Search of Jap Camp Reveals Collection of Homemade Bombs

TULE LAKE, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—A partial "cleaning out" of buildings of the vast Tule Lake Japanese segregation camp has disclosed an undetermined num- ber of weapons, including home- made bombs and hundreds of knives.

That was learned through un- official sources, but Col. Verne Austin, commanding army troops which took over administration of the camp, would say only "no comment" to questions.

The search by soldiers still was in progress and is expected to require another day or two.

Hints from inside the camp indicated there were distur- bances of an undisclosed nature late Sunday and yesterday, but whether these were a conse- quence of the search for weap- ons could not be learned.

Russian Armies Threaten Capture of Korostin Near Polish Frontier

Moscow newspapers printed the above map showing por- tions of the eastern front where heaviest action was in progress. Stated area is German-held. Since then, the Soviets have forged ahead through Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and to a depth of 50 miles beyond the city.

Moscow Reports New Red Landing Trial in Crimea

LONDON, Nov. 9 (AP)— Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's con- querors of Kiev fanned out in a 50-mile deep arc around the liberated Ukrainian capital today, capturing more than 80 populated places and driving to within 38 miles of the big rail hub of Korosten. Mos- cow announced tonight.

Rolling 27 miles north- westward from Kiev along the main rail line to Korosten, the Rus- sian troops captured the district center and railway station of Bosodyanka in their deepest lunge toward this strategic junc- tion, which controls the last rail- way short of Poland connecting German armies in the north with German held territory south and west of Kiev.

The ultimate objective of the big breakthrough today north- west and south from Kiev ap- peared to be—as the Nazis them- selves said apprehensively today—complete isolation of the many battered German divisions with- in the great bend of the Dnie- per river.

Among the 60 populated places falling to the Russians in the western Ukraine were 14 large ones, said Moscow's daily bulle- tin, recorded by the Soviet mon- itor.

In the Crimea, where the Ger- mans said the Russians had made new landing attempts on the Kerch peninsula, Moscow said only that the Red army fought to extend its bridgehead.

THE LESS SAID . . .

By NEVA ACKERMAN

MARINES on the fighting fronts and in training camps all over the United States are celebrating the 160th birthday of the U. S. Marine Corps today.

The fighting marines can trace their ancestry back to the ancient Roman and Greek galley-borne fighters. Direct ancestors of the U. S. marines were the British royal marines who patrolled the American colonies as far back as 1664.

The corps was unofficially organized in this country as soon as the Revolutionary war broke out. Benedict Arnold led in the formation of the group of fighters whose first feat was to capture a British vessel and use it to protect Lake Champlain.

Continental Congresses, impressed by the work of this unit, passed an act officially setting up the U. S. marines on Nov. 10, 1775. Tun Tavern, Philadelphia, meeting place of Benjamin Franklin and colonial leaders is considered the birthplace of the corps.

Early recruits for the marines were drawn from the idle men from the waterfronts who were enticed to sign up by promises of prize money, pensions, ample rations, and a regular salary of $102.

The marines fought with Washington in Revolutionary battles as well as aiding John Paul Jones in the capture of the bonhomme Richard. When peace was made with Great Britain, the United States disposed of the navy to save money.

Agitation was begun for a navy in 1791 after the country was forced to pay tribute to pirate raiders but no action was taken until war broke out between England and France. Since both nations had seized our merchant ships, Congress authorized a new marine corps July 11, 1790 to take the place of the navy.

Through its history the marines have held as a tradition "first landing." To us the most notable of these was the landing at Guadalcanal. The original "first landing" was in 1770 when the leathernecks captured the fort and town of New Providence in the Bahamas, seizing British supplies.

Bearing out the slogan "from the halls of Montezuma," records show that the marines have fought in the Mediterranean, the Caribbean and at Haiti, Argentina, China, Fiji Islands, Sumatra, Uruguay, Formosa and Korea. They have also figured in battles at Panama, Egypt, Hawaii, Cuba, Philippines, and Santo Domingo.

The "rightest unit" also made its first trip to Japan in 1853 when they landed with Commodore Perry to open the islands to foreign trade. And the ultimate aim of all marines in the South Pacific is to make history in the near future.

The nickname "leathernecks" also is a part of the history of the marines. The title came from the high leather collars they originally wore to protect their throats from slashing cutlasses during boarding operations. Though the uniform is changed, the name has stayed with the unit.

The men are carrying on in the colorful tradition which has always been a characteristic of theirs.

The "leathernecks" haven't forgotten the history of the "rightest" as evidenced in their current South Pacific efforts. The tales of the encounters with pirates and the battles of World War I have been matched by the stand of the 319 marines on Wake Island the landings on Guadalcanal and other Pacific battles.

United Nations Agree to Aid Civilians in Freed Countries

Document to Act as Post-War Allied Link

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Representatives of 44 nations and associated nations sat below the brilliant flags of as many countries in the White House today and signed an agreement to feed, clothe, and shelter the suffering civilian victims of Axis aggression as their homelands are liberated—an agreement which President Roosevelt hailed as historic.

"Coming after the declaration of Moscow," the president told his distinguished audience in the red and gold East room, "this agreement shows that we mean business in this war in a political and humanitarian sense just as surely as we mean business in a military sense."

He declared that it represented one more "strong link" joining the allies and their sympathizers at a time "when our military power is becoming preeminent when our enemies are being pushed back—all over the world."

Later at his news conference, the president re-emphasized what he called the great importance of the relief agreement, pointing out that it represented the first permanent organization to be kind growing out of the war association.

The chief executive told newsmen that the emphasis would be on relief in the broad sense and rehabilitation in a limited sense. For the purposes of the program, he interpreted rehabilitation to mean, among other things, seed, farm implements, and the nucleus of dairy herds.

