Blood Drive Ends Today Quota Short

Today is the last day the Red Cross Blood Bank will be on campus, but it is still not too late to donate blood. So far, MSC has fallen far below its quota.

Donations increased yesterday. Dr. Harold Wiley, medical director of the regional center in Lansing and head of the campus drive, reported. He said that he believed this was because of the STATE NEWS editorial in Thursday's paper.

Yesterday, 50 pints of blood were collected. Only 79 pints were collected during the previous three days of the drive. At 5 p.m., closing time, 13 students were still waiting to donate.

If these students would, they have been able to give, the total would have been raised to 131 pints.

The headquarters for the drive are in the basement of Olin Memorial hospital, and they will be open today from 9-12 a.m. and 2-5 p.m.

Truman Says Use A-Bomb If Necessary To Keep Reds From American Shores

MSC President Gets Point Four Board Position

Named To Point Four
Advisory Board

President John A. Hannah has been named to the new Advisory Board on International Development by President Truman. It was announced yesterday. The board will supervise Truman's much discussed Point Four.

President Truman stressed the importance of Point Four in dealing with the "Communist menace" at the first meeting of the board yesterday.

Selected as chairman of the committee was Nelson A. Rockefeller. Mr. Truman also named ten other board members.

Committee Members
The other members of the committee are: Robert P. Daniel, president of Virginia State college; Harvey S. Firestone, chairman of Firestone Rubber and Tire company; James W. Gerard, lawyer and former ambassador to Germany; Margaret A. Hickey, lawyer and director of Miss Hickey's Training School for Secretaries; Lewis G. Hines, special representative for the American Federation of Labor.

Others are Dr. Thomas Parran, dean of the graduate school of public health, University of Pittsburgh; Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer; Jacob F. Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; John L. Savage, chief designing engineer of the Hoover and Grand Coulee dams; and Charles L. Wheeler, executive vice president of Pope and Talbot Steamship company.

Hannah left for Washington on Tuesday to attend the meeting of the board.

Encourage Progress
When announcing the appointments for the board President Truman said, "The encouragement of economic and social progress in the underprivileged areas is one of the most important problems facing the free world."

This is particularly true in those countries of Asia where the Communist menace is so great. Two thirds of these areas, they suffer from hunger, disease, ignorance and poverty," he added.

N.Y. Opera
Ticket Sale
Going Slow

Sales Will Affect Future Programs

Lagging ticket sales for the New York City Opera's performances of "La Boheme" and "The Marriage of Figaro" on Dec. 4 and 5 brought a protest and a warning from Dean Stanley E. Crowe, director of MSC's lecture-concert series.

"I will be very disappointed if the Opera is not well attended, because the performances will be well worth seeing. If it is not well attended, no more programs of this type will be scheduled," Crowe stated.

The reason this last musical feature of the lecture-concert series was scheduled so close to final exam week is that the Opera could not be obtained any other time," Crowe added.

The famed New York group will wind up their Chicago engagement Sunday night, perform here at MSC Monday and Tuesday, and then return to New York.

Dean Crowe's statements were prompted by a report from the Union ticket office yesterday that sales were not going as well for the Opera as they had for previous programs of equal importance.

Reds Surround Parts Of Three Divisions

SEOUL, KOREA — (AP) — Chinese Communists surrounded elements of three U. S. Marine regiments yesterday in the first hours of a new 80,000 man Red drive in northeast Korea.

The Reds strangely eased the pressure of their rolling counter-offensive on the northwest front. Allied troops took advantage of the lull in the fighting to start building a new defense line north of Pyongyang, former North Korean Communist capital.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U.S. Tenth corps said the fresh Red drive at the northeast front was powered by "probably eight to ten" divisions, including elements of three Chinese armies.

This would be possibly 80,000 men, as a Chinese Communist division usually contains an estimated 8,000.

Swing Behind
The new smash from the frigid north sent Chinese Reds swinging behind parts of the U.S. Fifth and Seventh Marine regiments northwest of the Changjin reservoir.

Other Red troops set up road blocks behind elements of the first Marine regiment at the south end of the reservoir. Three three regiments make up the first Marine division.

The Red encirclements cut communications between Marine regiments and blocked their supply route from the east coast port of Hamhung.

A Marine staff officer expressed the opinion that the Red roadblocks soon would be cleared. Northeast of the reservoir, elements of two U.S. Seventh infantry division regiments came under moderate attack. A Tenth corps spokesman said the units from the 31st and 32nd regiments crossed a Chinese Red wedge between their lines and consolidated their positions.

