Today's Campus

...Ten Guesses, Men

Anyone eavesdropping on a meeting in the Union annex last night might have thought he was witnessing a supreme court session conducted by Billy Rose and his aquacaders. The men of Porpoise fraternity were, from a group of ten campus mermaids, selecting five for the Porpoise queen and her court.

Confronted with a linear display of said beauties, Porpoisemen, without black robes but with as dignified(?) a manner as ever, invaded a courtroom and proceeded with the business at hand. Coach Charles McCaffree, presiding as chief justice, asked the coeds who probably felt every bit as collected as last Thanksgiving's turkeys facing the axe, to give their home towns and high schools and to refresh the minds of the enthusiastic judiciary as to what color bathing suits they had worn at last Friday's splash party.

Cheers were tactfully suppressed but occasionally gleeful comments escaped and blood pressures soared. After the contestants had cheerfully left it was evident that Coach Mac's careful training thus far had not been in vain: none of his boys fainted.

...Whiz Quiz Kid

Was it her twin sister, her better half, was it just someone else, or was it really Jean Hope, Redford sophomore, that uttered the words early Monday morning, "Over the Thanksgiving holidays the gastronomic gymnastic activities that were partaken in were too great to permit any cerebral indulgence?" Well, now... when you put it that way.

...The Bare Facts

Prof. Stanard Bergquist had been lecturing for some minutes in geology about a famous sand dune up on Lake Michigan when Dick Potter, Kalamazoo junior, had to ask the professor to spell the last part of its name to find out if it was named after a nudist colony or a sleeping animal — Slumbering Bear.

...What A Card

It may not compensate entirely for the car ban, but Union board believes it revived a time-honored method of helping Spartans to get free-of-charge rides to and from East Lansing.

The board announced last night that Spartan hitch-hiking cards are again on sale at the Union desk. The cards politely thank ride-givers and give them interesting facts about the college.

Mezzo-Soprano Will Appear in MSC Concert

Suzanne Sten, famous mezzo-soprano, will present a concert of classic and ultra-modern music in the Music auditorium Friday at 8 p.m.

After offering many recitals and concerts in many European cities, Miss Sten was discovered in America to be a personality of vivid charm and a singer with an outstanding voice. She was with the San Francisco Opera company and has been acclaimed for excellent performances in "Aida," "Martha," "Trovatore," and "Hansel and Gretel."

Besides a brilliant record of achievements in concert and opera, she has done five major radio broadcasts for CBS and NBC and has been presented at festivals and recitals in many cities and colleges in the U. S. The program will include a selection from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," "Agnus Dei" by Schubert and compositions by Haydn, Brahms, and Massenet.

MSC Speakers Will Take Part In Iowa Meet

Eight Speech Students To Participate During Two-day Program

Eight students from Michigan State college will participate in the Intercollegiate conference on "Problems of Peace," to be held Friday and Saturday at Iowa State university, according to B. J. Knittle, director of college forensics.

The students have been selected from the various debate, discussion and extempore groups on campus.

Those making the trip to Iowa City are: Jack Walker, Port Austin senior; Phil Hesby, Muskegon senior; Fred Meyer, Fair Haven senior; and Robert Ballard, Jackson senior. Others are: Gretchen Wright, Vickery, O. junior; Fay Blakely, Rockwood sophomore; Leota Calkins, East Lansing junior, and Bernice Cleland, Decker-ville sophomore.

Five rounds of discussion will be held on the subject "Winning the Peace" and at the completion of these discussion, a resolution will be sent to congress. The debate topic, "Resolved that the foreign policy of the United States should be directed towards the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world," will be discussed in four rounds.

Two other competitions are also being planned: a "Speaking for Peace" contest, in which a student from each college represented will speak six minutes on any subject pertaining to peace, and an extempore contest on current problems.

The group will leave for the conference Thursday and return Sunday night. Knittle and Robert Starring of the written and spoken English department will accompany the students.

