

They Liked Ike

Ten thousand spectators crowded around the Eisenhower train at Grand Trunk depot yesterday to hear the Republican presidential nominee as he hammered at the Truman administration for "frittering around and failures" in foreign policy. Lansing schools were dismissed to allow students to hear the general.

Greeting Michigan State football coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn beneath a "We Like Ike" sign are United State Senator Duff, Republican from Pennsylvania, State Senator Gerald Ford, Republican from Grand Rapids, and another prominent state Republican. Munn met these officials yesterday at the Grand Trunk depot, where ten thousand gathered to hear Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower lash out at Democratic opponent.

First Meeting Held

Appointments Made by Student Congress

By FRANK RUTKIEWICZ
Appointment of four seniors to vacant positions in the Student Government and a treasurer's report that approximately $722 has been spent, highlighted the first Student Congress meeting last night. The new officials are: Vice President Robert Duryea, senior, N.Y.; Secretary of Student Government Robert Householder, senior, N.J.; Treasurer John Householder, senior, Ohio; and Secretary of Student Government, senior, N.J. The Student Congress also approved the Student Government budget for the coming year. The expenditure figure quoted by the treasurer includes the cost of a Student Government handbook, mimeograph paper, and a National Student Association convention. Total income from the students' tax is $1,000. This term with another expected from late registration.

Law College Entrance Test Slated for Nov.

The Law School Admission Test, required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the United States on the mornings of Nov. 15 and Feb. 21, April 25 and Aug. 8, 1953. A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Law School admission test and when. Since many law schools select their freshmen classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised ordinarily to take either the November or the February test, if possible. Information about the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from the MSC Director of Counseling or Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, N.J. Completed applications must be received at least 10 days before the desired testing date in order to allow time to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

A Grave Matter Police End Tombstone Tangos

COAL, Calif. (AP) — The Cemetery Drag had brief popularity but it gave way Wednesday to the Superior Court Lowdown. Judge Walter J. Fourt told 23 teenagers and 15 parents that dancing in the moonlight in the cemetery must cease. The youngsters, rounded up by police, said they went in for tombstone tangos and some beer drinking just as a lark. The judge said he'd help improve recreation facilities in town, but a repetition of this incident is strictly out.

Oregon Convo Hears Hannah

President Hannah is scheduled to speak to a meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions this afternoon in Portland, Oregon. Hannah, who flew to Oregon for the meeting Tuesday afternoon, will talk on "Constitution and Variables."

Football Rally

Reception plans to greet the football players and Coach Biggie Munn as they arrive at the south concourse of the Union. Sunday, 9:30 p.m. have been made, according to Kles Hagadorn, chairman of the Spartan Spirit Committee. "This is a chance for students to really get behind their team," Hagadorn added.

General's Whistle-Stop Visit Brings Cheers, MSC Football

Praising Michigan State's agricultural research program and athletic program and charging inefficiency in the administration and government spending, Republican presidential nominee General Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke to a crowd who gathered at the Grand Trunk railroad depot in Lansing yesterday to hear his whistlestop address. Lansing was only one of the scheduled cities Eisenhower visited as his train sped across Michigan on a hurried political tour.

Pledges to Consider 'Every U.S. Citizen'

