Doctor Lee Begins Chinese History Class at State

Dr. Shao Chang Lee, formerly a sociologist with the University of Hawaii, will begin teaching tomorrow in the new institute of foreign studies at State.

Dr. Lee will teach two three-hour courses, Chinese civilization and the history of China since 1750. Aside from his classes, Dr. Lee, according to Dean F. C. Emmons of the Liberal Arts division, will lecture independently to organizations both on and off campus. Several lectures have already been scheduled for the teacher who arrives today.

Since 1922 Dr. Lee has been professor of Chinese language and history in the University of Hawaii. There, he organized and developed their oriental studies institute and helped with the establishment of the university's oriental library.

Professor Lee has traveled all over China, has been a member of various research expeditions in the country and has traveled widely in both the eastern and western sections of the United States.

He comes to Michigan State after experiences in oriental and American universities, including the University of California. He has degrees from Tsinghua university and from Yale and Columbia universities in the United States.

Balkan Fighting Flares as Raids Blast Germans

ALLIED FORCES, ALGERIA, Oct. 11 (AP) — By land, air and sea the Allies have gradually developed an offensive in the Balkans until it has become a continuous campaign to that in Italy.

At the Allied air forces of both the Western Allies and the middle east, according to the Germans, in Greece, Czechoslovakia, the Dodecanese Islands, and Crete, and Yugoslavia, attacking them on land and the Balkan fighting to day is more extensive than at any time since the British evacuated their expeditionary force in the spring of 1941.

Yankees Win World Series by Defeating St. Louis, 2-0

Dickey Wins Game by Sixth Inning Homer

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP) — The New York Yankees re-established their supremacy in baseball today by conquering the desperately struggling St. Louis Cardinals 2 to 0 before 33,872 fans for their fourth victory in five games of the 1943 world series.

It was the tenth world championship for the deadly Yankees, and the clincher was delivered by two of the veterans who have shared in the spoils of many of those previous triumphs, pitcher Stan Chandler and catcher Bill Dickey.

The 36-year-old Dickey, one of the greatest backstops in the history of the game, decided the final struggle in the sixth inning with a two-run homer that landed on the roof of the right field pavilion, 345 feet from the plate.

Chandler Wins Again

It was a mighty blow to the Yankees' career of Dickey, who has been on nine Yankee squads in the world series, starting as a rookie in 1928 and helped Chandler, the 34-year-old dean of New York's mound staff, to his second success of the series.

Without this hefty home run, the last contest of the series might easily have gone either way in spite of the shutout pitching of the Georgian right-hander, for Chandler was pelted for 10 hits and was kept in almost constant trouble by the Cardinals.

At the start of the duel it was Joe Mauer, Cooper, and the Cardinals, who appeared invincible as he struck out the first five batters he faced and he was going strong in search of a repeat victory over the Yanks right up until the time Dickey punched the winning ticket.

Keller Singles

He had retired the first two batters in the top half of the sixth when Charley Keller, an example in utility during most of the series, topped a ball that rolled into right field for a single.

On the next pitch Dickey homered out his homer and that was the ball game, although there were other trimmings for the fans, whose presence brought a new attendance record of 27,312 for a five game series.

Altogether the Yankees made just seven hits and Dickey's clout was only his fifth of the series, but it was his fourth with men on bases and the third which drove in runs.

The Cardinals used every effort Manager Billy Southworth could conceive to stave off defeat. They made two changes in their outfield, substituting Johnny Hopp and Debs Garms for Harry Walker and Danny Lat, and they tried to stir up their old base-running style of speed and thunder.

New MP Unit Will Include AST, Aircrew

Capt. E. Bremer Named as Provost Marshal of Police Staff

Heading the newly created military police unit at State is Capt. Ernest Bremer of the AST, MSC graduate with the class of '40, who was appointed as provost marshal. Assisting him as assistant provost marshal is Lt. Norman Scott of the 310th CTD, MSC commandant. Col. George E. Egger, announced yesterday.

Captain Bremer was active in football and track while at State and was also a member of Excalibur, senior men's honorary. Lieutenant Scott is tactical officer of the 310th CTD and before coming here last February was stationed at Randolph Field, Texas.

The first detachment of MP's made up of a staff of military policemen chosen from the ranks of AST and aircrewmen, was on duty Saturday night. A sizeable staff will be assigned to maintain order in the Lansing, East Lansing area on Saturdays and Sundays.

This program, worked out by the AST and 310th CTD, was instituted because the military post at MSC has increased in size and, as in other posts of considerable number, an MP unit must be maintained.

MP's will work in pairs of one aircrewman and one AST man. They will wear the MP arm-bands, carry nightsticks, and also have full MP authority, Captain Bremer said.

Men were selected for this work because of qualifications befitting this type of work, and have had some experience, Captain Bremer added.

Gene Dennison, general chairman, announced that all boxes collected by representatives must be in the office Friday.

Senior Record Exam Will Be Scheduled for Winter Term

Although there is not the same need for the graduate record examination there has been in previous years, an examination will be scheduled for winter term, according to Dean L. C. Emmons.

Dean Emmons stated that the ROTC men who have returned to campus and who have the required 180 hours are eligible for the test, providing that they are still stationed at State.

Serving as added information on student records, the examination provides excellent foundation for future work in the graduate schools of the country, since a similar test is usually given upon entrance to a graduate school.
