Soulless Poetry

It's hard to like poetry, when identity is at stake. A poet who was walking across the campus, with a copy of "Leaves of Walt Whitman's," had his book tucked under her arm. A passerby, reading "Leaves of Grass," asked him, "You're a landscape painter aren't you?"

Displaced Angel

Miss Howard, Flint junior, is just about convinced that the day is running out of planes or that the air corps is now training men in Mercury-methods, and all because of a letter. Joe Carr, who attended State in 1942-43 and is now stationed at Pensacola, wrote to her and listed some of the results of a recent shopping tour, including one green coat and two pairs of pants with wings.

Callaway to Give Commentary on Current Plays

Paul Joe A. Callaway of the music department will give "Broadway in Review," a commentary on the current New York theater season, today at 8 p.m. in the music auditorium. Granville, president of stage managers club, which is producing the program, will introduce the speaker.

The discussion will be charged with a lecture which is to be given by students, faculty, and visitors. This presents the best opportunity in several years for college audiences to associate with the Broadway.

Among the plays to be discussed are "Broadway in Review," "The Member Mama," "Harrigan and the Blarney Girl," "The Story of Arts," "Voice" of the Oklahoma," "Anna Lee," "Sing Out, Sweet Land," "A Bell for Adano," "The Last George Apley," and many others. A question period will follow the talk.

Spinster Spin to Top Social Schedule for Coming Weekend

Meeting college women with the post-leaf year opportunity Mortar Board, Tower Girls, and other women's organizations will sponsor the annual Spinster Spin Saturday evening from 9 to 12 in the Union.

Garrison's band will play for the semi-formal event. Inexpensive decorations will be provided by town girls; tickets and programs will be handled by Dorothy Shaw, Mortar Board.

Orchestra and entertainment will be handled by Dorothy Roberts, Tower Guard; while Thais, SWL member, will look after the publicity.

The growl night the Epsilon Omicron will hold an informal party with AEPis in the forestry cabin from 8:30 to 12. Patrons for the get together will be Dr. and Mrs. Albert J. Huggett and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Knittel.

Yanks Penetrate Manila Gateway In Luzon Drive

GEN. MACARTHUR'S TIDINGS ON THURSDAY, JAN. 25 (AP)—Forty division troops drove to within less than five miles of Big Clarke field and its 13 air strips Wednesday by capturing the town of Bamban and its nearby airfield, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported late Wednesday. The Yanks on the west flank of the central plains continued their war of movement and swept through the town of Bamban and its airfield. The motorized patrols pushed on south of Mabalacat to near Clark field and Fort Stotsenburg. This represented the first penetration of Pampanga—province gateway to Manila. The Americans dispersed Japanese motor patrols and snipers' nests.

American airmen flew in close support of the ground forces. They also hit Corregidor island, at the entrance to Manila bay, with 45 tons of explosives, setting off major explosions and fires. Baguio, the summer capital in the Benguet mountains north of Rosario, was raided as were Subic and Dasol bays on Luzon's west coast.

Heavy bombers continued to hammer Formosa on the north and the Borneo oil fields far to the south.

Committee to Submit WSSF Drive Plans for Okay Tonight

Representatives of faculty and of major student organizations will meet tonight at 7 at the International house to discuss further plans for a World Student Service fund drive, according to Marion Vorce, East Lansing junior, and YWCA representative for WSSF.

An executive committee consisting of Jim Bibbins, Snyder, N. Y., senior; Bill Graham, Detroit sophomore; Pat Johnson, Wyandotte senior; and Marg Graff, Detroit senior, with Dean W. Kuykendall acting as chairman, met previously to draw up a tentative plan for the drive.

This plan will be presented to the representatives tonight for suggestions, revisions and approval.

WSSF is a fund to which students of all nations contribute to give food, clothing, medical care and especially material for the furthering of students' education in war-torn countries.

Dating Dope

Sigs, Dorm Lassies Confer on Date Planning

An open forum on the problems of dating was held Tuesday evening in the lounge of North Campbell dormitory between six Sigma Chis and the women of the hall.

Chairman of the women was Marg Silberblatt, Detroit sophomore.

Before the men were put on probation for questioning, Elaine Baker, Bay City sophomore, sang several numbers. She was accompanied by Jean Wahl, Battle Creek junior.

Personal Views Expressed

The men were asked their personal opinion of calling for a date at the last minute, proper or improper dress, not leaving name when telephoning, or for getting to mention evening plans

Conrad Granted Six Month Extension Absence Leave

Mrs. Maurice Gonon Will Continue Counselor Duties

Miss Elisabeth Conrad, counselor of women, has been granted a six months extension on her leave of absence by the State Board of Agriculture and will not return to MSC until July 1.

Miss Conrad, whose original leave began in September, is living in Washington, D. C., now.

Miss Conrad's duties will continue to be handled by Mrs. Maurice Gonon, assistant counselor for women. Miss Conrad, who started out on the State faculty as an instructor in French, is not expected to return to the campus. Her home on Faculty row has been converted into the International center and now houses Dr. Shao Chang Lee and his wife.

