

Spartans Picked Second in AP Poll

Tennessee's Vols Edge State in Balloting; California Falls

By The Associated Press
Michigan State's Spartans, who were third in last week's poll, climbed a rung in the ladder yesterday to nudge into runner-up spot behind Tennessee's powerful Vols. After their 32-21 win over Penn State last Saturday, the Spartans were assured of second position when California upset Cornell's Golden Bears. The Bears, who were given an out-of-date rating, were still given an out-of-date rating.

Government's Job

Editor's Note: A large number of letters to the editor prompted The State News, after careful consideration, to take the stand printed below. We would like to point out, however, that The State News was NOT the instigator of the idea of a mascot for MSC. A letter to the editor started the ball rolling.

There has been much talk of late on the prospect of a mascot for MSC. Judging from the letters to the editor and talk going about campus, there appears to be considerable interest in the issue. The controversy seems to have settled right now on the dispute over whether or not we should have a cow for a mascot.

People are asking what became of "Sparty Boy" (the calf scheduled to be paraded at the Marquette football game). Others wish he had never been mentioned.

The basic issue is not whether MSC should have a cow for a mascot, but whether or not MSC should have a mascot at all.

If the students at Michigan State College sincerely want to have a mascot, whether it be a cow, a peacock, or a Spartan, we certainly feel they should have one.

The first question, of course, is: Do the students want a mascot? The second: How can we find out whether they want one? We must answer the second before we can get to the first.

Our suggestion is that if students really want a mascot, they should go to their Student Government representatives, tell them they want a mascot, and tell the representatives to do something about it.

If enough constituents harass enough representatives and it becomes evident that there is sufficient interest in the question, we believe the Student Government will put it up before a student vote. Then and then only, will we know whether MSC students really want a mascot.

If you want a mascot, tell your representative. Get behind him, push him, and see that he does something about it.

This can also be a test to see how well represented the students are in the Student Government and whether the Government on hearing from its constituents, will take action.

If the students want a cow for a mascot, let's have one. But let's find out first if we really want one.

Queens, Queens, Queens

Well, here we are, in the midst of another Queen time, MSC. The human body, female, is thrust before us on every quarter. And you can't kid us, you love every minute of it.

But while you're in the middle of all that pulchritude we would like to take a minute and consider the means of selecting MSC's queen of queens, the one for Homecoming.

We're satisfied with this year's selection. She typifies the legendary idea of a slick chick, something to take home to mother, or the good old American girl.

But we don't like the manner in which she and the Homecoming queens of the last several years have been chosen.

Here's how the system works: Each women's living unit puts up a candidate for Homecoming queen. From these candidates, five are chosen as finalists. These are selected by a board of impartial judges, who are picked by the Spartan and Kappa Alpha Mu, co-sponsors of the contest. Pictures are taken of the finalists, and these are sent to the humor magazine of the school MSC is playing at Homecoming. The final selection comes from there.

This system sounds fine on paper, but this is what happened this year.

The judge's panel had only one member from outside MSC. The Spartan and KAM say this was due to a mixup in plans, but the judges should not be representative of any MSC group. Only one picture of each candidate was sent to the University of Pittsburgh for final selection. These photos were all taken by one photographer, also an MSC student. Under the original plan, at least three pictures were to be sent away for judging.

The pictures were not taken with similar backgrounds, and the coeds didn't have on the same type of clothes.

The point is this — if someone wanted to be partial, push an old flame or a distant cousin, it would all be a simple matter under this system.

How about having a commercial photographer taking the pictures? We have plenty of good student photographers, but they too often know one of the candidates and may be inclined to take a better picture of her than of the others.

Keep campus wheels off the board of judges selecting the finalists. There are plenty of impartial males or females outside the campus who are also good judges of beauty.

And as one last point, how about giving MSC's male population a voice in selecting the candidates? This could be accomplished through an all-campus vote, or votes for candidates from men's dorms and fraternity houses.

