Air Crew Unit Scheduled to Leave State Today

Today's Campus

... Better Late

There is nothing like a college education to teach one to read, or this is the conclusion that Ken Hathaway, Holly senior, has reached. Hathaway, an engineer at home between than terms, received his grades never and with them a slip of paper saying registration will be Friday - - - Sept. 22, for fall term. Not reading beyond the Friday, he pulled into East Lansing last Thursday all ready to register Friday only to learn that two days of classes had already been held.

... Cooling Aids

With temperatures soaring above the top of thermometers, students have been seeking new means of keeping cool. Report has it that several students spend all day in Hurd's and Jacobson's, studying in the air cooled interiors. Another favorite study spot is the gravel pit out Grand River. Most students just give up and relax in the shade along the Red Cedar.

Final Registration Figures Lag Last Summer's Total

Falling short of last year's total by about 200, final registration figures for summer sessions at State are expected to approximate 1,400, Kermit Smith, assistant registrar, estimated on Thursday.

A total of 1,359 had registered by Tuesday, and an additional 50 persons were expected to enroll in course work carrying college credit at the several workshops and conferences scheduled for July.

Special features of the summer school, in addition to the regular courses offered, are the special counsellor guidance conferences and training workshops on veteran rehabilitation, problems of industry and labor, child growth and development, vocational agricultural teaching and teaching profession problems.

Summer quarter is divided into a three weeks session, a six weeks session and a full 12 weeks session. The full 12 week quarter will close Sept. 1.

An additional 3,500 persons are expected to attend the remaining portion of the summer conference program sponsored by the office of short courses, according to Ralph Tenny, director.

Conferences yet to be held are: public school custodians, janitors, and engineers, July 5 to 7; grange youth, July 7 to 9; veteran's counsellor, July 10 to 14; vocational ag teachers, July 10 to 14; guidance, July 17 to 19; flock selection and blood testing, July 17 to 20; farm women's week, July 25 to 27; and the state farmers' day, Sept. 7 to 8.

250 to Start ASTR Term Monday

Sixth Service Command Board of Examiners to Be in Lansing

Approximately 225 to 250 Army Specialized Training Reserves under the air forces enlisted reserve will arrive on campus the middle of next week to start the next regular AST term Monday, July 10, Col. G. B. Egger, commandant of AST units on campus, announced yesterday.

The men, all 17 year-olds, will be taken from the sixth service command, comprised of Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. They will enlist for the air forces but will be trained under the AST program.

Age to Tell College Days

Age of the men at the time of enlistment will determine how long they will remain at State, but if they are under 17 years nine months at the time of enlistment, they will get at least two terms of training, Col. Egger predicted.

All of the men will be eligible to be ordered to active duty when they become 18. When they leave MSC they will go directly into the air forces for flight training or training as gunners or bombardiers depending on their classification at that time.

All Expenses Paid

The air forces enlisted reserve program gives 17 year olds with preference for the air forces who want to enlist, a chance to get into the air forces before others. The men will be in the same category as soldiers but will not be paid. They will receive tuition, books, clothing and medical attention the same as army personnel, Colonel Egger announced.

Definite housing arrangements for the men have not been completed yet, but it is expected that the men may live in Abbot hall.

The examining board of the sixth service command will be in Lansing at the Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters, July 19 and 20 to interview 17 year olds who are interested in program and who are high school graduates.

New Basic College To Be Housed in Psych Building

In line with the reorganization of the college divisions and the formation of the basic college, the psychology building will be vacated by the psychology and philosophy departments and turned over to the basic college under the direction of Dean Howard Rather, new dean of that college, according to Pres. John A. Hannah.

Prof. John DeHaan, head of the department of psychology and philosophy department, and his staff will move to new offices in Morrill hall, President Hannah stated.

Other office changes that will take place in the near future, or which have already been made include the moving of Elisabeth Conrad, dean of women, or counsellor in charge of women's under the new organization, to the Union to occupy the offices formerly held by the Dean of Men.

