So It Goes

The naiveness of children is aptly and humorously illustrated by the remark of the young daughter of Townsend Rich, of the English department, who was attending one of the re-around cent movies sponsored around by the Basic College. A drunk man appeared on the screen and the youngster asked what was "wrong with that man". Rich replied that he was sick. When the tipsy man reappeared the child commented "He must be awfully sick."

Trick Trouble

If anyone is interested in practical jokes, apply to Irene Hutchinson. Drayton Plains sophomore for ideas. The girls at Potter house had just accustomed themselves to the imitation snakes, mice, and rubber chocolates she has provided when they started to eat dinner. But some-one happened. Forks exploded, knives collapsed, and the bowl dropped out of the sugar spoon.

What Does A Wolf

Name an animal in Spanish," directed professor Wilson of the second year students in second year reading class. The coed looked puzzled, and appar-say, "I didn't know off hand." "Well, the wolf," prompted O. W. Wilson. "The wolf," now, make a speech that a wolf would say. No more hesitation. She didn't say any Spanish words, just a whistle - low, then higher, and very well drawn out. It was the professor who recovered. "To go on with the translation," he began.

Saar Factories Periled As U.S. Units Move In

Three New Yank Attacks Force Germans Back to Rhine Plain

PARIS, Dec. 7 (AP)—U.S. third army tanks today thrust to Forbach, three and a half miles from Saarbrücken, in a relentless drive on the war factories of the Saar basin, whose peril was heightened by another American army on the east striking within three miles of the old Maginot line.

As the winter offensive's first month ended with 700 square miles of Germany in Allied hands, the U.S. first army launched three new attacks that carried to the Roer river at one point, amid indications the Germans may be preparing to fall back almost to the Rhine for a new stand on the Cologne plain.

Patton Troops Harass Forbach
Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's third army tanks in a two and a half-mile advance probed into the French city of Forbach, and kept Saarbrücken's busy factories under artillery fire for the eighth consecutive day. Smoke could be seen boiling up over Saarbrücken.

Other forces fought to expand three bridgeheads across the Saar at Saarlautern, where some street fighting still was in progress, and other crossings north and south of the city.

35th Moves Into French City
Eight miles southeast of Saarbrücken—the "little Pittsburgh"—and capital of the Saar basin—the 35th infantry division mopped up two-thirds of the French city of Saareguemines lying on the west bank of the Saar.

The 26th infantry division, which crossed the Saar farther upstream, was beating up the eastern bank, however, and had reached Etting, seven miles southeast of Saareguemines.

Eight miles east of Etting, elements of the U.S. seventh army jumped into the battle for the Saar and the adjacent German province of the Palatinate.

All-College Orchestra Program Will Include Christmas Numbers

The fifty-six piece Michigan State college band, under the direction of Leonard Falcone, will present its fall concert tonight, 8 p.m. in the College auditorium.

The program is made up of a variety of selections including Christmas music.

Closing Program
This being the last all-college program for the term, the band will first play a group of Christmas carols as arranged by Frank.

The group will include such perennial favorites as "Little Town of Bethlehem," "O Come all ye Faithful," "Joy to the World," and "Silent Night."

Following in order, the band will play: Concert March "Triumphant," by Olivadoti; "In a Monastery Garden," by Ketelbey; Overture to "Oedipus in Colonus," Saccini-Franko; "Cavalry of the Steppes," by Knipper-mohaupt.

Solo Number
"The Elephant and the Fly," by King will next be presented. The solo parts of this number will be played by Shirley Crisman, Pontiac sophomore, flute; and Robert Pfeiffer, Pontiac freshman, bassoon.

This is a novelty number in which the flute portrays the fly and the bassoon is used to portray the elephant. Following this novel selection will be heard ballet music from Faust.

An adaptation of Washington Irving's "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" as arranged and written by Bennett will next be heard. To conclude the concert, the band will play a Symphonic poem "The Universal Judgment," by DeNardis.

The first program next term will be a concert to be given by Prof. Romeo Tata, violinist, on Tuesday, Jan. 9.

Speech Clinic's Facilities Prove Boon To Students, Children, War Veterans

By SYLVIA CIERNIAK

Through exercises and treatment under the direction of Mrs. Lucia M. Nesom, the speech clinic in College auditorium is giving a more assured future to hundreds every year.