Just a few thoughts, sit back and relax; and bring on the queens.

Football Polls

By Herman Graulich
State News Editor

After five weeks of following football results I've come to the conclusion that there isn't enough football polls. They aren't even published often enough. Going still farther I find the poor little small schools just don't have a chance for national recognition.

Since football fans all over the country love to watch these polls and take great stock in the results I think it is only fair that we give them more to watch. Under the newest of all new polls even little Slippery Rock Teachers will have a chance to share the headlines with the nation's best.

Here is the new system. The first thing to be done at the beginning of each football season will be to get cards with the names of all football-playing schools in the country. Then we'll take these cards and divide them into ten equal piles. Each day we'll pick ten cards out of each pile. These teams will, in the order picked, represent the ten top teams in their division each day. On Sunday we'll take the 600 cards selected during the week and select from these the top 100 teams of the week. It should give the Sunday morning quarterbacks plenty to talk about over their coffee.

Of course as a grand finale we'll pick the 1,000 best teams in the country at the end of the season.

Anybody can see that this will decide absolutely nothing. It isn't supposed to. The present polls are supposed to decide something. We haven't quite found out what it is they decide.

If this system doesn't work out we might as well throw it out . . . along with the other so-called polls.

Editorially West to East

Herschell Hart, radio and television editor of the News, points out in his column that the people of Michigan will not see MSC on television at all this year. Under NCAA plan to test the effect of television on game attendance, the game here with Notre Dame will be telecast only to eastern network stations. The protest is that the game is a sellout anyway, and that the University of Michigan plays away at Cornell, so whose attendance would be hurt? However it appears that the NCAA season ruling won't be altered, so you'll see it in person or you'll have to go east to see it on TV.

Weight Reduction Diet Study Movies Slated for Showing Wednesday Night

Movies of the diet study made by the Foods and Nutrition Department at Michigan State College will have its first all-college showing this evening at 7:30 in the Little Theater of the Home Economics Building.

The film, entitled "Weight Reduction Through Diet" put out by the National Dairy Council, shows coeds in their process of losing two pounds a week.

Coeds taking part in the test of the diet ate at a special table for several months. The program cut the girls' daily intake from 2,300 calories per day to 1,600 calories. Despite the cut the girls reported no hunger while on the diet.

Home Ec Club to Distribute UN Cook Book

"The World's Favorite Recipes," a United Nations cook book, will be distributed by the Home Economics Club next week.

Sponsored by the American Home Economics Association, the cook-book contains favorite recipes from all countries, according to Marilyn Dressel, Ann Arbor senior. The recipes were assembled by the National Civilian Committee of the United Nations and have been kitchen tested and edited by the AHEA.

"It was planned by AHEA," said Miss Dressel, "because of the marvelous success of the college clubs throughout the country in celebrating UN Day last year."

Bound, illustrated copies of the cook book will be sold in the lobby of the Home Economics Building. Miss Dressel stressed the fact that students other than Home Economics majors were also welcome to purchase the books.

Proceeds from the sale of the cook books will go to the International AHEA headquarters.

The fund has aided students from other countries to study home economics here and on other campuses in the United States.

Officers of Alpha Phi Sigma, police administration honorary, are President, Myron Wisniewski, Brooklyn senior; secretary, Joanne McDonald, Detroit senior; and treasurer, William Brown, Mayfield junior.

Juniors to Hold Smoker

Prospective J-Hop-committee chairmen and members will attend a smoker Thursday evening in Parlors B and C of the Union.

More than 350 junior class members will attend the affair scheduled for 7 to 8:30 p.m. The smoker is open to those who have been in petitions for committee memberships last week, according to Duane Vernon and Jody Burlingame, dance co-chairmen.

Chairmen of last year's J-Hop committees will be present to give pointers to interested junior classmen.

This year's chairmen will be chosen by the co-chairmen and junior class officers. All will be picked from those attending the smoker. Complete choice of committees and their chairmen will be announced next week.