Fred T. Mitchell, formerly dean of men and now styled counsellor in charge of men's affairs, will take over the offices in the administration building formerly held by Dean Conrad.

The offices of the School of Business and Public Service, under Col. Dorsey R. Rodney, will be established in Morrill hall.

The reorganization of the college divisions, which goes into effect the first of July, was approved by the board of agriculture after proposal by the faculty committees. I changes the names of the present divisions to schools and establishes the school of business and public service, compounded from the divisions of Liberal Arts and Applied Science.

Union Board Will Hold Term's Second Dance

Continuing a policy of providing entertainment on otherwise dead weekends, Union Board will sponsor a dance Saturday, from 9 to 12 p. m. in the Union ballroom. Music will be furnished by Gene Devine's band.

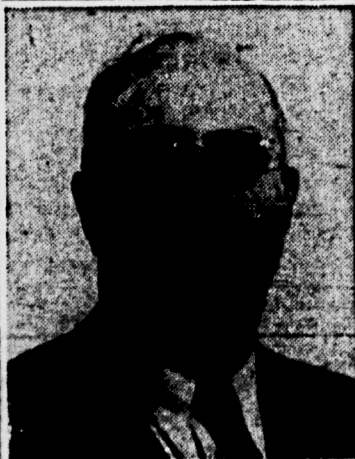

Virginia Jackson, Alma senior, is in charge of patrons, while Jack Breslin, Battle Creek junior, handles tickets sales, and Martha Kelly, Kalamazoo senior, makes the band arrangements. Tickets are on sale at the Union desk.

Air Students Will Be Sent to Take 'On the Line' Training at AAF Fields

Remaining aircrewmembers of the 2590th base unit, formerly known as the 310th college training detachment, stationed in Mason-Abbot halls on the campus, will leave sometime today, it was revealed by Lt. E. M. Alford, ♦adjutant.

Seabee Engineer to Give Lecture

Henry M. Hedges, Chicago engineer, adventurer, explorer, and a navy seabee just back from the island of Bora Bora in the southwest Pacific, has taken some remarkable color film of Bora Bora and Tahiti. This man was dubbed by the natives king of Bora Bora, will give an illustrated talk on life in the South Pacific islands, before and after the war came, at 8:15 Saturday evening in the Fairchild theater.

HENRY W. HEDGES

Hedges and his wife were the only white people on the island of Bora Bora, where they lived with the natives as the natives lives, until the American sailors came with the machinery of modern warfare.

When United States naval men came to build a base, Hedges who spoke the Polynesian language and was acquainted with the topography of Bora Bora, became a seabee engineer and supervised much of the construction work.

Tahiti, made famous by the motion picture "Mutiny on the Bounty," is known as the "Paradise of the Pacific Southwest." Here the Hedges visited in their search for colorful motion pictures. In addition to recording the Polynesian way of life, they photographed, with the aid of water beauties of that region.

Orders to close out the unit which were received from the central flying command at Randolph field, Texas, last week, originally set the date for the departure of the remaining troops for yesterday, but that was later changed to today. Monday was the last day of classes for the air students.

The men, the exact number of which it is impossible to state, will be sent to a field or to various air fields, for "on the line" training in which the men will learn more about the planes they will later fly.

In Between Stage

This is a stage between pre-flight, which the men receive while at MSC, and pre-flight. All aircrewmembers who have left State since April have been sent to fields for "on the line" training previous to pre-flight. The group leaving today will take their pre-flight training when they finish the in-between phase.

All students will be out Thursday except for a few who will training and whose destination was undisclosed. The unit will close officially July 30.

5,000 Men Through

Since the unit was activated in March 1943 as the 310th CTD, it has sent approximately 5,000 bombardier training. First commandant when the group was organized was Col. Raymond Risien, who was succeeded by Maj. Carl F. Modglin.

