Government Course To Present Officials As Class Lecturers

Political Science Workshop To Offer Special Training

Students of political science will have the opportunity to learn about state and local government from public officials in the special workshop which is being offered for three week period starting July 7.

W. H. Combs are cooperating with the University of Michigan, Wayne university, Penn State College for Women, and other various branches of government, to present to the students of political science actual problems and problems of government.

One Of Its Kind

This is the only course of its kind in the country. The only comparable program is offered at the University of Connecticut. It is an intensive one-week course which attempts to acquaint the students with the practical problems of administration.

Subjects Covered

Subject matter will cover the relationships between state, federal and local governments, and the responsibilities of the executive, legislative and judicial branches. Students will delve into

Music, Art, Drama Course Offered To H.S. Students

By FIL RACETTE

This week marks the first of the three weeks' session in music, art, and drama, sponsored by the Institute of short courses, in cooperation with the music department, for high school students and teachers.

The course is scheduled from June 23 to July 12. Dr. William R. Sur, of the Music Department, is in charge of the course.

This is the second year that a course has been offered. Two hundred and thirty high school students and 25 teachers, representing 97 schools and 3 states, are enrolled for the session.

The curriculum includes courses in band, orchestra, choir, music theory, conducting, baton twirling, introduction to drawing and painting, and a new course in platform techniques in music and drama under the guidance of Cecil R. Sur, of the Music Department. The instructors are being assigned to particularly talented students through the facilities of KARS.

Leonard V. Falcone is conducting the 120 piece band, while Alexander Schuster, Arthur Best, Douglas Campbell, Joseph Evans, Grace Field, Barbara L. Gordon.

Others are Paul O. Harder, James D. Jackson, Cecil H. Nickle, Mary Oliver, Frank Perne, Suzanne Pitzer, Helen Roberts Sholl, R. Keith Stein, J. Herbert Swanson, Lewis McConnell, and Ramon Teta, all of Michigan State college.

David Worcester Dies In Montreal

By JEAN FAGAN

Dr. David Worcester, former head of the English department of Michigan State college, died June 20, following an extended illness. He was 40 years old.

Worcester was born in Boston, Mass., and obtained his Bachelor's degree at Harvard college. He studied at Harvard, specializing in eighteenth and nineteenth century English literature, and was granted his Ph.D.

Taught At Harvard

He was an instructor of English at Harvard, and later served as a senior tutor at Lowell house, and was a member of the governing board at Stuart school, Mass.

In 1941 Worcester accepted the position as head of the department of English at State, and a year later obtained leave of absence to work with naval intelligence.

He became president of Hamilton college, New York, in 1945, and inaugurated modern educational methods which revolutionized the school which once trained such men as Elihu Root, Charles Dudley Warner, and Alexander Woolcott.

Gleam Recognition

Worcester's methods of converting the 135 year old institution through an article printed in the New York Times Magazine in September, 1946, which revealed that he had stepped up the classical program to more efficiently accommodate the student veterans in attendance.

In May he became too ill to continue in his capacity as president, and tendered his resignation.

He was vacationing with his wife in Montreal, Canada, when he died.

Worcester was buried in Boston, and is survived by his wife, Eloise.

While at Harvard Worcester was granted a traveling fellowship to continue his studies in England. His book, "Art of Satire," may be found in the college library.

U.P. Trip Revived For Geologists To Leave July 1

Fifteen Geology students will leave July 1 for four weeks of study in the copper and iron district of Northern Michigan, said Dr. S. G. Bergquist of the geology department. This trip is part of a field camp course which has been revived for the first time since the war began.

The first two weeks will be spent in the Keweenaw peninsula studying the special geology problems of that area.

For the last two weeks, a permanent camp will be established 10 miles north of Ishpeming, in the Dead River Basin. Mapping of the mineralized belt of the region will be the main objective. Dr. B. T. Sanderfur is in charge of field operations and will be assisted by graduate student Gerald E. Smith.

Dr. S. G. Bergquist, Dr. W. A. Kelly, Dr. B. T. Sanderfur and Gerald E. Smith, of the geology department, have just returned from the copper country where plans were laid for the forthcoming field trip.

Council Group To Inaugurate Book Pooling

The Student council summer committee met yesterday in the first session of its kind in State history.

A free book-pool for self-supporting non-veterans was suggested by Bob Greenblatt, Quonset representative. Greenblatt was appointed to make the plans necessary to get the pool in operation by fall term.