Past experience, interest shown at the smoker, and extra-curricular activities will be criteria for picking members.

The committees are decorations, programs and favors, broadcasting, publicity, entertainment, tickets, refreshments, patrons, band, finance, and theme. Work will begin as soon as committees are reported, Miss Burlingame said.

YMCA Meeting to Feature Football Movie

The student YMCA of Michigan State will hold a general meeting tomorrow to acquaint the student body with the functions of the organization. All men students attending MSC are invited to attend, according to Les Dobbin, director.

The meeting, to be held in Room 32 of the Union at 8:30 p.m., will have as its theme "The YMCA in Action."

The program will include a panel discussion on various committees in the "Y," and will also feature a movie highlighting some of the major football games of the past year.

John Clingerman and David Hostie, vice-president of the "Y," are chairmen of the event.

The Navy plane NC4 stopped at the Azores on the first trans-Atlantic flight in 1919.

Elaine Fiffeld and David Blair will dance "The Nutcracker" Nov. 1 at Michigan State in the second night performance of Sadler Wells Theater Ballet here. The company is touring the United States with a repertoire of 15 works, 12 of which are new. The 50 member company will present "Coppelia," "The Nutcracker," "Pineapple Poll," and "Harlequin in April" in their MSC performances Oct. 30 and Nov. 1.

Students Get Bird's Eye View of Chinese Lore, Culture

An evening of Chinese culture was provided for members of Dr. Shao C. Lee's class, Asia, Its Peoples and Cultures, Monday at the International Center.

Treasures which Dr. Lee brought from China including paintings, teakwood articles, ivory, jade, mother of pearl, antique vases and wearing apparel were shown to the group.

Mrs. Lee served cookies and jasmine tea, Chinese style, in cups without handles. Background was provided by Chinese recorded music.

Water color paintings of Dr. Lee's parents, who were high officials in the monarchy before the Republic, were shown to the students. The paintings, on rice paper mounted on silk, look like embroidery. Usually a bowl of water is placed nearby to keep the paper from cracking.

Another treasure which attracted much attention was an olive pit carved into a boat carrying more than two dozen men. Doors on each side of the inch and one-half long boat-open showing a man inside.

Eggshell porcelain vases, so thin that water must be inside to see the design, china teacups and saucers, porcelain vases were also viewed.

A carved ivory ball, with ten carved balls inside attracted much attention and is typical of the patience and beauty shown in Chinese articles of art, Dr. Lee said.

Exchange Dinners Slated for Tonight

Three exchange dinners and one dessert are scheduled for tonight. Chi Omega and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Epsilon Pi and Kappa Alpha Theta, and Beta Theta Pi and Kappa Kappa Gamma will dine together.

Sigma Chi will entertain Alpha Gamma Delta for dessert.

East Yackley and Abbot, West Shaw and North Campbell, Snyder and North Williams, and Gilchrist and East Shaw have planned exchange dinners for tomorrow night.

Dance Instruction Night Changed

Dance instructions sponsored by the Union Board will be held on Thursday nights instead of Tuesday beginnings tomorrow.

According to Etoile White, Director of Union activities, the change is due to the unavailability of an instructor for Tuesday nights.

Theta Sigma Phi's J-Council representative is Mona Hood, Dearborn junior.

Sadler's Wells to Stage Four Ballets Next Week

Sadler's Wells Theater Ballet, now on a six-month tour of the United States will present performances at Michigan State College Oct. 30 and Nov. 1.

The company will present four works which they staged for the Festival of Britain. Elaine Fiffeld and David Blair will star in "Coppelia" Oct. 30 in the Auditorium.

The work is a full-length three act version of the famous classic, staged for the first time in nearly 20 years.

"The Nutcracker," featuring Tchaikovsky's well-known music will begin the Nov. 1 performance. It is a new production by Cecil Beaton with choreography by Frederick Ashton.

In addition, the 50 member company will present two new productions. Gilbert and Sullivan's music will be employed for the first time in ballet in the presentation of "Pineapple Poll."

