Yank Flying Wedge Severs Nazi Communication Line

Ste. Mere Eglise Capture Endangers Cherbourg

SUPREME HDQ., Allied Expeditionary Force, June 10 (AP)—An American flying wedge of parachutists and infantrymen has cut the main German communications lines to the potentially great landing-port of Cherbourg by capturing the town of Ste. Mere Eglise and sweeping on across the broad-gauge Cherbourg peninsular railway and the parallel highway in heavy fighting, supreme headquarters announced today.

... Insomnia Recipe ...

Sleepy from too much studying, fatigued from writing too many long terms Prof. W. A. Hendrick of the electrical engineering department has a new recipe for sleeplessness. Study Hendrick has not slept for 72 hours. He has been so busy since he got up Wednesday morning that he has not had a chance to go to bed. The secret of his success is said to lie in munching celery and drinking a weak solution of ammonium hydroxide occasionally.

... Clothing Problem

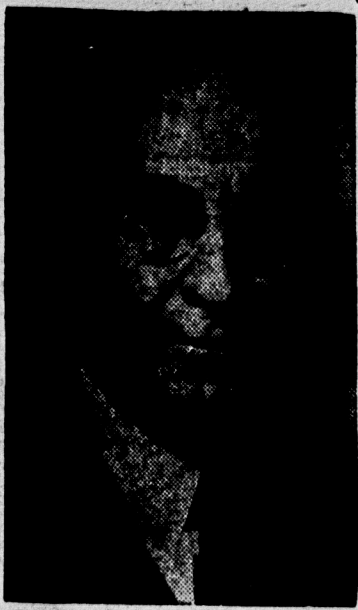

Clothes make the man and they do a lot for women too, but it is to be hoped that the seniors do not lay aside their dignity and knowledge as rapidly as they are requested to lay aside their mortar boards and gowns. All graduates are asked to return their caps and gowns to the check room on the second floor of the Union directly after commencement, according to the Union management.

Registrar Announces 600 Pre-Classified for Summer Term

Approximately 600 students have indicated that they will be attending either the six week or full quarter summer session this year, according to pre-classification figures released recently by R. S. Linton, registrar. This figure is somewhat below the 2,000 mark reached last year for the summer term, but may rise with late registrants and first term freshmen who are finishing high school this month, or it may be lower because of changed plans on the part of some who previously registered to attend. Both the six and 12 week sessions will begin Wednesday, June 21, with classification a day earlier.

Office Asks Addresses

Students leaving school at the end of this term will be sent a card by the alumni recorder office which they are requested to fill out as completely as possible. Miss Gladys Franks, alumni recorder, stresses the importance of keeping the alumni office informed of addresses in order that all graduates may be sent alumni literature, class and alumni club notices, and the Record, an alumni magazine sent to every one who has attended Michigan State. Seniors are asked to leave mailing addresses at the alumni office.

Fifth Army Chase Sweeps Germans North from Rome

ROME, June 9 (AP)—Pursuing the shattered German 14th army at continued breakneck pace northwest of Rome, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's fifth army forces swept through the communication centers of Viterbo, Vetralla and Tarquinia today as Nazi troops in the Adriatic sector joined the general enemy flight up the Italian peninsula.

Viterbo, a vital highway and rail junction 40 miles from Rome, fell before a swift seven-mile thrust from the area of Lake Di Vico. Tarquinia, on the main coastal highway 55 miles northwest of the capital, was seized in a 10-mile stab by Allied troops driving on from the captured port of Civitavecchia. Vetralla is on a lateral highway connecting Viterbo and Tarquinia.

There yet was no sign that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring had been able to rally his fleeing remnants, and it was doubted here that he would attempt to make another serious and short of a line beyond Florence, some 150 miles from Rome.

Although Clark's forces were averaging roughly 15 miles a day in their grim chase they found it difficult to keep within shooting distance of the Nazis.

Clark's vanguards were more than 130 airline miles from the starting points of the big offensive launched less than a month ago.

