Today's Campus

No Breeze

A certain young Spartan has a story to tell of the Ancon Marine. Becalmed Monday afternoon on a Michigan lake, the young man not only feels the sting of a powerful sun-burn but heavy on his mind are the late minutes his "girl" received just because they missed the last bus from Detroit which could have made the 10 o'clock deadline.

Jam Session

Bicycles are now the accepted mode of transportation, but they are causing traffic jams on the streets of model T's. Last week, Morrison, Detroit section, made the mistake of halting the machine in the Hall. A pile of a campus jammed to carry on a session. Unknown to the student, a section of air was approaching, and at the command of "Section" Morrison, he himself as commander, surrounded as the Japs at Alton.

MSC vs. U. of M.

Private feud goes to war. Spartans and Wolverines carried the meshes to the obstacle course at Camp McCoy, Wis. State men, newcomers at the camp, had a rattle three miles in double time in an effort to defeat their traditional opponents. Enlistment was not rewarded, however for University ROTC men had the advantage of a longer conditioning period.

WKAR Will Feature Interlochen Concert with Ferde Grofe

Announcement of the program to be broadcast from the Interlochen music camp for the coming week was made yesterday by R. J. Coleman, director of WKAR.

Thursday's program will feature string ensembles and the choir, while Friday the 100-piece band will broadcast. Ferde Grofe will be guest conductor of the 165-piece national high school orchestra Saturday.

These broadcasts will be presented during the season every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 7 to 8 p. m. They will be brought to WKAR by direct wire from the Interlochen camp, Coleman said.

Because Michigan State college is a state institution, and the programs are of an educational nature, broadcasts of the Interlochen concerts will be carried in spite of the complaints of James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who last year had the broadcasts suspended.

'Y to Sponsor Dance Following Concert

College YMCA and YWCA groups will co-sponsor an informal dance to be held after the Paul Robeson concert Saturday, according to A/S Bob Vernon, publicity chairman for the event.

All military and civilian students are invited to come to the mixer which is to be held in the faculty dining room of the Union. There will be refreshments. Co-chairmen are A/S Bob Fithian and Barbara Fearnside, St. Clair Scores sophomore.

Concert Slate Lists Robeson for Saturday

Negro Baritone Makes Second Appearance at MSC in a Year

Paul Robeson, immortalizer of "Ol' Man River," will sing for State students and local folk in College auditorium Saturday at 8:15 p. m. S. E. Crowe, director of the lecture series, announced.

"The great singer has all the qualifications needed to stir the heart and imagination," is a typical critic's report on the great Negro singer.

Second Appearance Here

"Ballad for Americans," which follows the growth of America from 1776 to the present age, was made famous by Robeson just as he made "Ol' Man River" his own song in "Show Boat."

Robeson appeared here on the lecture series during the summer session last year. An attempt to book him for the 1942-43 regular concert series was impossible, for Robeson will tour the country in the role of Shakespeare's Othello during the fall and winter.

Performance of this role has established his reputation as an equally apt artist in the spoken drama. Margaret Webster, author, who lectured before State audiences last winter term, is producing the drama and will also appear in it.

Phi Beta Kappa Member

Robeson was graduated from Rutgers university and later studied law at Columbia. He played weekend professional football games to finance his studies. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, named All-American football end for two consecutive years, has letters in.

Students Should Get Reserved Seats Now

All seats for the Paul Robeson concert Saturday will be reserved, according to S. E. Crowe, lecture series director. Students may obtain seats by presenting their treasurer's receipt at the ticket window in the Administration building.

Women wishing to attend the program with after-which should give their receipts to the men, who may get tickets at Mason and Abbot halls. They must have the women's receipts to present, however, and they will be punched when the tickets are issued.

Conscientious Objectors to Be Employed With College Dairy Department Work to Ease Labor Shortages on Campus

*Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service Director, Names Michigan State College as Recipient of Camp for Objectors

Michigan State college's dairy department will have the additional service of six conscientious objectors soon, according to Prof. Earl Weaver, head of the department.

Requests for the men, to ease a severe campus labor shortage, were filed in May, Weaver said, and the first word that the campus was to receive the men came from Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director in Washington, who said yesterday that Michigan State was to have a conscientious objectors camp.

To Get Dairy Jobs

The men were expected to report to Weaver sometime yesterday, and were to be assigned to dairy work, to consist primarily of handling and milking cows in the college dairy barns, and pasteurizing, butter making, cheese making, and ice cream making in the creamery.