Closing out the unit will be the present commandant, Col. Paul A. Johnson. As yet no orders have been received for Colonel Johnson, although three other officers of the unit have either been transferred already or will leave soon.

Civilian classes will not meet Tuesday, but will be held Monday, according to Dean E. E. Crowe.

Maj. Kenyon Payne will leave for the San Antonio aviation cadet training center at San Antonio, Texas. Lt. William J. Heaney reported to Pine Bluff, Ark., last week, and Lt. J. M. Comer left about three weeks ago for duty at Enid, Okla.

Dr. Frank Chamberlain Honored at Luncheon

Tribute was paid to Dr. Frank W. Chamberlain, head of the department of anatomy at Michigan State for 32 years, at a luncheon yesterday noon of the Michigan State veterinary alumni.

Chamberlain was honored for his services in veterinary instruction and for his contributions to the science of anatomy. "Atlas of Avian Anatomy: Osteology, Arthrology and Myology," by Chamberlain, was recently published by the Michigan agricultural experiment station. It is the only manual of its type in the field of poultry science and veterinary medicine.

The book involved preparation for over two decades. A presentation of war bonds was made to Chamberlain by Dr. L. A. Welden of Mason, who was one of the first students taught by Chamberlain after he joined the Michigan State staff in January 1911.

A bound collection of letters of appreciation from alumni was presented by Gordon Stocking, sophomore veterinary honor student from Hoxeyville. Remarks, including a biographical sketch of Chamberlain, were made by Dr. R. A. Runnells, present head of the anatomy department.

Chamberlain retired from active service at Michigan State recently after 30 years of service. He retired as head of the anatomy department a year ago but continued as a staff member to carry on further research work.

From 1919 to 1923 he served as acting dean of the veterinary division. He is a native of Vermont and received his training at the University of Vermont and Cornell university. Before coming to Michigan State college, he engaged in private practice and was on the staff of the University of Idaho at Moscow.

In Campus Quarters

By RO HOWLAND AND NANCY SHEPHERD

JUNE is the traditional month for brides and if anyone needs proof of the fact, Michigan State students and alums are offering plenty. Innumerable marriages and engagements keep popping up even when other news becomes scarce.

Starting off with an alum, Grace Nahstoll, Alpha Chi '42, and Harry Brunger, of New Haven, Conn., were married June 17 in East Lansing. Betty Wirth, Chi O '43, who is working in New York City was bridesmaid for the wedding.

Hilda Stroop, Howell junior, will always remember June 16 as the happiest day of her life because it was on that day that she was married to Pvt. James Whyte, of Lansing.

COUPONS—

All women attending summer school for six weeks or less will be granted four D coupons, one A, and one C, and women attending more than six weeks will receive eight D, four A and four C coupons, it was decided at judiciary board meeting Tuesday evening.

Weekends are ration free for the summer and a return Monday morning is also ration free providing the house mother knows about it before 10:30 p. m. Sunday.

Regular week nights permission for all women during the summer is 10:30 p. m. D coupons may be used for 11:30 p. m. permission and for 12 midnight Sundays. If a woman wishes to

WITH the departure today of the only remaining sizeable body of army men from the Michigan State campus, life once more settles down to something which looks on the surface strangely like a pre-war college, but underneath smells suspiciously of a rationed war time existence.

The several hundred air crew men who will leave MSC today will be missed in much the same manner as the several more hundred State men who have left in the past two or three years and who are still leaving in smaller groups.

The absence of army men in quantity puts MSC back to its status of little more than a year ago when the aircrewmen literally took over the campus. Civilians and a handful of senior Vets are the total enrollment. Small though it is, it is still the nucleus of the former 6,000 plus which roamed the campus in pre-war days.

Michigan State's third year of wartime operation has just been completed and with the closing down of the aircrew base unit it is even more obvious that war has come to MSC in a big way.

During the past year several changes have been made in college routine, partly because of the war, partly because of the army men on campus, and partly for general reason of policy. For one thing, women were tripled in double rooms and doubled in single rooms in the dormitories.