Veterans now send thousands of books home each term, where they lie unused for two or three years, Greenblatt said. His plan calls for veterans to turn in their books to a central collection point, from where they can be distributed to those who need them.

Joe Fornick, Mason hall councilman, was appointed to work with "Lyle" Thompson, investigating Red Lansing last year.

Fairchild NRC Sends Huddleson To Denmark Features Whodunit

Brazilian Folk Singer Gives Varied Fair

Two movies will be shown in Fairchild theater this weekend as part of the summer school lecture-concert series. Tonight, the movie will be "Close Call for Ellery Queen," starring William Gargan, Margaret Lindsay, and Ralph Morgan. Saturday's picture will be "Patrick the Great," with Donald O'Connor, and Peggy Ryan. The films are scheduled to be shown at 8:00 p.m.

Those who went to Fairchild theater Wednesday night to hear Olga Coelho, Brazilian soprano, were treated to an unusual and interesting program of songs.

Sang In Fire Language

Miss Coelho, who accompanies herself on the guitar, sang in Italian, Portuguese, French, Maori, and even in the language of the Incas. The ballad singer announced her own program and told the old stories behind the folk music she interprets so well.

Miss Coelho opened her program with two Italian arias, "Se tu m'ami," by Pergolesi, and "O cessate di piangere," by Scarlatti. These two numbers were transcribed for voice and guitar by A. Segovia, famous guitarist for the singer.

Five Brazilian Songs

Miss Coelho then presented five Brazilian folk songs: "My Little Lemon," "My Dear Little Lemon Tree," "But Your Little Hat A Little Lower," "Little Frog and two songs from the collection of Villa-Lobos, modern Brazilian composer.

Of the last two selections, one told the story of a slave who gave up a chance to win the hand of a princess, and one was a religious folk song.

Second Part

During the second part of the program, Miss Coelho sang two more songs: "The White Land," and "Darling, Dirty Little Hat." The latter is a love song. The night explained that it is an Inca man wanted to pay a night compliment to his sweetheart he called her "dirty little hat."

Miss Coelho then sang a Brazilian love song, "The Little Mule," the well-known Mexican song, "Estrellita," a gay song based on a folk dance from Chile and an embolada, a fast, comical song in which the singer must be careful not to stumble over the words.

As encores, Miss Coelho sang the popular Cuban song, "The Peanut Vendor," an embolada written as a satire, consisting entirely of nonsense syllables, and a Maori love song she learned while in New Zealand.

State Prof Will Go To International Biological Convo

The National Research Council recently named Dr. I. Forrest Huddleson, research professor in bacteriology, as its official delegate to the International Congress of Biologists at Copenhagen, Denmark.

The Congress, which will be held July 28 to 31, will be attended by representatives from all fields related to biology.

To Read Paper

Preceding the Congress, Doctor Huddleson will read a paper on the cause he has developed for the unimutated fever to the Fourth International Congress of Microbiologists to be held in Copenhagen July 20 to 26. He described his cure as "rapid and effective."

He stated that his recovery may be used in the curing of other diseases such as pneumonia. To date there has been no other effective manner of treating undulant fever. The new treatment has been used successfully in the treatment of four acute human cases.

Extensive Research

Doctor Huddleson has conducted extensive research on the undulant fever cure nearly three years. In one case his work carried him to the island of Malta in the Mediterranean to study the effects of the disease.

Nearly all the nations of the world are expected to be in attendance at the Microbiologist Congress. One notable exception, however, is Russia who has not yet indicated that she will send delegates.

Doctor Huddleson will leave July 8 from New York by plane.

Exam Cheating Causes Suspension Of Two Students

President John Hannah has suspended two women students for an indefinite period for cheating on an examination at the end of spring quarter.

One coed was scheduled to repeat the biology comprehensive exam in an effort to improve a grade of D which she had gotten on a previous attempt. She admitted to take the examination for her student, and will include the rumba and tango. The class is free and is open to anyone interested. It will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on the second floor in the Women's gymnasium.

The only other examination fraud attempted this school year was the theft of test forms by students, at the beginning of spring term. The students in this case were suspended.

Music Staff Will Present First Concert

Staff members of the music department will star at the first concert of the summer term, Monday at 8 p.m. in the music auditorium. The concert is being presented for the special course music students.