Annual Alum Day Will Fete Class of '94

Annual alumni reunions are being held this weekend, Glen Stewart, director of alumni relations, recently announced. Activities include the silver anniversary dinner of the classes of 1918 and 1919, Patriarch's dinner and luncheons for five-year reunion classes.

Since the class of 1918 was not able to celebrate its 25th anniversary last year, a combined anniversary meeting with the class of 1919 was held this year. The dinner was in the Union ballroom at 6:30 p. m. yesterday. Ralph Tenny, short course director, was chairman.

Patriarch's dinner, honoring the golden anniversary of the class of 1894, will be held in the Publication of the State News for spring term will stop with today's issue. The paper will be published weekly during the summer session each Thursday morning. The first summer issue will be on Thursday, June 22. Students living in off-campus residences during summer school are asked to pick up their paper at the Union desk until further notice.

Union at 12:15 p. m. today. The men's lounge will be reserved for the event. Pres. John A. Hannah will preside over the meeting.

William Burke, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, will introduce Pres. Hannah. Dr. C. B. Smith, Washington, D. C., secretary of the class, will receive the welcome into the group of Patriarchs.

Other Activities Two distinguished Patriarchs who will attend the dinner are Dr. Eric Delmarter, Lansing, 94 years old in August, the oldest former student, and Dean Griswold, Northville, 92 years old, the oldest graduate. Deamarter, who was in the class of '73, was graduated from Albion. Griswold was graduated with the class of '75 from State.

Other alumni activities include luncheons for all classes in which the last number is four or nine, according to the quinquennial plan. These will be informal affairs held in the Union ballroom today at 12:30 p. m.

Seniors to Get Refund

All seniors who have deposited money on unfilled orders for commencement invitations or announcements, or who did not have their order filled should go to the accounting office with their receipt and arrange for a refund. This announcement applies only to those persons who have not been contacted by Leroy Frymire or one of the other class officers.

Weather
Cloudy with showers. Not much change in temperature.

Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State university, who will address the graduates on "Do Ye Even So to Them."

Bevis has been president of Ohio State since 1940. Before then he served as professor of law and government at Harvard University and the University of Cincinnati, was director of finance for the state of Ohio, and judge of the Ohio supreme court.

85 Honor Students Eighty-five of the Spartan students eligible to participate in the graduation exercises will be graduated with "honor" or "high honor." Fifty-eight of the scholastic leaders are women; 27 are men.

The 2.5 all-college average required for a degree with "high honor" was attained by 19 of these students. The 66 honor graduates have averaged between 2.0 and 2.39 for the four year course.

Included in these figures are 11 who completed degree requirements at the end of the fall quarter and 20 who finished their work at the end of winter term.

The 641 men and women who will participate in today's exercises include 230 who received their degrees in the fall and winter quarters and 132 who will complete college work by the end of summer term. Summer quarter graduates will not receive degrees but may take part in the ceremonies because graduation ceremonies are held at no other time.

SPORTS—18-2 dc

For the second time in the history of the college, the number of women graduates will exceed the number of men at today's exercises. In 1919, the first war caused the women to outnumber the men by a total of 62 to 59. The inroads of this war have caused the number of graduating coeds to exceed the men by 131 students.

Forty-two graduate degrees will be handed out this afternoon. Thirty-three students will receive master's degrees while nine are to be given their doctor of philosophy degrees. Twenty of the masters degrees and four doctors will go to June graduates. The others received theirs at the end of fall and winter terms.

Music Planned Dr. N. A. McCune, of Peoples church will give the invocation today.

Music at the event will be provided by the college band under the direction of Leonard Falcone. The selections will include: "War March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn as the processional; "Slavonic Rhapsody" by Friedemann; "Hail America" by Drumm and the Alma Mater.

Two graduating seniors, Linda Weber, Buffalo, N. Y., and Robert Arendshorst, Holland, will sing a duet. They will present "Far from the Busy Throng" Guide Thee from the opera "La Traviata" by Verdi.