Associated Press correspondent Tom Stone reported from the northeast front that the Reds were using mainly arms and mortar in the new drive against the allies. He said the Communists had a few tanks but that their artillery was negligible.

U. N. Outnumbered
The allied forces were outnumbered but held the upper hand in artillery and air strength, Stone said.

Almond, the northeast front commander, said the situation on that winter-struck line "requires an entirely new evaluation."

He did not amplify the remark. It could mean that withdrawals are in prospect for the allied forces in the northeast.

Of these forces, parts of the American Seventh division have been on the Manchurian-Korean border for about two weeks and the South Korean capital division has struck several miles north of Chongjin on the east coast in a drive for the Siberian-Korean border.

Allied officers put forth no reason for the sudden let-up in the Red drive against the northwest front just as its fury appeared about to carry it around the U.S. Eighth army's right flank and trap it against the Yellow Sea. It could be caused by over-extended supply lines or the need for regrouping, among other possibilities.

American Duty
State Police Commissioner Hits
Non-Signers Of Loyalty Oaths

By DICK SULLIVAN
State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, speaking last night before the annual dinner of Alpha Phi Sigma, police science honorary, declared he could "see no excuse for refusal of public employees to take loyalty oaths."

Leonard said he could not understand how anyone could consider it a violation of their rights to sign the oath. He said it is his duty as an American to declare all loyalty to his country.

1,032 In Week

American Casualty Toll In Korean War 31,028

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Total announced American casualties in the Korean War mounted to 31,028 yesterday. A single week's combat added 1,032 to the list.

The Defense department's summary of U.S. losses included all casualties where the next of kin had been notified through Nov. 21. In some cases there is a lag of several weeks before the death, wounding or capture of a serviceman can be verified and relatives notified.

The list showed 5,397 deaths, 21,114 wounded and an overall total of 4,611 missing. In the latter category, four have been definitely ascertained to be dead but are listed under both dead and missing.

Actually, the current missing list totals 3,954 after allowing for those four known dead, 546 who have returned to United Nations military control, and 197 known to be in the hands of the enemy.

The army, with far the largest number of men committed to action, sustained the heaviest casualties—26,627, of whom 4,442 were dead.

The marine corps total were 3,829, including 725 dead, the navy 323, including 50 dead, and the air force 244, including 90 dead.

Under armed guard ballot boxes will be moved to county canvassing boards where election officials will get another try at testing their mathematics.

Commissioner Leonard said state patrolmen will ride all trucks as the boxes are picked up. They will remain during the recount, he said.

As to how many troops will be used to handle the job, the commissioner declined to mention. However, he jokingly added, "we'll have to keep a few troops around as we have other duties to perform as you know."

The state police official said receipts have been printed, which will be issued to city clerks and township officials when the ballots are delivered.

Because the task of safeguarding the ballot boxes is so gigantic, troops will be assisted by different county deputies and city police, who have been chosen by state police officials, Commissioner Leonard said.

Troops will also report on the condition of each ballot box before the trip is made. The statewide re-tabulation is scheduled to get underway Saturday morning in Wayne county, with the voting machines being checked first before the boxes are opened.

But Peace Attempts To Continue

President Says We're
Fighting For Survival

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today the United States will fight on in Korea with every means at its disposal, including the atom bomb if necessary, to keep Red aggression from spreading to American shores.

With the exaggerated air of a man near the limit of patience, Mr. Truman said the country has

BULLETIN

Prime Minister Attlee will fly to the United States—probably this weekend—to discuss the tense world situation with President Truman.

He said these efforts will continue and he hopes they will succeed.

But he declared in a formal statement that "we are fighting in Korea for our own national security and survival," and he told a tense crowd of news conference we will use every weapon that is needed.

Includes A Bomb
That includes the Atom Bomb, the President said crisply in answer to a newsmen's question.

And then he touched off a flurry of confusion that didn't end until the White House, three hours later, issued a statement saying the use of the bomb has not been authorized to far and that the President's comments "do not represent any change in this situation."

Mr. Truman said, and repeated, in answer to questions hurled by some of the 200 reporters present, that the use of the A-bomb in Korea always has been under active consideration.

In a voice charged with emotion, he said he doesn't want to see it used. It's a terrible weapon, he said, one that doesn't spare innocent men, women and children.

Asked if the use of the bomb would depend on United Nations permission, the President said no, he didn't mean that at all. He said the military commander in the field—Gen. Douglas MacArthur—will have charge of using all weapons, as he always has.

Use Not Authorized
The White House statement made it clear, however, that MacArthur has not been empowered to use the A-bomb.

"By law," the statement said in part, "only the President can authorize the use of the atom bomb, and no such authorization has been given."

