

Spotlight Review Presents Two Shows at Fort Custer

10 Act Performance Given for Soldiers

A 10 act show, first of a summer series of the Spartan Spotlight review, played two performances at Fort Custer yesterday at the Red Cross recreation center and the service club number one, Don Buell, director of the show, announced.

The program of Midsummer Magic and Music was presented at 6:30 and 8:15 p.m. by the CDC of Michigan State. Mistress of ceremonies was Nancy Blue, Detroit senior.

Margaret Peterson, Brooklyn senior, was CDC chairman for the performances, and posters were prepared by Jean Harris, Aurora, Ind., senior. Lenore Huddleson, East Lansing junior, was in charge of musical numbers.

Student Acts

Mrs. J. Arthur Boice, chairman of the camp hospital service, assisted with preparations for the show.

Included in the various student acts of the two performances were songs sung by Freddie Roberts, Detroit senior; Russian and tap dancing by Janet Young, East Lansing freshman; and a three accordion number by Phyllis Blanchard, freshman; Phyllis Ostrom, sophomore, and Dorothy Brooks, freshman, all of Lansing.

Two Planos

Cynthia Pirnie, Battle Creek freshman, and Miss Huddleson presented several two piano numbers; Nancy Otis, East Lansing sophomore, sang blues selections, and Bob Edgell, Elmira, N. Y., senior, gave some magic acts.

Audience participation was in the form of singing with music played by Miss Ostrom.

... Share, Share Alike

"I've seen a lot of things, but never anything like this", stated Prof. Harry Kimber, of the history department. Cause of his remark was two of the students in his European history class. The students, Don Pause Durick, Buffalo, N. Y., freshman and Bob Bastian, Adrian sophomore, were calmly sitting in the classroom drinking a cooling bottle of Coca Cola on out of those sweltering days. At the remark, the boys were equal to the situation. "We've got another bottle of pop, do you want it?" they inquired. Whereupon they opened it and gave it to him and the lecture went on as before.

Hannah Given Certificate of Service

General Offers Award
For College's Work
in Air Training

In recognition of the work done by Michigan State college and the 310th CTD, Pres. John A. Hannah was presented with a certificate of service attesting to the contribution that State made to the rapid expansion of the nation's air forces.

The certificate, signed by commanding generals of the training command and central flying training command, was given to President Hannah Tuesday by Brig. Gen. Charles T. Myers, personal representative of Brig. Gen. Walter F. Kraus, top general of the central flying training command.

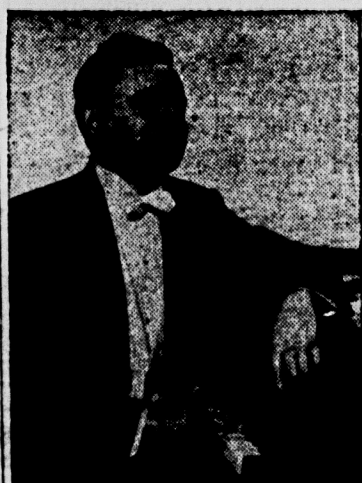

Col. Paul A. Johnson, commanding officer of the 2590th air base unit at MSC, made the announcement of the award.

The certificate, bearing the seal of the training command was signed by its head, Lt. Gen. B. K. Yount, and General Kraus. General Myers came to East Lansing from Randolph Field, Texas, in an army plane to make the presentation. He was met at the Lansing airport by Colonel Johnson and his staff.

The 310th college training detachment was activated at State in March of last year. Since then it has trained 5,600 men, Colonel Johnson stated. Training under this detachment was concluded last month.

Brilliant Welsh Pianist to Present Concert in Auditorium Saturday

Acclaimed as the country's top ranking musician, Alec Templeton, Welsh pianist-composer, will highlight the summer lecture series with a concert Saturday at 8:15 p. m. in College auditorium.

Templeton composed his first piece, "Slow Movement," at the age of four. Only a year later he made his debut as an amateur musician at a children's concert at Cardiff, Wales. His first radio appearance came at the age of 12.

Toured Europe, U. S.

During his musical career to date, Templeton has toured England, France, Holland, Germany, and the United States. He came to this country in the early thirties.

Dean S. E. Crowe, director of the lecture-concert series, stated that Templeton is famed in America as a brilliant pianist, musical satirist, and a gifted composer.

Two of his works are familiar to American radio and musical audiences, Dean Crowe noted. "Concerta Lyrico" had its premiere under Bernard Hermann and the CBS symphony orchestra last summer, while "Rhapsody Harmonique" has been performed by orchestras in Chicago, Detroit, and Rochester. Both show the influence of Bach, Debussy, and Rachmaninoff.