In Campus Quarters

By RO HOWLAND AND NANCY SHEPHERD

WITH THESE frantic scribbles we wind up another year's batch of columns. For a large number of seniors it is good-bye, and we'd like to send our good wishes to them along with the hundreds of felicitations they must have already received.

Plenty of these seniors will scarcely give the ink time to get dry on the diplomas before they speed altarward, and some underclassmen have decided not to finish their four-year stretch before embarking on the matrimonial seas.

June is always bride's month, and this June seems to be as good as any. Judging by what we've heard, we'd say June 17th is the favorite day. Two Kappa Deltas have decided that it suits them well.

Pat Patterson will journey down to Gulfport, Miss., for her marriage to Warren Forrester. Warren's stationed there as a gunner in the army air force.

Her sister KD, Florence Wright, will be speaking the same day in Maryland. The man in this case is Joe Tarvelia of the coast guard.

Still a third Kappa Delta, Pat Hathaway, will be smelling orange blossoms soon, but she'll be waiting until July 1. At that time her prospective groom, Carl Richard Cooke, will receive his commission in the air force, and the two will be married in Dearborn.

June 17 pops up in the news again, this time as the wedding date of Betty Schwarz, Detroit senior. She'll be marrying Lt. Jack Barnes, AGR, '43.

The following day will be M day (for matrimony) for Marge Crandall, Chi Omega, and Paul Florin of Wayne University. Marge's Chi O sisters staged a big mock wedding and shower for her Tuesday night.

By GLEN O. STEWART
Alumni Secretary

IT'S A strange paradox. College men and women who profess to be so adept at outlining how an educational institution should be conducted, seem to be lost when it comes to fitting themselves into the picture as alumni. To the 641 members of the class of 1944 we offer our theory on the estate of alumni-ship.

The Gaul of alumni, unlike that of Caesar, is more than tripartite. Its inhabitants are various and of varying viewpoints. There are, for example, what might be called the "alumni athletic." One aligns himself with this group through a profound study of the cross-body block in football, thus enabling him for the balance of his life to diagnose accurately and vociferously any weakness in the educational program at Alma Mater.

There are likewise what might be called the "alumni intellectual." One is admitted to this group by the simple process of writing for publication an article or delivering publicly a speech either bemoaning the fact "that too many young people go to college" or assailing alumni generally as "pestiferous."

Either presentation is handled most effectively in the vein of autobiography. Few of either group bother to ask about alumni contributions or to assist the college in meeting its needs and problems in any notable fashion.

There are, however, other groups whose loyalty finds more valid, if less vocal expression than is exclusively used in the "locomotive yell" at football games or in disparaging the task their college was founded to accomplish.

Among these are the alumni, who, now or later, come to regard education as a continuous process and who are grateful to the institution which gave them a start. The fellowship of college men and women, they come to recognize, is a fellowship of fine things held in common, just a bit different from any other community of interest they may encounter as years roll on.

Somehow, they desire to keep alive this fellowship for themselves and to make sure of it for their children. And as their college is the source and fount of this impulse, they seek ways and means to aid the welfare of the college.

You seniors of 1944 may well ask yourselves right now, what place the college is to occupy in your life. It is a vital question, both to you and to your college. For most alumni, who have any real interest and pride in the college, it is more than a matter of chance that Michigan State college is a part of their daily lives. It is their plan.

If your college is to become a wish to keep alive those friendships and associations which time and experience will prove lasting reality to you, if you are irreplaceable, if you wish to have an active part and assist in the forward march of Michigan State college, then you will decide now that you will maintain your college contacts.

Here it is that the department of alumni relations finds its place, uniting your interests and your efforts with other alumni and directing these into channels of effective and useful expression. The effectiveness of the department depends upon its strength, and strength depends on See FACULTY ROW, Page 8 er and a sixth destroyer fled.

Ten Mitchells were credited with blocking the enemy attempt to reinforce its Biak garrison Thursday.