Roosevelt pointed out that arrangements to give effect to the international relief agreement will be subject to ratification by legislatures.

Ex-Wisconsin Men to Play Against Alma Mater

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 9 (AP)—

Wisconsin's Harry Stuhldreher can dispense with scouting reports this week, but his strong familiarity with the Badger-bustling Michigan squad appears only worth an extra supply of headache powders.

Stuhldreher probably knows every move that Elroy Hirsch, Fred Negus, Jack Wink and the rest of seven starting ex-Wisconsin players will make for Michigan here Saturday, but stopping them appears beyond the capability of his war-wrecked forces.

Welcoming trainers disclosed today that Hirsch suffered nothing more serious than a bruised shoulder muscle against Indiana last Saturday and should be ready for action this weekend. An X-ray examination yesterday showed Hirsch's upper arm had not been fractured as was first feared.

An enthusiastic desire to play against their old school is understandable in the case of most of the former Badgers. With the exception of Hirsch, Negus, Wink and Bob Handlik, the marine contingent from Madison had reserve ranking last season.

New Battle Rages Against Landings at Bougainville

S.W. PACIFIC ALLIED HDQ.

Wednesday, Nov. 10 (AP)—Under cover of darkness, the Japanese landed several hundred troops with supplies from nascent Bougainville night and early Sunday morn of the U.S. Navy time headquarters at Empress Augusta bay, headquarters announced today.

The American forces now are in contact with these forces.

The Japs went ashore from 21 barges which possibly crossed the southwest run from police on Bougainville's northern tip under protection of a heavy cruiser and two destroyers. Yesterday's communique had reported low level torpedo attacks by Australian-managed Bear forces on these warships during which the destroyers were believed hit.

The landing was made at Aumima bay several miles above the northern edge of the marine perimeter and near the mouth of the Laruma river. The river forms the northern edge of the beachhead where the machines landed Nov. 7 on the last big enemy Solomon island barring the way to Rabaul.

Lansing City Council Votes to Remain on Fast Time

LANSING, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Lansing city council has voted to keep the city on "fast" time for the duration, while state officers continue to use their own judgment as to whether they operate on slow or fast time.

The council's decision followed the recommendation of the city's voters in a referendum last Tuesday when a majority cast their ballots in favor of eastern war time.

Notre Dame Faces 'Wildcat' Team

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 9 (AP)—

Northwestern's Wildcats, back in strong stride after a faltering start, will be at the peak of their power against Notre Dame Saturday.

The Purple machine functioned in low gear against Indiana and Michigan, picked up a bit of speed in rolling over Great Lakes and Ohio State, but didn't reach its maximum operating efficiency until it barged through Minnesota, and Wisconsin like a thundering tank.

The two latter games, in which the Wildcats ran up 23 points in contrast to the 41 they compiled in four earlier contests, demonstrate that their attack is clicking.

The fact that Notre Dame has remained in scoring straits since the season's first kick-off coupled with the recent show of strength by Northwestern, indicates that a capacity crowd of 27,000 spectators who will fill Lyche stadium will see a spectacular battle of offenses.

Roosevelt to Deliver Lend-Lease Message

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—

President Roosevelt announced today that he will send a message dealing with lend-lease, particularly raw materials, to congress Thursday. Concern has been expressed at the capital that aid to the Allies is draining this country of natural resources.

Roosevelt also told his press radio conference that the British government will issue a white paper the same day and he indicated it would deal with the same subject. He said a reading would show, however, that the two documents were prepared independently.

Germans Build Winter Line Across Italy

British Army Drives Five Miles to Reach East Anchor of Position

ALLIED HDQ., ALGERIA, Nov. 9 (AP)—The German command, using Italian slave labor, has erected a new "winter line" across Italy directly in front of the present positions of the Allies, it was disclosed today, and is pouring in reinforcements in its greatest effort to date to stem the drive of the Allied armies southward.

Even as existence of the line was disclosed by German soldiers captured at various points along the front, Allied armies already were pounding against it.

The British eighth army smashed forward in a five-mile burst which caught the Germans off guard and caused the area of the mouth of the Sangro river at the new line to become a scene of bitter fighting.

Nearly 50 towns and villages passed into Allied hands as a result of Allied gains along the Adriatic coast and in the central sector near Termoli.

Bad Weather Reported
The west heavy rain and strong formations of enemy tanks and guns in the Mignano area along the main road to Rome kept the British army near a standstill.

The western buttress of the new Nazi line is the Aurina mountains on the Tyrrhenian coast some 80 miles northwest of Naples. An Adriatic section is on heights north of the river Sangro. Between these two ends it makes use of some of the most rugged mountains in Italy, with peaks rising to almost 7,000 feet.

The committee reshuffled over French attention, meanwhile away from the disinterested assembly which elected Felix Giraud, former socialist deputy from near Marseilles, its presiding officer, and completed its organization with the selection of four vice-presidents and four secretaries.

The assembly also voted to ask the underground council of resistance to send two more delegates for Absace and Lorraine.

Chinese Blast Jap Communications

CHUNGKING, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight that one of three Japanese columns fighting on the central Szechwan front had penetrated Chinese lines but said the other columns had been checked with "heavy sacrifices" to the invaders.

On the Burma front warplanes from Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's 14th Air Force, 7th Air Force, and Chinese ground troops blasted at Japanese shipping and air and communication bases, while Indian-based Allied planes raided Japanese targets in northern Burma.

The scale of the Japanese operations in central China caused speculation as to whether the invaders might be aiming a thrust toward Chungking. The advance of the Japanese was in the same direction they took last May when it was believed they might be launching a drive at Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters.