Another innovation of the year has been the use of coupon books by women and a man can really swell his

KAPPA Alpha Theta sorority was awarded the intramural sports trophy for the second consecutive year at the annual WAA banquet held at the end of spring term. The cup was presented by WAA Pres. Billie Morley, New Troy senior.

South Williams dormitory was the winner of this year's WAA softball tournament when team members defeated the Sigma Kappas in the playoff game. The score was 6 to 4 in favor of the South Williams team.

The sophomore class took first place in the interclass softball tournament, with the freshmen placing second. A combined team of juniors and seniors ended in third place.

The intramural golf plaque was won by West Mayo, whose team was tops in block one after defeating the Kappas, winners in block two. Bethany Hopphan, Lansing senior, was the winner of the all-college elimination golf tournament which was decided at the end of last term.

- Q. Are "Baby Bonds" still available?
A. No. They have been succeeded by Series E War Bonds, the terms of which are substantially the same.
- Q. In what denominations are Series E Bonds available?
A. They are issued in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000 (maturity value).
- Q. How may I keep Stamps while I am accumulating them?

- A. An album is given free upon request with the first Stamp you buy. Spaces are provided for mounting the Stamps.
- Q. Is it permissible to name both coowner and a beneficiary on a War Savings Bond?
A. No. Either a coowner or a beneficiary may be named, but not both.
- Q. When a woman who owns Bonds gets married, should she have the Bonds reissued in her married name?
A. The Bonds will be so reissued, if she desires. It is not necessary, however.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

Two Golfers Qualify at Nationals

Bowen, Buehler Qualify But Fail to Progress Above Round Two

With only two of Michigan State's golfers qualifying, laurels at the national intercollegiate golf tournament, held at Toledo, O., Monday and Tuesday of this week, went to Notre Dame. The University of Minnesota and the favored U. of M. team finished in second and third respectively.

Four Spartans went with Coach Ben VanAlstyne to the Toledo meet. They were Bob Bowen, Grand Haven senior; Bill Buehler, Detroit senior; Bob Sena, Detroit junior; and Stew Helliwell, Royal Oak sophomore. Bowen and Buehler were the two who qualified for the meet. Bowen's qualifying score, which was low for the team, was 81.

Buehler was defeated in the first round, but Bowen defeated James Warfield, number one man for Northwestern University, 4 to 2 to move on to the second round. The meet was held at the Inverness golf course near Toledo and some 45 golfers from mostly midwestern schools were present.

This is the first time that any of the golfers, except Bowen, had ever played in intercollegiate tournaments before. Bowen qualified last year for the nationals.

The team had been able to schedule no college matches this year because of the late date at which athletic competition was resumed. Weekly matches with officers of the 2590th air base unit had been held and the Spartan squad had triumphed.

Editorial, Advertising Assistants Wanted

All persons interested in working on the editorial or advertising staffs of the State News during the summer should contact Barbara Denison, editor, and Barbara Fearnside, advertising manager, respectively, at the State News office.

Previous experience is not necessary for either type of work and several positions are still open.

Child Development Conference Opens on Campus Today

Bringing more than 100 teachers, administrators, and guidance counsellors to the campus, a two-day conference on child growth and development will open at 10:30 this morning and conclude tomorrow afternoon, Dr. C. V. Millard, director of the department of education.

The program is sponsored jointly by the college department of education and the department of home management and child development. Outstanding educational leaders have been scheduled to discuss "Problems of our children today," "The place of psychiatry in the rehabilitation program," "Role of local schools in determining the development of curricula", and

Among the speakers will be Russell Smart, industrial psychologist, Detroit; Isabel Willoughby, social welfare department of the state of Michigan; Dr. Lee Vincent, psychologist, from the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit; Dr. Ralph Witherpoon, Central Michigan College of Education, Mt. Pleasant.