The attack upon the cruiser and six destroyers took place in Geelvink bay, the entrance to which is guarded by Biak and the other Schouten islands.

Ten enemy fighters attempted to prevent the bomber attack, and shot down three American planes.

Weekly Letter to Men in the Service

June 10, 1943

DEAREST Johnny:
The invasion is still about my only topic of conversation so we'll tee off with that this week. The feminine staff of the State News shrieked into action early Tuesday morning and telephones buzzed until most of the gang arrived in various stages of attire.

Nobly assisted by Officer Love, who gallantly supplied coffee and cookies, the invasion extra hit the streets with the ink scarcely dry and the staff scarcely dead. I can just see you tucked under General Eisenhower's arm; we're counting on you to follow through. We'd like nothing better than to put out an armistice extra before too long.

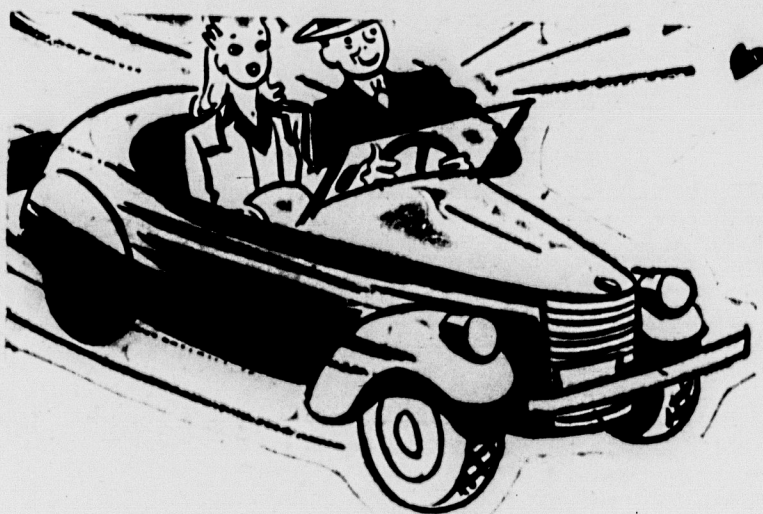

Lantern night underwent a dimout Tuesday and decided to postpone the annual ceremonies till last night since the invasion and the President's speech made anything else an anti-climax. Last night, however, there was no international competition and 70 white carnations were presented to outstanding senior women.

"Letters to Lucerne," the epic about the mailman, played to two enthusiastic audiences this week in Fairchild theater. An almost completely coed cast did a fine job in its portrayal of a girls' school.

Six hundred and forty-one seniors will bow out of Michigan State's picture this afternoon following commencement exercises in College auditorium. With proud mamas and papas beaming benevolently, they'll pack up their four years' accumulation of books, rubbish, and ponies and set out for a vastly different life.

The Intfraternity council has decided to sponsor a "Farewell Frolic" for seniors tonight as a parting gesture. Of course, the gesture will have to be accompanied by $1.20, even for seniors, but the idea is fine.

Mercenarily yours,
PEG

Roundup of Year Shows MSC Tuned to War

Allied Invasion of Europe, Revision of Curricula Highlight 1943-44

By KAY BESEMER and REBECCA STAHL

1943-44 found Michigan State in high, geared to take an active part in a world at war. CDC petitioned for and was granted permission to start a Red Cross unit on campus; the Spartan magazine was suspended from publication after eight years; the 310 CTD and AST units arrived on campus and were gone again by June.

Women again held top campus positions; the Allied invasion of Europe took place and the State News invasion special scooped other local and Detroit papers by getting out on the street first; and Pres. John A. Hannah, the Board of Agriculture, and the college faculty collaborated in revising the curricula, to go into effect next fall.

A review of the year by terms follows below:

Sept. 28—Enrollment for fall term reached the 6,000 mark; Col. G. B. Egger assumed his duties as new MSC commandant.

