Rising Sap—Real Maple Syrup

By ED BROWN

The word around the Forestry department these days is that the sap is running. This does not have reference to a freshman trying to make eight o'clocks, but means that the maple trees are being tapped to produce sugar and syrup.

Out in State's sugar bush, across the Red Cedar, behind the WKAR tower, R. W. Robbins is supervising the setting out of over a thousand buckets on 600 trees, mostly sugar maples.

The sap has been running for the last few days, and will continue until weather conditions change. A good sap run requires cold nights and warm days to get the best results.

The sap is collected in aled tanks from the buckets, poured into the thousand-gallon tank of the evaporator. It drops from it into the 14 x 4 pan, flowing through channels, and being boiled. It comes out at the bottom as finished syrup, ready for sale. The Forestry department handles retail sales to restaurants and homes for the college.

If you were wondering why pure maple syrup is so expensive, when, after all, the tree gets nothing out of but perhaps a little fertilizer; it is because thirty-five gallons of sap are used to make one gallon of the sweetening. The other thirty-four go up in steam during the process. It is by this process that the State foresters extract about two hundred gallons of syrup.

The record for 17 years that the trees have been tapped was set in 1936, with a 326 gallon run. Last year, due to poor weather, the harvest dropped to 160 gallons.

We can thank our friends the Indians for the discovery of the sweetening properties of maple sap. The story goes that a squaw used sap instead of water in boiling up some venison for dinner. The meat came out sweet, her husband didn't object, and the maple sugar industry was born.

As a result of this, the farmers of the country made an extra eight million dollars last year, a smart operator worked a log cabin into a big business, and the maple leads a pampered life, except for a few bad weeks in early spring.

President's Speech To Set Standards For U.S. Diplomacy

Stemming Tide Of Communism Will Be Chief Issue Of Talk

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—President Truman will address a joint session of Congress tomorrow — and the nation — in a policy statement which may set far-reaching new standards for American diplomacy around the world.

Soviet Plan To Discuss China Out

MOSCOW, March 11 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall won his first diplomatic triumph in the foreign ministers' council tonight when the United States, Britain and France put up a solid front and blocked a Russian proposal to place the complex China question on the agenda.

A conference official said the three western representatives, opposing a suggestion by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, insisted that China must be present if Chinese affairs were discussed in the council, and Molotov finally withdrew his proposal.

The issue: What the United States should do to stem the tide of communism abroad. The President's speech, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast by the major networks and also televised.

BULLETIN

Michigan State's football team will fly to Honolulu next fall to meet the University of Hawaii on November 29. It was announced late last night. This contest marks the first time a Spartan grid team has ever played outside the United States. Hawaii will journey here in 1948 to complete the present two-year contract. Since the fall will be played the Saturday after Thanksgiving the MSU players will only miss four days of classes.

The four foreign ministers then split wide open when they tackled the first and least controversial problem of Germany. The question of demilitarization, disarmament, and reparations was discussed.

Molotov hurled a broadside of accusations that the western nations had failed to demilitarize their occupation zones, and were keeping German troops in military formations, contrary to the Potsdam agreement.

Repeating many accusations which have appeared in the Russian press during the last few months, Molotov asserted that except in obvious cases the elimination of the war potential in the west has hardly started.

Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, answered Molotov bluntly that the charges were unjustified, and said they reminded him of "an old lady watching a parade in which one man was out of step and then observed they are all out of step except Johnnie."

Quirt, McConnell Hold Exhibition In Art Gallery

An exhibition of paintings and prints by Walter Quirt and James McConnell opened yesterday in the art gallery of the Music building.

Quirt, one of whose abstract paintings won a prize at the last Michigan Artists show in Detroit, is a lecturer in literature and fine arts.

McConnell, whose work has also won awards this year, is currently exhibiting two silk screen prints at the 11th annual exhibition of the San Francisco Art Association. One of these prints was selected for reproduction in the association's catalogue. He teaches design in the art department.

