

Press Association to Tell Plans for Journalism Building

Proposed Structure to Include Printing Plant for Publications

By CONNIE COURTEAU

Michigan Press Association committee will announce plans for a new journalism building at MSC today. The proposal will be presented this afternoon to MPA delegates gathered at the Kellogg Center for their annual convention.

Newsman Meet Kellogg

Williams, Hannah
Scheduled to Speak

Members of the Michigan Press Association, representing 321 weeklies and 51 in the state, will be in the Kellogg Center this afternoon. Newsman will meet with Western press, freedom of information, state and federal government, and their 84th annual gathering.

John A. Hannah and Williams are among non-Michigan delegates who will be in the Kellogg Center. Hannah is president of the Michigan Journalism Hall of Fame and will be presented by A. A. Applegate, head of the Michigan Journalism Department. Hannah will give the state of the press address during the convention.

At 4 p.m. in the Kellogg Center, Mattie, president of the Michigan Press Association, will be opening luncheon. Speakers at luncheon include Russell Williams, chief of the Associated Press, Tokyo bureau; Walter, executive editor of the Detroit Free Press; and William, executive editor of the Detroit News. The Michigan Press Association will be in the Kellogg Center for their 84th annual convention.

Truman May Seek Senate Nomination

'Door is Open,'
President Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman opened the door yesterday to the possibility that he may run for the U.S. Senate next November instead of seeking re-election to the White House.

He gave no indication, however, of how seriously he might be considering such a course.

But he did say, at his weekly news conference, that he expects to announce before the filing deadline for the senatorial primary election in Missouri whether he will try for another term as President. The deadline in that state is April 29.

Asked point blank if he might seek the Missouri seat, Mr. Truman said he could not answer that question.

Then when a reporter asked if that left the door open for the President to campaign for his old seat in the Senate, Mr. Truman laughingly replied that the door was always open in politics.

Mainly it was politics the newsman wanted to know about. And, incidentally, the president told him what he thought about before that he had made up his mind what to do about it and would announce it when he gets ready.

Would he like to retire from the presidency?

Mr. Truman said anybody who ever held that job knows it is the most strenuous in the world.

But he added with a chuckle that he is not tired.

The J-Hop received publicity when a jazz combo entertained students in the Union Concourse yesterday afternoon. Members of the combo are (left to right) Keith Mandell, drums; Roger Hekkins, trombone; Ron Prindle, piano; Tom McMahon, sax; and Joe Mallon who played a rather odd bass viol.

New Board Organizes at Initial Meeting

Members of the newly formed Resource Board held their initial meeting in the Union Building last night.

The board, composed of faculty and student government members, concerned itself mainly with organizational procedures in their first meeting.

The purpose of the board is to further understanding between the students and the faculty in order to solve problems of mutual interest, said Stan Brown, resource board chairman.

Faculty members are: Prof. Russel Nye, head of the English Department; Prof. Paul Bagwell, head of the Written and Spoken English Department; Prof. James Miller, Political Science; Dr. Arthur Jacobs, Effective Living instructor; Prof. Duane Gibson, Sociology Department; and Prof. Gerald Prescott, Botany Department.

Student Congress representatives are: Dave Miller, speaker of the congress; Laurie Fountain, women's corps; Hal Heigson, Phillips representative; Ken Berman, East Shaw representative; and Chairman Stan Brown.

Campus Chest Tells Plans for Solicitations

Plans for Campus Chest solicitations were released yesterday by Paul Botts, solicitation director.

He described efforts to correct last year's errors and improve this year's coverage.

Approximate solicitation pay, April 30, between 35 and 60 cents with canisters will be stationed on campus, compared to about 40 who worked last year.

Those solicitors will be responsible to seven area captains. Botts said.

Living unit solicitations will be carried on throughout the week of April 28-May 2. Dormitories will be covered by campus chest representatives living in each corridor or precinct.

A representative will be chosen from each sorority, co-op, and fraternity to cover their units. Botts said he is aiming at 700 per cent contribution pledges from each sorority and fraternity.

Last year only 42 houses pledged 100 per cent.

Members of the campus chest speakers' bureau will be available for any of the living unit representatives to use in explaining chest functions. Botts reported.

Promise by Communists Could Break Deadlock

MUNSAN (AP)—Allied Truce negotiators hinted Thursday that a simple oral promise by the Communists not to build up Red air power during a Korean truce might break the deadlock on supervising an armistice.