Sept. 29—Shao Chang Lee and Luis-Alberto Sanchez were announced as faculty members of the new foreign institute.

Sept. 30—Leonard Falcone returned to campus as band director of college, aircrew, and AST bands after a year's service in the army. Home management houses were dedicated and named after outstanding home economists.

Oct. 12—Lillian Gish charmed Spartan audiences as the first guest on the lecture series; formal rushing ended with the pledging of 166 women.

Oct. 13—First Victory Loan Fund Tag day was held.

Oct. 16—Metropolitan opera cast presented "Faust" for campus concert goers.

Oct. 29—Women's day with a convocation was sponsored by Mortar Board.

Oct. 23—The Intermural football season opened.

Oct. 30—Union Board bridge tournament began; Cecil Brown appeared as guest on lecture series.

Nov. 13—ROTC football team won first place in campus league, off-campus engineers were runners-up.

Nov. 27—Jane Malicki was crowned as Mardi Gras queen.

Nov. 29—Russian ballet presented two performances on the lecture series.

Dec. 7—Gov. Harry Kelly addressed the first all-college convocation of the year held to honor Spartans at war.

Dec. 11—Sigmund Romberg and orchestra thrilled college audience with musical program; President Hannah announced the graduation of 80 seniors.

Dec. 18—End of final week and of the term.

Jan. 5—Early registration figures indicated that the winter term enrollment would approximate that of the preceding term. Coeds scored an all-college point average of 1.63 to top men who made 1.48.

Jan. 7—WAA began the first of its Saturday afternoon co-recreational programs in the Women's gym. AWS announced a change in the ration book to include C stamps to allow for unlimited time away from campus.

Jan. 21—The AST basketball tournament began with 20 teams scheduled to compete. Pres. John A. Hannah issued a statement of changes in the selective service status of college students. The first student-faculty carrousel was held in the Union with such success that it will be an annual event.

Jan. 22—Blue Key men held their annual Sweetheart ball at which Ex-president Robert S. Shaw presented Neva Ackerman with the Blue Key Sweetheart necklace.

Jan. 25—The Epsilon Chi were awarded the scholarship cup at the PanHellenic convocation.

Jan. 27—AWS revised coed hours whereby 1 a.m. permission was granted for Saturday night both winter and spring terms with Friday night changed to 12 midnight.

Jan. 29—Kay Wattles was crowned war stamp queen by Maj. Paul Johnson representing the 310th aircrew.

Feb. 1—Another coronation, this time the Vet Queen Florence Welch. Lyman Frimodig was honored by the college for assistant director of athletics, his 25 years of service. Farmer's week began.

Feb. 2—Mrs. Mark Clark, wife of the fifth army head, spoke to Spartans and visitors at a Farmers' week lecture.

Feb. 12—Earl "Father" Hines played for the annual IFC-PanHellenic ball, which this year was opened to all civilian and military students.

Feb. 22—President Hannah was the recipient of an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Michigan.

Feb. 28—The seniors held their final election choosing Larry Frymire, Rae Annette Loeffler, Gordie Morrison and Harold Rockwell as president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, respectively. Duke Ellington was featured at the CAP dance which was held in College auditorium.

March 2—The term play, "Guest in the House" starring Peg Bradbury and speech instructor Paul Geisenhof, gave students a taste of psychological drama.

March 4—The seniors held their annual ball at which Fletcher Henderson played.

March 9—Pat Stone, AWS president, was tapped for Mortar Board at a special ceremony; Pat Fisher and Dorothy Englehardt were appointed co-chairmen of the Big Sister council. Kitty Mitchell was chosen to head SWL for the coming year.

March 11—AWS final elections were held with Jane Cumming leading as president and Jean Oviatt as vice-president. One hundred forty-six seniors completed their college careers, and the rest of the students finished another term.

March 28—Another spring term opened with the announcement that AST engineers and ROTCs would leave soon.

March 29—MSC enrollment dropped to approximately 4,000 following the departure of part of the military students.

