67,000 Workers Out in Phone Strike

18,000 Leave Jobs in State As Settlement Attempts Fail

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of 67,000 telephone workers began yesterday in 43 states, but the public hardly noticed.

The strikers withheld all-out picketing, thus sparing a nationwide new tieup of the nation's already shaky communications system.

Michigan's 18,000 CIO telephone workers walked out on the strike and a hurried effort at settlement was futile.

Amid gloomy union comment, weary negotiators gave up for the time being. They will meet again today at 2 p.m. (EST).

A settlement in the key state of Michigan might have led to peace in nationwide walkouts affecting workers. The Michigan strike began at 6 a.m.

Agreement to go on with the talks had raised hopes of an early settlement.

As negotiations halted, Walter R. Schaar, Michigan regional director for the CIO's Communications Workers of America, bitterly attacked the Michigan Bell Co. management.

They have no desire to settle, even on their own terms," Schaar said.

Schaar repeated that Michigan Bell's $4 to $7 weekly general increase proposal was insufficient. He said the company "won't even contribute what's on the table."

The union said that distribution of any increase was also at issue.

As the strike entered its first day, management manned its lines with 3,500 supervisory employees. Calls were going through.

Series Slated On Christianity

Three lectures will be presented April 18 through 20, as a basic course in Christianity.

The series, dealing with the quest for Christianity, what it is, and how it applies to the individual, will be presented by Dr. W. Robert Smith of Bethel College in Minneapolis. The programs will be held in Peoples Church and the Union Ballroom. Sponsored by the United Christian Student Committee, it will be the second annual series held here.

Representatives of the five member groups of the committee will poll campus living units this week for student views on Christianity. These opinions will serve as a guide for Dr. Smith in presenting his lectures.

Landscapers Join National Society

MSC's Landscape Architecture Club is the first college organization to become a junior member of the American Society of Landscape Architects.

The proposal was passed after a national contest in which the club won seven of the 13 awards. Members of the ASLA were judges of the contest held here March 21.

Cooperative Subdivision in the Midwest was the problem and members of the club worked for five weeks in preparation. The drawings are on exhibit at the Landscape Architecture Building on South Campus.

The highest award, a blue seal, went to J. W. Cochran; a red seal to Murray Geyer and A. R. Johnson; honorable mention to Franzman and V. W. Leipziger, and circulate awards to Johnson and Jack Bach-

Three Professors Act as Judges in Science Contest

Professors C. N. McCarty, chemistry; R. W. Lewis, biological science; and G. W. Prescott, botany, acted as judges for the Junior Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, which will honor 12 Michigan high school scientists May 2-3 at Hillsdale College.

The students will receive merit membership certificates in the Michigan Senior Academy of Science, Arts and Letters for their showing in state and national scientific competition. They were selected on the basis of a series of examinations and papers.

Professor On Panel; Aids Dispute

By JO WOZNIAK
Dr. Charles C. Killingsworth, head of the Economics Department, has returned from Washington where he served as public member of a special fact-finding board in an aluminum industry dispute.

Aluminum Co. of America, Kaiser Aluminum Co., United Steelworkers (CIO), and the Council of Aluminum Workers (AFL) are involved in the dispute, sent to the Wage Stabilization Board by President Truman in January.

The 50 issues in the case included wages, fringe benefits, and other contract revisions. The most important ones still remain to be settled, he said.

Dr. Killingsworth served on the panel along with Saul Wallen, Boston attorney and arbitrator. The two are now proposing a report to be presented to the Stabilization Board.

"After holding lengthy conferences, we were able to suggest solutions on a majority of the points. The settlement of the steel dispute will have some effect on the aluminum case," he said.

"We were told the panel was to be an 'arm' of the board, but after listening to 1,500 pages of transcript it would be more accurate to call us the 'seat' of the board. It was quite an ordeal," he concluded.

Dr. Killingsworth and several other members of the Economics Department will attend meetings of the Michigan Academy of Arts and Sciences at Ann Arbor Friday.

At the conference Dr. Killingsworth will speak on "Labor's Role in the Rearmament Economy."

Juliana Honored In New York as Thousands Cheer

NEW YORK (AP)—The tiny Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam that grew into a huge polyglot metropolis welcomed a Dutch queen yesterday—as an honored visitor.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, with her husband, Prince Bernhard, got a royal ticker-tape welcome, and a Dutch hymn played from the tower of Trinity Church, as the queen's procession passed Broadway and Wall Street, once the northernmost limit of the old Dutch city.

