

Santa Vows He'll Make Trip Despite Birth Rate

By DON ASTLEY
NORTH POLE, Dec. 11—Despite rumors to the contrary in Detroit papers recently, Santa Claus is definitely going to make his 1946 Christmas trip.

"It's going to be tough sledding," Santa said today, "but come Christmas eve, I'll hop on the old sleigh as usual. That is, provided I can get a recap for that right runner."

Points to Well-Worn Runner

He pointed to a well-worn runner on the sleigh and added, "See what I mean? Haven't been able to pick up a new one in five years."

When asked if he had any other problems, Santa exclaimed, "Problems? But, problems is what I really got."

"Look at this beard," he continued. "Won't I look great climbing down chimneys with five-months growth dangling between my cheeks?"

At the suggestion that he might get it cut, St. Nick erupted, "Hah, I should shell out a huck and a half for a job I could get for two bits in '33!"

"And that ain't all either, bud. Did you take a peek at them vital statistics lately? Prices and birth rates go up at the same time. Even at colleges they got babies now."

"Know what that means? Adults, I can skip out on babies. Say, but did yuh ever try shimmying down the smoke stack on a trailer?"

Reindeer Want More Hay

Santa walked to the window of his private igloo and pointed out in the snow. Most of the reindeer were grouped together, but two of them were walking around with signs on their antlers.

"And there's somethin' else," Santa said. "I sent Donner and Blitzen south last summer to map out a new route and what happened? They got into some gas named CIO and now we got unions. They claim they oughta get more hay."

He turned away from the window, gazed at an Esquire calendar on the wall and grew thoughtful.

I Used to Give Nylons

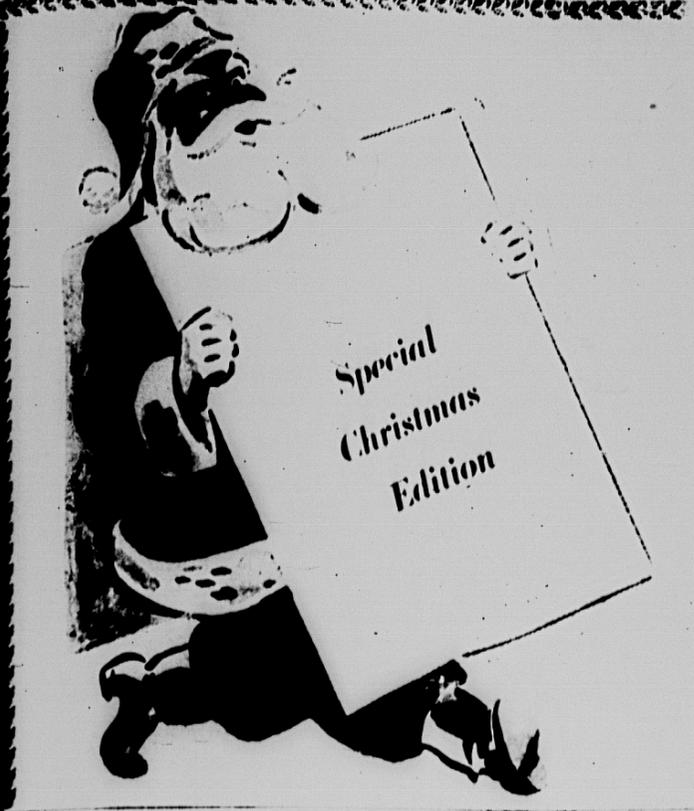

"Seeing them gams reminds me of the old days," he commented. "The babes always used to be so happy when I left a couple of pairs of nylons. Well, maybe in another year."

Then his mood changed and he was the laughing Santa of old as he walked to the door.

Blasted Santa Off Course

"That's the way it is, bud. I'll make the trip, though. Never missed one yet. Not even last year when me and the reindeer got caught in the whirl of one of them atom bomb tests and got blasted a couple of thousand miles off course."

A goodly Santa grinned, "I won't even be able to shake like a good old jolly this year. No sugar. Get it, bud?"

Spartan Drama Fans Can Look Forward To Full Vacation

By DON RUFF,
 Director of Dramatics

Now that the settlement of the coal strike has removed the "if" from the holiday season, Spartans will soon be turning their thoughts from comprehension and finally to the more important matter of deciding what to do for entertainment during the vacation.

Some of the more fortunate members of the 13,045 may be within shouting distance of Times Square, The Loop, the new Grand Circus Park and will have an opportunity to see some of the season's top theatrical entertainment.

But Broadway and the Road are not the excellent musical and dramatic fare. Rementling the holiday season, some men's heads are turning to the more important matter of deciding what to do for entertainment during the vacation.

'Mystery Girl' Will Highlight Frosh Mixer

By JIM MCCARTNEY

Freshman class officers and committee heads released final plans for the first all-class dance of the class of '50. Inaugurated with the idea to give class members a chance to meet one another, the affair has been scheduled for Jan. 10 in the Women's gymnasium.

Popularity has been built around the theme of the "Mystery Girl" for several days. Glamorous photographs of freshman women appeared in the bulletin case of the Union's upper deck. The identity of the pictured women will be disclosed in a novel entertainment program planned for the occasion of the dance.

To Sell Tickets

Tickets for the dance, priced at $1.00 a couple, will be available at the Student Union.

ISA To Accept More Requests For Xmas Rides

The "Rides for Christmas" campaign is now in full swing and will continue until Tuesday, according to Jean Loring, Highland Park junior. ISA will continue to register names until that time. Students may register their names by calling the Student council office, Ext. 256 any evening Monday through Friday from 7 till 9.

