

Reds Suggest Calling Truce Talks at Panmunjom

Many persons in Tokyo believed the Allied command might accept this location but reject a companion Red proposal to extend the Kaesong neutral zone to include Munsan, United Nations "peace" camp 14 miles southeast of Kaesong.

Another likely point of disagreement was the Red demand that the full armistice negotiations be held at Panmunjom at a time when the Allies were pushing an autumn offensive in west-central and east Korea.

Panmunjom, which means in Korean "the inn with a wooden door," is a cluster of a few shacks where liaison officers have met frequently during the Kaesong talks since they were broken off by the Reds Aug. 23.

Technically, Panmunjom thus does not quite fulfill Ridgway's requirement that the Reds designate a new conference site in "no-man's land." However, it is only a mile from Songhyn, no-man's land village which Ridgway suggested Sept. 27 and which the Reds rejected Oct. 4.

In replying to the Communists that same day, Ridgway asked them to pick any other location between the battle lines which would be acceptable to him.

The response Sunday night, signed by Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai and North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung, repeated their contention that Kaesong was all that was acceptable.

Storybook Finish Gives Michigan State Last Minute 24-20 Win Over Ohio State

'Greatest MSC Game,' Says Munn

Yewie Hits Dorow for Winning Tally

By GEORGE WEEKS

"One of the greatest games of all times," exploded Coach Biggie Munn after his Michigan State Spartans snatched a 24-20 victory from the rugged Buckeyes Saturday in the OSU horseshoe stadium.

After watching MSC put on a superb scoring show in the final minutes of a near-unsettled, the 82,640 spectators were inclined to agree with Munn. One fan, John A. Hannah, MSC president, exclaimed, "Of all the proud games in State's history, this is the proudest."

What made the "great game" even greater was a spectacular storybook play that had Al Dorow on the receiving end of the first collegiate pass thrown by sophomore Tom Yewie.

Trailing in the final two minutes of the game, MSC came through with some football wizardry that will be long remembered in Spartan history as the play that gave them a well-earned and hard-fought victory against one of the toughest opponents they've ever faced.

On the OSU 28, the ball was snapped to Evan Sloane in the fullback slot. He blasted toward the line in a fake plunge, handing off to Dorow. Dorow whipped a belt high lateral to Yewie, running from the left half spot out toward the right flat.

With the entire Buckeye defense sucking toward him, Yewie gracefully flipped a 50-yard crossfield pass to Dorow, who had scamped behind the left side secondary. Eleven yards and two amazed OSU defenders stood before the Spartan quarterback and victory. Dorow catwalked along the sidelines, sidestepped one would-be tackler and outran the other to cross the stripe, maximizing a game that enabled the gallant Spartans to protect their rating as one of the nation's top grid teams in the nation.

By refusing to fold when it appeared they were down and out, the State gridders stretched their winning streak to eight games.

Throughout the first three quarters, Ohio State's passing power was able to maintain a slight edge over the grinding ground attack of the Spartans. Then, trailing 20-10 going into the fourth period, MSC turned the tables.

Rex Corless intercepted a pass and the Spartans started downfield with Leroy Bolden, Dick Pann, and Billy Wells making small off-lack gains. The State ground attack started to sputter. With the defense tightened up to stop running thrusts, Quarterback Al Dorow flicked five completed passes, the last one into the arms of Paul Dekker in the end zone.

Capt. Bob Carey, injured earlier in the game, limped back on to the field to convert. Time started running out as the Buckeyes received the kickoff, still leading 20-17 with five minutes to go.

Blood Typing Program to Start in Shaw Today

State's blood typing program will get under way this morning at West Shaw Hall.

A five-member team will be present from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 3 to 8 p.m.

Heading the team will be Shirley Johnson, a registered nurse who is now a junior at MSC. Assisting her will be Mrs. Rose Austen, practical nurse; Mrs. Ruth Scott and Mrs. Gloria Durant, clerks; and Mrs. Kathleen McCauley, receptionist.

The program is part of an all-state drive under the Michigan Civil Defense Act. The $500,000 appropriated by the State Legislature will be used to type every resident of the state.

On campus the program is being sponsored by the Green Helmet, sophomore men's honorary. Helping the organization will be AWS, Men's Council, Spartan Women's League, Tower Guard and Blue Key.

The importance of the campaign is stressed by the fact that no one can receive a transfusion or donate blood until his blood type and RH factor are known. In case of emergency, the time taken getting this information could be too great to save the life of the person needing the whole blood.