Thousands of New Yorkers, from every land under the sun—including Holland—crowded the streets and leaned out the windows of tall buildings to cheer the queen and shower her with ticker-tape, confetti and torn paper.

Welcomed by Mayor Impellitteri at City Hall, the queen, remembered in words that dwell on the memories of the Dutch subjects who settled in lower Manhattan and up along the Hudson River.

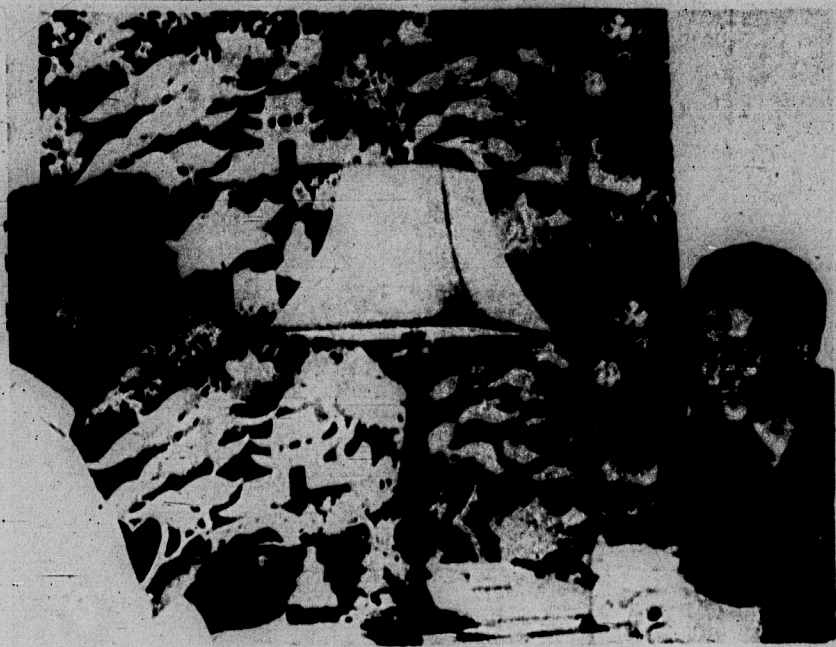

She said, "The Netherlands are proud to have left their stamp on the soil of Manhattan and its surrounding."

Talent Sought for 'With The Director'

MSC Produces New Television Program

By BETTY A. MAUSTELLER
"With The Director," a television show in every respect except it is not a "live" telecast, is MSC's latest TV effort. The half-hour program is produced at MSC's television studios under the direction of Prof. James D. Davis, Production Supervisor for Television. Students studying Television 431 are in charge of operating the cameras, but the talent used on the show is selected from the student body.

At present J. Kenneth Rich-

Deans Plan Conference

A conference of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators will meet on the Michigan State campus next April in the Kellogg Center, according to Dean of Students Tom King.

Dean King returned from Colorado Springs, Colo., last week-end where this year's NASPA conference was held. He said the invitation to MSC was accepted because it would enable the administrators to meet on a college campus. Dates for the conference are April 6 to 9.

About 300 administrators are expected to attend.

MSC Faculty Displays Art in Detroit Exhibit

Three MSC faculty members, Prof. Murray Jones, Prof. Charles Pima (formerly known as Charles Pollock) and Lindsay Decker, will exhibit paintings and sculpture at the abstract art show which will open tomorrow for a three-week run in Detroit.

The exhibition will mark the 20th anniversary of the Detroit Art Institute, a non-profit gallery which brings the artist and the buying public together.

Pima has recently changed his painting name from Pollock to Pima in order to avoid confusion with his brother, Jackson Pollock, also a painter.

A group of Michigan artists in the field of non-representational art will show paintings, sculpture in stone, wood and metal, pottery, weaving, photography, ceramics and metal work.

Abstract art will be explained through objects of abstract form which are familiar to daily living, such as natural forms and utilitarian forms in everyday use created by artists.

STUN Handles New, Used Books

Students may still register text books to buy or sell with STUN, student service organization located on the third floor of the Union.

Books to be sold should be registered with STUN members according to Peg Hoffman, coordinator.

Prospective purchasers pay a fee of five cents for the name and address of the person who has the book they want. There is no charge for registering a book for sale.

ards, production director of WKAR, is in search of talent for the series of shows to be done this term.

Student singers, instrumentalists, magicians, comedians, acrobats, or those who have any other form of talent are invited to audition. The acts should be from three to five minutes in length, he said.