If and when such authorization should be given, the military commander in the field would have charge of the tactical delivery of the bomb.

Mr. Truman has said previously that he hopes the atom bomb will never again have to be used.

Soviet Veto Kills UN Demands For Chinese Red Withdrawal

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — A Soviet veto yesterday killed a six-point demand in the security council for the Chinese Communist troops to withdraw from the Korean battle.

The western powers are expected to press for quick UN action against the Chinese Reds in the veto-free General Assembly under U.S. secretary of state Dean Acheson's anti-aggression plan.

U.S. sources said the assembly probably would be asked to act on Monday.

There was some dispute among U.N. officials whether the veto cast today by Jacob A. Malik was Russia's 47th or 49th. Some authorities said that Malik cast three separate vetoes by voting against

Swimmers To Present Tank Clinic Saturday

By DICK GOODROW

The varsity and freshmen swimming team will combine their strokes and put on a swimming clinic tomorrow. The inter-squad meet will start at 2 p.m. in Jensen pool. The public is invited free of charge.

Regular college events will be run off, including the 200 yard back stroke, which will replace the 100 yard event used last year, the 100 yard breast stroke, 100 yard back stroke, and the 150 individual medley. All are events that are scheduled in championship meets.

Pace Varsity

George Hoogehide, Clark Scholtes, Dave Hoffmann, and Hal Shoup will pace the varsity in relays and individual events. Ken Coyne, Jerry Lockwood, and Jim Bray will take over the diving job along with freshmen who have yet to earn their name in the diving spot light.

According to Charles McCreary, Jr., State's swimming coach, "everybody on the team will swim." The meet will give McCreary indications as to how the men are conditioning and may decide some of the starting line up for the first meet Northwestern will swim here January 6th, to open the Green and White dual meet season.

Coach To Be Delegate

McCreary will travel to Washington, D. C., as a delegate to the National Amateur Athletic Union December 6-9. The delegates will choose the site of the 1951 NAAU outdoor swimming championships for men and women.

The delegates from this district will attempt to obtain the championships for Detroit, which are scheduled for next July.

Philadelphia Set For Big Grid Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This city's hotel keepers and traffic cops braced themselves tonight against the imminent onslaught of tens of thousands of Army-Navy ticket holders who will begin pouring in early tomorrow for Saturday's annual service classic at Municipal stadium.

As usual, every room in the city has been booked far in advance, largely by Army and Navy personnel for their pre-game get-togethers. The bulk of the more than 100,000 who will sit chilled through the "big" game, including President Truman, will arrive on dozens of special trains and by car Saturday morning.

Both the Army and Navy squads are scheduled to arrive by noon tomorrow and take final light workouts at the stadium. The corps of cadets and regiments of midshipmen will pull in on special trains just in time for their traditional pre-game parade.

Army's unbeaten and untied legions remain solid favorites, over a Middle team which has won only two games in a murderous schedule—over Columbia and Southern California. The Cadets have won five of their last six meetings with the Tars, their string of conquests being broken only by a 21-21 tie two years ago.

Both Coaches Predict Wins

By STAN STEINBOHN

Both Michigan State and Wayne university's basketball coach threw away the customary crying towel and predicted that their squads had a good chance to win Saturday's game.

Pete Newell, beginning his first season as a coach in the midwest, said "I am not as worried about what Wayne will do as I am about what we will do. If we make a minimum of first game mistakes we should win."

Show Improvement

"The team has shown good improvement both individually and as a team and should continue to improve as the season progresses," Coach Joel Mason said. "State's personnel is better than ours, but I think our extra game (Wayne beat Assumption College Monday night 33-37) will help compensate for that. If we hit like we did against Assumption, we're going to be hard to beat."

Wayne In Shape

According to Mason, the big difference in his team's Monday night victory was "we were in shape and they weren't." He also expressed himself as being very happy with the showing of his recruits.

The game will be played in the State Fair grounds coliseum. The Spartans have won all three games they played with the Tartars in the coliseum by only one or two points.

In 1947-48 the Spartans led all the way to win by the tight margin of 37-35. The next year they had to overcome a Tartar lead of 18-15 to tie up the game 29-29 at the final horn. In the first overtime period the Spartans rallied to overcome a four point Wayne lead and send the game into a second overtime period that saw State come through on top, 37-35.

State took both games last season. This will be the 16th time since 1935 that the two intra-state rivals have met. State holds a series edge of 14 wins and one loss.

Bob Carpenter took first place honors in the all-college table tennis tournament sponsored by the Union Board. Carpenter defeated Buddy Weinberg in the final round.

