Garden 'Fixes' Fault of Many, States Newell

Coach's Talk Outlines Problems of Basketball

By HERMAN GRAULICH
State News Sports Editor

One aspect can be blamed for the recent basketball season.

Basketball coach Pete Newell made this statement at yesterday's weekly meeting of the State College club.

Newell cited the participation of parents, coaches, and civil authorities as the responsible parties.

He lauded Madison Square Garden as having done the most to bring basketball to the high plane it is on now.

"There is nothing the Garden can do to prevent waning outside the arena and I have never seen a bet made inside," Newell said.

Coaches and Schools Blamed

"They put so much emphasis on winning that they will go to any extremes to do it. Inducements of all sorts are given to prospective stars—whether or not the boy is academically fitted for college."

He cited the case of an eastern school that hasn't lived up to NCAA standards. One of their stars, involved in the current scandal, transferred from another school.

Other Inducements
"There couldn't have been academic reasons," Newell stated. "There must have been other inducements."

"Civil authorities are also partly to blame," the popular Newell said. "In the first big scandal, about three years ago, the fixer was failed but the players suffered only in lost reputation."

Valid Argument
This gives the gambler a valid argument when trying to get an athlete to keep a game without a certain score. They can talk weak-willed players into accepting bribes, he said.

"We should have some measure of punishment for the athletes involved," Newell continued. "This would protect future players by repudiating the non-substantial argument of the gamblers. Bribe laws should be enacted to protect everyone concerned."

Bookies Held Responsible
The police could also help matters by closing down bookies, he declared.

Without bookies there wouldn't be any opportunity for "fixes." The gamblers wouldn't have anywhere to place their bets.

In answer to one query he said a coach can't tell when a player is throwing the game. "They make too many honest mistakes to raise any doubt." If a coach doesn't trust a player he doesn't keep him on the squad.

He also explained some of the differences between officiating in the Big Ten and the east.

Appeals Refused
KALAMAZOO—As her parents listened, the imprisonment was decreed today for the slayers of coed Carolyn Drown.

Circuit Judge Lucien Sweet rejected appeals for new trials as he sentenced Raymond Lee Olson and Valerius Joe Matthews, 22-year-old Vicksburg farmers.

A freshman at Western Michigan college, 19-year-old Carolyn was kidnapped, raped and strangled last Sept. 26. Her body was found a week later in a corn field.

A jury took just 35 minutes to find Matthews and Olson guilty of first degree murder March 22. A life sentence was mandatory, but Judge Sweet made it more than a mere formality.

Let the public not fear that these two men will be loosened on it again, the judge said. "I think we can rely on the governor of this state not to turn them loose on prey on girls such as Carolyn Drown."

Then turning to the defendants, he told them: "For the last time in your lives you are surrounded by free men and women."

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Drown of Stockbridge, the coed's parents, told Judge Sweet they were "satisfied" with the sentence.

Allied Forces Battle Fiercely For Large Dam

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied forces driving to the misty southern banks of the big Hwachon reservoir battled furiously Tuesday to wrest control of Korea's third largest dam and power-unit from the Chinese communists.

The Reds held on tenaciously but at heavy cost. By nightfall the Chinese still retained control of the 880-foot-long dam, six miles inside North Korea and 55 miles northeast of Seoul.

Move Toward Dam
AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw, at the reservoir, said elements of an American division "led the grim parade" toward the big dam.

Eighth Army censors deleted the remainder of Bradshaw's dispatch after this brief indication that a bloody struggle was in progress.

Mist Hides on Water
Bradshaw was able to report that a thin mist hung over the murky blue waters of the reservoir as allied troops moved forward.

While the major fighting Tuesday was along the central front, allied patrols in the west encountered increasingly bitter resistance as they probed into Chinese defense positions.

Heavy communist fire also stopped allied attempts by South Korean paratroops to cross the Imjin river on the extreme west flank of the allied line northwest of Seoul.

Sending More Troops
Intelligence officers said the Chinese were sending more troops into the western sector.

Check Planned On Deferment Question Ads

Firm Possibly 'Fly By Night,' King Says

Dean of Students Tom King yesterday warned men of draft age to be wary of circulars they may receive advertising sale of questions "typical" of those on draft aptitude tests.

King received a circular Monday, and is checking to find if the firm offering them is reputable. There is a possibility, he stated, that the firm might be a "fly-by-night" organization, which would send only a few questions.

The circular advertises satisfaction or refund of the money.

The offer is "perfectly legal," King said, since the circular offers questions typical of those on the draft exam, and not actual questions from the test.

King asked men receiving advertisements of this type to bring them to his office to check the reliability of the firm before sending any money.

Fireman's Day Draws Crowd

Several hundred people are expected to attend the Fireman's day meetings at the Union today, according to Arnold-Hettner, state fire marshal.