As yet no definite living quarters have been established for housing the men, but they will probably live in private homes in East Lansing, Weaver said.

May Need More Men

If six men do not prove sufficient in carrying out the needs of the department in solving labor problems which have arisen in the campus barns, more will be obtained, Weaver said. Although reluctant to commit the college in any matter which might raise controversy or protest, Weaver announced that the plan was sponsored entirely by himself and the dairy department.

The six conscientious objectors are coming to Michigan State from a camp in the northwestern part of the state near Wellton. Dean E. L. Anthony, head of the agriculture department, announced.

To Receive $60 Monthly

They will be paid $60 a month and will be provided with room and board, according to the agreement between selective service officials and Weaver.

Pres. John A. Hannah expressed surprise at the information that the campus would receive the men, saying that he thought although the agriculture division was considering applying for conscientious objectors in an effort to relieve the farm labor shortage, he believed the idea was abandoned because of restrictions governing their use.

No Midterm Grades Given for Six Weeks

Midterm grades will not be issued for students attending the six week summer session, according to S. E. Crowe, summer school director.

Final grades will be issued at the end of the session, and midterms for students attending the full session will be available at the end of the six week session, he said.

CDC Recognizes Campus Work of SWAVes

Spartan Women Auxiliary Volunteers was organized last term as a branch of CDC to give Spartan women more opportunity to do something in the war effort.

One of the important projects which the SWAVes have undertaken is the work with the buildings and grounds department. Women replace men, by doing odd jobs in and about campus buildings. They wash blackboards, sweep floors, rake grass and sweep sidewalks.

SWAVes are also participating in other CDC projects such as helping with the defense booth, organizing entertainment groups for soldiers and working in the defense training classes.

Recognition is given to the following who have given time to the SWAVE project:

Althea Kramer, Virginia Jackson, Mary Conrad, Dorothy Jory, Hilda Stroup, Barbara Lupton, Madelyn Wilming, Mary Louie.

Judiciary Board Names Members

Members of the summer term judiciary board were recently announced by Ida Mihay, business manager and chairman of the board. Representatives were chosen from dormitories, group off-campus and society houses.

The board meets each week on Tuesday evening. Women who have petition for the board to consider should get them in by Monday noon, Miss Mihay said.

Representative from North Williams is Louise Stafford, social chairman; Christie Kerth, West Mary, Norma Jean Oviatt, societies; B. J. Storer, Lorraine Heubach, Doris T. Simpson, co-ops; Doris Fox, off-campus; June Garvey.

Pat Stone, Chicago senior, is secretary for the board, and recording secretary is Mary Paschal, Fremont Ohio, sophomore.

MSC Head on Vacation

Pres. John A. Hannah will take time off from his pressing presidential duties for the next two weeks, as Michigan State college prepares to enroll 1,100 more army men for training.

President Hannah will spend his vacation until July 19 with his family at Good Hart in northern Michigan.

Faculty Victory Gardens Multiply, Thrive

By JUNE MERZ

"Spartan Gardens, Incorporated, the first organization of its kind in East Lansing, was born a year ago last Christmas when faculty members foresaw the advent of a food shortage and determined to be prepared," according to Prof. J. D. Menchhofer, chairman of the Spartan Gardens incorporated.

Includes 26 Acres

The 26 acres of land being used this year are divided into three plots to enable members to work on ones nearest their homes.

"The original plot is at the end of Burcham drive and the additional two are along the Red Cedar and on the western side of town near the water tower." Professor Menchhofer of the speech department, said.

A price of $5 is charged for every quarter acre. This fee includes the plotting and plowing of the land and all additional services given by the organization.

Members Increase

Membership has grown from 65 families last summer to 120 families that were enrolled early in January. Because of the large increase in membership, a similar organization, Wolverine Gardens incorporated, was formed with Prof. J. W. Shirley, of the English department, as its president.

"Eight committees cover everything from plowing the land to marketing the produce," Menchhofer declared. The committees and their chairmen include: Land committee, Prof. Louis A. Wolfanger of the soils department; surveying committee, Prof. A. B. Bowman, forestry department.

Committees Assist

Other committees are: Plowing committee, Prof. R. E. Horwood, dairy department; seed committee, Prof. H. L. Kohls, farm management department; garden methods committee, Prof. O. I. Gregg, horticulture department; labor committee, L. C. Hulbert; marketing committee, Halie Smith, of East Lansing high school.

