

Vote Yes on Constitution

The polls today Michigan State College students are to approve the new constitution for all-college student government.

The students are casting their ballots, the MSC faculty is discussing approval of the constitution. If the students vote "yes" and the faculty approves the constitution, the State College will have a new constitution tomorrow.

They have said before that the constitution is not perfect. It is a compromise. Neither the students who voted for more than two years to frame it, or the administration, are completely satisfied with it. It must be passed. It's a great improvement over the old constitution. It stands as one of the greatest achievements of student leaders on this campus so far.

It is on record in favor of the new constitution. But, your constitution, therefore you, the student body, approve it.

They also urge the faculty to approve the constitution. Grant the students the right to solve their own problems through their own representatives who will be elected today.

Students, get out and vote today. Vote for your constitution and show your leaders you are behind them. Prove to the administration that you want student government. The old red brick building will have a greater respect for large and your representatives in the student government chambers.

Brute Nine Drubbed Broncos, 12-5

By STAN KURZMAN
The continuation of sloppy fielding by the Michigan State team and the hitting of Western Michigan's Jack was easily enough to give the Broncos a 12-5 win at Old College field.

WAKE REPORT STIRS MacARTHUR DISPUTE

Allies Score Big Victory over Reds

Heavier Assaults Expected by UN

TOKYO — (AP)—A great allied victory in the first round of the communist spring offensive was proclaimed Wednesday. But even heavier Red assaults are expected.

"The enemy has failed in the first phase of his offensive," said Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, allied ground commander in Korea.

He has paid a heavy price. The first part of the battle has ended in a great victory for the United Nations.

General Van Fleet cautioned: "The (Reds) has the capability of hitting again as hard as before or harder. I am confident the results will be the same."

The battle on the battlefield moved into its fifth day Thursday. Five allied task forces, grouped north of their lines on the western and western-central sectors. They met little or no resistance.

Since sending their infantry masses heading into the offensive April 22, the Chinese and North Korean Reds had suffered an estimated 75,000 casualties against furious allied resistance.

The main body of UN forces, poised with the punch, then dug in.

The allied line swung back from parallel 38 to about 30 miles southward on the western and western-central fronts, then curved north-eastward to points above the parallel on the east coast.

Van Fleet announced last week an unexpected decision to defend Seoul, the rubble of the allied line in the west. That meant UN troops would stand with their backs to the Han river, curving around the city.

This stand, backed by artillery masses, halted the Red rush on Seoul.

Campus Chest Banquet Slated

F. A. McCartney, agency supervisor of the Equitable Life Assurance society of Lansing, will be the principal speaker at the Campus Chest kick-off banquet.

The banquet, which will inaugurate Campus Chest week, will be held May 7 at 6 p.m. in the People's church.

McCartney has taken active part in Community Chest work for more than 25 years. He is at present a board member of the United Community Chest of Ingham county and the United Health and Welfare fund of Michigan.

Approximately 160 Campus Chest workers and personnel are expected to attend the banquet, according to Carl Mottet, executive director.

Viva le Jazz Hot 'Music Calms the Savage,' So They Say

KALAMAZOO — (AP)—Jazz music and excitement galore broke out at Kalamazoo college at 1 a.m. yesterday. Coeds in nightgowns danced on dormitory porches. Male students milled about on the campus green.

Jazz tunes boomed loudly from the amplifiers in the tower of Stetson chapel at the Baptist institution. Usually only chimes and religious music come from it.

The red-hot jazz was so loud in fact, that it woke up many westside Kalamazoo residents. Some thought neighbors had left on their radios. Others suspected spunkies had parked under their windows with radios going.

Police finally found the seat of the trouble, turned off the amplifier, and confiscated the jazz record. Then they turned their attention to herding students back into dormitories.

The night-lad boys beat a hasty retreat as boys joined cops in flashing lights on the porch dancing scene. When the last of the girls had gone in, the boys went home.

Then the police turned their attention to solving the mystery of who was the nocturnal disc jockey.

Seniors to Don Caps, Gowns for Swingout

Seniors will don their caps and gowns for the first time at the forty-first annual Senior Swingout May 8.