Workshop Offers 'The Bottle Imp'

An adaption of Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Bottle Imp" will be presented by Radio workshop this afternoon at 4 o'clock on station WKAR, according to Director Paul Geisenhof.

U.S. Policy Unsolved In China

Union Board to Hold Coffee Hour Program for Students, Faculty

Union board activities this week will be confined to its two all-college interest events. From 4 to 5 p.m. today students and professors will have a chance to become more fully acquainted over a cup of coffee and cookies.

Friday night the Union board dance in College auditorium will feature Jan Savitt and his orchestra, with Helen Warren as vocalist.

Special guests at the coffee hour today will be instructors in the Basic college, but all students and faculty members are urged to attend, according to Jane Walcott, Fenton junior and co-chairman of the affair.

Coffee Hour in Lounge

The Union mixed lounge will be the scene for the first in a series of "get-acquainted" hours to be sponsored by the board. Coffee will be served by Nancy Wixom and Alice Springborg. Members of the Union board executive council and sub-committees will act as hosts. There will be no charge for the coffee hour.

Miss Walcott reminded students and staff guests that the coffee hour will be informal and everyone is expected to attend

James Yen Will Talk About China's Mass Education Tonight

Dr. James Yen, China's "teacher extraordinary," will give a lecture in Fairchild theater tonight at 8 on the mass education movement in China and its significance to the world. This talk is sponsored by the Institute of Foreign Studies and the lecture-concert series.

Yen, who is an inspiring speaker, started mass education in the Chinese labor corps in France during the first world war and has been general director of this movement in China since 1923. His movement is supported by many Americans.

Dr. Yen attended Yale and Princeton universities, and was a classmate of Prof. S. C. Lee at Yale.

While on campus Dr. Yen is staying at the International center.

just as they come from classes this afternoon.

Dance Tickets On Sale

Jim Graves, East Lansing freshman and ticket chairman for the informal dance Friday night, said that tickets will remain on sale at the Union desk until they are sold out.

Guests for the dance will include faculty and staff members who have been patrons for Union board dances throughout the term.

Water Parade Scheduled for Earlier Hour

To enable everyone to attend both the Aquatic Victory Parade of 1945 and Jan Savitt's performance Friday night, the aquatic program will be presented at 7:15 instead of 8, according to Porpoise president John McGrath, Pontiac sophomore.

With Jack Carrier, Detroit senior, acting as master of ceremonies, the aquatic parade, presented by Porpoise, men's swimming honorary, will demonstrate perfect timing and coordination combined with humor and thrills.

Kick-Drill

Kicking fins and boards will be used in a kick-drill in charge of Harland Dodge, Saginaw freshman. The group will also present a smoke drill under colored spotlights.

Diving star Don Dunbar, Monroe freshman, with Jim Thomas, Saginaw junior, and Scott Gibbs, Lansing freshman, will take part in a program of diving.

Bag Trick

A mysterious bag trick brought from Italy by Coach Charles McCaffree, will be attempted in the show Friday night. More thrills will be provided for the audience in a water polo game.

Coach McCaffree will be assisted by students from his swimming and life-saving classes in presenting short demonstrations of life-saving and swimming.

Several other swimming acts and stunts will be performed in the aquatic parade.

Patrick J. Hurley Resigns Post As China Diplomat

CHUNGKING, Nov. 27 (AP)

— A reported mass movement of United States planes into North China from Burma and India and the sudden resignation of American Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley brought into sharp focus today the fateful question of United States policy in this country's undeclared civil war.

Hurley quit his post with the blunt statement that American policy had failed in Asia and that the effect of it now was to "undermine democracy and bolster imperialism and communism."

Planes To China

In Shanghai, meanwhile, Associated Press Correspondent Richard Cushing found American air-force pilots "debating angrily" their postwar assignment to the perilous job of flying planes wholesale over "the hump" from India.

Ranking officers told Cushing that virtually every flyable plane in India and Burma was being sent to China in an operation which already has cost several American lives.

Forces Push In Manchuria

The Chinese press said a few weeks ago that the United States had decided to hand over 1,300 planes to the central government, but in Washington the War Department at that time countered that no such number had been decided on.

