Russians Take 180 Villages in Ploesti Drive

New Offensive Cracks German Defenses in Crimean Peninsula

LONDON, April 10 (AP)—The Russians captured the big Black sea port of Odessa today, and stabbed 50 miles inside Romania with the capture of 180 more villages in a headlong drive toward the Ploesti oil fields.

In a new offensive by a fresh Soviet army, they cracked German defenses at the top of the Crimean peninsula where perhaps 100,000 Axis troops have been bottled up since last November, Moscow announced tonight.

5,500 Nazis Killed
At least 5,500 Germans were killed and 1,000 captured in two days in the Crimean attack by Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's fourth Ukraine army, the bulletin said.

The capture of Odessa by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's third Ukraine army of Stalingrad veterans avenged one of the bitterest Russian defeats of the war. It was a surprisingly sudden victory which found the Germans fleeing rather than risk a siege, and Premier-Marshall Stalin said it cracked Axis defenses guarding the route "to the central districts of Romania."

180 Towns Seized
In northeastern Romania Marshal Ivan S. Konev's second army rolled onward, seizing 150 towns on his upper wing and 30 more on his southern flank.

Suceava, one of Bucovina's largest cities 50 miles west of the Prut river frontier, fell to the upper Russian arm, and the rail station of Targu-Frumos, 27 miles west of Iasi and 160 miles northeast of the Ploesti oil wells, was overrun by the lower Soviet group.

Pacific Aerial Attack Continues as Ponape Gets New Blasting

U.S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., PEARL HARBOR, April 10 (AP)—Ponape and Oroluk islands and the Caroline islands and four unidentified enemy positions in the Marshall islands were attacked Saturday as American fliers kept up their siege of Japan's remaining central Pacific holdings. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced the raids today.

The Ponape strike was carried out by seventh army air force Mitchell medium bombers, escorted by marine Corsair fighters. The airfield was their target.

Oroluk, midway between Truk and Ponape, was attacked for the second consecutive day when a navy search plane dropped five bombs on it.

Forty-eight tons of bombs were dropped in the Marshalls by army Mitchells and marine divebombers escorted by Corsairs and navy Hellcat fighters. The bombs hit runways, starting fires.

... It's Never Too Late

A bit belated but still in the spirit of Easter was the gift presented to Prof. J. M. DeHaan by Jackie Meehan, Louisville, Ky., senior. Arriving late to class, Miss Meehan, evidently prepared to make amends, placed a little box filled with green paper grass and two brilliantly colored Easter eggs on DeHaan's desk and took her seat.

... Our Hero

Gallantry goes not unrewarded, according to Vet Robert Byram, who Saturday received the distinguished flying cross for his speedy action under fire, the purple heart for being wounded in action, and the army service medal for gallantry over and above the line of duty from his Vet classmates. Byram, squirted in the eye with a fire extinguisher during the Olds hall fire, received the paper finery with all pompousness to the tune of the Marseillaise.

... Bachelor Mothers

Wells hall Vets have taken over the ardent roles of anxious mothers since two small puppies came into their possession after the death of the mother dog in Prof. Clyde F. Cairry's By experimental physiology Proxy class. Eye droppers, nipples, and strange foods are topics of conversation as Vets vie to demonstrate their knowledge of puppy care and to keep their charges from becoming puppy delinquents.

Japs Abandon Air Base of Gasmata

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Tuesday, April 11 (AP)—The Japanese have abandoned Gasmata, air and supply base on the south coast of New Britain. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Gasmata was occupied by the Japanese on Feb. 10, 1942, and has been bypassed by Allied occupations on the north coast of New Britain and the Admiralty islands between New Britain and New Guinea.

A spokesman said the Japanese have lost about one-fifth of an estimated force of 50,000 on New Britain.

Since the New Britain campaign opened on Dec. 15, 232 Japanese prisoners have been counted and 4,679 of the enemy have been killed.