The present showing of these works may be seen from 1:30 to 10 p.m. daily.

The issue: What the United States should do to stem the tide of communism abroad.

The President's speech, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast by the major networks and also televised.

Greece Situation

Described in advance by Secretary of State George C. Marshall, the chief executive's talk is expected to center chiefly on the situation in Greece and the near east.

One cannot tell the general feeling was that Mr. Truman will recommend a loan of $50,000,000 for Greece and $450,000,000 for Turkey both as means of bolstering their economies and indirectly as a barrier against the westward surge of communism.

Senator James H. Duff (Ind.) demanded that the American people be made acquainted with all the secret commitments with foreign nations which might cause us to lose the peace.

State Secrets

"If the American people are to be called upon to finance the world," he said in a statement, "they should be told frankly and honestly whether there were many other secret commitments made at Yalta, Tehran, at Cairo, and at other places on the globe."

It was also to give Greece $250,000,000 to give the government some confidence in the future of the government of Greece, he said. We are to establish a preferential over the entire world. Congress certainly must know the facts and the people must know the real situation that confronts them.

Kobs Leads 20 Man Team South For Baseball Trip

By HERKIE BOWERS

Who will go south? This question looms as one of the biggest these days in the minds of Coach John H. Kobs' baseball hopefuls. About 20 men are to be selected for the Dixie trip and most of the names are still doubtful.

Another important question now seems to be: When will the team leave for the south? The first game, with Kentucky Teacher's college, is scheduled for March 21, may be cancelled unless they are able to get their baseball in condition.

Kentucky has informed Kobs the field has not been rounded to condition as was expected. If the game is cancelled, it will be the present departure date of March 20 and the team will start their season against Nashville college at Maryville, Tennessee on March 22.

Twenty Men to Go
Final procedure in the past has been to take 20 men on the trip.

Mural Quints Reach Finals

Largest crowd of the indoor season watched Mason and the Whiskers move into the finals of the all college tournament last night. Mason 6, damped semi-final opponents, Sigma Nu 28-17 and the Whiskers 28-17 and the Whiskers 28-17 and the Whiskers 28-17.

Sigma Nu, the Fraternity team, got off to an early lead in three quick points in the early minutes of the game. "Bud" Erickson and Dick Dillon, Mason 6 quickly overtook their lead and poured 15 points through the hoops while Sigma Nu to two the remainder of the half.

Mason started off the second half with a six point plunge and continued down to matching Sigma Nu point for point until the whistle. Dillon led Mason scoring with 11 points, followed by Erickson with six. Dan Hickey led Sigma Nu with 7. In the third quarter the Whiskers team wanted to come in and play, but were out of luck.

The Chicago Cubs employ the most unusual clipping technique in the sport, throwing the Whiskers into the air in right straight line, before Frank Bagdon, who has been first in the league, takes a commanding lead half lead the Whiskers, after through the second half, leading only six points. The Whiskers last season finished in ten points in the game. Jack Shingler and Dan Hickey were the winners with 12 and 10 points respectively.

State Cagers Add New Marks In Record Smashing Season

By BUD LAWSON

Modern trends in basketball, 1947 style, have had their effect on the half-century old cage records in Michigan State archives.

Two thousand two hundred fifteen points were piled up this past season by the Spartans and their opponents in 21 games to establish a new record in that department, eclipsing the year old mark of 2152.

Not since the 1889-90 season, when Olivet College blustered Michigan State 7-6, has a team afforded so great displeasure to the Spartans as the Kentucky aggregation of Adolph Rupp when they set the State boys back 86-36, the worst defeat on the Spartans record book.

When Minnesota defeated the Spartans at Minneapolis in January, 73-59, the 132 point total was the highest ever registered in a Michigan State cage contest.

Perhaps these high scoring marks are indicative of more than just the offensive trends of the purely American game, now in its 56th year, for reflected in the astounding attendance marks which seem to rise proportionately.