The local blood bank supply is very low. Only 50 pints are available in the Lansing area. If this supply were used in an emergency, no more would be available for 72 hours. Typing students at MSC would give the college a walking bank that would be invaluable in a major disaster.

Students should have their blood type taken for their own protection if for no other reason. Besides giving them a plastic tag to carry, the Civil Defense Office will give a master list with all their names to the college hospital.

Veterans Leaving School Must Pay for Supplies

Veterans dropping out of college may be required to repay a reasonable value of training supplies released to them under PL 346, according to R.C. Yerkie, veterans affairs accountant.

Requests for repayment will be made if the Veterans Administration considers the reason for dropping was a fault of the veteran.

Payment requests are now being issued to those currently interrupting their course, but as time and work loads permit, the VA will consider all who have ever interrupted or discontinued their training, Yerkie added.

Resignation of Democrat, Republican Chairmen Asked

WASHINGTON —(P)—Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) and Americans for Democratic Action called separately yesterday for resignations from William M. Boyle, Jr., and Guy D. Gabrielson, the respective chairmen of the Democratic and Republican National Committees.

The Republican senator and the "New Deal-Fair Deal" ADA, seldom on the same side of a political fence, used much the same arguments in urging both party leaders to get out.

Both took the position that the chairman's usefulness has been impaired in the Senate investigation of charges that they exerted political influence in loan dealings with the reconstruction finance corporation.

Although both Boyle and Gabrielson have denied any wrongdoing, Nixon and the ADA used almost identical words to say they should step down in the interest of restoring public confidence in the integrity of national leaders and government officials.

After that, however, the two statements diverged.

Nixon said he saw "no evidence of illegality or moral turpitude in the actions of either Mr. Boyle or Mr. Gabrielson in so far as the facts developed to date in the investigations are concerned."

The ADA took a sterner view: "Though they (Boyle and Gabrielson) may have stayed within a strict reading of the law, they have unquestionably abused their power for private advantage. The moral rehabilitation of the parties must begin at home."

Buildings Enjoy Prosperous Era

The 70-story Bank of Manhattan Building at 40 Wall St., one of the tallest downtown structures, is fully occupied for the first time in 20 years with an annual rent roll reported at $3,600,000.

John H. G. Bell, president of the building corporation, reports the 815,000 square feet of office space is rented at an annual average of $4.42 per square foot, with some tower leases bringing as much as $6. This equals the rate of some of the newest skyscrapers in the Midtown.

Nation-Wide Tests to Select 2,000

Competitive examinations for a Navy-sponsored college education under the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps program will be held throughout the country on Dec. 8, the Navy has announced.

Some 2,000 applicants who pass the aptitude test will be selected to enter the program at the beginning of the 1952-53 school year.

The program is open to male high school seniors and graduates who are citizens between the ages of 17 and 21, and are physically qualified.

The NROTC course covers the normal four year college period and pays for tuition, books, normal fees and pay of $50 per month.

Applications for the program must be in by Nov. 17. Application forms are available at high schools, colleges, Navy recruiting stations, and Naval Officer Procurement offices.

French Film Fairchild

Story of three World War veterans—two French and one American—during the latter part of the story, of "Grand Illusion," a French film to be shown in Fairchild Theater tonight and 9.

The story revolves around the French officers, who are sent to a prison camp in Germany, and a German officer, who is proper of the prison.

The officers, though fighting for opposite sides, have mutual respect for each other, because they are all soldiers.

The story moves excitingly through the adventures of the officers as they try to escape from the prison and return to their native country.

Michigan Boards Move to Center

The association's office located in Ann Arbor.

Reason for the change that East Lansing's central office will save board members of hundreds dollars a year in expenses.

H. Sixma, Muskegon, newly appointed, field secretary for association will locate his new office adjacent to offices of MSC's Public Education Service in center.

Snow-Flurries Hit Michigan

The snowfall followed rain that began to fall early in the morning. By evening, there was a ground cover of wet snow.

The weather bureau in Detroit said there were snow showers at Houghton and Marquette. The weatherman said there might be some snow flurries in the upper peninsula and northern part of the lower peninsula early Monday morning.

Visibility in the Cadillac area was poor all day because of the heavy falling wet snow, most of which melted as it hit the ground.

Dr. Wilma Brewer and Dr. Dena Cedraquist, associate professors of foods and nutrition, will give papers before the ADA on recent research.