March 30—Al Kawal, varsity football line and boxing coach, traded his athletic equipment in for a commission as lieutenant (j. g.) in the navy; Emily Kimbrough appeared on the lecture series; and a new local sorority was organized with plans to go national with Gamma Phi Beta later in the term.

April 1—The aircrew put all joking aside and announced that it would be disbanded before June 30; the Spartan magazine was suspended for the duration for "violation of good taste." The Union cafeteria was converted back to civilian service.

April 6—The first detachment of aircrewmembers of the 310th CTD left campus after the cancellation of the college training program. Boardman Robinson, famous Negro artist, spoke at MSC. Baseball nine began practice with 45 prospective candidates.

April 7—The faculty approved the reorganization of the Liberal Arts and Applied Science divisions. Announcement was made that MSC would resume intercollegiate sports July 1 and plans were made for football next fall.

April 13—Sui Foo, St. Johns junior, was named editor of the 1945 Wolverine. Ernesto Montenegro opened his series of lectures on Spanish America.

April 21—A full house heard Gracie Field's concert in College auditorium.

April 29—Matrix, local women's journalism honorary, became an active chapter of national Theta Sigma Phi.

May 1—Mortar Board and Tower Guard tapped 13 freshmen and 30 junior women respectively into the two honoraries.

May 4—Peg Middlemiss, Detroit junior; Barbara Dennison, East Lansing junior, and Barbara Fearnside, St. Clair Shores junior, were named to head State News for the coming year.

May 5—Mordacai Johnson, president of Howard university, addressed an all-college convo. The glee club presented its spring concert.

May 13—Wayne university put the Spartans back on the winning side, 11 to 8. Connie Helmer, Sigma Kappa candidate, was crowned Poinciana queen at the APO Poinciana prom.

May 25—Phyllis Boss was named business manager of the 1945 Wolverine to succeed Betty Amos, who resigned for matrimonial reasons.

May 27—Jim Bibbins, Buffalo, N. Y., junior, was elected president of Student council. Ed Wallace, Hartford, Conn., junior, vice-president, and Helen Fisher, Grand Haven sophomore, secretary and treasurer.

June 2—Sigma Kappas won the annual sorority sing trophy with the Alpha Gams in second place.

June 3—Local Gamma Phi became a chapter of the national sorority Gamma Phi Beta after being on campus one term.

June 6—The news of the long awaited Allied invasion of western Europe made all campus events fade into insignificance in comparison. Local churches held prayer service during the day commemorating the fighting men in the big drive.

Peggy Frimodig Will Head Tower Guard Next Year.

70 Senior Women Given White Carnations

Following an address by Pres. John A. Hannah, Peggy Frimodig, East Lansing freshman, was named the new Tower Guard president to serve for the coming year, at the annual Lantern Night ceremonies held last night at 9:30. Miss Frimodig succeeds Shirley Hamelink, Lansing sophomore, who has been president for the past year.

Other officers for the honorary are Shirley Schmuhl, Grand Rapids, vice-president; Margaret English, Dearborn, secretary, and Betty Ives, Dearborn, treasurer. The women are all freshmen.

The members of Tower Guard and Mortar Board, tapped May 1, were officially recognized at the ceremony last night, and remaining officers were also announced for Mortar Board. Dorothy Jury, Detroit, had been named as president previously.

Susan Moore, East Lansing, will be vice-president; Sheila Symons, Saginaw, secretary; Doris May, Detroit, treasurer; Aileen Wilson, Detroit, historian, and Kay Besemer, Belleville, editor.

Retiring AWS president, Pat Stone, and recently elected president, Jane Cumming, presented traditional white carnations to 70 outstanding women in the senior class whose contributions have not been recognized in other ways.

Big Sisters to Correspond with Freshmen

Approximately 500 upperclassmen will be writing to entering freshmen women throughout the summer in an attempt to help orientate the newcomers to college life. Co-chairman Pat Fisher, Evanston, Ill., junior and Dorothy Englehardt, Lansing sophomore, said yesterday.