Completing the Nov. 1 show is "Harlequin in April."

Spartan Wives to Hold Meeting

The Spartan Wives will hold their first open business meeting tonight at 8 in Quonset 24, at corner of Birch and Willow.

Several interest groups, to which any member of the Spartan Wives is invited, will get underway this month. The groups are Drama, Bowling, Bridge, Choral, Group Sports, Homemaking Course, and Ice Skating.

The Bowling Group meets at the Union Alley, the Choral Group at the Clubhouse, Mondays at 8 and the Ice Skating Group, to which husbands are invited, at the MSC Ice Arena.

Season News

Cagers Engage in Workouts

King football currently reigns high and mighty on the Michigan State campus, but behind the scenes, the Spartan basketball squad is in its third week of practice.

Busied with the usual pre-season conditioning and fundaments, the 22-man squad is training for its second season in Big Ten competition.

Coach Pete Newell has eight lettermen from which to mold this year's unit. Forwards Lief Carlson, East Lansing senior; Bill Hower, Ft. Wayne, Ind. senior; Erik Purseth, Cleveland, O. junior; and Bill Eckstrom, Grant senior, and Captain Sonny Means, Saginaw senior. The Carey twins of Charlevoix, Bob and Bill, are also award winners. They will join the squad at the end of the football campaign.

Twelve sophomores, three juniors and a senior make up the remainder of the squad. Coach Newell is looking strongly to his young sophomores to fill the holes left by graduating members. Those men lost via graduation are Captain Jim Snodgrass and Ray Steffen, Spartan scorer.

Last week, one of the top second year men, Hugh McMaster, received a severe ankle sprain, which will probably keep him out of action for several weeks.

McMaster's lanky frame and aggressiveness has placed him in a position to fill the shoes of former pivotman, Steffen.

"His loss will definitely slow down the drills," commented Coach Newell on McMasters. While McMaster recuperates, Bob Wright, Hartselle, Alabama, junior and Deneal Hartman, Ft. Wayne, Indiana sophomore, will work out at the center position.

Many Spartan fans recall the freshman squad of last year that performed before the varsity contest. This was a speedy and versatile team. During the coming campaign, the fans will have an opportunity to see these former frosh in varsity colors.

Some of these will be Keith Stackhouse, Bourbon, Indiana; Rickie Ayala, Brooklyn, New York; and Jim Schlatter, Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

Having a younger faster team, the Spartans hope to raise the seventh place standing they recorded in their first conference outing, and create a Green and White unit to be reckoned with by every Big Ten foe.

REX CORLESS

All-State at Coldwater

Corless Aids State Defense

By NICK VISTA

When the defensive backfield assignments were decided by the Spartan football staff, two untried sophomores were given starting positions.

One of these was Rex Corless, outstanding athlete from Coldwater high school, and his performance in the five Spartan games so far has been highly satisfactory.

Entrusted with a difficult job, Rex, along with teammates Jim Ellis and John Wilson have filled the bill in handling offensive threats of Spartan opponents.

"Corless is a very fine athlete, with plenty of natural ability," comments Lowell "Red" Dawson, MSC backfield mentor. Dawson adds, "he is excellent to work with."

Rex had a great career in athletics at Coldwater. He played football, basketball, baseball, and also participated in track. Under Cardinal Coach Floyd Eby, himself an MSC graduate, Rex was a big factor in the fine showings of the Twin Valley conference school during his years in high school.

In his junior year, Corless led the Cardinal squad to the State Class B championship. On the gridiron, he was an All-State selection at a half back post.

The State Class B high jump title went to Corless in 1950. He led the field with a jump of 6'1". Besides track in the spring, Rex also found time to be the leading pitcher for the Coldwater baseball squad.

An older brother, Max, preceded Rex at Coldwater high. He also was an all-around athlete.

As a freshman at State last year, Rex played with the basketball squad in intercollegiate games before all Spartan city home games.