Speakers scheduled include Ernest Kopietz, Lansing fire marshal, and Charles Decker, assistant fire marshal, who will discuss the recent state office building fire in Lansing.

At the luncheon Frank Burns, Grand Rapids fire commissioner, will tell about the international fire chief convention to be held in Grand Rapids this summer. Hugh Fischer, Lansing fire chief, will discuss the coming meeting of Michigan fire officials.

Max Whall, of the MSC vocational education department, will speak on fire department training for undergraduates.

Soph Scrapbook Ready for Convo
A fresh-soph scrapbook containing pictures and news of all the activities of the class of '53 has been prepared for the Big Ten freshman-sophomore class officer conference. The conference is a part of Fresh-Soph weekend to be held May 11-13.

Duane Vernon, president of the Fresh-Soph council and Don House, sophomore vice-president, prepared the scrapbook. The book will be continued through the junior and senior years of the class.

Two Children Still Missing
No new leads were turned up yesterday in the search for the two three-year-olds missing in Lansing since last Wednesday, according to Capt. Charles Stragier of Lansing police.

The police are continuing dragging the Grand river and are following all possible leads. Dynamiting of piles of debris in the river Monday failed to produce any clues, Stragier said.

The children, Sheila Klugman of Lansing and Barry Stone of Detroit were last seen on a bridge over the river. There is no conclusive evidence that they drowned, however.

The parents and friends of the family have offered rewards totaling $2,000 for the safe return of the children.

Police Hunt For Suspect In Murder

Lansing Shooting Remains Unsolved

The main suspect in the fatal shooting of a Lansing man Friday night was still at large last night as police continued to check all clues.

Police said a man wanted for questioning in the shooting of LeVerne G. Rose, 32, a factory worker, had left Lansing and was believed headed for Texas.

But word was received that the suspect telephoned a Lansing friend at noon yesterday from St. Louis, Mo.

Suspected Return
The friend said he told the suspect that he was wanted for questioning, and suggested that he return. But the suspect would give no answer, saying "I'll be seeing you."

Detective Captain Charles Stragier said the suspect and another man had checked out of a Janesville, Wis., hotel Sunday afternoon, presumably continuing their trip to Texas.

Possible Struggle
Rose, the victim of the shooting, was found near a West Saginaw street bowling alley at 11:27 p.m. Friday. He was pronounced dead a few minutes after arrival at St. Lawrence hospital.

A bruise on Rose's knee indicated he might have fallen during a struggle. Powder burns on the victim's clothing led police to believe the gun was pressed against Rose.

Rose Motive Discarded
Police discounted robbery as a motive for the shooting. Rose had $44 in his pockets when found.

Meanwhile, officers continued rounding up parolees, ex-convicts and others under suspicion.

Board Sub-Committee Members Given Awards
Awards were presented to 58 members of the Union board sub-committee for outstanding service by Doug Morse, retiring vice-president, at the award banquet last night.

The new officers of the board of directors were introduced at the dinner. The president, Ward Ouradnik, Ann Arbor junior, gave a short address. The vice president is Bob Distan, Detroit junior, and secretary, Kay Myers, Allegan sophomore.

The retiring board of directors were honored with awards. The officers were as follows: President, Robert Ernst, Grand Rapids senior; vice-president, Douglas Morse, Grand Rapids senior; and secretary, Barbara Kunkel, East Lansing senior.

Education committee members who received awards were: Margaret Davis, East Lansing senior; See BOARD, Page 6

Act Follows Policy Row

Gen. Ridgway Assumes Supreme Command Post

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman early today forced General Douglas MacArthur from all his commands.

The President said he had concluded that MacArthur "is unable to give his wholehearted support" to United States and United Nations policies.

Mr. Truman immediately designated Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as MacArthur's successor as supreme commander, allied powers, commander in chief, United Nations command; commander in chief, far East; and commanding general, U.S. Army, far East.

In a statement, Mr. Truman asserted that "military commanders must be governed by policies and directives of the government and in time of crisis, this consideration is particularly compelling."

The President appointed Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, to succeed Ridgway to take over active command of the Eighth army.

Announcement of the almost unprecedented dismissal of the hero-general was made at a rare news conference at the White House at 1 a.m. The time was fixed to coincide as nearly as possible with the delivery to MacArthur at Tokyo of the order relieving him of his commands, "effective at once."

The White House released, with the President's statement, a memorandum purporting to show differences between MacArthur's statements and action and presidential policy.

The President's order, telegraphed to MacArthur over the army network, was brief and pointed:

"I deeply regret that it becomes my duty as President and Commander in Chief of the United States military forces to replace you as Supreme Commander, Allied powers; Commander in Chief, United Nations command; Commander in Chief, far East; Commanding General, U.S. Army, far East."