By DEAN WAKEFIELD
State News Editor
The Eisenhower Special, carrying the general of the same name, pulled into Lansing to face an impassive welcoming crowd yesterday afternoon. The general's train, 18 cars long, rolled down the track and slid to a halt at the Grand Trunk's Washington Avenue depot at 2:50 p.m.—on time to the minute. The observation car from which Ike spoke drew up a dozen feet west of the Washington Street sidewalk and was immediately surrounded by youngsters and oldsters with one thing in common—their like for Ike. Speaking to an estimated 10,000 people, the Republican presidential nominee, criticized government spending, an "inefficient administration" and emphasized his desire to "pursue the road to good government." People looked at rather than listened to Eisenhower. They stared at his brown wool gabardine suit and conservative brown tie. His bluish at requests to smile for the cameramen received more attention than his plea for unity at the polls. Smatterings of applause for the other members of the "whistle-stopping" rail tour concealed the impatience of the gathering for a look at the man who carries the standard of the Republican party this election year. Eisenhower had a chance to speak only briefly—his train stopped over only 30 minutes. After his introduction by Victor A. Knox, speaker of the State House of Representatives, he paused long enough to accept an autographed football from Don McAuliffe, captain of the Spartan football squad. Recalling his own career on the West Point gridiron, Ike professed amazement at McAuliffe's size. They didn't grow that big when he played the game, he said. Ike told the crowd that he had but one campaign promise to make—that his first consideration, if he were elected, would be "for the welfare of every citizen" of the U.S. Two persons fainted shortly after the festivities were over, while the general was obliging autograph seekers. Mrs. Julia Spencer, 77, of 626 1/2 West Michigan Avenue, East Lansing, was rushed to Sparrow Hospital, where she was admitted as an emergency patient. No information was available on her condition. Nancy Potter, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Potter of 1935 Thompson Street, Lansing, was taken to Sparrow and released after an examination. The Lansing fire department inhalator squad administered oxygen on the scene. One woman, wearing dark glasses and an over-sized Ike button, said she had been waiting for the train since before 1 p.m. Her early arrival paid off in a good vantage point, too. She was one of the early arrivals who found seats on an old baggage platform just north of the point where the observation car stopped. Others watched and listened from the roof and porch of the Roo Clubhouse next to the depot. U.S. Senator Homer Ferguson, GOP candidate for the other Senatorial post Rep. Charles Potter, and Kit Clardy, candidate for the House of Representatives from the Sixth district, with Alger, were the other top Republican figures introduced. The Eisenhower Special pulled out for Jackson, the next stop on the General's seven-city tour of the state. See EISENHOWER, Page 6

Autograph Seekers' Field Day

Highlights of Ike's Whistlestop

With the green State emblem outlined on his white cardigan sweater, Captain Don McAuliffe fought his way through the huge crowd awaiting the 18-car GOP train, and handed General Dwight D. Eisenhower a football inscribed with the names of all football squad members. Introduced as the "top man of the nation's top football team," McAuliffe scrambled up the side of the car to present the Republican nominee with the autographed ball before the general's speech. On hand, but back in the crowd, were Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn, Doug Weaver, and John Wilson, president of the senior class. Gen. Eisenhower beamed happily at the presentation. "Ike" fondled the ball like an expert, and waved it at the crowd. Weaver, known by his teammates as "The Republican," was responsible for the suggestion to the team. They were escorted to the Grand Trunk depot by a special sheriff's car with Ingham County Sheriff William P. Barnes. They were returned after the presentation in time for 4 p.m. football practice. While waiting for the train to pull in, the three men and Munn were accosted by football fans of all sizes and ages. One small boy, who said he was "Lefty Junior," charged up to the players and demanded an introduction. "Not one bit in awe of the situation," Lefty Junior shook hands with the boys and scrutinized the football carefully. A great name on a scrap of notebook paper meant more to many than hearing the Republican nominee attack the present administration's policy of government spending. They shoved, kicked and strained to get the General to reach for autograph books. "I've got it. I can put Ike's name with MacArthur. I got his when he was here. Now I've got two generals," shouted a 16-year-old boy. Lansing Boy Scouts carrying posters and flags, showed an enthusiastic interest in the various kinds of campaign buttons worn by officials, pressmen, and casual observers. "Hey, where did you get the button with the pictures? If I gave you a big 'I Like Ike' button and this poster, could I have that button?" asked a 12-year-old as he handed his flag to a reporter. The better half of the Eisenhower train greeted the crowd in a gray tailored wool jersey dress and black shoes. Hatless, Munn carried purple and gold sweet peas. A gold Ike bracelet, gift of an Eisenhower fan in California, attracted the attention of people nearest the train. The four-year-old daughter of a World War II casualty presented the General's wife with a large bouquet of white mums bearing an "I Like Ike" ribbon. Judith Hacheta, of the VFW orphanage home, Lafayette, Ind., forgot her lines when presented to Mrs. Eisenhower and instead of an "I'm for Ike," the tiny-blond tossed her head and smiled. While children strained to see above the "I Like Ike" and "Vote for Alger" banners and older people began to feel faint from the heat, a young woman, listening carefully, murmured, "You feel that you want somebody really honest." "Why don't candidates prepare ready-written signatures in advance of their speeches?" asked one observer. See HIGHLIGHTS, Page 6