The allied gesture brought no favorable response. The Reds "continued evasive" on this issue, a United Nations communiqué said.

The Red Peiping radio, meanwhile, opened a new round of charges that American planes dropped seven bombs on Manchuria Jan. 19, 20 and 21. The broadcast charged a total of 29 planes flew over Liaoning Province. It said three houses were destroyed and livestock were injured.

Despite lack of progress, armistice negotiators were scheduled to meet again yesterday in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. (AP 8:30 P. M.).

For weeks of stalemate, the Allies have insisted on a ban on air field construction and the Reds have refused, contending it infringed on North Korean internal affairs.

Thursday Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, handling the truce supervision issue, asked the Communists to express "in simple terms" whether they intended to increase their military air capabilities during a truce.

Observers noted that Turner did not use the word "pledge" in posing his question. It is reported a belief by some observers that the UN command might accept an oral pledge from the Communists not to build up air power instead of demanding a written limitation.

Publication of the "Fortnightly Fall" by Dr. Herbert Weisinger, associate professor in literature and fine arts, was announced recently.

The book is a study of the ancient Greek and Roman origins of the patterns of literary tragedy, is the result of his two years of research in England, France, Italy and Greece, while serving as senior research fellow of the Weisinger Institute of London.

Dr. Weisinger has been a member of the Department of English for 19 years and has written more than 30 contributions in the field of Medieval and Renaissance literature. At present he is working on another manuscript slated for publication in 1954.

Two west windows will personify the Freedoms while three windows above the main entrance will symbolize Faith, Hope and Love.

The 12 windows on the east side of the Chapel will illustrate the History of Civilization. Their themes will be: Work, Abundance, Progress, Security, Liberty, Justice, Knowledge, Wisdom, Beauty, Courage, Aspiration, and the Future.

The iconography of the windows has been chosen so that a person of any faith may edify, for meditation, thought, and silent prayer without being offended by symbols of any religion, Breckman concluded.

The Spartan Engineer, MSC engineering magazine, will go on sale Tuesday and Wednesday according to Vera Neilson, editor.

Articles in this issue include "More Power to You" by Paul A. Thompson, vice president of Detroit Edison Co., explaining the electric power industry; "Electrostatic Dyeing" a new dyeing process developed at MSC; and "Ultra Highfrequency Television," published through the authority of RCA.

The magazine will be available at Olds Hall, Electrical Engineering, Agricultural Engineering, Physics-Math Building and the Union Desk.

Tax Collection Overhaul Plan Survives Test

President's Proposal Clears House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's plan for a drastic overhaul of the nation's tax collecting service survived its first test in Congress yesterday.

The House Expenditures Committee rejected a proposal to kill the reorganization program, which would abolish virtually all political appointments to the Internal Revenue Bureau and put tax collection under Civil Service.

Declaring the "overhaul" of our country depends in part on the integrity of its tax collection, Mr. Truman sent the reorganization plan to Congress Jan. 14, in the wake of a series of scandals involving the Internal Revenue Service.

More than 160 tax officials and employees have been fired or forced to resign from the Revenue Service in the last year. The charges ranged from bribery to office misdemeanors.

Some members of Congress received the President's plan readily and Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.), minority member of the Expenditures Committee, sponsored a resolution to reject it.

The report of unanimous action against the resolution indicated that Hoffman did not support it when it came to a vote. Hoffman said earlier, however, that his purpose in offering the resolution was to force a vote by the full house and that he was not contemplating himself to oppose the plan.

Yesterday's vote means the committee will recommend that the house allow the reorganization to go through.

Under the Government Reorganization Act, Mr. Truman's program will go into effect automatically March 1, unless the House or Senate disapprove. Administration leaders are confident that the house will not reject the plan, but there is some doubt about what the Senate will do.

Lifer Flees Prison at Jackson

Convict Believed
Trapped in Ohio

JACKSON (AP)—A lifer, working life term on a 1941 parole, is believed to have fled from Southern Michigan Prison today, according to reports.

The parolee, identified as Fred (Bert) Brown, 45, was sentenced to life for armed robbery in Grand Rapids July 8, 1929.

Police at Ohio, Ohio, telephoned prison authorities last night, reporting they believed they had the former convict somewhere near 1940 on Ohio highway, 19 miles south of Jackson, Mich.