Each sorority may enter a group of 30 women and a song leader. Last year the cup was won by the group representing Alpha Gamma Delta.

German Force Shells Allies Near Cassino

American Troops Hold Allied Line Along Garigliano River

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, April 10 (AP)—Allied troops in Cassino have been subjected to violent shelling, shattering days of comparative quiet in that devastated town, headquarters announced today. Considerable German movement of infantry, tanks and artillery was noted in the Garigliano valley sector of the main front.

It was disclosed officially that American troops are in the Allied line along the Garigliano river, a sector held earlier by British units of the fifth army.

Headquarters said New Zealand troops inflicted casualties on the Germans in attacks against two strongpoints at Sant' Angelo, three miles south of Cassino, partially destroying an enemy position.

German artillery fire slackened somewhat on the beachhead below Rome where their patrols, out in force, were beaten off.

The German activity in the lower Garigliano sector, indicating a regrouping in that area, included considerable transport movement.

Fraternity Group Will Meet Today to Discuss Plans

In announcing the meeting for 6:30 tonight of the all-fraternity men's council, Dean Fred T. Mitchell outlined a schedule for the future operations of the council.

At the first session last Tuesday the Fraternity Advisers' association presented ideas on post-war fraternity existence which six committees had derived. The results of the active chapters will be discussed tonight and polled with the findings of three of the six committees.

Similar discussions will be held next week bearing on the remaining three committees' reports. "It is then proposed that the undergraduate and graduate group will jointly outline what they believe to be the basic principles upon which a post-war program can or may be premised," Mitchell said.

In order to focus the viewpoints of men, experienced in dealing with the problems of many fraternities, upon the local situations, each national fraternity on campus has been asked

Henry Ford II Appointed to New Company Post

DETROIT, April 10 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. announced tonight that 26-year-old Henry Ford II had been made executive vice president of the company, second only to his grandfather, the founder of the firm.

Henry Ford II is married and the father of two daughters. His discharge from the navy, in which he held the rank of lieutenant, was announced last summer following the death of his father, Edsel B. Ford.

Betty Lutz Leaps to Suicide from Bank of Lansing

Betty Lutz, Benton Harbor sophomore, plunged to her death from a window in the Bank of Lansing building today, shortly after having attended a movie with her roommate, Mary Rupp, Marquette senior.

Coroner Ray Gorsline said Miss Lutz, who was a member of Tower Guard, sophomore women's honorary, had committed suicide, apparently despondent because of her health. He said she was a former patient in the Ingham county tuberculosis sanatorium, and that friends told him she had worried about her health.

Brilliant Student

Elisabeth Conrad, dean of women, said the young woman was a "positively brilliant" student in the Liberal Arts division, studying for a career in social service and that "she seemed in fine spirits recently. If she was despondent she masked her feelings well."

Dr. Charles F. Holland, college physician, said he had treated Miss Lutz April 27, 1943, after she had plunged from a bridge into the Red Cedar. He said she had reached shore without aid on that occasion.

Leaped from Window

Gorsline said, "The girl evidently jumped from a window on the fire escape in the bank building, but by the time the police arrived so many windows had been opened by spectators we have been unable to tell for a certainty from which floor she leaped."

The body was fully clad in Gorsline said the girl had left no note, and there was no indication she had confided her intentions to anyone else. She lived in North Williams dormitory.

H. A. Cardinell, former member of the horticulture department at Michigan State now on a leave of absence, is training young farmers in Brazil.

In Campus Quarters

By RO HOWLAND and NANCY SHEPHERD

LET US be the first to break the news . . . the crocuses, or croci if you want to be a hardnose about it, are out of the ground in Beal gardens . . . It looks like an old-fashioned spring around these parts, and not just because of the flowers.

After a long winter in which fraternity pins seemed to be in complete hibernation, their owners have hauled them out of the mothballs and no less than five have found new homes this week.