"You will turn over your commands, effective at once, to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. You are authorized to have issued such orders as are necessary to complete desired travel to such places as you select."

"My reasons for your replacement will be made public concurrently with the delivery to you of the foregoing order, and are contained in the next following message." (This referred to the President's statement.)

The President's action came as the aftermath of a series of differences with MacArthur over policy in the far East and raised prospects that MacArthur might return to this country to deliver a series of blasts against the administration, probably under auspices of Republican supporters of the general.

"The nation owes him a debt of gratitude for the distinguished and exceptional service which he has rendered his country in posts of great responsibility," the President's statement said.

"For that reason I repeat my regret at the necessity for the action I feel compelled to take in his case."

Truman Snubs Legion Backer Of MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman handed a pointed rebuff yesterday to American Legion Commander Eric Coker, Jr., supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's side in the row over far east policy.

Coker had an appointment to lay his views before Mr. Truman, but the White House cancelled it, explaining that Coker had already told his story in the press.

At the same time he announced plans to visit the White House, Coker said in New York Monday that he fully supported MacArthur's call for use of Chinese nationalist troops to set up a second front in the Asiatic war. He backed up the general's plea for greater latitude and stronger support in the Korean fighting, with a statement that MacArthur's hands are tied by administration policies.

bles. The entire chorus hits the tempo in good time with "Show Business is a Fine, Fine Thing."

The Hawaiian number in the troupe sequence goes off in fine form. Retake needed for the dance group in the original "It's Great to Create" background of hammers for tempo and business with paint brushes is speeded up.

Directors get mixed as Chuck, Ed Duncan, the director in the rehearsals and Danny Simpson, Dionysians' director (also the convincing Prof. Sexy Sigmund Sexton) yells at luncheads to get the blazes where they belong.

Several actors cut trails among the audience. Spots catch Zip the Producer, Clyde Adler snoozing in a formerly dark corner and General Hershey confuses the main aisle for a parade ground. More original stunts, but see them for yourself.

The hellzapoppin scene in the orchestra pit leaves the uninitiated spectators at this rehearsal wondering if this is a rehearsal. Orchestra members turn extemporaneous actors while actors pick out notes on the piano for a revision in their songs.

Peg Mowrer, as Wilhelmina, comedy lead, gets a round of applause after her terrific novelty tune, "What's Wrong With Me?"

Simpson brings the players back to their cues with epithets, and business settles down to finish rehearsal with the grand finale.

Dim the house lights. Actors, places! Start the spots. Okay, curtain! And "Script Tease" hits the boards.

Hemans Placed On Probation; Pays $1,000

LANSING (AP)—Charles F. Hemans, former lobbyist, former regent of the University of Michigan and confessed briber of legislators, was sentenced to five years in prison yesterday and then placed on probation.

He was assessed court costs of $1,000.

The sentence was imposed by Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville in the Ingham county circuit court, where for most of seven years Hemans made some of Michigan's most sensational news.

He was the star witness of the Carr-Sigler graft grand jury, testifying to bribing legislators in his hotel bath room. His word sent scores to prison.

Then he was the witness who refused to put on the record secret testimony which had led to the indictment of lawmakers and bankers accused of a draft conspiracy on the anti-branch banking bill.

Then he was the rebel witness, brought back from Washington, D.C., to serve a four to five year federal sentence for fleeing the state to avoid testifying.

Then he was himself accused by the grand jury of paying a $200 bribe to former Rep. George O. Harma of Atlantic Mine in 1941. He pleaded guilty to that charge and it was in that case he was sentenced yesterday.

Judge Dehnke said, "After reviewing all the factors in this case, the court believes that you should be given the benefit of the doubt. Justice would not be served by a further prison sentence."

would be if passed.

Long-winded committee reports about how the committee operated would disappear from council meetings replaced by the more direct information, what people thought about the proposals under consideration.

In short, the new rules are a modified version of the legislative process used by state legislatures and the national congress. They are adapted to handle the peculiar situation of parallel government of students that exists at Michigan State.

Ag Board Fair Rule in Day

By JIM SMALLEGAN

It looks as though the State Board of Agriculture may lose its share of power in directing the annual Michigan state fair.

Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) has introduced a bill asking that complete control of the fair be given to the state fair board rather than have the Board of Agriculture take an equal part in the planning.

It is supposed that such a measure would eliminate the amount of confusion that usually results in the fair's planning.

Senator George Higgins' (R-Ferndale) bill to raise the ceiling on state corporation taxes from a maximum of $50,000 to $350,000 brought out a strong argument on the floor of the senate yesterday. It seems to be the opinion of some of the senate that the ceiling should be raised completely.

One of the arguments for no ceiling on the taxes is that it is unfair to small corporations to have to pay a relatively large percentage of their profits for taxes while large corporations would only have to pay a maximum of $350,000.

The bill will be up in the senate tomorrow.