White House Nears Completion

WASHINGTON —(P)—Senators had assurance yesterday that the remodeled White House will not look like a dance hall, not a royal palace.

They also learned that President Truman and his family probably can move back into the redone executive mansion early next year after more than two years away from it.

All of this was told behind closed doors to the Senate Appropriations Committee before it recommended spending another $261,000 on the reconstruction which began Dec. 7, 1949.

Congress previously voted $3,500,000 for rebuilding the entire interior section of the White House.

ADDITIONAL $261,000 REQUESTED

The additional funds are needed, Senators were told in testimony made public yesterday, because of increased costs of material and unexpected delays.

New foundations were installed 24 feet below the old foundations, 10,000 cubic feet of dirt excavated, all furniture and furnishings were removed and renovated. The interior size of the building will be increased by 54 per cent.

Senator Ellender (D-La.) questioned the increase in original cost estimates, a transcript of the Senate hearings showed.

Maj. Gen. G. E. Edgerton, director of the reconstruction in charge of the renovation, assured the senator "there is no royal elegance in the building."

"It is keeping with dignity, but there is nothing of elegance in this building that is not equalled in many, many a private home throughout the country," the General added.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), chairman of the purchasing committee and a member of the commission that directed the White House renovation, broke in with this comment: "It is not of a dance-hall variety."

Edgerton said three or four more months of work remain and there may be delays, but he promised it would be completed early in 1953.

How About It?

The football team representing Michigan State this year is probably the best in the nation. It may well be the best ever to represent the Green and White on the gridiron. The rest of the season will tell.

Well and good, but we wonder if the students know they exist. You would never be able to tell if school spirit was the lone criterion. That the team's spirit is exceedingly high was shown by its great comeback last Saturday.

Where is the backing a team like this should get? It wasn't there when the team left for Ann Arbor for its traditional game with the Wolverines. There wasn't a single student there to see them off. There was an improvement last Friday. Five people turned out to see them leave for what looked like, and turned out to be the game of the week and probably the year. Among the five people were the wives of Coaches "Biggie" Munn and "Duffy" Daugherty. What an improvement!

Yesterday could have meant a great deal. It didn't. There was a reception planned for the team members when they returned from Columbus. Munn and the other coaches weren't notified. The net result was that the athletes were taken directly to their homes and therefore there was no reception.

We don't know what's going on. We wish we did. Is there a deliberate plot to keep the student spirit down because certain people are afraid it will get out of hand?

We can have student spirit without having it turn into destruction of property and inconvenience to innocent bystanders. College students can and should be mature individuals. If they aren't they don't belong at MSC or any other college.

We're not calling for rioting or fanatical demonstrations. We just want YOU to let the team know you're behind it. How about it?

Same Old Thing

The Michigan State marching band put on a very well executed performance at last Saturday's football game. It should have been good, because this is the second week in a row the performance was staged by the band.

With such a tremendous football team in the nation's eyes it seems rather ridiculous to send 90 members of the band on a special train over 250 miles to flaunt themselves in front of 82,640 fans with the same performance those same fans may have heard over the radio or watched on the television screen last week.

The question arises: How many would know the difference with the two stadiums so far apart? The game was seen by approximately 6,500 Spartan fans, many of whom saw last week's game at Ann Arbor. Then there were 17 radio stations in the state alone who broadcasted the game—many of whom broadcasted the game last week.

It's no wonder the radio stations in this area didn't open their mikes to the Spartan band during the half-time but eagerly put their mikes on the field when it came time for the OSU aggregation to display their wares.

Knowing now what the case is we wonder why our band didn't stay home if they had nothing new to offer and let the Ohio State band perform for a longer period of time. At least their performance was something new.

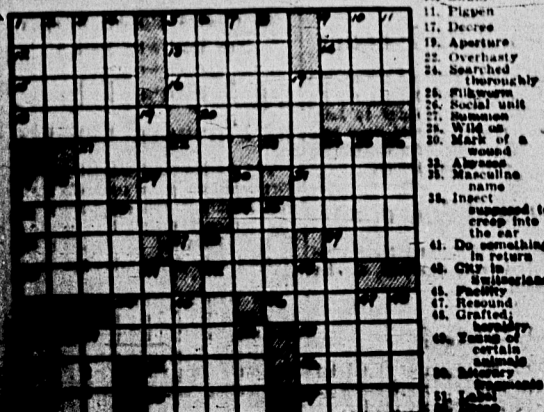

None of the other Big Ten colleges operate in this manner. Why should we?