Delsa Eames, Sigma Kappa, got hers by long-distance. Pvt. Delt, sent it from the South Sea islands where he is vacationing with the armed forces. Apparently those dusky beauties aren't what they're cracked up to be.

Sigma Nus have really gone in for this pinning stuff lately. Helen Muncie, Chi O, received hers from Dave Taylor while visiting him in Kentucky about a week back.

Dave's fraternity brother, Jay Hatch, chose Saturday as the day on which he would most like to pin Virginia Tomion, Alpha Chi. Since Ginny had no objections, another white star is in feminine hands.

Jean Anderson, Delta Zeta, can be pretty sure that no one else on campus will have a pin just like hers. It's the emblem of Triangle, chem fraternity at Kansas university. Chuck Means, the original owner is stationed here with the AST.

Helen Ryan, Alpha Chi, is the last on the list of those stuck-with-a-pin-and-glad-of-it. Her's is the white cross of Sigma Chi and formerly the property of Marvin Schuman, who graduated last term.

That disposes of the pinning, and we're off to news of rings and things. From the Thetas come tidings of a diamond on the finger of Sherry Wales. The man in this case of double heart trouble is Chuck Bigelow, Phi Delt.

This next is a straight story, in that it concerns Dick Straight, Phi Delt and Gwen Berger, Theta, who were married Saturday at her home in Detroit. They will be living in Grand Rapids.

More ringing in our ears, diamond ringing, of course. Marguerite Voorheis, '43, had a new ring to add that extra sparkle to her Easter costume this year. Albert Drury, senior vet, is the man who placed it on her finger.

Car Streiff, Lambda Chi, isn't superstitious about the number thirteen. That's the day this month he will receive his ensign's commission and it's also the day that he and Betty Wolcott, Theta, will be married in New York.

Gloria Bell, who was graduated in March, has set excitement ablaze at the Sigma Kappa house with the news of her forthcoming marriage to Lt. Jack Bush, SAE, '43, now stationed in Virginia. The big day is Sunday, April 16. Lieutenant Bush was president of the 1943 senior class at State.

Mary Cabot Lull, Alpha Phi, has her head in the clouds right along with that big B-24 Liberator bomber that was named after her during her visit at her home in Alabama last week. Just watch for "Lullaby Lady" when it goes after those Germans.

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

By BARBARA DENNISON

ALUMS of the past and near present will not recognize their alma mater when they visit the campus in years to come from all indications at present. The courses will be different, the set-up of the college will be different, the fraternities and sororities will be different . . . but it will still be MSC.

For several weeks now Floyd W. Reeves of the University of Chicago has been on the Michigan State campus studying and investigating the curriculum, the methods and programs of State with the plan in mind to suggest possible revision and changes.

Some of the possibilities have been mentioned before but the first revolutionary and pronounced change which Reeves has submitted to the college officials is that of the revision of two of the major divisions of the college . . . Liberal Arts and Applied Science.

While the plan may be confusing at first, it eventually makes sense with a little study. By changing the existing divisions to schools, Michigan State would be put on a footing equal to that of a university and might entail a slight change in name for the college.

In addition to the possible changes in the curricula of the college, the recent addition of another national sorority to the 12 already at State gives promise of being followed before too long by at least one other. Perhaps it will require two or three more national sororities to handle the potential sorority candidates after the war if the expected or anticipated 10,000 students choose MSC as their college.

However, it is conceivable how more than one or two new sororities on campus could do more harm than good. Too many new ones could either weaken their own position among those already well established for several years, or else they could greatly minimize the strength of existing ones.

After the war, yes, but now, it is something of a risk, a threat, a worry and a problem to see possibility of more than two new national sororities added to the grand total.

WOMEN can be thankful for the recognition which has finally been given them in almost any field of work in the world today, considering the difficulties that faced some women in years past.