Corless will probably concentrate on trying out for the Spartan baseball squad.

On the football team, he also does some punting and performing at his defensive back post. He is rated the second kicker behind Tom etc.

Of the games the Spartans played to date, Rex had his day against Ohio State at Ann Arbor. He records two American V-Jawbreaker toughest individual opponents has faced.

A physical education, Rex would like to go into coaching field on leaving

Injury Puts Fracassa Out of JV Lineup

Michigan Grid Staff Gets Vote of Confidence

ANN ARBOR.—(AP)—The University of Michigan yesterday gave an unconditional vote of confidence to Coach Bennie Oosterbaan and his Wolverine football staff.

"We believe we have a highly competent coaching staff and athletic administration," said Vice President Marvin Niehuss. "Athletics is being handled as we would like to have it handled."

Addressing a weekly meeting of the Michigan Football Writers Association, the Michigan vice president said he "would entrust my son to the coaching staff with full assurance that he would come back a better man."

Dr. Niehuss said he made the statement regardless of the outcome of present or later seasons. "We are in no mood to listen to criticism on the basis of worst records," he said.

He said he wished he had had occasion to make his statements two weeks ago after Michigan had lost its two opening games.

"We are wholeheartedly in favor of intercollegiate athletics as a part of our life," he said.

Hank Lauricella Named Top Back of the Week

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Hank Lauricella, slight Tennessee tailback who can run, pass and kick—and do all three well—was named back of the week yesterday in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Lauricella, a throwback to the days before football became a game of two platoons and a half-dozen "specialists," has been going well all season for Tennessee, but he reached his 1951 peak in Tennessee's traditional toughie against Alabama. His sparkling performance earned him the praise of sportswriters and broadcasters all over the country.

Lauricella had to be good, however, to top Ollie Matson, San Francisco's wonder boy who proved even better than the raves of those who'd seen him play on the West Coast.

Matson returned the opening kickoff 94 yards against Fordham, and he kept the blistering pace up throughout the game. Matson also stayed in the game when Fordham had the ball, and his jarring tackles helped keep the Dons ahead.

Lauricella did just about everything you'd ask from a single wing tailback in Tennessee's 27-13 win over Alabama. He ran 34 yards for the third touchdown.

He passed to Bert Reichard for the Vols' first touchdown, gaining a 7-7 tie at the half, and completed four passes in Tennessee's drive to the second score.

He quick-kicked 56 yards to put Alabama on the spot and averaged 40.5 yards per boot.

Matson's offensive show—he also returned a second kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown and added a third touchdown from scrimmage—almost overshadowed his defensive work.

Besides Matson, Bobby Marlow of Alabama, Charles McDonald of Texas A&M, Pat Cannema of Southern California and Roger Zatkoff of Michigan all received votes as defensive backs.

The latter pair were named for their linebacking, and Zatkoff spent most of last Saturday afternoon slowing down or stopping another back of the week nominee, Bill Reichardt of Iowa. The big Hawkeye fullback ploughed for 152 yards through Michigan's line, sometimes with virtually no blockers to help him. His yardage was seven more than the entire Michigan team for the game.

Another star nominated for back of the week was Don Petersen of Michigan.

"Prima Donna"—NEW YORK.—(AP)—You don't find many coaches who are glad to have a "prima donna" on their football teams, but you have to make an exception in case of Princeton's Charley Caldwell. Caldwell says his All-America halfback, Dick Kazmaier, is strictly a "prima donna" and he adds: "Furthermore, I'm glad of it."

Luzader New Signal-Caller, Starting Tailback in Doubt

By TOM RYAN

Michigan State's Junior Varsity football squad continues practice this week in preparation for Friday's game at Arbor with the University of Michigan, minus the services of quarterback Al Fracassa, who may be out for the remainder of the JV season.

State Works Hard for Pitt

Spartans Expect Varied Offense From Panthers

By DALE ARNOLD

A bruised Spartan football squad received no rest from coaches yesterday as the gridders went through a two-hour practice drill, part of the time outdoors in cold, driving rain.