Spartans at War

By JERRY KENNY

Henry A. Johnson, athletic officer at Camp Davis, N. C., has just been promoted to the rank of major. Brig. Gen. James R. Fowensend, commanding the military artillery training center there, announced

Major Johnson played varsity football at State from 1929 to 1933. His duties at Camp Davis include coaching the athletic teams. He received his second lieutenant's commission after four years of ROTC training.

Lt. Edward A. VanDyne of Mt. Pleasant has been transferred from Brooks field, Texas, to Steward field, near West Point, N. Y. Lieutenant VanDyne, who received his B.S. degree at Michigan State, served as engineering officer of a training squadron.

Back on campus for a few days of his furlough is Pfc. Gerald Gettel. Private Gettel, who graduated in 1942, is a physical education instructor at Warner Robbins field, Ga.

A baseball team created by members of the senior ROTC group at Camp McCoy, Wis., reports a smashing success over a team composed of limited service soldiers who are reputed to be among the best in the service.

Sgt. Bill Trev, Sgt. Floyd Tucker, and Pvt. Walter Prosser, under the captaincy of Sgt. Earl Reed, helped to send the "One Eyed Commandos" down to defeat.

Pvt. Dale Willis of East Lansing is home on a last furlough before active duty. Private Willis, member of the class of 1943, completed one year at Michigan State before entering the service. His itinerary since leaving East Lansing includes Kelley field, Texas; Laughlin field, Texas; and Kearns, Utah. He is returning to Kearns Saturday.

Holden Brothers Place Three in Patriarch's Club

Unique among the ranks of Michigan State patriarchs are the three Holden brothers, Percy, Ellsworth and Berto. "P. G." and "E. A." as they were known, graduated in 1889 when the college was known as Michigan Agricultural college. Berto graduated two years later, in 1891.

Born in Minnesota, the Holden trio moved with their family to Michigan shortly after the Civil war. After finishing the country school course, the three young men began to teach school themselves. Earning money this way and boarding themselves through their college days, the Holdens were able to complete their college education.

All three taught school after graduating from MAC, but Berto later decided to practice agriculture rather than teach it, and settled at Milford where he still lives with his family.

"E. A." Holden turned to real estate and remained in Lansing, his present home. "P. G." Holden continued teaching, and was a member of the Michigan Agricultural college, University of Illinois, and Iowa State college faculties. He now lives in Belleville with his daughter.

Attending State became something of a tradition with the sons and daughters of the Holden brothers. To date a total of 10 first relatives, including two granddaughters, have attended the college.

THE LESS SAID . . .

By NEVA ACKERMAN

LAST spring the new plan to have women working on Buildings and Grounds to help relieve the shortage of man power was met with enthusiasm from women's quarters. The project called SWAVES put many Spartan women at work keeping up the appearance of the campus and buildings.

The sight of a cord mowing a lawn or raking leaves was a familiar one as Spartanettes showed that they were willing to "dig in" the dirt. But all the enthusiasm and pep steamed into the spring campaign has worn off. The Spartan coeds that were seen sweeping roads, mowing sidewalks, or washing blackboards for E and G in order to keep the campus neat to get exercise, a sun tan and a small remuneration have all hibernated for the summer.

So far the SWAVES have been conspicuously absent and regular B and G labor is even more scarce than in the spring. There is now a need for a SWAVE or two to cut down the knee-length grass.

Over at University of Michigan, the Michigan Land Army, which is the Michigan gender of SWAVE, is calling for more volunteers from those "interested" in maintaining the appearance of the campus and getting healthful exercise while getting 60 cents an hour.

Maybe that's the catch, our volunteers only make 40 cents an hour. Or it could be a lack of organizing drive, but mostly it sounds like the summer school coeds are lacking in "push." The novelty has worn off.

With more guests than ever visiting the campus during the summer it is increasingly important that the campus look its best.

It's being done even at Smith, often-called the Country club college, where all women are called upon to give up one hour of service daily without remuneration to the college.

THE position of editor is certainly deteriorating in more ways than one. Editors Mayer and Greene used to have cars but all the present managing editor has is a borrowed bicycle without any brakes.

Twelve University of California coeds recently decorated their boarding house with greenery and entertained soldiers stationed on the campus at a dance. The greenery turned out to be poison oak and the coeds and the housemother were indisposed the next day. No report was given as to the condition of the soldiers.