Spartan Punchers End Drills For Badger Bouts, '47 Finale

Michigan State's boxing team headed into its last days of hard practice last night in preparation for the matches with undefeated Wisconsin in the Madison, Wis. arena.

The bouts with the Badger team will end the regular season for Coach Lou Zarra's squad. However, nine team members have been entered in the NCAA bouts scheduled for March 28 and 29 at Madison, Wis.

Little change is expected in the boxing team for the Wisconsin bout. Zarra has a choice between Frank Chabot and Doug Hickey for the bantam weight bout while Jack Tierney will own the gloves in the 136 pound bout.

Chuck Dwyer will be out for his sixth victory of the season in the 145 pound class. Dan Hickey, who at 14 is young, will meet the Wisconsin entry in the eventing bouts.

Pat Dougherty will be State's contestant in the 136 pound class.

College basketball in Michigan hit its peak in fan appeal this past season when 11,187 fans trekked to Jensen field house to see Michigan State lose out to Notre Dame 74-56.

college 70-49, stopped Georgia Tech 62-52, beat Virginia 51-46 and dropped a 45-43 decision to Arizona.

After copping five wins in seven starts with Western Conference teams in 1946-47, the Spartans found plenty of trouble in Big Nine contests this winter and failed to register a win in five starts.

Geaghan Paces Scorer
The Spartans finished their winning season of 11 wins and 10 losses, tallying 422 field shots in 1312 tries for a 32.4 percent average. Completing the Spartan total of 1081 points, the foul shooters hit 237 out of 446, or 53.1 percent.

Bob Geaghan, six-foot, one-inch freshman forward, paced the individual scorers with 235 points on 87 field goals and 61 foul shots. Robin Roberts, Geaghan's running mate, was second with 185 points, 49 field goals and 31 foul shots.

Scoring guard, Don Waldron, was the squad's iron man playing 691 minutes in a possible 840. Roberts, honorary team captain, played 681.

Schlademan Envisions Strong Outdoor Cinderpath Squad

By WALLY SCHRAMM

With the major portion of his most successful indoor season since coming to Michigan State college as track coach in 1940 inked into the record books, Coach Karl Schlade- man now looks forward to seeing his Spartan cinderpaths become an outdoor power.

Three meets, the Illinois Tech Relays, Purdue Relays and Chicago Relays remain on State's winter slate but, with exams, vacation and spring registration looming, Schlade- man plans to send only token entries to these contests.

First big meet on the outdoor list is the Texas Relays in Austin March 29. Plans have been laid to send six or eight men to the Lone Star State.

The Green and White entries will be chosen from a list which includes Jack Dianetti, Jim Gibbard, Capt. Jim Fraser, Bill Scott, Bob Schepers, Bob Swain, Walt Kalmbach and Hal Mayhew. The Spartan contingent will probably be entered in the distance medley, sprint medley relay, four mile relay and the one mile relay. No individual entries will be made due to the edge Southern teams have in getting outdoors for workouts early in the year.

During the indoor season State edged Ohio State in the curtain raiser, swamped Wayne and Marquette and turned in a decisive victory over Notre Dame in the final dual test. The lone 'S' defeat came at the hands of Michigan.

Outstanding in AAU Meet
Outstanding individual performances were turned in at the Michigan AAU meet, where State took five firsts and in the Michigan State Relays, where top honors were garnered in two events.

Saturday the Spartans capped all previous showings as they swept to their first Central Collegiate title since 1934 leading Notre Dame, the defending champ, by 15 1/2 points.

"They were probably the best indoor team in the history of Michigan State college," Schlade- man said. Every man came through when we needed the best he had."

Strong Outdoor Team
Though the outdoor meets will pit the Spartans against some of America's toughest competition, Schlade- man stated he was quite sure State would prove as strong as they were indoors.

