White Makes Last Effort Against 'M'

By RUD LAWSON
Often described as Michigan State's best ball handler, Ollie White, star Spartan performer at guard, will play his last collegiate basketball game tonight against Michigan.

Returning from three years in the Air Corps, where he served as a first lieutenant in the European theater, Ollie last season finished third in scoring for the State five, and was elected honorary captain.

Seven times this season Ollie's long range sniping has brought the Spartans in and out of the game, and always opposing players have a sincere respect for the 25 year old Cleveland athlete whose prowess as a court trickster is well known in hard-wood circles.

Good on Defense
Standing six feet tall, and weighing 185 pounds, White uses his height to maximum advantage in defense.

There are still 25 openings remaining in the all college basketball tournament and all those interested and have not yet signed may do so in the State News office, Monday through Wednesday of next week.

Ernie Charbonneau, dynamic bantam weight, will take to the ring in the first fight. Matched against him in the 125 pound class will be Bill Cramer.

Chuck Davey, undefeated in four bouts this season, will hold down the 135 post against Joe Bond. Dan Hickey is a questionable starter at 145 pounds due to illness this week.

Scrappy John Mada is in the 165 pound slot against Penn State's Jack Tiche.

Bill Blevins, who chalked up a 36 second knockout in his last battle will encounter Wilbur Greer in the 175 pound scrap while heavy weight Art Hugglett will carry the Green and White into the ring against Bearcat Dave Nemeth.

The Notre Dame mile relay quartet with Leonard running a leg, covered the distance in 3:28. Monday night against Wayne and Marquette the State foursome camped the eight laps in 3:24.8.
