provide the margin of difference.

State can count on a victory in the mile run and in most of the field events, where Michigan is more vulnerable than she has been for at least 10 years. Capt. Bill Scott pranced over a mile in 4:26 last week against Ohio State, and this is too fast for Michigan's Bob Ingersoll and Bob Hume.

Strength in Four Events

Cosch Ken Doherty has his greatest strength in the half-mile, 440, low hurdles, and relay.

Capt. Dave Matthews, John

Roxborough, and Ross Hume conceivably could slam the half mile. Bob Ufer is national record-holder in the quarter mile and Chuck Pinney is one of the finest low-hurdlers in the middle-west.

Aviation Cadets to Be Barred From Football

The Michigan State college athletic coaching staff is planning its work on the assumption the army will permit soldier students assigned to the institution for training to compete in inter-collegiate sports, although football, soccer and lacrosse will be barred to aviation cadets.

Michigan State has been selected as a training site for aviation cadets and engineers.

Information received informally from the War department indicated students would be allowed to participate in sports for half of whatever time they spend in special college training, save for the restriction on cadets, on grounds those sports are too dangerous.

Coaches said they expected the students would have to devote six to eight hours a day to classes, leaving little time for practice and making long trips to athletic contests impossible.

Abbot 13 Paces Dorm Cagers With 4 Straight Wins This Season

Abbot 13, defending champion last season, is still riding high in the dorm cage loop by virtue of its fourth straight win of the season scored last night when Abbot 18, previously unbeaten, fell in a close battle, 23 to 18.

El Stark, one of the dorm loop's leading scorers and Bud Willbee shared high-point honors for the winners when each dumped through seven tallies. Abbot 10's high man was Bud Mark with six.

Top spot in Block 2 was taken over by Mason 7 when it scored a 35 to 14 over Mason 1. Bill Ireland hit for 14 points in helping 7 grab its fourth straight victory. Bill Engle, Mason 1, led his team with six points.

With his 16 counters, George Fredericks took scoring honors for the evening in Mason 9's 48 to 4 win over Mason 6. Teammate Bob Haines wasn't far behind Fredericks with 12 tallies.

Dick Edeken and John Zelenka hit for 10 and seven points respectively, in a 24 to 16 win by Abbot 16 over Abbot 10; Abbot 12 dropped Mason 8, 21 to 16 with Jack Sprague's 13 points.

Ice Players Ready for More Action

Since only Monday night's game of last week's intramural hockey league was played, the remainder of contests originally carded for February 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 will be held this week.

Today at 5 p. m. Theta Chi and Aces will meet on the College rink to get this week's play under way again, weather permitting.

Shoes Go Back on Sale Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Shoes go back on sale again Tuesday, under a rationing program, but OPA Chief Prentiss M. Brown asked tonight that people refrain from buying shoes until they actually need them.

The ration program, announced by the White House yesterday in the name of Economic Director James F. Byrnes and without advance notice, allows three pairs of shoes a year a person. The order ordering the rationing also put a one-day freeze on sales, allowing them to go back on sale Tuesday morning.

Brown, in a new statement tonight, urged people not to buy needlessly. He estimated that there are about 50,000,000 pairs of shoes lying idle in closets or being worn only occasionally and asked the public to "get the maximum wear from the shoes you now have."

probably arrive about March 1, and that an estimated 1,500 men would be on the campus by April 1, the remainder to arrive by July 1.

Couldn't Handle More

Dean L. C. Emmons, dean of Liberal Arts and chairman of a committee to coordinate college activities, said "considerable confusion" would result if any larger number of men was assigned here before April 1.

He pointed out between 1,500 and 2,000 male students on the campus now are members of the enlisted reserve, scheduled to be called to duty after the close of the current term March 21, but that there was indication their departure would be delayed. This, he said, would result in overcrowding if large numbers of soldiers arrived before April 1.

Emmons said the faculty would be readjusted to meet the new requirements and that refresher courses would enable most instructors to transfer from other departments to teach mathematics, physics, history, geography, English and other basic courses required for the soldiers.

To Vacate Wells Hall

"All men's dormitories on the campus, about a dozen fraternity houses and rooming facilities in East Lansing will be made available to the incoming military men," Hannah said. He added the army ordinance would be asked to move 375 men from Wells hall on the campus to some Lansing residence. They are studying gunnery at the Olds Motor works in Lansing.

The president said all male non-military students would be required to vacate campus dormitories, but that adequate facilities would be available for them in East Lansing. He emphasized coed education would be maintained "as long as we are able to do so," declaring girls' dormitories, cooperative houses and sorority houses would not be affected by the housing changeover.

Laboratories for classes in land, architecture, agricultural, engineering, horticulture and soils science will be converted to physics and chemistry courses for the army, Dean Emmons said.

The attack on Naples was characterized by Brig. Gen. Patrick W. Timberlake, chief of the U. S. bomber command in the middle east, as was one of the most successful ever driven home by American forces in that theater. It was, he added, "a prologue of things to come."

The Italian high command acknowledged that damage to Naples was heavy. It claimed, against the Allied report of only two attacking planes lost, that nine raiders were shot down—four at Naples, four at Cagliari and one at Sicily.