Led by the MSC band and senior officers and council members, the gown parade will start off from Agricultural hall at 7:30 p.m. Dick Szepski, Swingout chairman, announced.

The parade will continue around campus picking up class members stationed in front of their respective schools. When the last school is picked up the parade will go to Fairchild theater for the Swingout program.

Schools will enter the march in approximate order of their establishment at MSC. Seniors are asked to be in front of their respective schools by 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

First picked up will be graduates of the schools of agriculture.

Book Jobs Open

Anyone interested in applying for staff positions on the 1952 Wolverine should contact Lincoln Stegman, business manager, or Dwaine Polzin, editor, within the next week.

Engineering graduates will be picked up next in front of Olds hall followed by the Home Economics school in front of the Home Economics building.

Business and Public Service graduates will join the parade next in front of Morrill hall.

The parade will continue to the Natural Science building where Science and Arts graduates will fall in, followed by Veterinary school graduates in front of the Veterinary hospital.

President Hannah to Speak
At the program in Fairchild, seniors will hear their last formal address by President Hannah. He will also award two $100 scholarships to the two seniors having the highest point averages.

Also included in the program will be a welcoming of seniors to the alumni organization by Starr Keenler, director of alumni relations.

51 Club Announced
A special feature of the program will be the announcement of the 51 seniors chosen for membership in the "51" club, which will serve as the nucleus of the class's alumni activities.

The class will elect their alumni officers for a five year term. In case of rain, seniors are asked to go directly to Fairchild theater at 7:30, Szepski said.

GOP Fights Secrecy in Senate Hearings

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The MacArthur-Truman dispute blew wide open again yesterday with the release of a secret report on the Wake island meeting and a Republican drive to force an open hearing for General MacArthur's explanation of his Asian policies.

Developments came in rapid-fire order: (1) GOP senators fought to strip the secrecy from MacArthur's testimony today before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees. As the senate met in night session, Democrats tried to block the Republican move and keep the hearing behind closed doors.

(2) A report from the joint chiefs of staff quoted MacArthur as telling President Truman last October at Wake island that he did not believe the Chinese Reds would enter the Korean war. The general also was represented as saying that "Soviet Russia had no ground troops available for Korea but could put 1,000 planes into combat."

Report Released
The secret report was released by the senate armed services and foreign relations committees. It was labeled as the "substance of statements made at Wake island conference." MacArthur also was quoted as saying "no commander in the history of war had more complete and adequate support from all agencies in Washington than I have."

A story telling about the report was published recently by the New York Times. Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who will preside at today's hearing, subsequently asked for the report and requested Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, to tell how it was compiled.

Gen. MacArthur had said no stenographic record was made of the Wake island conference, but Bradley said a stenographer in an adjoining room took down part of the conversation. Other parts of the report, he said, were based on longhand notes made by various officials who participated in the conference.

Bradley—who was at Wake—said five copies of the report were sent to MacArthur 12 days after the Wake meeting.

No Record?
Bradley said in a letter to Russell: "To my knowledge, since that time we have received no information from General MacArthur or his headquarters that would indicate any non-concordance with the record of the conference."

Before this development broke, Secretary of State Acheson, shortly backed the administration's defense moves in pre-war Korea. He told a news conference the government had carried out all but one of the recommendations made in 1947 by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer.

Exemption Given
This single exception, he said, was the creation of a South Korean scout force staffed with American officers. Instead, a U.S. military mission helped the South Korean set up their own force.

On the other hand, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, senate Republican leader, told newsmen: "The administration policy seems to be to keep the doors closed."

Capitol Comments: Deadline For Action

Finance Problems Loom for Lawmakers

By ARNOLD SPILLER
State News Capitol Reporter

Uncertainty reigns under the capital dome as legislative finance committees face the deadline for action on state appropriations.

It is axiomatic that before you spend your money, you should know how you will get it. Yet nobody knows how much the state of Michigan will have in its coffers next year.

The past two years have seen the state going steadily into the red to the point where even the most die-hard opponents admit further taxation finally admits the necessity of new taxes to maintain essential state services.

