Snow Fight

At least three coeds will remember before they start throwing snowballs again. Tuesday they took a few pot shots at a marching group of aircrewmembers passing the women's gym. The section leader called for "break ranks" and the three women found themselves on the pursued end of a snow battle. Results of the battle were three freshly washed faces, and ladies who will "Lay those snowballs down, babe," hereafter.

The Shoes Have It

A notice on the door yesterday required that all persons entering the State News office remove their shoes before stepping on the highly polished floors. Some wit, noting the Chinese-like lineup of shoes in the hall outside the office in the Union annex, tied the shoelaces together, and caused a minor pandemonium when exit was desired.

British Announce Seizure of Leros by Nazi Invader

CAIRO, Nov. 17 (AP)—The day but strategic island of Leros has been captured by the Germans in five days of heavy fighting despite a "most determined resistance" put up by its British and Italian defenders, the British middle east command announced today.

Allied forces were unable to retake the island, who subjected the island's 23 square miles to a terrific pounding from the air, meanwhile continuing to land reinforcements by boat and by parachute.

The battle, which began with a German landing Friday, ended last night.

The Germans' tactics were similar to those used in their capture of Crete in a major victory in this area two and one-half years ago. They won for Hitler the second Dodecanese island in three weeks. The British announced on Oct. 26 the evacuation of the island, 20 miles south of Leros, under similar German assault.

Loss of Leros to the Germans brought up questioning in Britain of the entire eastern Mediterranean tactics. Some sections of the British press were reported to be questioning the tactics of replacing the British middle east commander, Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, but this suggestion found no support in official quarters, which showed no great alarm at the turn of events in the Aegean.)

Lee Urges Education by Loyal Japanese

Re-education of Japan at the end of the war should be directed by loyal Japanese-Americans, Dr. Shao Chang Lee, professor in the Institute of Foreign Studies, suggested today.

Dr. Lee advised training Americans of Japanese extraction in Hawaii and on the Pacific coast so that they are "so imbued with the American spirit and ideals of democracy that they can be sent to Japan to become truly envoys of good will."

This program would involve "making Japan a reformatory school" for awhile, the Chinese scholar declared.

Honor Society Extends Bids to 36 Seniors

Organization Schedules Initiation Ceremonies for First of Year

Thirty-six seniors and three faculty members have been extended an invitation to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society, according to Katherine Hart, secretary of the organization.

Founded 38 years ago, Phi Kappa Phi is now established in most state colleges and universities. Students initiated into this honorary must have an all-college scholastic average of 2.25, while faculty members must attain a position of distinction in their particular field.

Six of the seniors elected to the organization are now attending other schools or serving in the armed forces. Those on campus now will take part in initiation ceremonies sometime in January. Special arrangements will be made for students not able to attend the January ceremony.

Seniors Elected

Seniors elected to Phi Kappa Phi are: Jean Barnum, Williamsburg, N. Y.; Wilfred Potter Bennett, Milford; A. Morse Betts, Lansing; Gloria Bishop, Lake Odessa; Warren Brandt, Lansing; Shirley Brink, Lansing; Joyce Carrow, Clinton; Evelyn Church, Bad Axe, and Franklin Custer, Oakland, Md.

Others Chosen

More names include Pat Myron S. Miller, Webberville; Marvin Mitchell, Detroit; William Nickols, Lansing; Richard Pardon, Detroit; Albert Sauer, Kent City; Parker Sharrard, Imbay City; Grace Sidoti, Lansing; Alice Smalley, Flint; Theodore Sprague, Vermontville; and Alice VanAken, Eaton Rapids.

She Plays Claudia

MYRA (BUNNY) BUCHHOLZ DILLINGHAM (above), East Lansing senior, will play the leading role in the fall term play, "Claudia." Bill White, Detroit freshman, will play opposite her as David, Claudia's husband.

New Dancing Ban Upheld by Council

Student council went on record last night as almost unanimously opposed to the continuance of after-dinner dancing in the Union mixed lounge and no further action will be taken by that body on the matter.

Contrary to general student opinion, the student-faculty social committee was responsible for dropping the dances, and not the faculty, as male students believed.

Most of the women attending the dances were found to be either enlisted men's wives or high school girls and not college women for whom the entertainment was originally planned.

Atlantic Monthly Editor Will Speak on War-Inspired Literature Tonight

EDWARD WEEKS... to speak tonight...

The significance of the books which are coming out of the world at war and impressions gained while traveling through a country in the last summer make up the material for tonight's lecture series.

Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, will discuss these topics at 8:15 in College Auditorium, according to S. E. Crowe, director of the series.

The editor will use books such as "Connecticut Yankee," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," and "Daylight on Saturday" to illustrate his belief that present and forthcoming books will bring about a "definite and perhaps brilliant upsurge in American writing."

Weeks will discuss the dominant trends in American writing such as the need of a new American humorist and the shortage of good short stories.

In offering suggestions to young short story writers, he urges them to get more "sweetness and light" into their works. He believes that current poetry, which is on the increase, is clearer and more meaningful.

African Forces Widen Mediterranean Front to Strike at Enemy Airport

American Ground Operations in Italy Hampered by Bad Weather as Chances for Resumption of Major Fifth Army Attacks Fade

ALLIED HDQ., ALGIERS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Attacking on a front of more than 1,000 miles, bombers of the north-west African air force struck their heaviest blow of recent weeks yesterday when they smashed enemy air-dromes near Marseilles in southern France and in the Athens area in Greece.

Germans Counter Force Reds from Ukrainian Towns

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Russians announced tonight that the Germans had forced them to abandon "a few populated places" in the Zhitomir-Korostyev region of the northern Ukraine, indicating that the Germans had launched a new counteroffensive against the underside of the Red army's salient in the west.

This setback, the first announced by the Soviet command in weeks of steady progress along a wide front, was described only briefly in the daily Soviet communique, which reported continuing rains in the Dnieper bend and in the Gomel area to the north.

Large forces of German infantry and tanks smashed heavily at the southern flank of the salient at Zhitomir and Korostyev, 15 miles to the east, said the Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor from a broadcast.

The Russians fought stubbornly, said the bulletin, but under the terrific pounding of the German forces, gave way.

Workshop to Feature 'Harold and Elena' on Broadcast Today

Radio Workshop will present "Harold and Elena" over WKAR today at 4 p.m. The production will be under the direction of Joe Callaway of the speech department.

Music will be under the direction of Dorothy Walton, Pontiac senior. Gloria Bell, Detroit senior, will have charge of sound effects.

Members of the cast for the student production include: Bob Kamin, Lansing junior; Maxine Evestone, Lansing junior; Marie Robinson, Lockport, N.Y., graduate student and Dick Schubel, Lansing sophomore.

Third Bridge Contest Listed for Saturday

The third bridge tournament in the series sponsored by Union board will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the faculty dining room in the Union. Bob Edgell, Elmira, N. Y., junior, and chairman of the event, announced last night.

Persons who have not played in any of the other tournaments may enter the contest. Edgell said. Prizes will be awarded the winners as in the previous games.

One more preliminary meet will be held before the final round.

Blistering onslaughts by Flying Fortresses and Marauders against fields at Istres Le Tube and Salon, near Marseilles, were aimed primarily at the destruction of fleets of German long-range bombers that have been harassing Allied shipping in the Mediterranean.

Bombers Blast Airfield

Another force of Mitchell medium bombers whipped eastward from their Italian bases to blast the Eleusis airfield near Athens for the second straight day.

While the Allies' Mediterranean air activity fanned out on an ever broadening front, ground operations in Italy were cursed by dismal weather, with high winds, rain and snow hampering the movements of men and supplies. For a week Allied guns had been measured by yards instead of by miles, and resumption of major fighting did not appear imminent.

Fifth Army Gains

Several brisk patrol actions were reported from the various sectors. The most important resulted in Americans of the fifth army regaining some high ground on Monte Santa Croce north of Venafro which had been lost the preceding day on two strong German counterattacks.

Four Publications Hold Open House

Four campus publications held open house last night, acquainting the public with their organizations.

In the State News office, Matrix, women's journalism honorary, featured a display showing achievements of women who write. Meanwhile members of the regular staff went about their nightly tasks, writing local copy and editing Associated Press wire copy.

Scotty Curver, Royal Oak sophomore, and Dorothy Arrigo, Buffalo sophomore, of the Spartan art staff, demonstrated copy in the making.

Night work in the Wolverine office included sorting of senior pictures under the direction of Doris Englehardt, classes editor. A poster display showed steps in the photo-engraving process.

Also presenting their exhibit in the Wolverine office, the MSC Veterinarian illustrated all stages of production.

LETTERS

To the Editor

TO THE Editor:

Yes, shame on the army men is right. We wonder if the service men on campus realize that the boys in Italy aren't dancing. Is it courteous to ask visitors to enter our Union through the annex? Week days are not play days for any college student. No one has ever objected to Saturday tea dances. These have sufficed in years past.