Louis, showing no marks of last night's bout, pocketed $14,750, one of the smallest pay checks of his fabulous career. The gross gate was $47,420.78. The net was $24,976. Louis received 40 per cent, or $13,750.40, plus $1,000 for radio-television rights. Brion got $6,875.20, plus $1,000 of the television rights which sold for about $11,000.

Louis' old brown bombs, which felled 22 opponents in his 25 title defenses, proved to be duds as he speared Brion with left jabs to pile up most of his points.

CAREY

Michigan State placed three members of its 1950 football squad on the all-opponent team selected by Marquette university. End Bob Carey, tackle John Coleman and halfback Everett (Sonny) Grandelius were selected by the members of the Hilltop varsity squad.

The Hilltoppers have good cause to remember the Spartan team by reason of a 34-6 defeat handed them when they came to East Lansing this fall.

Others chosen to the Marquette all-opponent eleven were: end Gene Fether, Wisconsin; tackle Kenneth Huxford, Wisconsin; guards Ed Wood, Detroit, and Sam Talarin, Indiana; center Ed Rottel, Santa Clara and backs Charles Malov, Holy Cross, Bishop Stebbins, South Carolina and Mike Giggins, Detroit.

Tennessee's Drafter Lineman Of The Week

KNOXVILLE, TENN.—(AP)—"They get that fellow out of there so we can run some plays," yelled Tennessee's Gen. Bob Neyland during a squad football scrimmage two years ago.

"That fellow" was freshman guard Ted Daffer. Daffer is a junior now and for the last two seasons opposing coaches have been trying without success to keep him out of their backfields.

Kentucky couldn't keep Daffer from crashing through its line into its secondary last Saturday, and that failure was a key factor in enabling Tennessee to hand the Wildcats their first loss of the season, 7-0.

First Round KO Gives Davey 11th Pro Win

Chuck Davey, former MSC boxing ace, and local time NCAA champ, won his 11th straight pro fight last night in an easy start with a sensational first round knockout.

Davey KO'd Phil "Red Bull" Dudley in 2:14 of the first round in a preliminary bout in Flint. They were fighting on the Embury Davidson-Steve King card.

Jobs Still Open
In Engineering,
Chemistry Fields

Chances are that engineering, chemistry, and physics graduates will not have a difficult time getting located in good positions, according to MSC placement director John Schleuter.

There is a critical need for graduates in the technical and scientific field, Schleuter said. He added that the supply of graduates in other fields about equal the demand.

Students in the scientific fields land jobs which start at $275 to $325 a month. The placement director declared that MSC will be able to fill one-fourth of these technical jobs between now and April.

He said the beginning salary represents a five to 10 per cent increase over last year. The absorption of the 1950 class by industry and the growing need for technical graduates in the nation's military defense program are several reasons for the increased demand.

Schleuter emphasized that industry is taking qualified persons regardless of how they stand with the Selective Service.

Citing the need for college technicians, Schleuter said the lack of graduates is becoming a nationwide problem which is bound to increase as the nation's war program is stepped up.

The Wolverines may be purchased at the office, the Union jobby desk on Mondays and Tuesdays, or from any salesman in the living units.

Former MSC Student
Heads German Group

Gerhard Treffehn, a former MSC student, was elected president of Deutsche Burschenschaft, an organization of German students fighting for a united Europe.

The group burned frontier posts between France and Germany as a protest against nationalism, Treffehn said in a letter to Mrs. Louise Carpenter, assistant professor of adult education. A mass demonstration at Strasbourg, Germany has been planned, he stated.

European youth including Germans are willing to force governments to take action on the unification of Europe, making another war impossible, the German student wrote. "One of the most essential things is to create friendship and good will among nations."

Deutsche Burschenschaft is made up of more than 6,000 students from all parts of Germany. With political and personal aims the group is highly organized.

Treffehn is attending the University of Gessen, which was adopted by Michigan State College last year he studied agricultural extension work here.

He first came to the United States as a prisoner of war. For a year he served as a hospital orderly in a California camp.

Many of the ideas I am trying to carry out have some of their roots in the United States and I am proud of it," Treffehn wrote.

cused the causes and problems arising in the revention of crime today. Declaring that "never before in our history has the cause and prevention of crime been so discussed," he foresaw a rising interest on the part of the general public in the elimination of the criminal as a menace to society.

The fact that the American citizen has inherited a distinct dislike of authority together with a negligent attitude towards public affairs has contributed a great deal towards the rise to power of criminals, he said.