The past two years have seen the state going steadily into the red to the point where even the most die-hard opponents admit further taxation finally admits the necessity of new taxes to maintain essential state services.

The problem has been to agree on what form new taxation should take. The legislature has passed around the question since January, but as yet no single tax bill has been presented to the governor for signature.

Meanwhile appropriations committees have the task of drawing up Michigan's budget. Their problem and the budget is still hanging from it is pointed out by the fact that with but one day remaining in which to make its report, the house ways and means committee is still holding discussions with officials of MSC.

College Secretary Karl H. McDonald and Comptroller Philip J. May met with the committee Wednesday and are slated to continue today.

Information on what the majority Republicans plan to appropriate for the college and other state agencies is entirely speculative.

Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing) says he is as much in the dark as the Democrats are. As one seasoned newsmen stated it: "There have been many flashes during this session but appropriations are going to be the biggest of all."

Rising building costs are putting the squeeze on the state's capital improvement projects. Since hostilities started in Korea building cost increases of "about 30 per cent" prompted state Controller Robert Stearman to ask for a substantial increase in the request of Wayne university from what was going to be a $3 million medical school.

MSC's request for a $4,250,000 new library simply demonstrates how costs have spiraled upward.

The projected new state office building will probably require a further legislative authorization when bids are taken, according to Steadman.

However, the college's new veterinary structure will stay within its $2,400,000 authorization without curtailing the project's scope. Comptroller May yesterday stated that the work is on a firm contract basis and most materials have already been ordered.

MSC to Give Cooking Class This Summer

A two-day course in barbecuing chicken, sponsored by the continuing education department, will open on May 15.

The reason for the course goes back several years.

For the past dozen years or more, MSC extension poultry specialists have staged chicken barbecues in different parts of the state.

The idea went over so well that the MSC men couldn't handle the job. They decided they would train men in the areas to help cook for the 5,300 people who attended the picnic each year.

Now the school has been set for this May, when as many as 25 persons can be trained.

J. M. Moore, extension poultry specialist, will head the training program.

They use heat from burning charcoal to cook the halved birds for two or three hours. A wire grate is placed over the fire and raised or lowered as necessary.

More information concerning the program can be obtained from the continuing education service.

English Journal Honors MSC Prof

Prof. A. J. M. Smith, of the English department, has been appointed American editor of the Essays in Criticism, a journal of literary criticism published by Basil Blackwell, famous publisher of Oxford, England.

A quarterly publication, it is the only periodical devoted entirely to literary criticism and is edited in England by F. W. Bateson, lecturer in English at Oxford University.

The initial issue of January was sold out and has been reprinted.

Smith, who received the Canadian Governor-General's medal for poetry in 1943 said that leading American and Canadian lit-

Even Birds Sleep Later

"The early worm catches the bird"—or something like that. At any rate in order to take Ornithology 303, you have to be an early worm.

The class meets two days a week, Tuesday and Thursday from 7 a.m. (yes, a.m.) to 10 a.m. Sometimes it is 6 a.m., if the weather is real nice.

The object? Why to look at birds, naturally.

The course is designed to study characteristics and the development of different kinds of birds. The students, approximately 150 in the class, go around with binoculars staring at the sky to spot our feathered friends. Their theme song is "Up in the Air Junior Bird Man."

After all the birds have been exhausted on campus, the students travel outside of Lansing and East Lansing to common bird-hangouts. One of the good spots is Lake Lansing.

Home Demonstration Work Pays High but Requires Skill

If you want a well-paying job which gives a lot of personal satisfaction through the public service you perform, don't overlook a career in home demonstration work.

That's the advice of Mrs. Leona MacLeod, head of the Michigan State College home economics extension service. Mrs. MacLeod adds that although salaries are high for home demonstration agents, the demand too is always large.

Better Living

As part of the total educational system of the state, home demonstration agents have probably done as much as any other group to show the people of the state better ways to good home and family living.

This field stresses personality of the woman rather than the amount of advanced college work," Mrs. MacLeod said.

The job requires long, indefinite hours; a variety of different skills—from demonstrating cake baking to writing newspaper articles, and a pleasant, patient personality.