The purpose of the campaign, as restated by Jean Loring, is to serve as a clearing office for students desiring rides and persons offering rides. For the benefit of students, civic organizations of Lansing have been contacted to aid in securing rides for Spartans for Christmas.

It is the intent of ISA that no cars leave the campus partly empty. If contact through Ext. 256 cannot be made at time stated, a note marked ISA may be left on the bulletin board on the first floor of the Union annex.

Veterans Discuss Problems In Talk At Kalamazoo

Preventive medicine was the subject of a resolution passed by the Michigan Student Veterans Association at a meeting in Kalamazoo. The lack of such facilities in Michigan colleges prompted the action.

The problem of efficient distribution of checks was referred to a committee for study and recommendation. The association stressed the inadequacy of present methods of distributing GI checks and a studying plans to be suggested by the VA to expedite the advance of checks to students.

Delegates from Michigan State College were Gordon Hanna, executive vice-president of the association; Robert B'xt, past executive vice-president; Conner Collocott, sergeant at arms; and Ronald Taylor, formerly of the Alma organization, now attending MSC.

Workshop Offers 'Christmas Carol' In Term Finale

The radio workshop will conclude its fall term activities with a radio adaptation of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" on WKAR Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, according to James D. Davis, workshop director.

The cast will be headed by Ed Ward Brink, Grand Rapids junior, who will portray the role of Scrooge. Bob Cratchet will be played by Harry Booth, another junior from Grand Rapids. Marley will be taken by Mark Burtch, Detroit, and Mrs. Cratchet by Harriet Anderson, Dearborn senior. Other minor characters will be played by Marion Cannon, Joyce Chapman, Chet Bear, Pat Hutson, and Frances Fausold.

A recording of the program will be made, Davis announced, and will be sent to the national office of AER, national honorary radio fraternity, for judging.

Ticket Agents Report Rush By Students

According to local ticket agents, train and plane reservations for Dec. 18 and 19 are pretty well sold out, but plenty of space is available for the balance of the week.

Grand Trunk railroads reports its biggest rush is to the upper peninsula, while Pere Marquette is being swamped with requests for reservations to Detroit and New York on the two days following final exams.

Plenty of seats are to be had on the Pere Marquette streamliner to Grand Rapids, however, and the Grand Trunk offers space to all parts of the state, with the exception of the U. P.

Capitol Airlines report a few reservations still open on certain flights to all parts of the country and to many points in Michigan.

The brightest outlook is presented by Greyhound buses. Sufficient additional buses will be added to regular runs to care for the increased load.

Well-Coached Stanford '53 Next On Spartan Cage Card; Vacation Road Trip Follows

Even Dean basketball at Stanford university is the national leading expense basketball team. Stanford's 1953 team is coached by Coach Ben Van Alstyne, who has coached the team for the past five years. The team is expected to be one of the best in the nation this year.

Van Alstyne's Spartans after a cold start, will undoubtedly be an improved team when they meet the Indians in East Lansing Dec. 20. Van's five past coaches seem to match the rest of the team with points on the team. The story may well be different. In the Michigan game, improvement could be noted in the Spartans' play. Although the Spartans started slow, their play will be more aggressive than the team has had in the past.

Don't lay waste to the success of the Spartans. The Spartans are a team that is well-coached and well-trained. They are expected to be one of the best in the nation this year.

Affairs of State

WHAT with Christmas holly and mistletoe being hung around and the 'ole familiar spirit in the air, the prospective road of the term is well in sight. Once more the Affairs of State column meets its deadline and thus concludes another term of private doings around campus.

Before we sign off we would again like to delve into the private lives of our fellow mortals. Here we find the recent engagement of Sue Stafford, West Winfield, N. Y., senior, to Bill Baumgart, of Bloomington, Ill., Phi Delta graduate.

An impressive candlelight ceremony was held for new initiates of the Green Splash, women's honorary swimming organization, recently. Those initiated were Joyce Carr, Flint, sophomore; Joyce Baird, Ionia, senior; Joyce Conklin, Lansing, junior; Marion Craig of Charlevoix, Vivian Marie Duns, Detroit, sophomore; Peg Erickson, Hammond, Ind., junior; and Alice Finley, Milford, junior.

The engagement of Wanda Glazier, Marlette, senior, to Robert Danielson, Neway, Mich., was announced recently. Jane Geyer, Saginaw, has received a diamond ring from Keith Feather, Detroit, freshman.

Penny Nitz, Delta Zeta, a Benton Harbor, junior, has become engaged to Sam Fortin, an ATO now attending the U. of D. dental school. Jane Wilson, Alpha Chi Omega, from Huntington Woods, received a Phi Delta pin from Ed Riddell, Birmingham, sophomore.

Elections of the Delta Chi house, held at Bob McGraw, Saginaw, junior, as president; Jack Cramer, Jackson, junior, as secretary; John Haas, Detroit, senior, as treasurer; and Mary Hammond, Ind., junior, as editor. Filling the position of responding secretary is Jeanne Hated, Detroit, sophomore, and president-at-large is James Ham, Traverse City, junior.

ATO House Chapman, Detroit, junior, has recently been elected to Carolyn Burkland, Detroit, junior, as president; Jack Cramer, Jackson, junior, as secretary; John Haas, Detroit, senior, as treasurer; and Mary Hammond, Ind., junior, as editor.