Just how Generalissimo Chiang planned to use the planes in his announced all-out campaign to restore order and unity in China

Ballet Lauded Second Night

Surpassing Monday's performance, the Ballet theater swept its audience away last night into the spirit of the art form of dance and movement that is ballet.

Four numbers were presented to the enthusiastic but meager attendance that only half-filled College auditorium: Princess Aurora; Interplay; Gift of the Magi; and Bluebeard.

To the music of Peter Tschai-kowsky the ten parts of the Aurora were excellently done, equal to any performance ever given of it. The choreography by Anton Dolin was exceptionally lucid, incorporating qualities of the famous Nijinsky.

Its high point was the "Bluebird" portion in which Andre Eglevsky exhibited the terrific leap for which he is noted. "Princess Aurora and Prince Charming" were also good, with the "Three Ivans" providing a comic touch

The Manly Art Has No Defenders

"Brick" Burhans, Spartans boxing coach, views the current situation in that sport as critical. "If we don't have more candidates there will be no need for a schedule this year," he stated recently.

To date, less than a dozen men have come out for the boxing team. The condition of too few men on campus for athletic teams has been overcome. The turnout of football candidates clearly demonstrates that there are males enough on campus to keep every sports program going.

Then why aren't the men out for boxing? Don't we have enough red-blooded Spartans to make up a team? Does interest in the sport of boxing lag so much behind the others that it should be neglected and forgotten?

Since the days of John L. Sullivan, the last bare-fisted champion, the manly art of self-defense has ranked high in the world of sports. For many years boxing has shared the limelight with every other major sporting event.

It is folly for our athletic director to schedule boxing tournaments with other schools if we lack sufficient numbers to make a decent showing in competition. If State seeks Big Ten standing, the omission of a boxing team might be plausible argument against our bid.

So let's generate our fighting spirit into the making of a boxing team second to none.

That Does It

By MARION HECKEL

MERRY Christmas. No . . . this is no accident, nor are we trying to rush things even faster than the merchants of East Lansing with their decorated trees up already. But, it is a reminder. Christmas gifts for servicemen overseas have been sent; but how about the fellows in the army, navy and veteran hospitals in the United States.

For them, the war is still not over. It will stay with some of them forever. Veterans of this war are in hospitals all over the country and a small gift during the holidays will cheer and comfort them and show them at the same time that American civilians have not forgotten them.

The American Legion has organized a program this year for collecting and distributing boxes to these men, as it has done in the past. Prices of boxes may range from $3.00 to $5.00; the Legion has listed many items that may be included as gifts. Of course, one or two of the suggested gifts items are good for a laugh. For instance, where on earth can any one find a box camera?

But, on the whole even the lean pocketbooks of college students can afford to be responsible for some of the suggestions: stationery, combs and brushes, soaps, sun glasses, nail polish, mirrors or handkerchiefs for the women, or cigarette-cases or lighters, (don't bother with the $160 gold Dunhills which are currently being advertised. They might chip off or something.) knives, books, key cases and leather belts for the men.

These gifts have proved successful as morale boosters for wounded men of World War II for four years, but a small-scale program of the same theme has been used to cheer the dreary lives of the forgotten men of World War I who have spent the last 25 or 30 years in hospitals of the Veterans administration.

These programs do work, but it takes co-operation and assistance from the general public to make them a high success, so add a few additional gifts to the Xmas shopping list, and help the members of the Red Cedar Post of the American Legion make this a really merry Christmas for the Yanks who gave.

Turn in contributions of either money or boxes to the Union desk before Dec. 10. TOO bad classes were held this last weekend. Many sound words of wisdom and advice were dropped by professors to classes which were practically non-existent. One class has a normal enrollment of 50, but 41 of the students had saved cuts, and Friday, the remaining nine persons rattled around in a large space.

Maybe by this time next year, turkey talk to the faculty will do some good, and we can all go home to appreciate a thousand calories or so.