County Agents

Home demonstration agents are employees of the land-grant colleges but their headquarters are in the county buildings of the various counties of the state. Each agent is responsible for all home economics extension work in her county.

RETAILING BUSINESS Asks for Women

One of the largest businesses in the world is the retailing industry. It is a world of opportunity for women.

Women have the physical stamina, the right personality and the training to succeed in the retailing business. In fact, the retailing business is one of the few fields where women are as well paid as men.

Mrs. A. N. Thompson, president of the National Retailers Association, says that today's retailing business is a world of opportunity for women. She says that women are better suited to the retailing business than men because they have a better understanding of the needs of the customer.

She says that women are also better suited to the retailing business because they are more patient and more understanding of the customer's needs. Netters Aim for Third Straight Big Ten Win

The Michigan State tennis squad will go out for its third straight Big Ten dual meet win this afternoon at Ann Arbor when they meet their traditional rival, the Michigan Wolverines.

This match, the first of three the Spartans play on a weekend road trip, will be their biggest test so far this season. The result should go a long way in determining the Big Ten champ.

The Wolverine netters are always tough, whipping MSC twice last year, 7-1 and 5-4. Last week Illinois handed Michigan its first loss in 28 dual meets. Leading the 1951 Wolverine contingent are Al Hetzeck and Steve Bromberg.

Spartan Coach Tom Martin will probably use the same line-up that has carried the team to three decisive wins so far in the regular season. The lineup includes singles men Len Brose, Dave Mills, John Sahration, Ken Kimble, Keith Kimble and Dick Rieger. The doubles starters probably will be Brose and Sahration, Mills and Keith Kimble and Rieger and Ken Kimble.

Close Season This Weekend

The Spartan gymnastic squad will wind up the 1951 season Friday and Saturday in the annual National AAU championships in Detroit's State Fair Coliseum.

Coach George Seypula stated yesterday that tickets can be bought at the Jenison fieldhouse ticket office.

Capt. Mel Stout, State's all-time gymnast, will compete for the last time under the Green and White banner at the meet.

He will be going for the highly competitive all-around title. Already 129 entrants have entered.

Other Spartans that are expected to be in the thick of the running for honors are Bob Feldmeier in the all-around; Ken Cook State's highly-touted sophomore on the flying rings; John Walker on the trampoline; Russ Paul, also in the all-around and Tom Mullineux on the trampoline.

Yale University's baseball team won the Eastern Division title in the NCAA playoffs in 1947 and 1948.

Gridders in for Hard Work

Green-White Fray Nears

Centers, Guards Look Good to Daugherty in Spring Drills

By DALE ARNOLD

Spartan gridders had a vacation yesterday but with the Green-White game just a week from Saturday, work will be hard for the rest of spring practice.

The centers and guards are shaping up well in drills and depth is any indication, should prove to be one of the strong spots on the squad next fall.

In the four seasons that line coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty has been at State, the performance of the Spartan line has been tops and prospects this spring indicate that the standard of past years will be continued.

Centers Not Practicing
The three centers won letters in 1950 are not active in spring practice. In spring practice, Jim Creamer is not working out at all. Doug Weaver had a knee operation last year and cannot take part in contact work. Dick Tamburo is out of spring drills because of an injured foot.

Neal in for Eight
Jim Neal, Muskegon freshman, has taken over the center duties and is doing a fine job but will get stiff competition when Creamer, Weaver and Tamburo return to action.

Two other freshmen who are bidding for the center position are Tom Baer from South Haven and Ferris Hallmark of Grand Blanc.

Garner, Kapral Rated High
Dean Garner and Frank Kapral are presently holding down the number one offensive guard slots. Frank Kapral and Dick Kunk are the defensive guard assignments. Kapral, according to Daugherty, is as good as a dependable offensive replacement.

Kapral was mentioned by Daugherty as doing a good job last fall and appears on the way to an even better season.

Attract Attention
Jim O'Brien, hard hitting Lansing junior, and Ray Kunkowski from New Kensington, Pa. are two other guards who are attracting attention of the coaches.

The defensive play, Daugherty believes, is starting to catch up with the offense and is a noticeable trait in the guards is the desire to be good. He added that the present crop possesses quickness which is an essential in line play.