According to information received in the counselor of women's office, Lt. George Mabel Petersen, former housing director for women, has been given command of a WAVES housing project in Arlington, Va.

Lieutenant Petersen received her commission in November and is now in charge of over 1,000 WAVES.

Council Clarifies Voting Eligibility

Final senior elections will be carried out in the same manner as primaries last week, as far as the eligibility of voters is concerned, it was decided at the Student council meeting held last night.

At a special meeting last week the council clarified its former stand that only those persons can vote who have 142 credits or more and who are expecting to graduate before fall term, 1945.

This excludes the present fourth year Veterinary students who have the required credits but who will not graduate until next year.

Two representatives of the council will contact the faculty eligibility committee to clarify the council's decision on the status of the five-year students. The council also voted last night to transfer $6 dollars to the World Student Service Fund from the council treasury. The next regular meeting will be a dinner meeting.

Janeaway Sees Third War if Anglo-Russo Cooperation Fails

Edmund Janeaway, speaking at college auditorium last night, put the problem of cooperation with Russia and that of national employment on the top of the list of post-war concerns.

With little regard for the role of Great Britain, he declared America and Russia will hold the peace of the world in their hands and that if they agree no country in the world will dare oppose them. If, however, the two do not agree, the world must prepare for World War III.

The problem of employment, Janeaway said, is dependent on the success with which world powers maintained war, which he believes is improbable for at least five years, would automatically solve that problem. inability to solve the problem of employment which may lead to depression, violence and totalitarianism. Janeaway predicted, would be the result of the narrow vision of the people.

Mutual understanding of differences was the only way suggested by Janeaway of keeping peace with Russia and he gave no solution to the problem of unemployment. J.E.W.

Sullivan emphasized strongly the point that kissing a coed on a first date was taboo. Ivory answered the question of why men date a woman several times and then discontinue dating her with "I'm looking for a certain woman with special characteristics and so are most of the other men. If one woman doesn't have them we look for another."

After answering the women's questions the men discussed their personal pet peeves against coeds. Some of them were women who stuff their dates' pockets with all their make-up, women who talk about their past dates while with another man, the "graveney" system employed by coeds to tell all details of the date of the previous evening, and the sloppy sweaters worn by coeds.

The forum closed with the singing of "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

New Soviet Drive Takes 250 Towns in Germany

Russians Reduce Mileage Between East Front German Capital

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Russians captured Kalisz, Lyck and Angersburg, and more than 250 populated places in East Prussia today, thrusting outbulking columns northwest of Berlin and revealing that they had established bridgeheads across the Oder river at Silesia and had swapped a foothold on East Prussia.

The Germans themselves announced that the Russians had sent tanks and tanks across the West bank of the Oder, where defense lines ended the Reich, but contended that had been wiped out.

A Reuters, British news agency, report from Moscow said the first Ukraine army forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev had established "at least one bridgehead" across the river that guards the heart of Germany.

After disclosing the Oder crossing, the German DFL agency a few minutes later boasted that in the north the battle for East Prussia "had become somewhat acute," with tank columns of the second white Russian army "reaching the district of the Vistula estuary southwest of the port of Elbing," last overland escape route from East Prussia.

The Russians 24 hours previously had placed their forces within 22 miles of Elbing on the south. Five miles west of Elbing flows the broad and sluggish Notec, an arm of the Vistula estuary.

The Russians, and the Germans, who to cut the railway that runs down from Königsberg, East Prussian capital, through Elbing to Tezow (Dirschau) and thence across the Polish corridor to the Reich proper. That was the only remaining exit for the large German forces inside East Prussia.

Vague reports that the third white Russian army, driving from the east, had entered Königsberg were discounted.

Moscow announced capture on the Oder's east bank of Opole, industrial city of 44,000 population some 48 miles southeast of Elbing; of Trzciniec, 24 miles northwest of Breslau, and Rawicz, just over the border in Poland, 34 miles northwest of Breslau.

These advances, announced by Premier Stalin in an order of the day, placed the Russians at their nearest official point from Berlin, which lies 149 miles northwest of Rawicz.

German and unofficial neutral accounts still placed the Russians in the region of Poznan, Poland, only 137 miles from Berlin.

In Campus Quarters

BY DOTTIE LA MONT and NAN TRABUE

THREE general exodus of what heartbeat is here and once we are wondering if it's up to your reporters to make the news. Peeking in keyholes and depositing ourselves under convenient tables in the grill hasn't gotten us any place. So gently ambling through the crowd we arrive at the source of a rumor. The rumor developed into real news so here it is — what there is of it.

We've heard tell that Dave Tomsey, Phi Tau, is not in possession of his pan any more. The one now wearing his badge is Lorraine Van Connell, Saginaw sophomore.