Has Given 70 Concerts

During the last year Templeton gave 70 concerts, contributing a considerable part of the proceeds to the entertainment of soldiers at USO centers.

Featuring improvisations which have made him famous,

All students must have reserve seat tickets in order to see the Alec Templeton concert. Tickets are available at the cashier's office in the administration building at no cost. Students must, however, present their treasurer's receipt in order to secure tickets.

Templeton's program will be divided into three parts. The first parts will consist of "Prelude and Fugue in G Major" by Bach, "Sarabande and Minuet" by Purcell, "Rondo in B Flat" by Mozart, and "Sonata in C Minor Pathétique" by Beethoven.

The second part of the program will consist of the "Prelude in G Sharp Minor" by Rachmaninoff, a polka from "Age of Gold" by Shostakovich, "Nocturne C Minor" by Chopin.

Aircrew Property Given Over to AST Service Officer

All government property of the 2590th base unit, aircrew, at Mason and Abbot halls has been inventoried and accounts turned over to the AST property officer of the sixth service command at Detroit, Col. Paul A. Johnson announced yesterday.

All that remains to be done is to complete and forward records of the unit, which was known as the 310th College Training Detachment, until last spring.

Orders have not been received yet for Colonel Johnson or other men who remained at MSC to close out the unit when the aircrewmen left at the end of June. Colonel Johnson anticipated that they would be here another week.

In the meantime, all military men who have been living in Wells hall have moved into Abbot hall. Wells hall will be converted into a women's dorm, while civilian men will live in Mason hall this fall.

Union Board Will Hold First Mixer After Concert Saturday

To round out the weekend, Union board will give a free dance Saturday from 9 to 12 in the Union ballroom. The dance is open to all couples and individuals at no charge. It will be in the nature of an all-college mixer.

Providing music with which to conclude an evening of Alec Templeton's piano playing, Gene Devine will play for the dance. All ASTRs are also invited.

Union board members who are serving on the dance committees include Virginia Jackson, Alma senior, who is in charge of patrons; Jack Breslin, Battle Creek sophomore, who selected the band; and Martha Kelly, Kalamazoo senior, in charge of publicity.

Students, ASTRs, Meet Halfway

Often in the history of nations and organizations there comes a time when people begin to doubt the wisdom of the established customs and suspect the usefulness of precedent.

In the eyes of some, Michigan State college seems to have reached that point. Violations of the oldest and most revered of the traditions of State have become more and more common, especially since the arrival of a new group of military men.

The ASTR has come to state under a certain disadvantage. Yet they have advantages in their favor also. They must fill in where 3,000 older men in military service once served. The 250 17-year olds are here in a sense to replace the air students and the regular AST.

They are also here as students of MSC. That in itself imposes certain obligations on them and in return gives them certain rights and privileges. The ASTR will be expected to carry out the traditions of the institution. They have no more right to smoke on the campus or to traipse across the lawn than anyone else. It is their obligation to observe and respect these traditions.

Militarily, the ASTR rates last on the campus even now. Every male student, with a few exceptions, is required to take two years of military training. This puts him two years ahead of the ASTR, whether he is in uniform or not. There are also many men on the campus who have served honorably in the armed forces of the country, and have been discharged for medical or military reasons. These things the ASTR does not realize.

On the other hand, college students are often prone to ignore certain facts about the ASTR and its members. Many of them are away from home for the first time in their lives. Many of them have a uniform on for the first time. And being younger it naturally takes some time to become adjusted to the new surroundings. It is not necessary that a group of men march like robots for them to be good and worthy citizens.

So by coming half way and realizing the situations from each angle, cooperation for the good and betterment of both parties can be reached, to the advantage of all, including Michigan State college.

25 Jamaicans Work for College Groups

Twenty-five Jamaican men, special government agreement aged 23 to 45 are now being employed by the buildings and grounds, soils, dairy husbandry, and animal husbandry departments, to alleviate the current acute labor situation on the campus.

All British subjects, they arrived here on June 21 through a ar on Farm Lane.

Ralph H. Hudson of the Agriculture division, handling affairs for the workers, stated that the men at present are being quartered at the judging pavilion, located just south across Red Cedar on Farm Lane.

SPEAKING FOR MYSELF

By BARBARA DENNISON

COED fashions in 1944 are a far cry from those of a half century ago when Great Aunt Minnie or Fifth Cousin Emma braved the rigors of a university education in clothes enough to outfit a square rigger.

In view of the change of apparel worn by the fairer sex through the years it might not be out of the realm of the possible that some day, in the not too distant future, coeds may even be able to go to classes in shorts on days like the past several.

It wasn't till the 1890s that women began to invade the colleges and universities with a determination that wouldn't take no for an answer, and since that time styles have changed considerably.