More Defensive Talent
Bob Bivens who has an injury since the spring and is not in the drills and Don Schiesewich are more strong defensive men.

Two freshmen, Pete Schuch from Bellville, Ohio, and Terry Henderson from Royal Oak are making bids for guard honors and may figure in next season's clashes.

May See Action
Fred Bely from Annapolis, Md., also has done well in the rugged practice sessions and may see much action in the future.

Coach Daugherty is not overly optimistic about the guard situation.

Development comes only by practice and repetition, he stated, and although things are looking better in practice, the real test of any football player comes under actual game conditions.

George Mikan, America's No. 1 basketball player, was the marquee champion of Will County, Ill. when he was ten years old.

Broncos Score Four
Howard lasted until the fourth when the Broncos added four more runs to their total. He was replaced by the ace right-hander of the Michigan State staff, Bob Carlson.

Two walks, two singles, and a double led to Howard's downfall. Carlson put the fire out in the inning after he loaded the bases on a walk and single.

Baldwin Homers
Carlton was taken out by Kobs after the sixth. Baldwin finished his home run with a homer over the 320-foot marker in left-center.

Errors by State first baseman Bob Ciolek and second baseman Jack Hefetter gave Western Michigan three more runners.

Left-hander Don Quayle finished the game as the State pitcher and looked effective in spots. In the seventh inning he retired the side on just three pitches.

The Broncos scored twice off him in the ninth on three infield singles and another error by Ciolek.

Carlton, Vince Masi and Ciolek shared hitting honors for Michigan State with two hits in four times at bat for each. It was Masi's double that was the big blow in the three-run third inning.

Friday and Saturday the Spartans play their first two games. Iowa will provide the opposition in what will probably prove to be two tough games for Michigan State.

DETROIT — Joe Louis tipped into the ring and won an unanimous 10-round decision over lanky Omelio Acramonte of Cuba last night. It was the fifth win in Joe's comeback drive.

Pinch Singles Win in Tenth for Tigers
DETROIT — Johnny Grish's tenth-inning single broke up a battle of pinch-hitters as the Detroit Tigers edged the last-place Philadelphia Athletics 4-3 here yesterday. Only 2,723 fans showed up.

A moment earlier, pinch-hitter Pat Mullin had swatted a one-run single for Detroit to tie up the game.

And in the ninth, with Detroit leading 3-1, Philadelphia rookie Lou Lemberg walked his second pinch-hit home run this season with one on and two out to send the game into extra innings.

And finally, Detroit's starting pitcher, Harold Newhall, bowled out for 4 innings. Rookie Ray Hebert relieved Newhall in the tenth and won his second game without defeat.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service says skunks eat enough eggs of snapping turtles, which prey on ducks, to outweigh the number of ducklings they kill.

Elections to Choose New Student Council

Will Work Under New Constitution if Approved by Students Today

By PHIL GUNBY

Today a new Student council will be elected. New representatives and those returning from this year's council will be faced with the task of carrying through many projects undertaken in the 11-month-21-day life of the 1955-56 Student council.

If the constitution which will be voted on today meets final approval and goes into effect, the new council, or congress, as it would then be called, would hold the responsibility of putting it into operation.

Plan to be Tested
The recently adopted plan of legislative pattern reorganization which molds council legislative business in the formalized but efficient form of the state legislature will be tested by the incoming group. The plan was in effect briefly toward the close of the present council's life.

Future student government will watch closely the efforts of the "Five Year Plan" to end discriminatory clauses in all campus organizational documents. The council rule states that action must be taken by October of 1956.

Numerous Projects

The drive to obtain new uniforms for the MSC band, publicity for a new fight song, and an attempt to change campus driving regulations will employ the efforts of numerous councilmen, if these projects are to be continued.

Council review of executive committee action by such groups as the Displaced Persons board is a required duty.

Much of the action hitherto performed by council committees will be re-delegated under the new system. This includes consideration of possible legislation, investigation of pertinent grievances, and the general conducting of council business.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife service says fur-seal work in the Pribilof Islands has netted $11,500,000 since the government took over conservation of the seals in 1910.