With new uniforms coming up for the band, plus the good music they play, there is no reason why they can't be rated as one of the best in the land.

Now is the time for the directors of the band to learn their lesson. Let a word to the wise be sufficient!

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Readers Call for MSC Mascot

TO THE EDITOR:
Inasmuch as the Spartans of this illustrious agricultural haven are now wishing their tails in the faces of the nation's top football teams, we deem it only proper that our halftime entertainment be as spectacular as our team.

Since we are nationally noted as the cow college, why not show that the cows have really come home (with three blue ribbons)?

After an extensive survey of the cow farms, we found our bovine friends enthusiastically in favor of demonstrating their prowess on the football field next Saturday. Therefore, why not let one of our cows make her debut between halves at the game? All she needs are ribbons, green and white banners, and the cheer leaders as escorts to parade her around the field. Possibly the band might play "Cow-Cow Boogie."

Munn Congratulated for Magnificent Job

TO THE EDITOR:
Via this letter I would like to personally convey my highest regards and praise to Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn for the magnificent job he has accomplished in the present and past football seasons.

Granted that he has had the best material with which to work; yet, together with his excellent staff, Biggie Munn has been most instrumental in bringing State out of comparative obscurity and into national prominence. As it has been stated before, "Michigan State has come of age and into its own" . . . all through the efforts of one man's guidance and aggressiveness.

Last season's record speaks for itself, and coupled with State wins over Oregon State and Michigan, the faculty, student body, and alumni can well be proud of their football team now and for many seasons to come.

When Michigan State can trounce highly-touted Michigan 28-0, many people are to be congratulated. But in my opinion, the credit is due one man . . . Coach Biggie Munn, Roses, and beautiful bouquets of them, to you Mr. Munn.

Mossadegh to Defend Iran

The special plane carrying Mossadegh and his party was to make one more European stop, at Shannon, Ireland, before taking off on the long trans-Atlantic flight.

When the aged and ailing premier reached Rome earlier yesterday, he was grimacing with pain and trembling with nervousness. His son and physician, Dr. Gholam Hossein Mossadegh, said his father probably will stay at a private hospital while in New York except for his appearance before the security council.

Latvian Choir Performs at Local Church

The Latvian Choir, "Shield of Sons" was called back for several encores by an enthusiastic audience last night at the People's Church Vesper Service, sponsored by the Christian Student Foundation.

Verners Vitins, former judge of Riga, capital of Latvia, now a member of a law firm in Grand Rapids, was the guest speaker. "We sing," he said, "not just because we enjoy it, but also as a reminder to the free world what can happen if it is overrun by tyrannical nations who believe in slavery."

The choir, composed of some 60 Latvian LP's, presented a concert of Latvian songs and folk songs in Latvian and English.

Organized in Camp Valke, a concentration camp in Germany near Nuremberg, in 1945, by Conductor Arnold Kainaj, the choir first sang to American servicemen in Germany.

Vitins spoke of conditions and sufferings in the Baltic states under Russian rule, and ended with a plea for the free countries of the world to stop these injustices and make the world a place where all people are free.

Janis Loumanis, minister of the East Main Methodist Church of Kalamazoo, noted of Latvia, explained, "You can't destroy people that love freedom and liberty. They need their songs even through the iron curtain, to hope that one day freedom will ring through the Baltic states and all the world."

The Latvian choir has presented 90 concerts in America, 57 in Michigan. Their next concert is in Grand Rapids, Oct. 27, where they will present a program of songs by Witols, noted Latvian composer who died in exile in Germany in 1948. The same concert will be given in Kalamazoo, Nov. 4.

V's Down Selfridge Field, 40-0

Zagers Sparks Team With Three TD Runs

Michigan State's Junior Varsity football squad, led by Halfback Bert Zagers who scored three times on runs of 74, 70, and 23 yards, opened its 1951 season with a convincing 40-0 victory over the Selfridge Air Force Flyers Friday afternoon at the Athletic Field.

The Jayvee defensive unit was just as impressive as it broke through time after time to pile up plays an dump intended passers for sizable losses. In fact, the Selfridge Field team never got out of its own territory during the first half and penetrated the Spartan JV's ground only once during the game.