PHI KAPPA PHI TO MEET

Fall term meeting of Phi Kappa Phi will take place tonight at 5 in room 109, Morrill hall. All members of the local chapter and affiliated chapters are urged to attend.

BALLET PERFORMANCE

that especially appealed to the audience.

"Interplay," a one act ballet in four movements in which there is a constant play between the classic ballet steps and the contemporary spirit in which they are danced, was by far head and shoulders above anything else done last night. Music by Morton Gould in a "boogie beat" and almost erotic in its syncopated effect swayed the audience to its tempo.

Jerome Robbins' choreography was done with an eye toward extreme simplification, making every movement count.

The concluding numbers, Gift of the Magi, and Bluebeard were well done in the conventional manner, vividly illustrating the details and facts of a story can be presented in dance.—M. D. S.

Football Team To Be Guest At Big Dinner

With the 1945 football season completed, State's travel-weary Spartans returned home yesterday from Miami, Florida. Although football practice is now over until next summer, the squad has one more event to look forward to—the annual football banquet Saturday evening in the Union ballroom.

Along with its general purpose to honor the team, this affair will honor several individuals whose tackling, blocking, and all-around good play have been outstanding in State's games this season. In addition to the Spartan outstanding high school players from all over the state will attend the annual affair.

Walter F. Gries of Ishpeming, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Chairman of the banquet Glen O. Stewart, announced that Ralph A. Goodell will be toastmaster, and Lieut. Vernon J. Brown will present the most valuable player award.

With the possible exception of Kent Esbaugh, the entire team is in top condition. Esbaugh sustained head injuries in Friday's game, but has recovered completely.

While in the land of sunshine, the team managed to do several things which would appeal to the State students. Saturday morning they went on a 27-mile trip among the islands of the Beach, and spent the afternoon on the beach, returning by Sunday noon.

Nine Lettermen Prepare to Head Indoor Trackmen

Nine lettermen form the nucleus for the Spartan indoor track team now holding workouts in the gymnasium in preparation for the coming track season.

James M. Frazer, of Webberville, a former B-17 pilot who spent six months in a German prison camp, and Walter Mack, Buffalo, N. Y., winner of the purple heart, both hold Spartan track records in the quarter and half-mile runs, respectively, set by them before entering the service in 1942.

In addition to these two excellent track men, there is a large number of lettermen from last year's team that will also be running this year. They include Lee Pickering, of Bloomfield Hills; Wayne Finkbeiner, of Hastings; Walter Kalmbach, from Grass Lake; Robert O'Leary, from Portsmouth, N. H., and William Maskill from Detroit.

The return of the Michigan State college relays to East Lansing is slated for Feb. 9, as Coach Karl A. Schlademan prepares his indoor track schedule. The relays were held last year in Ann Arbor under the auspices of the University of Michigan.

YMCA PLANS MEETING

Motion pictures of one of the State football games will be shown at the meeting of the YMCA tonight at 7 in room 103, Union annex, according to Harold Dachtler, Charlotte senior.

Last Year Basketball Star Back in Line-up for Big Coming Season

When last year's basketball schedule was completed, Sam Fortino was voted the outstanding state basketball star. This was Sam's first season of varsity basketball at MSC, and he will be back this winter to bolster the Spartan cagers.

Fortino is one of the most capable performers that Coach Ben Astyne has at his disposal. Attempts once again to turn the winning team for State.

Fortino stands about 6'11" and his lanky frame makes him an ideal forward. In addition to his height he is fast, and above all, has basketball instinct. He is quick thinking while on the court. This particular talent is one that tends to make certain cagers stand out more than others.

Fortino served in the navy for a period, however, he received his discharge almost a year ago. His home is in Alma, and it was there he established a good high school record before coming to State. Sam still has two more years to play for the Spartans.

the value of the team tremendously. He is constantly on the alert and manages to get into his share of the scrambles for the ball.

Meeting Planned By Newman Club

Students of MSC are invited to attend a discussion conducted by the college Newman club Sunday in the Union ballroom at 2:30; Pres. Helen Kroll, Lansing senior, has announced.