From the feminine point of view, jitterbugging in the mixed lounge on week days is unnecessary.

PHI KAPPA PHI

Still others are Bruce Wangen, Traverse City; Harris Webster, East Lansing; Betty Willis, Charlevoix; Gilbert Wise, East Lansing; Dorothy Wiertel, Detroit; and Jeanette Yoss, Detroit.

Faculty members receiving invitations to membership include Dr. Paul Honigsheim of the sociology department; Dr. Chester A. Lawson of the zoology department; and Dr. Hans L. Leonhardt of the history department.

4-H Club Plans Meeting

Campus 4-H club will hold a short business meeting tonight at 7 in room 401, Ag. hall, according to Sophie Bimba, president. All former members of 4-H are invited to attend.

The University of Minnesota Memorial Stadium got its start when a cheerleader passed the hat at a football game, asking the crowd to help pay for a huge stadium to be erected in honor of the Minnesota men who, at that time, were fighting in World War I.

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

By BARBARA DENNISON

SEVERAL college campuses in neighboring states have initiated a series of nickel hops to help fill gaps in a depleted social calendar this term. Although the basic idea of the dances has not come to light in their papers, a Michigan State version might be arranged to conceivable advantage.

One way to accomplish it would be to set a definite evening for the affair and have all dorms, sororities, co-ops and other women's residences open.

The point being . . . men who come to the houses pay a nickel for the privilege of dancing with a coed. If the dance is pleasing to all concerned, so much the better, and the man can stay on the rest of the evening.

If he is not satisfied, he can pay another nickel and try again. Each time he wants to dance with a different woman, he must pay another nickel. It puts a date a little on the monetary basis, but the evening is cheap enough for all but the wolves, who must dance with every pretty girl they see.

Music is furnished by records at each house. It is an inexpensive way to meet a lot of women and perhaps wind up with a good date.

Persons with pre-arranged dates should forfeit a nickel if they are not going to attend the nickel hop. Men could go from one house to another and would not necessarily be confined to one house just because he went there first.

The whole scheme might work out like a mass blind date at fair only both parties could see just what they were getting in to before it was too late to back out.

The proceeds from the nickel hops could be pooled from all the houses and the total used to sponsor an all-college dance, so much in demand at all times.

If proceeds were not sufficient from the first dance, successive dances could follow until enough funds were accumulated to put on a big dance.

Modifications of the plan may be desirable and forthcoming, but once started, it seems logical that it has possibilities of becoming a good way to spend an otherwise boring evening.

Typhoon, Flood Hit Manila

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Manila has been paralyzed by a typhoon and flood which inundated most of the city, wrecked homes and disrupted electric power, gas, water and telephone services, the Japanese-controlled Manila radio disclosed tonight in a broadcast recorded by the OWI.

Other sections of the Philippines were also hit by the typhoon and flood, it was said, but the localities were not specified.

Women Ushers Add Bit of Glamour to Year's College Entertainment

By MARION HECKEL

"Tickets, please," and the first nighter is escorted directly to his seat. But, as with many things on campus, the usher is a feminine gentleman at College Auditorium these days.

Early last summer, J. M. Kutt, college cashier, who directs the activities of the ushers for the lecture series and other campus programs presented at the auditorium, discovered that only five of his male staff remained.

Obtaining permission from C. O. Wilkins, college treasurer, Kutt passed the word through women working in the administration offices, and before long coeds began coming in to apply for positions on the depleted list of ushers.

Although the full list contains approximately 60 names, the women do not all come for one evening's performance. They work in groups of two at each of the downstairs entrances, and at the stairway entrances on the balcony.

Army Groups Plan Weekend Dances

Aircrewmembers List Three Parties on Social Schedule

On the social schedule for aircrewmembers this week is the graduating dance for squadrons E and F, which will be held in the Union ballroom Friday, Nov. 19, from 9 to 12 p.m., according to Lt. Kenneth Firster, 310th special service officer.

The informal dance is open to all squadron E and F men and their guests, and the Hepburns will furnish the music. Chaperons are Maj. and Mrs. Johnson, and Lt. and Mrs. Nathan Scott.

Also held for the graduating men was a student officer dance last night for all commissioned student officers of E and F. The dance, a date affair, was sponsored by other student officers from the remaining squadrons. Refreshments were served, and acts and novelty numbers presented.

Tickets are still on sale for the Art Kassel formal dance, scheduled for Friday, Nov. 26, in College auditorium. Tickets can be obtained from the squadron chairman of each squadron or from Lieutenant Firster.