Other speakers included were Dr. Byron Hughes, School of Education, University of Michigan; Henry Ponitz, Michigan department of public instruction; Earl Moiser, division of teaching personnel, Michigan State department of public instruction; Dr. Ralph Patterson, University hospital, University of Michigan; John S. Haitema, instruction and planning division, Michigan State department of public instruction; Dr. Carl V. Morrison, director, Lansing Children's Center; and Nelle Haley, elementary supervisor, Saginaw Public schools.

Michigan State college faculty members taking part in the program are: Prof. Guy Hill, Dr. Fred Mitchell, Dr. A. J. Huggett, and Dr. Millard.

Cafeteria, Hospital, Grill, Library Post Hours of Service

Hospital hours will be the same this term as they were spring term, Dr. Charles Holland, director of the college health service announced. Students may see doctors from 8:30 to 11 in the mornings and from 2 to 4:30 in the afternoons on week days. Hours on Saturday will be from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.

The library will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 10 p. m. on week-days and from 7:30 a. m. to noon Saturdays. It will be closed all day Sunday.

Meal hours in the Union cafeteria will be from 11:15 a. m. to 1 p. m. for lunch and from 5:15 to 7 p. m. for dinner from Monday through Saturday. Sunday the cafeteria will be open from 12:30 to 1 p. m. for faculty and students.

The Union grill will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. all through the week and from 8:30 a. m. until noon Saturdays. It will be closed all day on Sunday.

chest with pride when a woman forfeits her last D coupon for a late evening with him.

During the winter the Union cafeteria turned GI and served its food on army sectioned trays, but spring term it went back to its civilian status again. Olds hall would resound with more than one lonely echo if it weren't for the Pratt Whitney women, minus the yellow corduroy but doing well just the same.

One obvious lack during the past year has been serenading. Time was when every time a coed got a fraternity pin the whole house came over and sang to her. Many were the pins passed this year but few were the serenades.

With the passing of the air crew today, what has virtually become another Michigan State tradition of more

Although we are sorry to see them go, we can always look at it another way . . . if having them go makes the Spartans come back sooner, that's fine and if the aircrewmen want to come back and be Spartans after the war, that's fine too. We'll be seeing you.

Student Auto Rules Remain Unchanged

Despite decreased numbers of student owned automobiles on campus, the same police regulations will govern them, Campus Police Chief R. W. Rogers stated.

Regulations applying to student cars are as follows:

All cars must be registered with campus police.

Students must park their cars only on the student parking lot opposite College auditorium. However women living in the dorms and men living in Wells hall may park their cars near their dorms.

Annual 4-H Week Nears Close as 660 Boys, Girls Leave

Concluding a week of classes and conferences, the annual 4-H club week will hold its final meeting tomorrow. Six hundred fifty-eight boys and girls registered for the conference which started Tuesday. The theme for the week has been "The World Our Neighbors", carried out in a wartime atmosphere.

Those attending are among the most active of the 25,000 boys and girls in 4-H club work in the 41 southern counties in the lower peninsula, according to A. G. Kettunen, state club leader. Similar club weeks for other parts of the state will be operated at Gaylord, July 31 to August 4 and Camp Shaw, at Chatam, August 7 to 11.

Live in Dorm

The girls are being housed in Campbell dorms and the boys are staying in the women's gym.

More than 50 State board of agriculture scholarships will be announced this afternoon, Kettunen stated. The winners will receive a grant to help defray expenses at State for the first year. They are awarded for outstanding performance in the 1943 summer and this past winter.

Divided Into War Groups

One feature of the week is the division of the boys and girls into war type groups for recreational and competitive purposes. The boys are members of groups called the army, air forces, navy, or marines. Girls are divided into groups of marines, WACS, air WACS and WAVES.

In addition to a welcoming message from Pres. John A. Hannah, special speakers will include the Rev. D. W. Hunter, of Lansing, giving a lecture on "India and Its People" and Byron Good, recently returned to the faculty after army service, who will describe "The South Pacific As Seen by a Soldier."