In a recent issue of the Purdue Exponent, student newspaper of Purdue university, the bondages of raiment from which women have come in the last 50 years were described.

For instance, in 1890, coeds traipsed about the campuses in ground sweeping skirts and shirtwaists with high collars as stiff as starch could make them. Balloon like leg-o-mutton sleeves held almost enough material for a parachute.

Hair styles have been altered markedly through the decades, having been the fashion 50 years ago to wear piles of it knotted on the back of the head and held there with a present day fortune of hair pins.

On formal occasions, a few added attractions were picked up, including gloves, fan, billowy chiffon handkerchiefs, bustles, sashes and other impossible articles.

By 1914 women were still to be pitted by present day standards, but necklines had come down somewhere near normal. A few die hards, however, thought that in order to appear as good girls they had to conceal their throats under neckties of one sort or another. Skirts shocked the nation by going up to the ankles.

In 1914 there was a version of the sweater girl, however naive and unenlightened she may have been. What passed for a sweater was usually a long, baggy, buttoned affair usually worn with a corduroy skirt.

State Grid Forces Schedule Carnegie Tech in Home Tilt

Skibos Added to List of Fall Season Foes

Booking its fourth contest for the 1944 season, Michigan State will meet the grid team of Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh for a football game in East Lansing Saturday, Nov. 18.

Ralph H. Young, athletic director, announced the completed negotiations at the first of the week, and stated that he hoped to round out an eight game schedule by the end of the summer.

Three Other Games

Resuming intercollegiate sports only last April, after a year's absence, three other contests have been scheduled to date. Two of these are home tilts, the first with the Kansas State Wildcats, Saturday, Oct. 14, and the other with the University of Maryland on Armistice day, Nov. 11. The fourth contest will be the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., Saturday, Nov. 4.

The Carnegie Tech "Skibos" and the Spartans have met four times on the gridiron in a series which began in 1933. State has won three of the four and the other ended in a scoreless tie.

The 0 to 0 game was played at the Skibos' home stadium in 1933, the first year that Head Coach Charlie Bachman took over the football reins at State. In 1934 the Spartans defeated Carnegie, 13 to 0. Succeeding games in 1936 and 1937 went to State by scores of 7 to 0 and 13 to 6.

Practice to Start Aug. 1

Bachman last year coached at Camp Grant, while State had an intermural league of army and civilian teams.

Summer practice is slated to begin about Aug. 1, Bachman stated. None of the gridmen in school have ever had any intercollegiate experience, but several have played in last year's intermural league. Bachman expects to use these men as a nucleus of a team of 17 year olds.

Examining Board to Interview 17 Year Old Youths

Members of the examining board of the sixth service command will be at the Veterans' of Foreign Wars headquarters in Lansing Monday and Tuesday to interview men between the ages of 17 and 17 years nine months for enlistment in the air forces enlisted reserve.

Applicants in this area found mentally and physically qualified will be accepted for three, six or nine months of training, depending on their age at the time of enlistment.

They will be called to active duty in the air forces shortly after their 18th birthdays.

In commenting on the air forces enlisted reserve program, Col. G. B. Egger, commandant of military units at State said, "These men are going to be called to the army and if they want to get in that branch of service, it seems like a good thing to do."

Another former Spartan musician, Pfc. Howard Fetherston, '46, is with the 76th division band at Camp McCoy, Wis. Private Fetherston played in the MSC band while at State.

SPEAKING

Things really happened to women by 1927, in addition to having been able to vote for a few odd years. They rebelled at the lack of freedom they possessed because of their cumbersome apparel.

They no longer struggled with voluminous yards of skirt and pounds of hair. They sheared their curly locks to a mere three or four inches and, with an attempt at coyness, plastered down a spit curl or a wave over one eye that would out-Lake Veronica Lake.

With necklines downed and skirts considerably upped, the coeds closely approached the 1944 version for lack of yardage. Shoes and stockings remained as a tradition among coeds who had yet to learn the meaning of brief socks.

Sweaters retained their 1914 appearance, and gave every indication of having less shape than a feed bag. Women in gym classes were the last straw in their middy blouses, baggy bloomers and knee socks. The day of emancipation finally came, plainly visible on the modern coed to all with eyes.

Such were the conditions, perhaps, under which former residents of Morrill hall lived. Imagine how much longer it must have taken them to dress in the morning or for a date. Seems like they would had to have started in the middle of the afternoon for a dinner date. There are coeds who still do that and finally get through about time for dinner at 8 instead of 6.

With the changes that already have accompanied women's entrance into the schools of higher learning, it is hard to imagine what may come within the next generation.