A major part of the big sister program carried on each year by upper class women on campus, the letter writing culminates to actual meeting and assisting of the freshmen women when fall classes begin.

With an expected total freshman enrollment of nearly 1,000 women, each big sister will have two little sisters in her care.

The big sisters have been trained at three group meetings this term where they were told of the problems and questions they could expect from the freshmen and how they might deal with them.

As the women are admitted to State, each will be sent a letter explaining the big sister system. She will write to one of the 21 upperclassmen making up the council, who will in turn give her name to a big sister. Miss Fisher is in charge of summer mailing, while Jean Zook, Hamburg, N. Y., sophomore, handles all secretarial work.

Ritual Planned

A big sister calendar has been worked out for freshmen week to include get-togethers, informal parties in the dorm, and a tea.

Tower Guards will assist council members in the dormitories and large off campus houses during freshmen week as well as serve as big sisters.

The last Sunday of the week will be climaxed by a candlelight service in College auditorium for all big and little sisters. A special ritual will be planned and the music department will take part in the program.

The big sister council hopes to make this service a traditional activity during freshmen week, according to Miss Englehardt, who is in charge of the week's activities.

Can You Picture MICHIGAN without Transportation?

Public transportation—by highway and skyway, by railway and waterway—is one of the most vital industries of this State of ours. It represents far more than a vast array of terminals, equipment, repair shops and cold statistics about moving manpower—it's the link that joins Michigan's cities and towns and rural communities to each other and to the rest of the Nation. In these tense times, it is the means of bringing boys home on furlough—of getting workers to the war plants—of keeping on the move all those people whose travel is essential to Victory.

An estimated 75,000 of our fellow-citizens of Michigan are hard at work on the 34 railroads and the 3 airlines serving Michigan, on boats, barges, huge fleets of trucks, and on the 104 inter-city bus lines which operate 860 buses along 12,201 miles of routes within our State borders. No small share of the credit for the efficiency of this excellent transportation system belongs to the Michigan Public Service Commission and the O.D.T.

We who keep Greyhound buses rolling across our State are conscious of the importance of our particular job—to the whole system of wartime transportation. Without the buses doing their share of the job other transportation would be burdened beyond capacity.

Many of our people today are serving in the Armed Forces—the rest of us are doing our level best to keep essential highway travel safe and efficient. But we're also thinking about and planning for the post-war days, when pleasure travel will return and when such travel in new and finer Super-Coaches will be a greater pleasure than ever.

Summer Term Women to Reside in Mayo, Four Greek Houses

East and West Mary Mayo dormitories and four sorority houses will remain open for the summer term according to Mabel Petersen, women's housing supervisor. Of the cooperative houses Sanford will stay open and numerous off-campus residences will also house women students.

Minor changes in the 7:30 a.m. and 11:30 p.m. rising and retiring hours and ration book system will be determined by a summer session council.

A judiciary board will be made up of presidents from East and West Mayo, sororities remaining open, Sanford house and off-campus houses, which will serve as a clearing house for special permissions and unusual excuses. A meeting will be held once a week.

This year's AWS handbook will be so revised that women's activities and the points accredited each will be made into a separate booklet. Billie Morley, New Troy junior, will be in charge of the publication.

Thetas Win Trophy

Main feature of the WAA spring term dinner held last night at the Hunt Food shop was the awarding of the WAA intramural sports trophy for the second year in succession to Kappa Alpha Theta. In second place and close behind were the Kappa Kappa Gammas.

Football Back on Roster of State Sports

U. of Missouri, Maryland, Kansas State Slated for Fall Play-offs

After a one-year lapse inter-collegiate competitive sports will return to Michigan State next fall. Football, always a prime favorite, will still bear the scars of war-time. Missing from the schedule are West Virginia, Santa Clara, the Blue jackets, the Maize and Blue, and many others.