All important events still flowing in as a result of Christmas vacation. Nancy Hancock, Huntington Woods sophomore, is one of the lucky few to have Ed Doug Wattles, who went to the University of Tennessee and also from Huntington Woods, home for the holidays. Evidence of the fact is Nancy's removal from the available list with a diamond to prove it.

Studying off campus, too, is leaving the favorite of campus roads and men? Well, put them aside for future reference and see what else it is that keeps the place humming.

The Alpha Xis have started sorority initiations well on their way with the formal 1st year class this term. Those awaiting last some calls are Betty Beaufort, Big Mountain sophomore; Mary Leinen Chirk, Detroit sophomore; Audrae Davies, Monroe sophomore.

Not that this isn't enough to keep one house busy, the Alpha Xis also played hostess to Mrs. Dorothy Arzt, who is president of the province and was present for the initiation.

The abundance of shiny jewelry displayed on campus of late is not so much from the sparkle of engagement rings as from the glow of new fraternity pins. The Phi Deltas have added Ed Pearce, East Lansing junior, and Don Gavitt, Grosse Pointe freshman to their claim.

Others are Ralph Winton, East Lansing freshman; Roland Young, Lansing freshman; and Bill Maris, Hagerstown, Md. freshman.

The men of FarmHouse big time tightened the laces of five pledges with active pins. Those initiated were sophomore Diane Coughlin, Detroit, and George Farnside, Detroit.

Others are members of sophomore George Lauri, Milian; Joe Feldman, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania; and Elected Yale, Yale.

Other male Robins from East Lansing freshman; Dorothy Frost, Saginaw sophomore; Carolyn Foster, Highland Park freshman; Anna Hartman, Detroit sophomore; and Leontine Isom, Lansing freshman.

British, Yanks Mop Up Western Line

Americans Clean Out Nazi Bulge At Ardennes

By AUSTIN BEALMAR

PARIS, Jan. 24 (AP)—The British second army captured the German communications hub of Heinsberg today and advanced to a point only three miles from the Maas river bastion of Roermond in Holland as the American first and third armies were cleaning up the last 200 square miles of the Nazis' Ardennes bulge.

Allied fliers reported a great exodus of German rail and road transport streaming northward from the Ardennes battle sector into Germany in a mystery move which, lacking official clarification, gave rise to speculation that the Nazi command was shifting large armored forces from the western to the eastern fronts.

In addition to taking the seven-way traffic center of Heinsberg, Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British troops also captured Haaren and Weerd just to the south in Holland and entered the southern section of Linne, three miles from Roermond on the main highway from the southwest as the Germans fell back to their defense line along the River Roer.

Heinsberg, with a total population of 5,000 was the last important road center west of the Roer river in the Cologne plain. It is 31 miles from Dusseldorf and 16 miles from Munchen Gladbach, both of which lie to the northeast.

Despite wretched weather, which in general slowed the Allied aerial assaults on the retreating Nazis after two days of powerful attack, RAF Spitfires, Tempests and Typhoons bombed and shot up many scores of tanks.

Studio Theater to Meet Speech Club at Lecture

Studio theater will hold this week's meeting with the speech major's club at the lecture of Joe Callaway today at 7:30 p.m. in the Music auditorium. Roll will be taken at the lecture.

The next regular meeting of the group will be Wednesday, Feb. 7, in room 49 of College auditorium.

New Concessions Group Organizes

A new college concessions department, under the directorship of Alfred Gamble, an East Lansing businessman, has been established, according to Henry G. Foster, manager of the Union.

"Concessions at athletic contests, Farmers' week, etc., in the past have helped to finance various campus organizations; the same general policy in operating them will be maintained," he continued.

Groups, as the Grange and the Home Ec club, who formerly handled concessions, deserve credit for the work they have done, but with the manpower shortage and conditions today, this new plan is a move towards efficient operation," he added.

Clubs may be paid as a group, or individual members separately for work on concession; students, also, will be hired and paid for their services. Any group that desires to have a concession, contact the Union office for arrangements and they will be booked there, according to Foster.

then, and there was more opportunity for students and instructors to become acquainted," he said, "and the instructors also knew more students outside of their own class rooms."

20% Yield

Professor A. J. Clark, head of the chemistry department, at one time lectured to the entire freshman class. Today he can only speak to 20 per cent of them at a time. He said, "the students today are getting more technical training in their particular field, and have better laboratory equipment to work with."

When Prof. H. E. Johnson, of the anatomy department, first came to State all of the college was located on this side of the Red Cedar, including the barns and stables. The anatomy building was located somewhere between the power plant and the chemistry building, and there were no paved roads on the campus. "Although classes were smaller then, the students have not changed," Johnson said.

State Beat U. of M.

Coach Lyman L. Frimodig, graduate of '17, came back to MSC after the war to assist in the athletic department for six months and is still here. In his freshman year, the Michigan State "Aggies" beat the University of Michigan in football for the first time and went undefeated and untied all that year.

"At one time there was no physical education building, but the physical education department had headquarters in the Armory and Bath club, which housed the ROTC, located where the music building now stands," Frimodig said.