Brown had been working as a trustee at the State Reformatory Department's regional office, a mile and a half from the prison proper. A letter from another inmate, asking the state parole board to transfer him back to Marquette Prison, was traced to Brown's handwriting, it was said.

Following a tip from a prison guard, the threat of his escape, Sheriff Dewey Mappox, and the sheriff of the township of the prison, have the three of them to locate him. A three-unit 14 mile south of here.

Hockey Squad to Meet Huskies Tonight

ate Set for Two Game Series with Tech Team

By JACK KOLE
Michigan State's hockey team will take the ice to meet the Tech team in the first game of a two-game Mid-west Intercollegiate Hockey League series tonight.

The series will resume on Saturday evening.

Spartans held a practice late yesterday afternoon in preparation for the game. Coach Amo reported that his squad was in top physical condition for the game. Del Reid, regular goalie, has fully recovered from an influenza attack which kept him out of the Tech series.

Both the Tech and Spartans will have two encounters, only the first contest will count in league standings. The Spartans, with a season record of 1-1-1 and a league record of 1-1-1, will be looking to improve their record.

Clash at Jenison State Cagers Face Purdue Saturday

By TOM RYAN
Defensive-minded Michigan State will be looking for its first victory in history against the Purdue basketball squad here Saturday night at 8 in Jenison Fieldhouse.

In five previous meetings, dating back to 1910, the Boilermakers have always been the victors. Last season, the Spartans lost a 59-55 decision in overtime.

Purdue has a season record of six wins against five losses. The Boilermakers have dropped their last three games, all to Big Ten opponents. After opening the

Night Class To Feature Food Savings

A new non-credit course, Management of the Food Dollar, will meet for its first session at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in room 101 of the Home Economics Building.

The course, which will show how homemakers may reduce the amount spent for food, topics to be discussed include the essentials of adequate diet, and how food choices and cooking affects adequate diet, and how food choice and cooking affects the budget.

A fee of $5 will be charged for the eight lectures. Registration is being held in room 6 of the Kellogg Center daily. Latecomers may register at the first class session.

The classes will be conducted by Miss Faye Kinder, of the division of food and nutrition of the School of Home Economics. These lectures are sponsored by the Continuing Education Service and the School of Home Economics and will be held every Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30.

Group Outlines Chest Events

The work of the 20-member Campus Chest planning committee is a year-around job. Jack Brennan, chairman, asserted yesterday.

Brennan is assisted by Al Smith, Detroit junior. This year for the first time, the committee prepared a 16-page report of last year's drive, including outlines of events, attendance figures, and financial reports.

This report was sent to over 40 colleges and universities throughout the country where drives similar to MSC's Campus Chest drive were held. In return, these colleges sent similar information back to the planning committee. This data was analyzed to find information that would help improve MSC's drive.

The committee analyzed last year's results, and is scheduling several new events for this year's drive, which will be held from April 28 until May 3. One of these new events will replace the Jazz Concert of last year.

At present the committee is working to prepare an outline of events for Campus Chest week, Brennan declared.

Closure of Unsafe Mines Requested

College Anticipates Addition To Beaumont Carillon Chimes

Beaumont Tower with its bells was presented to MSC only seven years after the first carillon appeared in the United States.

When John Beaumont gave it had 10 bells. Now the number has reached 37. The College hopes to receive 10 more bells which would complete a four octave carillon.

All carillon bells are imported from England since there are no foundries in America. Though England monopolized the making of carillon bells until a few years ago, there are only nine carillons in England.

Throughout the world there are only 350 carillons and 65 are located in North America.

The man responsible for the ringing of MSC's bells each morning and afternoon is Wendell J. Wescott, instructor of music.

According to Wescott, the carillon differs from other musical instruments in that every carillon is a little different and music must be written for each particular carillon.

An average of 60 different pieces of music are played each week. The music consists of light numbers, such as folk songs, adaptations from operas, and all Michigan State songs.

On Sundays, hymns and semi-classical selections are played and the recital is usually concluded with "MSC Shadows."

The playing of the bells is an art in itself. The keyboard is made of wooden levers about two inches apart which are pounded down by the fists while the feet move at a rapid pace.

Graduate Student Coffee Hour Set

Another graduate student coffee hour will be held today, Thomas H. Osgood, Dean of Graduate Studies, announced yesterday.

The coffee session will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in Room 221 of the Physics-Mathematics Building, he said.