The program will open with three numbers: "Alma Mia" by Handel, "Preach Not Me Your Musty Rules," by Arne and a Negro spiritual, "Witness" by Hall Johnson.

Prof. David Maehle, tenor, will give the vocal rendition with Wendell Westcott, music instructor, at the piano.

The second part of the program will feature Chopin's "Prelude" and "La Campanella" by Paganini-Liszt. Prof. Joseph Evans will be the pianist.

Prof. Leonard Falcone, at euphonium, and Prof. Roy Underwood, head of the department, will render "Ronde Caprice" by Herbert L. Clarke.

A sign in the art department's exhibit section conspicuously said "Only low conversation permitted here."

800 Club Members Here For Event

The 29th 4-H club week held its final assembly this morning at 8:30 in the Jensen fieldhouse.

Following the assembly the entire delegation adjourned to the State capitol where they will be received by Governor Kim Sigler and Charles Figy, commissioner of agriculture.

Winners of special awards including the Ralston Purina 4-H Leaders scholarships and the WLS Prairie Farmer 4-H Junior Leadership bond awards were announced to the 800 delegates from 41 southern Michigan counties.

Winners of the Ralston Purina Camp Minnawaca scholarships were Margaret A. Haviland, 19, of Lenawee county, and Charles Gruner, 17, of Branch county.

Ronald Richmond, Joyce Claborn, Carol Krantz, Charles Brown, Elizabeth Croel, Frank Rissel, Harold Anderson, and Mariam Morrison were winners of the WLS Prairie Farmer 4-H Junior Leadership fifty dollar bond awards.

Delegates Picked

Four delegates were picked on the basis of all around participation in 4-H club activities to represent the southern Michigan counties at the State 4-H club show to be held August 26 to 29. They were Mary Jane Lewis, 17, Milford, Michigan; Laura Jean Milford, 20, Hastings; Allen Rohlf, 19, Fairgrove, and Dean Allen, 18, of route two, Grand Rapids. They will also represent the southern counties at the 4-H National club show, June, 1948.

At a service club initiation held Wednesday evening, local 4-H youth members were honored for achievements during the past year. They were Joyce Getchell, Helen Ruhling, Louise Christianson, Phyllis Bennett, Shirley Hensh, Alice Graham, Mary A. Hagadorn, and Mary J. Louis.

Dance Class Will Start

A course in social dancing will begin Tuesday evening and will continue each Tuesday and Thursday throughout July.

The course will be taught by Miss Ampara Ruiz, a gradu student, and will include the rumba and tango. The class is free and is open to anyone interested. It will be held from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on the second floor in the Women's gymnasium.

Botany Prof Assisted Greek Farms On UNRRA Mission

By CHUCK BRAGG

Professor Constantine J. Alexopoulos, assistant professor of mycology in the department of botany, has trained himself for the position by an unusual variety of experiences.

Before his appointment in March of this year, Alexopoulos was the deputy director of the division of agriculture on the Greece mission of UNRRA. As such, he was responsible for returning Greek agriculture to its pre-war standard.

Under Alexopoulos' direction, 60,000 head of draft animals, 15,000 tractors, and thousands of tons of fertilizer were distributed throughout the impoverished plains area, a program which cost UNRRA nearly 46 million dollars.

Mycology, the study of plant fungi, has been the object of Alexopoulos' research for almost 20 years. The 46-year-old specialist was born in Chicago, Ill., and at the age of six moved to Greece, where he received his elementary education.

Attended Chicago

Immediately following the first World War, he returned to the United States and after finishing high school in Chicago, attended the University of Illinois. Before accepting a position as instructor of mycology at the University, he had earned B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees.

In 1935 Alexopoulos transferred to Kent State college in Ohio and

The ISA mixer, previously announced for tonight, has been moved up to Saturday night, June 28, to begin at 9 a.m. Don Geiss, Cleveland Heights sophomore and chairman stated today.

The dance, to be held in the Forestry cabin, will feature an all-request program of recorded music.

Intermission entertainment lists a return performance of Goss' Frank Sinatra skit, which was given last month at the Foresters' term party. Imitations of Red Skelton and Mortimer Snerd are also planned.

The dance committee emphasized that the mixer is designed to help fill the gap in summer entertainment and is for all students.

On the committee are chairman Gene, Evelyn Van Stuenkel, Rockford, Ill., junior; Walter Kassaroff, Dearborn sophomore; Tom Croxley, Grasse Pointe senior; and Stephanie Rusek, Hamtramck senior. Among the sponsors for the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Pass of the written and spoken English department.