Entering freshmen are given speech tests during the first week in order to discover any defects. Over 10 per cent of them need remedial treatment. In cases where physical disorders may be present the patient is sent to the college hospital for examination.

The clinic's up to date equipment includes an audiometer by which hearing may be tested, and a lip-reading mirror through which the instructor may be seen but not heard. Recordings made of the voice show improvement and also the defects which still need work.

Ex-Servicemen Helped
Many veterans who have received head injuries causing speech impairments are also making use of the remedial treatment offered by the clinic.

Foreign accents, too, may be treated, and persons from several countries including Mexico, Haiti, Cuba, Austria, China, and Chile have taken advantage of the clinic's facilities.

Children make up a large part of the defective speech cases in this country. Surveys made in the past show that approximately one million school children in the United States are in need of clinical speech treatment. Many Michigan children between the ages of 4 and 18 have been helped by Michigan State college's speech clinic.

Clinicians Needed
Practice teachers in this type of speech work go into local schools and establish speech clinics there. The demand for clinicians is expected to increase greatly since a greater number of schools are making use of speech clinics.

Michigan State's clinic was organized in 1937. The service is free to enrolled students, and available also to faculty members, Michigan children, draftees deferred because of speech defects, returning servicemen, and men who are in military training on campus.

Mrs. Nesom pointed out that although few people realize that this type of work is being done, it is not a new field.

Speech correction has been carried in Europe for many years by the medical profession. In this country, near the end of the 19th century, Alexander Graham Bell instructed classes in speech correction at Boston university in the liberal arts department. Since then the colleges have been the most important influence in development of speech clinic work in the United States.

U.S. Division Lands On Ormoc Under Heavy Bombing

GEN. MAC ARTHUR'S HDQ., PHILIPPINES, Friday, Dec. 8 (AP)—A sensational landing of U.S. 77th division troops at Ormoc, enemy held port on Leyte island, and a daring suicide attack by Japanese paratroopers 19 miles from Tacloban on the opposite side of the island were reported by a headquarters communique today.

A Japanese convoy of 13 ships which came into Ormoc behind the American landing force was destroyed.

The enemy paratroopers did some damage before being nearly wiped out, the communique reported. Tacloban as the site of a U. S. airfield.

U.S. Ships Lost

Japanese planes hit the American convoy at Ormoc after troops had been put ashore. One U. S. destroyer and a small transport were lost.

By the Ormoc maneuver, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said, "we have seized the center of the Yamashita line from the rear and have split the enemy's forces in two."

Among the 13 Japanese ships sunk were four large loaded transports. There were two small transports and seven destroyers in the convoy.

Second Nip Attack Halted

An additional Japanese convoy of six small ships approaching Leyte at nightfall yesterday also was wiped out.

A mutual network broadcast from Leyte said the 77th pushed past the three-mile marker outside Ormoc and secured its beachhead quickly.

The same broadcast reported that some 200 enemy paratroopers made the landing south of Tacloban. The Imperial command tipped its hand last week, said the broadcast, when three Nipponese transport planes made crash landings in the same locality. The small group of paratroopers was quickly eliminated or rounded up.

It was the first time the 77th division, veterans of Guam, had been used in the Philippines.

Snooping in the Shops

By ROBERTA TAYLOR

JACOBSON'S have caught the spirit. They have a great, shining tree, all angel hair and stars, the kind of a tree that makes you think of home and all so of all the yuletide joys that you still have to buy.

Jake's are right on the line with suggestions to Santa. One of the sweetest ways to please Mr. Lay is to send her cologne, and Mary Dunhill does hers up fine in gold initialed square bottles.

Choose it from "Flowers of Dixie," "White Hyacinth," or "Bewitching," and carry it off in one of two sizes, $1.75 or $3.00. They'll initial it while you wait.

Yes, it's a gay Christmas morn'g for the gal friend or man who's easy win the tricks, especially if they're chosen from the Town and College array of sparkling carousels. From $1.00 to $9.95 and earrings in sterling, Mexican, rhinestone, or pearls.

Something new and an artist's touch are the gracefully shaped earrings dipped in rose gold and set off sharply with a special setting. The earrings are priced $5.95 to $9.95, according to the setting, ruby, amethyst, emerald, topaz, turquoise, or pearl.

Here's a novel idea for a novelty loving mother. You've heard of singing leaflets. This is a singing teapot, a lovely china piece that pours out the best as it pours out the tea.