What is to be expected from Pittsburgh's Panthers in next Saturday's Homecoming game at Macklin Field is not known to any of the Spartan coaches.

According to Earle Edwards, end coach, who has scouted the Panthers in three of their games this season, they have a large variety of attacks, running or passing from the double or single wing and the T formation.

"They have a mighty quick runner at left half named Louis Cimarrilli. He weighs only about 165 but he has an average of around six yards a try," Edwards said.

Cimarrilli is a 5'10" sophomore from Bridgeville, Pa., and is hailed as the top running back on the Panther squad.

Jack Morgan, 220-pound tackle who was lost to the squad six weeks ago when he broke a bone in his leg, returning to workouts yesterday, running in the fieldhouse but doing no contact work.

After starting workouts in Jensen Fieldhouse, the offensive team went outdoors, mixing passing and running plays.

"Bogie" Munn, jokingly said that the team's handling of the ball on the cold, soggy field was "better than it was inside."

The Spartans can not afford to be "down" at all this week according to Edwards. "Pittsburgh has lost all their games this season, but against Duke, Indiana and Iowa, it was the breaks that beat them. I think they were as good as any of those teams, but against Notre Dame they were outclassed," he said.

Lowell "Red" Dawson directed the defense against several Pitt plays, shooting at the defenders. "Let's be quick. Let's be on our toes," he said.

Coaches are searching for a replacement for Capt. Bob Carey, injured last week in the Penn State battle. Gene Lekenta of Gordie Serr will probably do the place kicking in place of Carey.

Paul Dekker, Bill Carey, Doug Bobo, Harry Tamburo, Bob Clolek and Bob Graham—all ran through offensive plays at end positions.

Pitt may try to pass their way over the Spartans Saturday. Bob Westwick, the Panthers' top quarterback and ace passer, and Chris Warringer, their number one receiver, will be back in action. Both were out in Pitt's last game.

Local Sailors Win Trophy at Cass Lake

The racing skippers of the Spartan Sailing Club cruised to victory over three other entries at Wayne University's Quadrangle meet held last weekend at Cass Lake.

For their efforts the Spartans brought home the Penguin trophy, by taking up 82 points on cold wind water. Completing the scoring were Wayne 75, University of Michigan 70 and the University of Detroit with 60 points.

Carl Stewart, Grasse Point junior, distinguished himself as an apt skipper by chalking up 11 first places to tie for individual point honors with U. of M.'s Dan McVitt.

Also at the helm were Mack Goodwin, Grand Rapids senior; Marne Griffin, Pontiac junior; Dick Loughlin, Romulus freshman; and Ted Del Solar, Rochester, New York senior.

Complications arose Sunday when two U. of M. sailors ran one of the boats aground. The remainder of the races had to be run on the two basic Good sailboat sportmanship prevailed, however, as no protests were made during the regatta.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel believes the ball kicking incident perpetrated by Eddie Stanley of the New York Giants eventually helped his New York Yankees in the World Series.

Second Big Ten Meet

Badgers Next for Harriers

After absorbing their first dual meet loss of the season, the Spartan cross country squad yesterday afternoon began preparations for their Nov. 3 meeting with the University of Wisconsin.

The team will travel to Madison, Wis., to engage the Badgers, who are defending Big Ten champions, and are unbeaten in the current season.

Although his team was on the losing end of a 19-01 count at Penn State last Saturday, Coach Karl Schlodeman believes the Green and White runners will come along stronger after two more weeks of workouts.

At State College, the Spartans ran against a team that was poised for a peak performance. Running before a large homecoming crowd, the Nittany Lions were not to be denied.

"Coach Chick Weiner's crew was in peak form," according to Coach Schlodeman, and he added, "no one could have beaten them the way they were running that day."

The five-mile course at State College proved to be very difficult for the Spartans. It was their first venture at the longer distance, and, according to Coach Schlodeman, "the boys just were not ready for it."