He blamed the complicated legal machinery in the United States for permitting criminals to escape through loopholes. He said, however, that this fault is slowly being remedied by having courts decide solely upon the innocence or guilt of accused parties.

Paul Felt Fears Vain Search For Missing WMC Coed

KALAMAZOO — (AP) — Hundreds of volunteers searched the snow-covered countryside around Kalamazoo in vain yesterday for some trace of a pretty Western Michigan college coed missing since Sunday.

Kalamazoo Police Chief Howard W. Hoyt expressed fear the girl, Carolyn Down, 18, "has been kidnapped."

Other searchers also believe she has met with foul play of some kind, possibly after having been spirited outside Michigan.

The Stockbridge, Mich., freshman, vanished Sunday night in a snow storm between her dormitory and a nearby drugstore sandwich bar.

Carolyn had just returned from the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents.

Searchers were supplied today by Red Cross mobile units and included Carolyn's fellow students from Western Michigan, Kalamazoo, National Guardsmen, and ROT unit from Kalamazoo college, and area law enforcement officers.

Representatives from colleges, universities, and junior colleges throughout Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota will attend the conference to discuss problems and future plans of the various phases of alumni work.

Howard Mott of the University of Chicago is director of the district council.

The American Alumni Council will hold its national conference this summer under the direction of T. Hawley Topping, director of alumni relations at the University of Michigan.

Jack Breslin, Assistant Director of Alumni Relations will attend a meeting of the Cincinnati Club Friday, Dec. 1 at 8 a.m. in Cincinnati. O. Michigan-Michigan State football movies will be shown, narrated by Breslin.

Merchants Plan Yule Decorations For East Lansing

Christmas decorations, financed each year by the East Lansing Merchants' association, will be placed on light poles along Grand River avenue starting tomorrow.

The association made the decision to continue the custom at a regular meeting yesterday noon, according to Charles Wiley, president to the group.

Only six of the 75 merchants attended the meeting, Wiley said. Five of the merchants at the meeting contacted all other members yesterday afternoon for contributions, Wiley said. He expected a response of nearly 100 per cent.

The project is expected to be completed Tuesday or Wednesday.

Discuss Steps To Cut Down Farm Mishaps

Steps being taken by insurance companies and public utilities to eliminate farm accidents are being discussed at the first conference on Electrical Inspection for Farm Insurance being held at MSC this week. Meetings were held yesterday and will continue through today.

Robert L. Maddex, MSC extension agricultural engineer, explained yesterday that the purpose of the conference was to teach the delegates the best methods of searching for defects in electrical systems, thus saving lives.

He went on to explain that 4,000 people died in farm fires last year with damage amounting to $100,000. Most of these fires were caused by defective wiring and improperly grounded appliances.

The MSC agricultural engineering department, in cooperation with the State Association of Mutual Fire Insurance companies, is taking steps through this conference to instruct fire insurance inspectors on the hazards to look for. Other sponsors of the program are the Detroit Edison company, the Consumers Power company and the Michigan Rural Safety committee.

The conference program includes a trip to two farms outside Lansing. One illustrates a safe wiring system, and the other shows the danger that poor wiring can cause.

Earle E. Hotchin, secretary-treasurer of the State Mutual association, said that this is the first time that public utilities and insurance companies have cooperated in a program such as this.

Hannah To Ask TV Channels For Colleges

President Hannah is scheduled to appear before the Federal Communications commission in Washington next week on behalf of the allocation of television channels for the use of educational institutions.

James Denison, assistant to the President, pointed out yesterday that this hearing will be of great importance because it will be the last opportunity for schools to get the channels for their use.

"This will be our last chance," Denison said. "If we don't get educational TV now, we will never get it."

Denison was appointed to the committee on radio and television of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities at the association's recent meeting in Washington.

The use of TV in education would be of special benefit to MSC. Tentative plans are being made for a television station on the campus. Ready for operation next term is a TV studio, which will be used to teach TV techniques, even if it becomes impossible to get a broadcasting channel.

The display was previously featured in St. Louis, Missouri, at the National Rural Electrification Conference, October 17 through 20. The WKAR Electricity program was one of the important subjects discussed as a way of getting vital information to the farmers about the proper uses and safe methods of providing electricity on the farm.

The program, which is featured in the display, is presented over WKAR on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 1:15. These programs, "Life on the Farm," use tape recording, interviews with farm families, and dramatized human interest stories by the farm service advisor. "Electricity at Work" won a Billboard Magazine award as one of the outstanding rural broadcasts in 1948. The program is presented in cooperation with the Rural Electrification committee headed by Bob Maddex, extension specialist of the Agricultural Engineering Department at MSC.