State opened the game by kicking off to the visiting service eleven. Three plays later the Jayvees were in possession of the ball on the Flyers 31 yard line, thanks to the alertness of Jack Edwards, defensive end, who pounced on a Selfridge fumble.

On the next play Fracassa dropped back and tossed to Right End Chuck Fairbanks in the end zone for a touchdown. Bert Zagers converted to give MSC a 7-0 advantage.

In the second quarter the JV's marched 65 yards in a sustained drive, with Matsock, Postula and Zagers picking up the yardage. Zagers scored the first of his three TD's when he hit his own right guard position and raced 23 yards for the score, doing a nice job of open field running. Jerry Lutzader split the uprights to put MSC ahead, 14-0.

The third Jayvee touchdown came four plays after Selfridge had been forced to punt after receiving the kickoff. With the ball resting on the 26-yard line, Zagers hit the right tackle slot, headed for the sidelines and then outraced the Flyer's defensive backs for a 74 yard jaunt. Lutzader again converted, giving Devine's club a 21-0 lead.

MSC's Junior Varsity opened the second half with Fullback Louis LaHood returning the Air Force kickoff to the 40-yard stripe. On the next play, Right Halfback Bernie Raterink went off right tackle 60 yards for another TD. Lutzader again converted, State now leading 28-0.

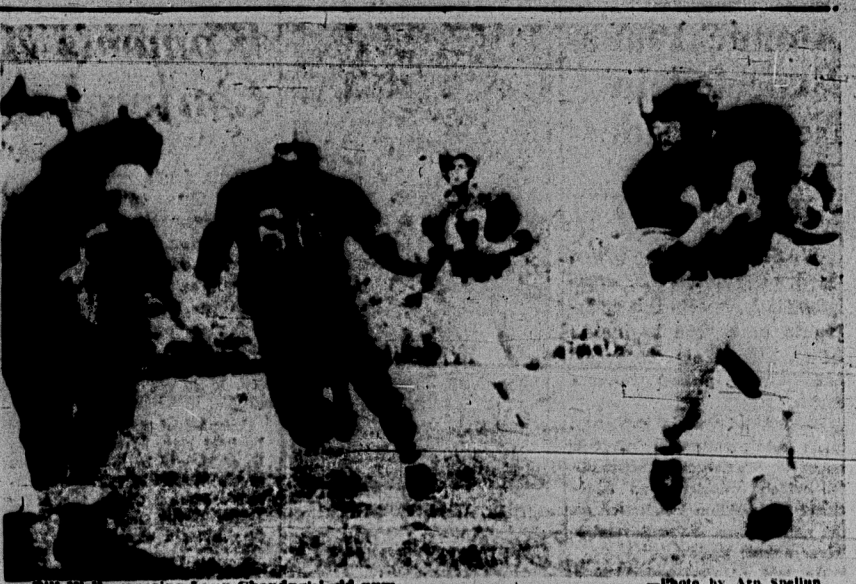

It didn't take the JV's long to score again. After the Flyers received the kickoff following Raterink's run, they were again forced to punt, this time from their own 30.

Zagers gathered in John Peterson's punt, faked a handoff and then scooted 70 yards for another Michigan State score, aided by some beautiful downfield blocking. Lutzader's attempted conversion was wide, giving the Jayvees a 34-0 advantage.

A clipping penalty on the punt return moved the ball back to the MSC 31 yard line. Fracassa then let loose with a pass to Frank Matynowski that was good for 38 yards. Raterink then moved the ball down to the Flyer's 20 yard line on an 18 yard sprint.

Fracassa again drew back his

Michigan State took the kickoff and the Ohio State 11, stalled off in one of the defensive stands of the game. Then Jim Ellis ran a Janowicz back into OSU territory. McCulliffe slammed over a play put the ball on the line. Carey converted, the Spartans a 10-6 lead.

Ohio State just 12 plays in the lead in a drive that saw receiving a 40-yard smash giving six yards for Janowicz. Janowicz also converted the extra point. The sixth Ohio State out in the game.

Rain Alters Stengel's Plans, Reynolds to Pitch for Yanks

NEW YORK. —(AP)— A cold, drizzling rain bathed the Polo Grounds yesterday, postponing the fourth game of the World Series and altering the entire picture of the play-off between the Giants and the Yankees.

To the National League champions it was just a mess of water which got them wet and forced their ace, Sal Maglie, to chomp his cigar in frustration at having to wait another 24 hours to get at the Bombers.