There must be a less painful way.

Peg Killeen Joins USO Entertainment Unit

Peg Killeen, daughter of Fred Killeen, instructor of voice in the music department, has recently joined the Tabloid Troop unit of the USO entertainment program.

Formerly a member of the Lansing Civic Players guild, Miss Killeen has recently been in New York on one of the top night club circuits in both group and single performances.

LETTERS . . . to the Editor

TO THE Editor:
 Some members of the newly arrived contingent of engineers stationed at Wells Hall were wondering what the people here thought of their invasion of the campus.

Well, here's one gal's opinion, open to the objections or affirmations of anyone, here or there. I don't mind them at all, and I think they will do us some good.

Before they came, this place was an escapee's paradise. Who would have thought there was a war, what with only a shortage in chocolate ice cream and lollipops.

Sure, the men were being called to military service along, but that just gave us a chance to be among those who were writing to service men.

Of course, those who had members of their immediate family fighting on Pacific or African fronts knew there was really something to all of those page 1 stories. But not many acted as though this was really the serious thing it is.

There is the mutual problem. See LETTER—Page 1

Wells Hall, Traditional Men's Residence, Loaned to Army

College History Revealed in Story of Residence

You haven't lived until you've lived in Wells hall. It is an old building, retained at State, but because of the increased number of students, scheduled to be opened on campus this year's dormitory will be denied the pleasure of living a la Wells.

Spokane men marked the first year that Spartan men were able to return to the army barracks. Held by the army for three consecutive seasons last year, it now again returns to the hands of the duration.

As a tribute for incoming freshmen, Wells hall has been the scene of many acts of devilry. Favorite pastime of residents in the days of yore was the evening of the W and H in the sign in front of the building. The sign has long since been removed.

Wells hall has been rebuilt twice. Burned to the ground in 1876 it was rebuilt in 1877. Again an ash heap in 1905, it was ready for school in the fall term of 1907. Nothing is known about the cause of the first fire, but the second one has been explained by the simple statement that boys will be boys.

The present building was erected in six compartments or ward with no-proof walls between—thus rendering more than one rooming man to exterminate it again. The original plans called for accommodations for 156 students, but army demands have increased that number to 300.

The housing club meals that were termed the "awful five" have undergone as much reformation as the building itself. The old menus which consisted of Spanish rice, beans, noodles, ash and meat balls have been replaced with vitamin-conscious plates. J. W. Turner, resident manager, was the force behind this dining room reform.

In recent years the dormitory has undergone a complete face-lifting in the form of new steel doors, linoleum covered floors, paint job and decorations.

Full of pianos, chairs, bunks and blue study lights, Wells hall has whistled and catcalled to passing coeds for many years. It has gloriied in the fact that it is the only place where the weak cries for help can be heard when some undirected canoe splashes over the rapids.

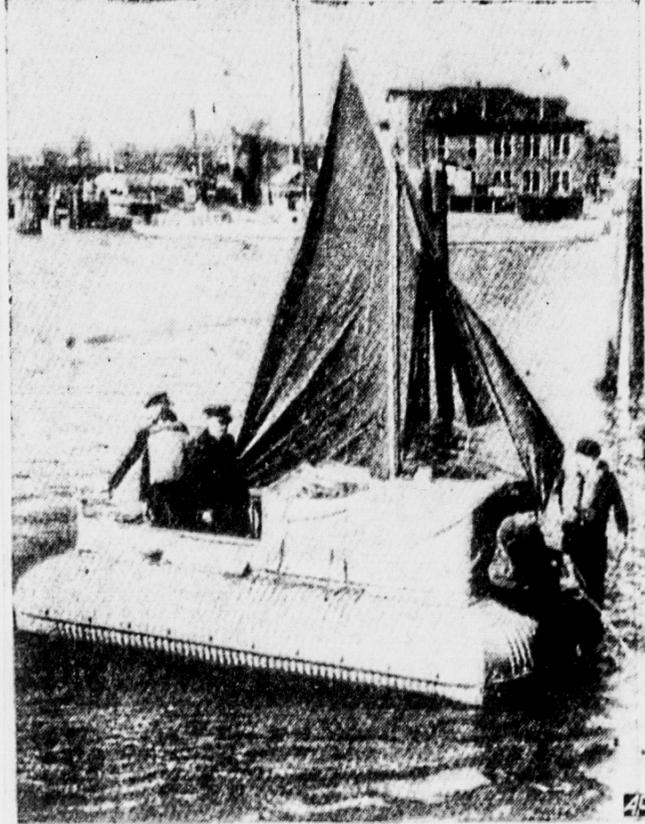

Carrying on its part in the All Out for Victory campaign, Wells hall will again be a military "home" for the incoming soldier-students in engineering and language and area.