Some men will not perform as well outdoors, according to the Spartan mentor, but this will be balanced by improved performance on the part of others.

Only serious loss to the squad will be ace high jumper Jim Milne, who is a graduating senior. Lemper remaining are Ray Deckford and Paul Bander.

Prefab Apartments Near Completion; Shortage Eased

By JIM BURLINGAME

Married students will be glad to hear that more prefabricated apartments are slated for completion in the near future.

Emory Foster, manager of dormitories and food service, said yesterday that 84 units have been completed and that ten more would be turned over to housing authorities today. Foster said that 50 more would be ready within the next week.

Plumbers Missing

Foster cited the lack of plumbers as one of the main difficulties preventing more rapid completion of the facilities. He said that spring weather conditions would speed up operations, and predicted that 30 units would be completed each week until the 110 apartments are finished.

The material shortage, one of the biggest bottlenecks to date, has been largely overcome and contractors now have most all needed material on hand.

Single Students

Completion of Snyder-Paulsen dormitory will greatly alleviate the housing shortage for single students, according to Foster. He said that he believed all men now living in Quonset Village could be placed in dormitory housing by fall term.

Quonset Village and Red Cedar Village will still be used as temporary housing. However, Foster said that he believed Jensen Fieldhouse will not be necessary to use for housing in the future.

WGN Director Visits State On Farm Trip

Hal Totten, WGN radio farm director, came to the Michigan State campus to make a series of recorded interviews this week.

The interviews, which were concluded yesterday, covered every phase of agriculture extension work with twenty-nine faculty members appearing on the series. Each specialist covered his related field in a short five or six minute discussion of the topic.

The interviews will be featured as the main attraction on the WGN morning "Farm Service" series, a fifteen minute program that runs on the air every morning at 7:30 as a public service feature of the station.

Totten also made recordings of interviews with members of the Michigan State Rural Progress Council when the caravan stopped at St. Johns Monday.

Totten has covered 50,000 miles in the past two years making interviews with farmers and universities throughout the Middle West.

Mason Abbot, Sigma Nus Finish Up Social Season

Cleveland Group Will Sponsor Local Dance

"Pause that Refreshes" will be the theme of the Abbot-Mason club record dance to be held Saturday in Abbot's lower lounge. Proceeds to Abbot hall will be given.

Sigma Nus are also holding a record dance Saturday at their chapter house. This will be an informal party with the "Flexible Unfilled Four." Sigma Nus quartet, furnishing intermission entertainment.

Students from the greater Cleveland area are holding an end-of-the-term dance and party at 8:30 Friday, March 21. This party, which is being sponsored by the Cleveland Alumni association, will feature the music of Jimmy Shaffer's orchestra.

The party is being held so that the future members of the alumni association will meet each other and meet the present members. Those attending are invited to bring friends. The dance will be held at Manning Studios, 1240 Huron road, Cleveland.

Politicians of the late 19th century used to line their derbies with iron as protection in election disputes.

Quonset Party Closes Winter Social Season

Quonset village men will entertain their dates at the last big party of winter term Saturday evening in the Women's gym. The informal affair will feature Jimmy Shaffer's band with vocalist Margie Mac.

Also to be featured with Shaffer's band are the "Mellow-airs," a new vocal quartet made up of Joyce French, Chuck Roberts, Bob Hink, and Howard Kitzman. These "Three guys and a gal" will bring their own arrangements of popular tunes to the guests, and also contribute to the intermission entertainment with a song especially written for the occasion.

The intermission entertainment will differ from the usual in that Shaffer's entire band, Miss Mac, the "Mellow-airs" and Mark Bacher will entertain.

Bacher, late of "Wintered" fame, will do three or four skits in costume, and the band and the vocalists will supplement the 25-minute Quonset Varieties.

The gym will be decorated in keeping with the quonset atmosphere, social chairman Carl Mikko stated. Admission will be gained upon presentation of the current village meal-ticket.