But to the Yanks, a game down in the money series and their pitching staff out of kilter, it was a lovely precipitation. The rain enabled Yankee Manager Casey Stengel to place his second-line hurlers, Tom Morgan and Johnny Sain, gently back on the shelf and announce, with beaming satisfaction, that Big Chief Allie Reynolds will be out there on the hill again.

Reynolds was knocked out in the opening game last Thursday, but he plainly was having bad trouble with his control on that occasion. It doesn't figure to happen that way twice in succession to a flinger of Allie's stature, to a blaze-em-down guy who delivered two no-hitters in the regular season.

Capt. Bob Carey's stock for All-American honors shot upwards after the game, although the Charlevoix flash was out of action most of the second half because of a bruised thigh. He caught four passes in spectacular style for 50 yards at crucial times during the first half when the ground attack bogged down. Besides kicking three extra points, he kicked a field goal that was the final margin of victory.

The winning touchdown play, called the trancontinental, is as old as the well-known statue-of-liberty play. It was a favorite during Tom Harmon's regime at Michigan.

After the exhausted MSC squad flopped on the benches in their locker room, they bowed their heads for 30 seconds in a prayer of thanks. Biggie said in a TV broadcast Sunday, that he was glad that at a time of wild excitement after winning, the boys were still thoughtful enough to offer thanks.

Munn especially had praise for his pony backfield that caught fire during the last half to pull the game out of the Buckeyes' grasp. Biggie kept repeating to the press after the game, "The kids deserve all the credit. They never gave up."

Across the field in the quiet OSU locker room, Coach Woody Hayes was slumped over his desk before a large gathering of reporters. When asked if State had a great team, he said, "It wasn't such a great team as a well-coached one. They had the kind of offense that eats you up if you don't watch it." Shaking his head, he said, "You know, it's funny, we thought MSC's weak passing defense would win for us. Instead it was our pass defense that beat us." State was thoroughly scouted before as was shown by the number of diagrams of State plays covering the OSU locker room.

When asked what player for State made the best showing, Hayes quickly snapped back, "The one that made the last touchdown." He added, "We took a terrific beating the first half. The boys really beat their brains out." He especially raved about his star back Vic Janowicz who proved to be the third largest crowd in OSU history that he is a bona fide All-American.

Lions Tangle With Yanks

DETROIT — Professional football will make its first and only night-time appearance here for the 1951 National Football League season when the Detroit Lions tangle with New York's Yanks tonight in Briggs Stadium. Kick-off is at 8 p.m.

Originally scheduled in Yankee stadium as part of the home-and-home series between the two teams, the game was shifted to Detroit because of baseball's World Series. The Yanks will return to Detroit for their second game October 21.

Both teams opened their league campaign a week ago in contrast. Coach Buddy Parker's Lions came from behind three times to defeat Washington 35 to 17. New York found the going rough in losing to the National Conference defending champions Los Angeles, 54 to 14.

Atomic Planes Expected in Next Decade

Official Tells House Committee

WASHINGTON, — (AP) — Gordon Dean, top U.S. atomic official, expects this country to have "the beginning of an atomic air force (atomic powered planes) within a decade."

His forecast was in testimony, made public yesterday, before a house appropriations subcommittee which considered an additional $484 million installment on the multi-billion dollar Savannah River atomic project.

He told of development of a "whole family" of atomic weapons that already are affecting Pentagon planning on what armed forces this country should have and how they should be used. He disclosed plans already in the making to teach troops about atomic war in the field.

Dean, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was asked if he could foresee in the next decade an atomic air force.

"I think in the next decade you will probably have a plane in the air the power for which comes from a reactor," Dean replied. "If the people who run that plane and service it on the ground are the air force which is referred to, I think you will have the beginning of an atomic air force within a decade."

Dean was asked if he meant that one plane and the crew to operate it would be the beginning of an atomic air force. He replied yes.

Dean, in his appearance before the subcommittee, was more detailed than in his speech in Los Angeles Friday in which he made it official that this country has atomic tactical weapons. That means weapons for battlefield use against troops.

Dean testified before the subcommittee on Sept. 27—exactly one week before the White House announcement that Russia had exploded a second atomic bomb.

Women's Armed Forces Conference Proposed

By MARGARET FULLER

Plans for a conference between leaders of the women's armed forces and high school and college women were proposed Saturday at the fall conference of the Michigan State Association of Deans of Women and Counselors of Girls.