Supposedly sponsored by a nationally-known soft drink, "With The Director" is a show within a show. The two main actors, Richards and Harold Niven, in-

MSC International Center Redecorated

By MARY ROUSE
Faculty wives and foreign students have been busy for the last three months redecorating International Center.

New furnishings, including drapes, chairs, and lamps were provided by a sponsor, and students and faculty wives have been repainting walls.

"The large dining room has been converted into both a dining and sitting room. Small meetings will be held there."

The most drastic change has been converting the basement into a recreation room. Work on the project was done chiefly by the students and faculty wives. They painted the floor and repolished the furniture for the room. The result is a recreation room suitable for dancing and parties.

Redecoration has been under way since January 1 and is now almost complete.

International Center is a social center designed to be a "home away from home" for foreign students and American students.

Music Professor Elected to Board Of National Group

Dr. William R. Sur, professor of music, has been elected to the board of directors of the Music Educators National Conference for a four-year term. The conference is a part of the National Education Association.

The election took place at the recent biennial meeting in Philadelphia. Dr. Sur is a member of the editorial board which controls policy of the conference journal publication and retired chairman of the research council.

Harriet Nordholm, assistant professor of music, is second vice president of the North Central section of the conference's five sub-divisions. Several other MSC staff members are also members of the organization, Dr. Sur said.

Spartan Out Today

What would happen if the Red Cedar flooded East Lansing? The April issue of the Spartan, which is on sale today, gives one student's idea of this event.

The Spartan is on sale at the Union Desk, Berkey Hall, Home Ec. Ag. Hall, Physics-Math, Olds Hall, and Electrical Engineering.

ASME Movie

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold a meeting in Old College Hall tonight at 8:30. There will be a discussion of 52-53 officers.

A short movie, "Steel Construction of United Nations Building," will be shown.

This program not only gives the students an idea of opportunity to work with the equipment, but also affords an excellent opportunity for students wishing to gain experience performing before a camera," said Richards.

Those interested in auditioning for the program may call Richards at extension 468 or 7274, he explained.

The shows will begin next week and will be held both afternoons and evenings.

Hannah Cites Point Four as Peace Plan

President Addresses National Conference

Pres. John A. Hannah said in Washington, D.C., Monday that lasting peace may be better achieved through the Point Four program than by a policy of heavy defense spending, which he called "a moat filled with golden dollars."

President Hannah made the opening address at the National Conference on International Economic and Social Development. Featured speaker at the conference tonight will be President Truman.

The conference, which will last through Wednesday, was called to inform more than 300 civic groups of what can be done in a "revolution of peaceful means," as President Hannah called the Point Four program.

Although Hannah pointed out that Americans agree we must defend our country against its enemies, he added:

"A great many of us are wondering whether we can continue indefinitely to divert a large proportion of our annual income into programs of defense. Many of us wonder whether there cannot be some other defense for us than a moat filled with golden dollars. Point Four and related programs offer a promise of relief."

He said that people who understand the principles and purposes of the Point Four program generally accept it as highly desirable. He cited as reasons for this, public approval.

1. Americans are generous by tradition and natural inclination—even though they never have approved of "perpetual handouts, to the tramp at the back door on the international scale."

2. The potential financial return to be gained from more prosperous world customers.

3. The long-time fight of Americans to eliminate hunger, disease and ignorance in their own country and throughout the world is the basic objective of the Point Four program.

President Hannah warned the group that the American public does not want to help people who are not willing to help themselves and that these programs of international assistance to backward nations must take this into consideration before further financial aid is given.

On the side of the backward peoples, however, he pointed out that "we have sometimes scorned as laziness and lack of initiative on the part of other peoples what are often in reality the manifestations of the hidden hungers which affect body, mind and soul."

Hannah warned the group, however, that this program will take years of hard work and patience before the results are felt.

In summary, President Hannah said:

"We can no longer admit the millions of oppressed to our country itself, but we can admit them to the opportunity the word 'America' represents. We can give them in their own homelands a chance to do for themselves what we have done here and by so doing re-establish America as the symbol of hope."

"Here we have a tremendous advantage in the struggle between ideologies; here, in this field, we are not the international tyros, the Johnny-come-latelies in the historical sense."

Edgar Kaiser, president of Kaiser-Frazer, said the new decision will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The unofficial feeling at this advanced Allied camp was that an armistice could be reached within three weeks. It appeared to arise mainly from statements by Communists outside the conference tents that their delegates are seeking compromises.