Plans are now complete for the informal dance which is being presented tonight by the women of Campbell hall. The dancing, which will begin at 9, will be to records. During the evening, refreshments will be served.

General chairman for the affair is Ann Dexter, Highland Park freshman. Her assistants include Lois Vosburg, Pontiac freshman, in charge of music; Ann Kirchoff, Detroit freshman; decorations; Lou Ingalls, Flint senior; patrons; and Evelyn Van Stuenkel, Rockford, Ill., junior, and Barbara Carlson, Flint senior, refreshments. Social chairman for the dorm is Carolyn Vosburg, Pontiac junior.

The men from Mason-Abbott halls and the graduate girls from Williams hall have been invited to attend this "open house."

In 1943, he took his second leave of absence to travel to the Amazon valley in Brazil as a representative of the United States government. He there accelerated the production of rubber for war purposes. Because of his knowledge of the Greek language and his familiarity with Greek problems, he was appointed deputy director of the division of agriculture of UNRRA and continued in that capacity until February of 1947.

That department of UNRRA first operated from Washington, D. C., but as the liberation of Greece grew closer it moved to Cairo and worked in cooperation with the Greek government in exile.

Immediately after the anticipated liberation, Alexopoulos was moved into Greece and began in earnest the work of repairing Greek agriculture to its pre-war standards. By the latter part of 1946, the country was producing 125% of the pre-war amount of potatoes and 100% of the pre-war amount of olive oil, but two of the most important problems.

ADDLE YOUR OWN

Up River For A Pinetum Picnic

By ED HOWARD

So the two of you are looking for something just a bit different to do on a balmy summer's day? Different, but not too expensive?

How about picnicking at Pinetum?

First, you pack a lunch—the simpler, the better. Then, deposit your car in a convenient corner of the Pinetum grounds, just across from the auditorium. There, as an added touch, you can find first-aid kits, candy, popcorn, and other odds and ends of refreshment.

Now just shove off upstream to quiet, relaxation, and solid picnic.

The scenery en route is itself worth the trip. And if you spot a lovely nook before traveling too far, you needn't paddle all the way to Pinetum. The entire south bank is college-owned, so beach your canoe where you will, spread out your lunch, and relax to nature's own dinner music—bird songs and the whispering wind in the pines.

Now, what about the cost? Two in a canoe, with all extras, including seat pads and blankets, can while away two hours for 80 cents. That's 35 cents an hour for the canoe plus a flat rate of 10 cents for the extras. Also, for those evening excursions especially, a bottle of odorless mosquito-repellent is included at no extra charge. It's guaranteed to drive away the most persistent of the little beasts.

You can start anytime after 2 p.m., and return anytime before midnight.

W. Birney, affable young manager of the college concessions, claims you can't come back from one of these trips disappointed. Just one word of caution before you start. When you beach that canoe, beach it!

High tide and the wake from passing schooners has been known to send the frail craft heading downstream and over the dam to destruction, as many as three per night.

Not only can the return trip become very trying under such circumstances—it can be most embarrassing explaining the situation to an attendant inclined to be more than a little unsympathetic at these times. With that word to the wise.

Bon Voyage!

VA officials estimate the number of living veterans and members of their families will reach a peak of more than 62,000,000 by 1952 or 43 per cent of the nation's population.

Louisiana State Squad Grabs NCAA Golf Title

Coeds Offered Sewing Hints

For coeds planning to dip into summer sewing, Florence Rann, MSC clothing specialist, today offered a few helpful hints on sewing rayon jersey.

Jersey, she pointed out, can be draped beautifully by placing the gathers evenly. Draping tends to bring large designs such as floral figures and wide stripes together and to break their boldness.

Since jersey stretches easily, continued Miss Rann, all edges, such as the waistline, neckline, and arm holes should be stitched immediately after cutting. Next the seams should be sewed from the bottom up with the sewing machine set for a longer stitch and looser tension than for other materials. Extra strength at the waistline can be assured by stitching seam binding or pre-shrunk cotton twilled tape under the waistline seam.

With these tips who could go wrong? You're on your own now!