Dr. Deborah Bacon, dean of women at the University of Michigan, suggested the armed forces conference. She explained that the armed forces plan to start a national campaign Nov. 11 to get 72,000 women to enlist.

Purpose of the conference to be held Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at U. of M. will be to give leaders of the W.A.C. WAVEs, the Women's Marine Corps, the Army Nurse Corps and other military units a chance to explain the type of women the groups want and opportunities offered to women in the armed forces.

During World War II a total of 300,000 women served in the armed forces. However, the total enlistment at any one time never exceeded 200,000, Dr. Bacon pointed out.

AWS will send a delegation to the conference, Sue Merriman, Judiciary-Board president, said Saturday. She pointed out that the question of women in the armed forces came up last spring at the Intercollegiate AWS convention at Purdue.

In response to the controversial issue the convention passed a resolution "that delegates to AWS convention stimulate discussion on the issue of compulsory reserve training programs, civil and military, for women on their individual campuses."

The Armed Forces Conference is a direct result of the American Conference on Education national conference held recently in New York, Mrs. Isabelle Gonon, counselor for women, explained. She said action would probably be taken to cover aspects of the conference, including the home, health and welfare, citizenship, education, creative leisure and economics.

Dr. Sarah Van Housen Jones, member of the State Board of Agriculture, was the main speaker Friday night when a report on the American Conference on Education conference was presented.

Also reporting on the conference were Dr. Marie Dye, dean of the School of Home Economics; Dr. Lois Calhoun, head of the Anatomy Department; and Mrs. Isabelle Gonon, counselor for women.

Miss Bathie Stuart, world travel series lecturer, addressed the Saturday luncheon session. Miss Beatrice Fessenden and Miss Gertrude Tew of the Counseling Center, had charge of demonstrations for the high school and college counselors.

Concluding the two-day conference was an address by Judge Paul W. Alexander of the Lucas County (Iowa) Court of Common Pleas, division of domestic relations and juvenile court. He spoke on "Women's Role—We Start Today."

Movie Tour Starts Today

George Murphy, Hollywood actor and tap dancer, will replace Walter Pidgeon, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star suffering from near pneumonia, in the kick-off of the "Movie Time in Michigan" campaign.

Pidgeon is expected to join the troupe for the last part of its tour through the state.

Governor G. Mennen Williams and Mayor Ralph Crego will welcome Murphy and nine other filmland celebrities on the steps of the capitol at 10:30 a.m. today for the program's beginning.

Following the governor's luncheon at the Lansing Country Club, the Hollywood personalities scheduled to arrive in Lansing last night, will leave for Detroit.

Appearing with Murphy will be Steve Cochran, who played in "Jim Thorpe, All-American," "Storm Warning" and "There's Another Day." Gale Storm, Paramount Pictures star, and Mary Anderson, character actress.

Others are Kenny Baker, singer; Vincent Minelli, MGM director; Steven Longstreet, screen writer; Willis Goldbeck, producer-director; and Cindy Garnet and Yvette Dugay, Hollywood starlets.

Gov. Williams has proclaimed Oct. 8 through Nov. 10 as "Movie Time in Michigan Theater." The nationwide celebration is in honor of the golden anniversary of the first American motion picture theater.

MSC Conference to Discuss Aid for Handicapped

Physical disabilities will be the topic of discussion at an MSC conference Oct. 7, 8 and 9. About 200 people from throughout the state are expected to attend, but the convention is open to all interested persons.

About 45,000 Michigan people with physical disabilities, including the blind, the hard of hearing, victims of accidents or of crippling diseases, and even psychiatric cases, need special attention.

The conference will be held in the new Kellogg Center under the joint sponsorship of the Michigan Rehabilitation Association and the college's Continuing Education Service.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, superintendent of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, will be one of the principal speakers. Problem areas that will be studied include medical service, training and placement, and personal adjustment.

Ridgway has declined to send his negotiators back to Kaesong, where futile talks were held July 10 through Aug. 22. The Reds finally "broke them off, accusing the Allies of many violations of the neutral area. The Allies denied all but two accidental and harmless violations."

Even before the tedious quarrel over neutrality violations broke out, the negotiators had been deadlocked since July 27 on the very first armistice question: where to draw a cease-fire line and buffer zone.

The Reds insisted it be on the 38th Parallel, old prewar boundary of North and South Korea; Ridgway's team insisted it be on the present battleline, which is