Because the announcement of the sports renaissance came so late in the spring the athletic board has had a hard time scheduling opponents. The ruling that all teams eligible to play the Spartans must have no military personnel has also been a factor retarding progress.

Many big names will be missing from the schedule, but still football will bear the mantle it has in years before. The games scheduled now number three, but it is sure that at least five adversaries will confront the Spartan '11' next year and possibly eight.

Two of the three games scheduled to date will be played at Macklin field. Kansas State will be the first game on the Spartan schedule; the game will be played at East Lansing, and will be the third meeting between the Spartans and the Big Six Wildcats.

Nov. 4 State will journey to Columbia, Mo., to tangle with another Big Six member, the University of Missouri. The Tigers hung a 19-0 shellacking on State a few years back. The third game will bring the University of Maryland Terrapins here for an Armistice day struggle, Nov. 11. This will be the first meeting between the two teams.

Social Season to Close With Farewell Frolic

Interfraternity council's "Farewell Frolic," being held in the Union ballroom tonight from 9 to 12, will mark the close of the social season on campus and will commemorate alumni day and graduating seniors.

The dance, which is the council's second all-college dance of the year, is taking the place of the various fraternity dances which were unable to be accommodated this term, according to Ray Pryser, Battle Creek sophomore, publicity chairman.

Ed Berry and his orchestra will furnish music for the dance which will be informal. No flowers will be allowed. Tickets will not be sold at the Union desk up till dance time but may be purchased at the door.

Aircrewmen may purchase tickets at Mason-Abbott hall and Vets and ASTs may get them from Al Chaefts at Wells hall.

The recently-launched Liberty ship E. A. Burnett was named for a former chancellor of the University of Nebraska, who was also an alumnus of Michigan State.

Mackenzie, Sigma Kappa, to move her wedding up a few weeks. The revised plans will make Barb a bride tomorrow, with the groom, Ensign Charles Baumgartner, flying in for the ceremony.

Three marriages of interest are already in the past tense. Elspeth Watt, East Lansing graduate of winter term, was married Sunday, to Pfc. Robert Delderfield. Word comes from Ginny Lyon, another winter term grad, that she journeyed down to Pensacola for her wedding to Ens. Lewis Beam Monday.

Doris Coehen, Alpha Gam, '45, and Emil Ellis, Delta Sig, '45, were married at Austin, Texas, May 28, according to latest reports.

Even with all the excitement about weddings, engagement rings still have a place in the news. The Kappas report two of Cupid's casualties during the past few days. Marilyn Smith is pointing with pride to her ring from Bob Wood of Grosse Pointe, while Cherry Nowlin is no less joyful over the lovely trinket presented to her by John Price, Hespia.

Lt. Ken Tyson, '43, Delta Chi, dropped around on leave over the weekend bearing a plush-lined box containing a ring for Betty Simpson, Alpha Gam.

And the very last pin of the year to find a new home is that of Keith Seaton, AGR, who has placed his badge beside the Theta kite of Jean Barnum.

FACULTY ROW

largely upon the percentage of alumni participation in programs sponsored by the alumni relations office.

As an alumnus, one's best opportunity to help the college is to understand the college, for when one can ably interpret the institution then one can inform prospective students, citizens of the State and better foster the institution's good will.

What about you of the class of 1944? In the college to become a slowly fading memory, or are you going to cherish and keep alive the college and all of its many associations? Will you see that a correct mailing address is always on file in the alumni recorder's office so that: (1) you'll receive announcements to alumni, and the MSC RECORD alumni magazine, and (2) in order that your friends may be able to find you?

Will you see that your name is on file with your district alumni club secretary so that you will be notified of alumni meetings from time to time?

Will you familiarize yourself with the work of the new central placement office and fill out a data card before you leave the campus? This is a cooperative venture. The employer offers a job requiring certain abilities, the college undertakes the person with those qualifications, the candidate chosen makes the cycle complete by his performance on the job.

What you do this first year out will either consciously or otherwise influence the mould of your future alumni relations.