At present, it has been almost universally accepted that women are capable of doing many things which for years were thought a man's undertaking. The antagonism with which some women were faced when they attempted to become independent, and prove it, in former days has been greatly diminished.

For instance, on record in a room in the chemistry library is the case of a woman as far back as the 1880s who decided she wanted a career for herself as a scientist, almost an unheard of thing at that time. She was a brilliant woman and ranked third highest in her class, but because she was a woman she was denied the use of the laboratory, essential to successful completion of her work.

Such incidents are rarely if ever heard of in the present day, and woe be to the employer who would try it very often. Although some die-hards still cannot see women and a career going together they would have to be awfully straightlaced and narrow minded not to concede to a woman something she has been getting successfully for years now.

The case of the 19th century woman scientist is as outdated as the clothes worn in the same period but it serves to prove that women have struggled for years for their rights and no one is going to stop them now.

British Troops Repulse Jap Attack on Stronghold in Battle for Imphal

NEW DELHI, April 10 (AP)—Hard fighting was in progress today for Kohima, Allied stronghold 35 miles from the Bengal-Assam railroad in eastern India, after defending British and Indian troops hurled back a strong Japanese attack that penetrated the town's outer ring of fortifications, Allied headquarters announced.

Fifty dead Japanese were counted on the battlefield and others were taken prisoner. A communique said the enemy penetration was "eliminated." Kohima, 60 miles north of the principal Allied base of Imphal, has been under assault since last Friday by an unestimated force of Japanese that invaded from the Burma border, 30 miles to the east.

The Japanese claimed they occupied Kohima April 6, and the Berlin radio today quoted a Japanese government spokesman as saying that the capture of Imphal would be only a matter of days.

Dispatches said the motor highway between Kohima and Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam railway still was firmly in Allied possession and that supplies were pouring over it for the defenders of Kohima.

The road south from Kohima to Imphal was cut by the Japs over a week ago, however, and the Imphal garrison will be dependent upon airborne supplies and reinforcements in the impending full-scale battle for its possession.

Yanks Blast French-Belgian Coast in Major Operation

LONDON, April 10 (AP)—Diversified American bomber and fighter formations up to 1,500 strong blasted targets along the French-Belgian coast and in the French interior today in operations which saw the U. S. ninth air force's Marauder medium bombers drop their greatest bomb load, more than 1,000 tons.

It was announced that approximately 600 fighter-escort bombers delivered a blow which was "the greatest the ninth ever has thrown against the enemy in a single day, dropping more than 1,000 tons of bombs." Two bombers were lost, while escorting fighters destroyed five enemy planes.

The principal target of the Marauders was the Namur railway yards, 35 miles southeast of Brussels. Returning pilots reported seeing strings of cars and sheds blasted and big fires started.

Heavy U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators also took part in the day's widespread raids, the third major operation by the Americans in as many days. The blows were coordinated closely with similar forays by British bombers last night.

Tonight this latest phase of the aerial battle of Europe was continuing. In the late English dusk two more strong bomber formations were seen sweeping across Dover strait toward northern France.

American Liberators and Fortresses in today's daylight operations bombed those much-sought "military objectives" in the Pas de Calais area; aircraft repair works at Evreux and Villers-Bretonneux; the airfield at Melsbroek near Brussels; a plane factory at Bourges 115 miles south of Paris and an airfield at Orleans, 60 miles south of Paris.

Congress to Pass on Major Issues Before Recess

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Three major pieces of war-related legislation, dealing with the home front, aid to the Allies and veterans' benefits, were docketed by Capitol Hill leaders today on a "must" list for clearance before congress can recess for the national political conventions.

The legislation, embracing issues certain to play a part in this year's political campaign, would:

1. Prolong the life of wartime price control and economic stabilization acts. The OPA law expires June 30, but a continuation is expected. The congressional fight will spin about proposed amendments.