Three Spartan runners were unable to finish the race. Capt. Jim Keyford spilled a half mile from the finish, while both Jerry Zerbe and Ron Barr dropped out because of side aches.

Spartan sophomore Lyle Garbe, who took runner-up honors, finished with a time of 26:02, 12 seconds behind the winner Bill Ashenfelter.

Mickey Walter's time for his eighth place finish was 28:46. He was second of the MSC team to complete the race.

Freshman Jim Arnold, running five miles for the first time, followed Walter with a 28:55 effort. Wayne Scott took the tenth position with a clocking of 27:00.

Two other Spartan freshmen, Ed Townsend and Jack DeLang, completed the placing for MSC.

The harrier's season record now stands at one win and one loss. Last week, State trounced Purdue, 20-41, in their only Big Ten engagement so far this season.

First Homecoming

The University of Illinois took credit today as incubator of the homecoming game.

The University said the world's first homecoming was held at Champaign-Urbana, Oct. 14, 1910, when Illinois beat the University of Chicago, 3-0, on a first-quarter drop kick.

Illinois said two students, Clarence F. Williams of Cleveland, O., and the late Elmer Ekblaw of Worcester, Mass., first dreamed up the idea in the spring of 1910.

Having joined a campus honorary organization, which they found did nothing, Williams and Ekblaw decided to make something of it. They hit on the idea of a fall return of alumni, built around a football game, which since has spread to thousands of schools from coast to coast.

NCAA and TV

By ALEX LAGGIS

One of the biggest factors concerning open or closed telecasts next year will be the results of the NCAA committee turns in after this year's control program.

The sponsorship of Westinghouse Electric Co. the scheduled 29 games to be telecast over controlled

Michigan State-Notre Dame game was one of the 29. This game will be sent out to the east coast only. The Navy game that same day will not be shown at east but will be viewed in the Midwest.

A program of sending games to select places and out games in certain regions, the TV Committee solve the problem of what effect TV has on gate receipts.

Games are sent out over 52 NBC stations and will extend from coast to coast for the first time in history. Telecasts are limited to seven on Saturday with two Saturdays being blacked out.

NCAA went into action and prohibited TV of college football except those under the test pattern after football took a serious drop in 1949 and 1950. The NCAA find out if TV was the reason for the drop.

A figures show that football receipts at the average support 72 percent of the entire varsity and intercollegiate athletic program. If attendance drops as it did last year, the school's athletic program with it.

A program like the one in operation now should give answers so a program of cooperation between the school and the public can be arranged, and games can be telecast without hurting attendance.

Signing of UN Charter Marked Celebration Dinner Held at International Center

By MARION TUTTLE

Today marks the sixth anniversary of the final signing of the United Nations Charter.

In commemoration of the day, a special dinner featuring the foods of several countries, will be held tonight at the International Center.

About 60 students, representing countries all over the world will attend the dinner and entertainment sponsored by the Center and the Hawaiian Club.

Six years ago today, delegates from 50 nations signed the United Nations Charter at San Francisco. They resolved to "combine our efforts" to make a secure and better world through an "international organization to be known as the United Nations."

The Charter went into effect October 24, 1945. Since then more nations have been admitted, bringing the total membership to 60.

The purposes of the United Nations were set forth as: "to maintain international peace and security, to develop friendly relations among nations based on the equal rights and self-determination of peoples and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen peace, to achieve cooperation in solving international economic, social, cultural and humanitarian problems and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction of race, sex, language or religion, and to be a center for harmonizing the action of nations in achieving these ends."

To fulfill these purposes six principle bodies were organized, including the General Assembly, Security Council, Economic and Social Council, Trusteeship Council, International Court of Justice, and the Secretariat.

To reach this goal of international understanding and good will is also one of the main aims of the International Club of MSC. Here students from 58 nations meet to discuss critical problems facing their people, and to help eliminate misunderstandings and false notions existing about the different countries, according to club vice-president K. L. Narasimham.