Spartans Win in Dixie; Lose Here to Weather

Jobs Pleased by Southern Performance

By JACK KOLE
Michigan State's baseball team, fresh from a victory in a 12-game jaunt through the South, was confined to the indoor practice yesterday because of weather which made practice for the outdoor game impossible. Coach John Kobs, while fair-pleased with the overall performance of the squad, found few glaring weaknesses that will have to be ironed out before the Spartans begin their regular season. Commenting on the trip Kobs said, "We were luckiest in years in that we had all of our scheduled games. Usually one or more games are canceled because of rain."

Coaches now stand behind the team as a result of the trip. They thought the team was "rough" in the South. The Spartans lost to North Carolina and the Spartans made a clean sweep of the tourney with a 4-0 record.

Kobs, in reviewing the action of the trip, thought that the most pressing problem was "speed" in the lineup. He felt that while the team showed reasonably good over some of the players didn't hit up to their proven standard.

But that the defense was not improved vastly. The infield was much better than last year. He was pleased with the play of the infield, which was a little better during the initial stages of the trip. Kobs did a lot of thinking in this department and is unconvinced on a couple of points.

The outfield of Kisch, Ray and Bob Dilday showed well and received some very valuable help from senior Dick Loefer.

The team will be strengthened by the return of hard-hitting first baseman, Bob Chick, who was unable to make the trip because of a leg injury. He will be back with the squad again.

Through the first game, the Spartans for April 22 with the Spartans will actually be against an amateur team. The Spartans will begin their season before going into the regular season.

Michigan, the famous "Hoosier State," was on a roll. The Spartans, who had been made "Hoosier" by the NCAA, had a "Hoosier" but that the "Hoosier" would make the necessary change.

If you could put a price tag on Roberts today—and you couldn't possibly buy him—it would be $300,000.

"I wouldn't trade Roberts for any pitcher in the league," said Manager Eddie Sawyer. "He's young, improving all the time. Best of all he fights you all the way."

Poniatowski is well out in front with a 193 average for 27 games.

The top 11 after 27 games:

1. Ted Poniatowski	193
2. LeRoy Smith	184
3. Stan Kurzman	184
4. Don Siegan	183
5. Bill Knapp	183
6. Paul Rabaut	182
7. Jack LaBelle	182
8. Ed Courtemanche	182
9. Dave Siegrist	180
10. Jerry Peterson	180
11. Rich Schweiger	180

The top six finishers after this week's matches will represent Michigan State in a tournament of Big Ten schools sponsored by the Unions. The tourney is scheduled for April 26 at Minnesota.

Slated to bowl Wednesday at 4 are Smith, Siegan, LaBelle, Siegrist and Schweiger. Bowling Thursday at 4 are Poniatowski, Kurzman, Knapp, Rabaut, Courtemanche and Peterson.

Poniatowski, Smith, Kurzman, Siegan and Knapp placed second to Michigan in a match against the Wolverines. Michigan Normal and Wayne at Ann Arbor last Saturday. Michigan totaled a 1600-count their final game to edge the Spartans, 2731-2700. Smith led the MSC legklers with a 364 series.

Another match between these four teams is scheduled for April 19 on the MSC Union Alleys.

Graziano Eyes Fast Knockout

CHICAGO (AP)—Rocky Graziano thinks he can go 15 rounds against Middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson in their April 16 title bout, but he hopes to make it an early one-punch finish.

"I can go the limit, but I don't want to. I don't know if I could win a decision. All I need is one punch."

Robinson, currently working out at Pompton Lakes, N.J., is expected here Friday.

In Detroit Jake LaMotta, former middleweight champion, decided yesterday to become Rocky's sparring partner.

20 Session Limit NCAA Defines Grid Practice for Spring

CHICAGO (AP)—An isolated chalk talk or review of game movies will constitute a full day's practice under the new National Collegiate Athletic Association's limit of 20 spring football practice sessions in 30 days.

The interpretation was given yesterday by the policy-making council of the NCAA at the windup of a two-day meeting.

NCAA President Hugh Willett of Southern California said coaches had requested clarification because of widespread differences on what constituted a single practice session.

Some schools held to a view that morning and afternoon assembling of squads should be considered two sessions, Willett said. Others considered showing of movies or lecture as exempt from the regular drill category.

"The council's interpretation," said Willett, "is that any activity on field or floor (basketball), movie demonstration, or chalk talk, or combination of the three, on a given day will constitute one session of the 20 sessions permitted."

The Big Ten permits six chalk talks beyond its regular 20 sessions. A conference spokesman said that provision had been made within the spirit of the NCAA limit but that the league would make the necessary change.