The secret. There's a wee music box hidden way down inside. "Tea for Two" tinkles on and on while you listen, entranced. The gift is your own to wrap for $12.95 at the P. & N. Whistle.

Downtown at Arbaugh's, you walk in the door and soft carols greet you. The organ melodies serve to put you in the mood, but you're already there unless you've whisked by their counters, eyes closed. Perhaps your "roomie" has scuttled round long enough like a ruffian.

Arbaugh's slipper department, main floor, has just what she needs in satins, feathery dreams, or gay bunnies, budgetly priced $1.50 to $4.45.

The Madamoiselle shop downtown can be depended upon for big ideas. This time it's a sabbat for madame, soft satin "bra's" with lacy trimmed brass, price shades of pastel and seafoam, like SPRINGBREE.

Tucked inside sweater drawers is where credit sales. They're chosen from the Town and College array of sparkling carousels. From $1.00 to $9.95 and earrings in sterling, Mexican, rhinestone, or pearls.

Country-fairish is Milk. They have selected "crazy" little scarves, boots, equipped with an always-busy press that ticks on "crazy" "crazy" press, or satin, choose your scarf, get a white, and you'll get free gifts. The scarves are just $1.00, $1.49 and the symbols of many a merry night.

At Lieberman's, we've found the cutest thing yet. It's like a tiny, round, mirror-like like plastic, and worth twice its size. There's unbelievable fun for powder, inside and underneath, a small lipstick mirror. The price, just two dollars.

New Officers of Red Cross Units Announce Plans

Newly appointed officers of the college Red Cross unit have begun plans for the coming term activities. General Chairman Marion Chenery, Ann Arbor junior, Elaine Simons, Wyandotte junior, vice chairman, Treasurer Barbara Thompson, Louisville, Ky., senior, and Secretary Margaret Peterson, Brooklyn senior, are the heads.

Registration for the Red Cross will be held at the same time as the college registration. Classes can then sign up for any of the four classes, which will be held Tuesday evenings instead of Wednesday as in the past.

The classes are Production, Home Nursing, Gray Ladies, and Staff assistants. The first two will continue with the same program, but new information has been added about the latter two.

Gray Ladies, who act as workers in hospitals, will be divided into groups which will go to local hospitals for experience. A second training course for Gray Ladies will begin for a six-week period. This will enable more needs to do hospital work.

The group will continue making surgical dressings and scrap books for civilian hospitals.

At the registration desk, certificates will be available for Staff assistants who have just completed their courses. At the same time, Miss Chenery said, the manuals which were used for the course should be returned.

VanAlstyne Takes Team To Columbus Tonight

State to Face Buckeyes at Ohio State

By JOE HEAGANY

Hoping for the best and looking for the worst, Coach Ben VanAlstyne will take his cagers into Columbus, O., tonight for a game with Ohio State tomorrow night. The team of 10 men will leave on the 2 p.m. train from Lansing.

The Buckeyes are reported to be one of the big powers of the Big Nine, which is considered as being one of the toughest circuits in the country. The scarlet and gray are the colors of the team. Last year Coach VanAlstyne was on the top of the heap in coaching and was given All-American honors.

Scouts will counter with the same lineup that opened the season against Drake. Sam Fortino, a boy who can score with any of them, and Paul Bauman, who after a little experience should equal Fortino, will be at forwards.

Guard Positions

Nick Hashin, a great defensive man and an equal defensive power, and Joe Beyer, another man who holds potential offensive power will be at guards. At center it will be either Bill Krall or Chuck Frankel.

Men who will no doubt see action are Bob O'Leary, Jack Burdick, and Dick Masuch. Masuch will be participating in his last bit of sports for State. The big football letter winner was informed by his draft board that he should report Sunday following the game. Masuch was being counted on as a guard.

Changed Man

O'Leary is unquestionably the fastest man on the squad. Bob was changed to the guard position and has filled the breach well.

Burdick, since the start of the season has come along fast and may see action. Another boy who might play is Dick Young. Young has been hampered with a bad ankle but will be alright if he is needed.

The traveling squad lists Fortino, Bauman, Burdick, and Young at forwards, Hashin, Beyer, O'Leary, and Masuch at guards, and Krall and Frankel at center. The team will return Sunday afternoon or evening.