Back from Front Second AST Dance

Open to Soldiers. Civilian Students

LT. COL. MERRILL B. TWINING, USMC, assistant chief of staff to General Vandegrift on Guadalcanal, has returned to the U. S. after two years overseas.

The second AST dance will be held Saturday from 9 to 12 p.m. in Demonstration hall, according to Lt. R. L. Snelton, special service officer.

Tickets are on sale at the Union desk for the general public and will be on sale until Saturday evening.

G. I. Yardbirds will furnish the music, and Capt. and Mrs. Andrew Hoover, and Capt. and Mrs. William Guliam, will act as patrons.

This dance is the second in a series of clubroom affairs for the AST, and in order to have the clubroom function efficiently, the general public is being asked to donate such articles as ping pong tables, a pool table, floor lamps, and ash stands and trays.

STRICTLY G. I.

By DEE

An intensive campaign is underway to enlist women immediately as recruits for the air forces, in behind-the-lines capacities.

For the first time, women may enlist in the WAC specifically for service with the AAF, to be assigned to duty with the air forces upon completion of five weeks' basic training.

All women from 20 through 40 years of age, married or single, who are American citizens, in good physical condition are eligible to be Air WACs. Open to them are some 150 specific positions in medical, personnel, public relations, photography, weather, drafting, radio, communication, mechanical and other fields.

Women who are interested in obtaining more information about the Air WACs may contact Lt. Kenneth Firster, public relations officer of the 310th CTD at State.

Newest Arrivals Choose Student Officer Heads

Elected to the post of squadron commander for squadron C was A. S. James Criswell of Macon, Ga. Criswell has had three years' service in the marine corps prior to joining the air force.

A. S. J. H. Osborne was elected squadron commander of squadron D.

Second in command of squadron C is A. S. John Dulin from Minnesota, and A. S. Lamar White, formerly of the glider corps, was elected second in command of squadron D.

A. S. F. G. Hamlet and A. S. John Marshal will act as first sergeants of squadrons C and D respectively.

Ten Hour Flight Training Highlights Pre-Flight Instruction at State

One of the highlights of the flight college training is the 10 hours of flight instruction received during the last month at State using light planes like the Taylorcraft.

During the time that students are not flying they receive in addition to other studies, such as civil air regulations, first aid and calisthenics and sports each day.

The actual flying is mainly an elementary course which in the beginning assumes that students have had no previous flight training. From this point they are instructed step by step from flying straight and level to spins and other simple maneuvers.

Start from Scratch
On the first flight the instructor takes the controls, instructs and starting procedure on the ground. The beginner will then be taken to a practice area where the instructor shows how the movement of the controls effects the movement of the ship in flight.

After this the student will be allowed to handle the controls in straight and level flight and shallow turns. He will get the feel of the controls and will be taught to fly a rectangular course, "S" turns and elementary eights.

Advanced Flying

After the simple maneuvers have been mastered to the satisfaction of the instructor the flyer will be shown how to do a series of turns, stalls, and spins. It is by this time he has not become a member of the famous "Sail Sack club" he should have no further difficulty in keeping his stomach in the proper place when he again takes to the air.

After 10 hours of this training the flyer gets used to having a totally one-sided conversation with the instructor with such phrases as "get the nose down," "keep those wings level," "more speed," and other similar phrases. Then comes the check flight.

The check flight is the last time the instructor goes up with the student. This time he has the novice do every movement that has been taught in the past 10 hours of flight.

Can You Picture MICHIGAN without Newspapers?

Every hour of the day headline news of overwhelming interest to every person in Michigan is being made all over the world. But without our modern communication systems and particularly our newspapers it would be next to impossible to find out what's going on.

Getting even closer to home, we wouldn't know what local boys are back on furlough—who's getting married and when—what's happening in the comic-strip world—what events are taking place all over town.

All of us should feel proud of the fine job newspapers are doing to keep Michigan in touch with the times. It's a strong and free press, serving free people—one of the first things the dictators would suppress if they had the chance! And it would be hard to over-estimate the part played by Michigan's 56 daily newspapers and 366 weekly newspapers in furthering the war effort. More than two and a half million people buy these papers—far greater numbers read them—the whole State relies upon them for information and inspiration.

For this reason Greyhound depends upon such newspapers as this one to carry its information on bus service to those in Michigan who travel. Greyhound, in turn, carries many newspapers to rural areas not served by any other transportation system.

As fellow citizens of this State, the Greyhound Lines take much pleasure in helping to make near neighbors and good neighbors of all the communities we serve in Michigan—linking them to each other and to the rest of the country, as newspapers do.