2. Extend lend lease for another year.

3. Establish a "GI Bill of Rights" for benefits to veterans of this war.

Moreover, in the little more than two months before the Republican convention opens in Chicago, Congress must grind out numerous appropriation bills, and a stack of less important legislation if many senators and representatives are to attend the party meeting.

Speaker Rayburn and House Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, returned today to prepare for Wednesday's reconvening of Congress after a 11-day Easter recess. There appeared considerable confidence that essential legislation can be disposed of by June 15.

Red Skelton Seeks Marriage License

RED SKELTON (right, above), film and radio comedian, and MURIEL CHASE, daughter of the late Charles E. They said they planned to be wed in a few days, but that their plans were not definite. (AP Wirephoto)

That their plans were most indefinite was proved yesterday when blonde Miss Morris said she had decided not to marry Skelton after all. "It was just a case of me changing my mind," declared the actress.

Coach Kobs Still on Lookout for Men to Fill Shortstop, Second Base Posts

By JERRY KENNEY

With the spring playing schedule to include the University of Detroit, and probably Wayne, Coach John Kobs is still looking for persons to fill the shortstop and second basemen's posts. The games with U. of D. and Wayne will be of the home and home type. Kobs said that he hoped to play both teams on a trip, with one as a Friday opponent and the other as the Saturday game during one weekend. The dates for the games have not yet been set. Tentative plans have been made for the home game with U. of D. to be held Saturday, May 27.

Kobs said that no other definite plans have been made yet, although several service teams in the vicinity have written about games.

With only one previous varsity letter winner on campus, Kobs is having some difficulty in filling all posts on his team. Biggest holes in his lineup are at second base and shortstop. Kobs said that he has not located a player with a strong or sure enough throwing arm to play short.

He expressed a little satisfaction with his pitching staff. He said that Bob Krestel, Swissvale, Pa., freshman; Meredith Yarrling, Elwood, Ind., sophomore, and Fred Meyer, Fairhaven sophomore, have all shown some promise.

Women's Groups to Sponsor Talk by SPAR Officer

The Little Theater of the Home Economics building has been set as the place for a program to be given by two SPARs Wednesday evening, Lt. (j.g.) Elizabeth Robillard will represent the SPARs in a program which is designed to acquaint coeds with this branch of the service.

Lieutenant Robillard is being sponsored by YWCA and SWL; chairmen from the two organizations are respectively June Wilkinson, Jackson sophomore, and Jean Kauderer, Detroit freshman.

Members of the two clubs will attend the program in place of their regular meeting. It will also be open to all coeds on campus.

Opening at 7 p. m., the program will include a half-hour movie and a style show of 14 SPAR uniforms which will be modeled by coeds.

During her stay, Lieutenant Robillard will broadcast over WKAR and WJIM. She will also be available to discuss the SPARs with coeds on Thursday.

A table will be set up under the clock in the lower deck of the Union for this purpose, instead of using organization room 1 as was stated previously.

Gracie Fields to be Guest at Lecture

Comedienne to Appear at College on Special Program April 21

Gracie Fields, English comedienne and star of music halls, will be the guest artist in a special program of the lecture-concert series Friday evening, April 21, in College auditorium, according to Dean S. E. Crowe, director.

Although she has been in the United States only a few years, Miss Fields' outstanding performance in her picture debut, "Holy Matrimony," in which she was co-starred with Monty Woolley, and her ability to sing, act, and mimic, have earned her an international reputation and a place in the front ranks of American movie favorites.

A native of England, she was on the stage at the age of 7 and was a star at 16. Since the war started, Miss Fields, like many others in the entertainment world, has traveled through England, the United States and Canada doing shows for soldiers in camps and in hospitals.

About 15 years ago Miss Fields founded an orphanage, Peacehaven, on the south coast of England, to care for the orphans of persons in the theatrical profession. When the war started, Peacehaven became a danger zone, so she acquired a house in the northern part of the country where the children now are removed from air raid threats.