Steel Shipments Halted As Strike Draws Near

650,000 Set To Walkout At Midnight

NEW YORK (AP)—With a nationwide steel strike only hours away, the government yesterday froze all shipments of civilian steel.

The national production authority called it a precautionary measure to conserve steel for national defense.

The walkout of 650,000 CIO United Steelworkers is set for midnight tonight. Hopes of a settlement were as thin as the smoke above dying mill furnaces.

An industry plea to call off the strike was answered last night by Philip Murray, president of both the USW-CIO and the parent CIO itself.

Murray's answer was a foregone conclusion—he already had said the steel industry "must" be "forced" to strike.

The government steel freeze cut off the flow from mills to auto makers, other consumer goods manufacturers and exporters.

The atomic energy program, jet engine and ammunition production and defense plant construction all would be endangered by a strike, it was explained.

The freeze will permit the government to cull the types of steel it needs for defense. The rest then will be released to consumer goods manufacturers.

Most civilian steel users had enough on hand for days or weeks of production, according to reports.

In New York, the chairman of the wage stabilization board, Nathan P. Feinsinger, still was in touch with both industry and union, trying frantically for a last-minute truce. On the surface, at least, he wasn't getting far.

However, after all-day separate conferences with the industry and union, he voiced a hint of cautious hope. "I believe both sides are doing some serious thinking."

Asked if this meant progress was being made, he said: "When people start to think that's always progress." He said he didn't know if a joint session was in prospect, or if more meetings would be held today.

"I'm just working on this minute," he said.

English Teachers To Meet at MSC

About 300 high school and college English teachers from throughout the lower peninsula are expected to attend the fifth annual Communication Skills workshop at MSC April 10.

They will study communications problems, ranging from how to rate student themes to how to teach students to listen. Principal address will be given by John Q. Jennings, New York City director of the department of industrial relations of the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Jennings will speak at a luncheon meeting in the Kellogg Center where the workshop will be held.

CD Work Advances During Winter Term

By REV BUSCH

Activity in East Lansing last term centered around the appointment of two men to the revamped Ingham County Civil Defense set-up and refusal of the National Production Authority to grant materials for remodeling of the City Hall and library.

Mayor Cornelius Wagenvoort and former Mayor Burr Twichell were named to the new Civil Defense Council by city officials.

Formerly, each city in Ingham County worked alone with the state to tackle defense problems. The Civil Defense Council's purpose is to consolidate county efforts under a more unified organization.

It will be composed of five men from the County Board of Supervisors, five from Lansing and two from East Lansing.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams' approval of the appointment is necessary before the group starts operations.

East Lansing city council members decided to expand present library facilities and remodel the City Hall by self-allocating steel and copper after the NPA rejected a request for the materials.

By self-allocating, up to two tons of carbon steel and 200 pounds of copper a quarter, the project may be completed in from nine months to a year.

Plans to widen Grand River from Beige St. to the east city limits and from Michigan Ave. to the west city limits were advanced when a bid for the project from P. VanderVeen, Grand Rapids contractor, was accepted in January.

Total cost—$249,521.09—will be shared by the city, state and national governments. East Lansing's share is $26,100.

The contract was officially approved by the State Highway Department and the State Administrative Board.

Work will be started on the project when weather conditions will permit.

Opening of a new elementary school in Glencairn Subdivision is scheduled this month by school officials. The eight-room building, located on a five-acre site at M-78 and Harrison Rd., will accommodate approximately 225 students.

The city's oldest grade school, Central School, will be touched up after Glencairn is opened. The Board of Education hopes to renovate the present heating system and remodel several classrooms this summer.

Seventy city employees have an opportunity to participate in a new safety drive sponsored by the city. They will brush up on safety rules via lectures, movies and posters at monthly meetings. Residents gave 135 pints of blood at a city-wide drive Feb. 11. At a similar campaign last year 67 pints were collected.

Cocds to Model In Style Show

Three MSC cocds were selected to model in the Lansing civic style show to be held at Lansing Eastern high school tonight at 7 p.m.

The cocds, Claire Dand, Ann Arber, junior, Sue Henderson, Jackson sophomore, and Helen Pass, Detroit senior, chosen among 100 entries, were selected by a board of nine judges as three of eight models who will display the latest styles for the Lansing iron lung fund raising campaign.

The style show, sponsored by Gutterman's Dept. Store, will feature John Robert Powers, Detroit fashion authority and originator of the Powers Modeling Co.