CDC Defense Booth, Surgical Class Tell New Schedules

The CDC defense booth will be open every day except Saturdays and Sundays from 4 to 5:30 p. m. The booth, which will also be the war stamp-selling booth, rumor clinic, and B and G stand-up booth, is located in the main lounge of the Union.

The surgical dressings class will meet on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p. m. instead of 5 to 6 p. m. as previously announced. The class will meet in the student parlors of Peoples church and the girls are asked to wear wash dresses and coverings for their hair.

Navy Demonstrates New Life Raft

Third Aircrew Unit to Stage Graduation

Squadrons E and F Mark End of College Work at Dance Friday

Squadrons E and F will mark their graduation from the 310th CTD at Michigan State with a dance at 9 p. m. Friday in the Union ballroom, according to Lt. F. W. Miller, public relations officer.

This is the third group to be graduated from the pre-flight training course here. The units will leave for pre-flight school this weekend.

The Hep Eilers, 13-piece all-aircrew orchestra led by Pvt. Roman Tross, will furnish the music. June Hays will be featured as vocalist with the orchestra. Only aircrewmembers in the two graduating squadrons will be permitted to attend.

A quartet made up of men from the two graduating squadrons will present intermission entertainment.

Special guests for the evening will be Lt. C. W. Johnston, tactical officer; Capt. and Mrs. R. S. Uzzell, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bachman.

Squadron H Claims Title of Best Marching Unit

Squadron H was named the best marching unit at the regular 310th CTD parade at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. The troops were reviewed by Capt. Carl Modglin, new commanding officer.

Open post for the aircrewmembers now begins immediately after the parade instead of in the afternoon as before.

Official dedication ceremonies for a new steel flag staff presented to the 310th CTD, army air forces, by the Olds Motor company workers, took place at retreat ceremonies Sunday.

55 Feet High
The flag staff, erected near the detachment headquarters, is 55 feet high and is anchored in concrete. It will provide the unit with means of raising and lowering the flag at reveille and retreat, which they had previously lacked.

At the retreat ceremonies the entire aircrew unit was present. The 60-piece aircrew band played.

Presented by G. R. Browder
G. R. Browder of Oldsmobile presented it in the name of all employees of the company, and Capt. Carl F. Modglin, commanding officer of the detachment, made the official acceptance.

In his acceptance speech, Captain Modglin noted the fact that the flag is not merely a military emblem, but that it signifies loyalty, courage, and patriotism of civilians as well.

Spirit of Loyalty

He also said that the conversion of the peacetime automotive plant of Oldsmobile into an important war industry, producing guns and other essential war implements, which contribute in a large measure to the success of our fighting men, is characteristic of this spirit of civilian loyalty.

Poultrymen's Short Course to Be Held Here July 26-30

A five-day short course for poultrymen, concentrating on flock selection and blood testing, will be held at Michigan State college from July 26 to 30. R. W. Tenny, director of the course, announced yesterday.

There will be classroom and laboratory instruction in phases of poultry breeding, culling, egg production, and control of pullorum disease. Breeders will also receive instructions and practice in testing for diseases.

Annual meetings of the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association and the Michigan Registry of Production association will be held in conjunction with the school on July 30, Tenny said.

Registration for the course will begin at 9 a. m. July 26, at 117 Agricultural hall.

Recently attaining the rank of a commissioned officer in the naval air corps is Ralph S. Jennings, Jr. Ensign Jennings, a native of Howard City, studied business administration here. He was commissioned at the training center in Corpus Christi, Texas.

How to be comfortable when you're taking a beating!

Whether it's golf or tennis, ping-pong or gym-rummy, you'll be comfortable in body (if not in mind) in an Arrow Sports Shirt!

For Arrow Sports Shirts are sized just like regular shirts — not the ordinary small, medium and large. So you're sure of a perfect fit. And the Sanforized-label (fabric shrinkage less than 1%) keeps that perfect fit!