At this time members of Newman clubs from all over the state will assemble to discuss "Religion, Prides, and Prejudices on Our Campuses." Speakers at the affair will come from the University of Michigan, Wayne university, Michigan Normal, and Kalamazoo college.

This discussion will be directed by Reverend Father McPhillips, director of the Michigan Newman club. Another speaker, Father Wherley, will speak on Cardinal Newman's life as a scholar and a saint. Father Wherley is a member of the Notre Dame Fathers.

Forestry Club Studies Films On Wood Industry

The manufacture of veneer from such precious woods as mahogany, walnut, oak and tropical hardwoods was the subject of a film shown to the Forestry club at its semi-weekly meeting last night. The Swedish lumber industry was also reviewed.

Foresters also made plans last night for the annual Shindig which will be revived this year for the first time since 1942.

Baseball Nine To Travel South in '46 Season

The Spartan eleven will not be the only team to make a trip south, as State's southern baseball trip, an annual spring junket below the Mason-Dixon line that became just another war casualty, has been included in the 1946 baseball season as part of the regular schedule.

Baseball coach John Kobs said that transportation arrangements are being made to permit scheduling of games during the latter part of March with southern university and college teams.

Kobs organized the spring training trips in 1926 that pitted the Spartans against such teams as far south as Florida, Mississippi, and Alabama. Baseball practice at State will open the first week of January in spacious Demonstration hall, Kobs stated.

Detroit Labor Situation Arouses Windsor Strike

Wilson Denies Plan to Confer With Warren; Pickets Come Out at Montgomery Wards

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The government struck a snag tonight in its effort to get management and union leaders of the General Motors strike into a huddle with federal conciliators here.

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the U. S. conciliation service, told reporters he now had no definite arrangements to talk to GM President Charles E. Wilson or other company officials. Executives of the striking CIO United Automobile Workers are scheduled to talk to him tomorrow.

Earlier in the day Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach reported receiving word from Warren that Wilson would meet with Warren tomorrow, taking time out from the labor-management conference to which Wilson is a delegate.

This announcement drew a denial from Wilson, in Detroit. The GM president said there was "some mistake," that he had informed Warren at 4 p.m. that he would be unable to attend the labor-management conference this week because of the strike situation.

DETROIT, Nov. 27 (AP)—A nation-wide strike call brought out pickets at four Detroit stores of Montgomery Ward and company today but apparently failed to affect the company's outlets elsewhere in Michigan.

Roy Scoggins, Michigan director of the United retail, wholesale, and department store employees (CIO), said 1,000 regular and 500 temporary employees of the four stores here responded to the call for the work stoppage.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 27 (AP)—Union labor throughout Canada will stage a one-day financial drive Friday to assist CIO United Auto Workers who have been on strike at the Ford of Canada plant here for 76 days.

Tentative plans for a hayride to be held Saturday night were discussed at the meeting.

The group plans to continue its service to the campus.

Graduate Record Test Serves As Knowledge Clue

A test in agriculture drawn up by MSC staff members and requested by the Carnegie foundation for the advancement teaching, has served as the basis in connection with the graduate record examination.

The graduate record examination, which has been widely used, was originated by four large universities to efficiently screen candidates seeking admission to the graduate school. It is designed to offer the student an opportunity to test his own performance and to obtain a record of his knowledge in terms that will give him maximum performance.

The examination is divided into two parts: general tests covering seven fields such as science, chemistry, and fine arts; and the second part in the form of a 90-minute coverage of the student's major study.

Examinations are given by the institution in which the student is enrolled and papers are corrected at the Carnegie foundation. A student may take the examination at the end of his sophomore year to determine how much he knows in certain subjects, during his senior year, or upon entering a graduate school. All graduates of MSC are required to take the test.

The examination is given once during each term and there is a fee of $1.50. Those interested in registering or in getting more information on the test should see Paul Dressel in room 165 of the administration building.