The International Club meets regularly on Friday evenings in the Union and welcomes everyone interested to attend the meetings, he said.

Republican Challenges State CIO

Demands One-Man Grand Jury of Poe

By CLIFF WELLS
State News Capitol Reporter

Senator Joseph Cloon yesterday challenged the Michigan CIO to demand a one-man grand jury to investigate the "road lobby."

The Wakefield Republican said he wasn't "going to take sitting down slurs against the honesty and integrity of the state legislature."

Cloon quoted CIO lobbyist Robert Poe as saying last week at a meeting of the Board of Canvassers, "That if a grand jury ever investigated, the road lobby it would make former governor Kim Sigler's grand jury investigation look like a tea party." Cloon said that he had headed the fight for the increased gasoline tax, which may develop into a referendum. "I am proud of that and every other vote I ever cast here," Cloon said. "I am in the CIO doghouse because I voted for a cigarette tax to pay a soldier bonus. That's how patriotic that organization is."

"I am for unions when they are properly run. But when Poe or the CIO insinuates that there is something to be investigated then they should either put up or shut up."

If they have any reason to ask a grand jury there is the circuit court across the street and I'll pay my own way down here to testify. They won't have to send the state police after me."

Poe was in the Senate gallery at the time the only major flurry of the day occurred. He commented after the session that "A bit bird sure flutters." When asked whether the CIO would demand a grand jury Poe replied that CIO officials had the say.

Cloon ended his heated Senate speech by revealing that, "The CIO was against the grand jury which the Republicans put back on the statute books."

Bank Officers Hold Series of Classes

About fifty Michigan bank officers will meet in the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education Thursday.

They will attend a series of nine special classes set up by the Michigan Bankers Association.

The program is part of a three-year course directed by 16 state bankers associations at the University of Wisconsin.

The purpose of the MSC workshop is to help the Michigan representatives with their "homework."

be reopened between a week and ten days, Seyffert said. He had hoped to have his store open by Homecoming this Saturday but doubted the possibility.

The two Lansing trucks left about 3:30 after fighting the fire for two hours and helping get it under control.

The stairway, only entrance to the basement, acted as a chimney, providing a draft to fan the flames and the only exit for the smoke to pour out, Renner said. The intense heat, increased by the burning drugs, cartons and other drug store supplies, melted soldering on pipes.

Drug store fires are one of the most difficult types of fires to fight, the State Fire Marshal said.

TV Show Presents Mexican Talent

Three Mexican guitarists, currently playing a club date in Lansing, appeared yesterday on the TV Development Closed Circuit Show, "Top Talent For Today."

The trio, hailing from Mexico City, volunteered to do the show. They call themselves Los Nortenos. In English it means The Northerners.

"Top Talent For Today" is being produced every other day in connection with classes studying TV direction and techniques. Under the instruction of Jack Fox and Clair Tettner, both of the Speech Department class members work on the show.

Advanced Study Plans for 1952 Urged by Osgood

Opportunities for advanced study in the United States and foreign countries are now open to seniors and graduate students.

"I recommend that students in advanced study in the fall of 1952 make plans now," Dean Thomas H. Osgood, dean of graduate studies, stated. The graduate studies office is in Room 112, Morrill Hall, where the files can be consulted.

Further plans should be discussed with the student's enrollment officer or the head of his department of major study.

Military Head Gives Dates for Draft Test

The registration deadline is Nov. 5 for men desiring to take the Selective Service college qualification test in December, according to Col. Glenn B. Arnold, Michigan director for Selective Service.

Second series test dates are Dec. 13, 1951, and April 24, 1952. Tests are conducted by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J.

Colonel Arnold stressed that students whose academic year will end in January 1952 should apply for the Dec. 13 test in order to have their scores in local draft board files by January.

To be eligible for the test, the applicant must be a Selective Service registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student; must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate leading to a degree, and must not have previously taken the test.