First Undisputed Crown For Tigers In 50 Years

University Of Michigan Team Tours Home Course In 618 For Fifth Place

By BILL SABLE

Three freshmen and a lone upperclassman teamed together to give Louisiana State university its first undisputed NCAA golf championship in the 50 year running of the annual tournament. Twice before, in 1940 and 1942, LSU tied for the title.

The rookie quartet toured the 6,600 yard Ann Arbor course in 606 strokes. Jack Coyle paced the Tigers with a 148. He was followed by Jim Wittenberg and Gardner Dickson at 153, while Joe Moore fired a 152 to complete the combination.

Defending champion, Stanford University, was forced to accept third place after their early lead was blown to a 616 total, two strokes behind the runnerup, Duke University. Little San Jose State topped fourth place with a 617 and the home team, Michigan, scored 618 for fifth place.

State Far Back

Michigan State finished far back among the national scorers but was able to finish second among the state-entered schools. State posted a four-man aggregate of 646.

Bo Winniger of Oklahoma A&M and Bob Harris of San Jose State continued to top the individual honors with a 36 hole total of 147.

The two outstanding freshmen fired identical scores as they both equaled par 72 on the first 18 and then bogied for a three over par 75 on the final round.

Favorite Record

Pre-tourney favorite, Charley Lind of the University of Denver, was one stroke behind finishing in a three-way tie with Claude Joyce of Southern Methodist and Coyle at 148.

One stroke behind them was Ladda Kellogg of Oklahoma A&M and Trans-Mississippi golf champion Charley Cox of Oklahoma. Bill Courtright of Michigan finished with a 151.

Michigan was the only state school to place men in the medal play round. The Wolverine qualified five linksmen, Court-

Yesterday's 18 hole match play was narrowed to the 32 men who will vie today, Saturday and Sunday for the top honor in college golf, the collegiate championship of the United States.

Travelog Films To Show MSC State Scenes

James A. Fitzpatrick, Hollywood producer of scenic short subjects, will feature shots of the Michigan State college campus as a portion of his newest film on the Wolverine state.

Here Monday afternoon, with his equipment and staff, Fitzpatrick took several scenes of campus landmarks, but was forced to cancel plans to further shooting this week because of darkness and cloudy weather.

The shots will be featured in a scenic picture on the metropolitan areas in Michigan, which will be distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to theaters throughout the country. Announcement of showing by local movie houses is expected to be made later.

CROSS WINDS

By WALLY SCHRAMM

FROM several quarters, comes the suggestion that the State News sponsor an all-college golf tournament to give MSC golfers an opportunity to compete with other students—for money.

Recalling the enthusiastic response evidenced in the all-college bowling meets of the past two years, it seems that such a suggestion would meet with widespread approval. It certainly would help to make up for the lack of organized sports during summer term.

The tourney would be played over 18 holes on one of the local courses. Two rounds would be played on successive Saturdays, one for qualifying, the second for regular medal play. If held, the tournament will be run off sometime in July.

An entry fee, probably one dollar, would make up the prize melon. All competitors would be responsible for paying their own course fees.

To give everyone from expert to duffers a chance to share in the prize money, the qualifiers would be divided into four flights—championship, first second and third.

Right now we're trying to find out how you golfers feel about it. If you would like to see such a tournament held, address a card to Sports Editor, Michigan State News and drop it in a campus mailbox or leave it at the State News office in the Union annex.

Any suggestions you may have concerning the suggested tourney will be appreciated. Just let them down and drop them along.

Although this idea was suggested for the males among the local golfing population, if there are enough women around who are interested, it could be possible for them to have a meet of their own at the same time. If you like the idea, let us know.

Everything rests upon the decision of our readers. Pick up your pen right now and give us your reaction.

State Geologists Map Peninsula

A part of a geologic survey sponsored by the state commission, Dr. S. G. Bergquist and Dr. W. A. Kelly will remain in the state capital to map the lower peninsula this summer.

Geological exploration began in 1942 as part of a cooperative project with the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and the University of Michigan and is expected to be completed this year.

ISA Outlines Plan To Hold Canoe Races

A series of summer-term canoe races, including both men's and mixed doubles, was announced today by Don Geiss, Cleveland Heights sophomore.

Sponsored by the Independent Student's Association, the program would also include canoeing, and possibly tub racing, according to tentative plans outlined by Geiss. A small entry fee for the canoe sprints will be charged with canoes furnished.

Prizes will be offered to the winner and the runner-up.

No date was set for the first race, but Geiss stated that the second week of July should see the program under way.