Dean's Assistants

With the abolishment of the Counselor for Men and Women's Offices, MSC is left in somewhat a unique position. Unique in that we have no office which corresponds to a dean of men or women.

The Counselor for Women's Office, formerly headed by Mrs. Isabelle Gonon who is on a year's sabbatical, now operates under the title, Dean of Students, Women's Division. The Counselor for Men's Office is likewise called Dean of Students, Men's Division. Both are under the supervision of Dean of Students Tom King.

Positions of this type are highly important on a college campus, especially one as large as Michigan State. Students have innumerable personal problems to hash out, in addition to the routine business of listing social functions, advising student activities and providing student supervision, all of which are under the jurisdiction of the men and women's counselors.

Lyle Thorburn, former counselor for men, is now director of housing. In his place are two men, assistants to Dean King, with a third to be appointed. Three women are also in the Women's Division.

Each of these assistants will be assigned specific areas in which they will work. One of them, for instance, will act as advisor to the Student Congress. But the exact capacity in which they will operate has not yet been clearly defined, nor are their responsibilities clearly understood. But these defects in the new system will probably work themselves out in time.

It is to be hoped that the two divisions of Dean King's office do not become departmentalized. Work of this type is of a highly personal nature and cannot be done according to stylized methods.

Another point to be considered is the large number of duties which Dean King has in addition to having these two divisions directly under his supervision. In the office of the dean of students are alumni relations, the Board of Examiners, the Committee on Scholarships, draft deferments, health service, high school co-operation, housing assignments, International Center, placement service, registration, admissions, records and student counseling. Dean King is a busy man. It is to be hoped that these two important offices do not escape his attention.

A Tradition Continues

The East Lansing City Council, in reversing its decision against using Delta Street for the annual Delta Street Shuffle, again showed its good will to the college and MSC social organizations.

Beta Theta Pi and Phi Kappa Tau applied for permission last spring to use Delta Street for their annual outdoor dance. The council, in refusing the request, stated that repairs planned for Grand River and Michigan Avenues would cause too much congestion. After the decision was changed.

Appreciation to the Council was proven by the number of students who attended the dance last Friday. An orderly evening of dancing and entertainment did little to interrupt normal traffic in the area.

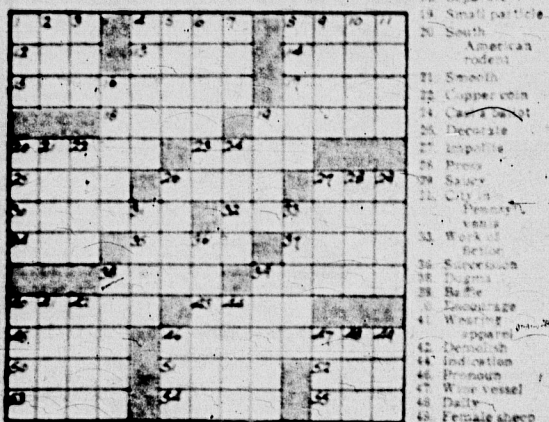

A tradition has been established at MSC with the seventh presentation of the Delta Street Shuffle. The East Lansing City Council is deserving of thanks for a friendly gesture.

Trim Performance

By Dan McCrary
State News Manager

Managed to get to Ann Arbor Saturday and take in a little football game held there. Needless to say I was satisfied with the outcome.

I was also satisfied with another facet of the game, one which has become almost as important as football itself. The MSC band was decked out in their new green and white uniforms. They looked sharp, they sounded good, the whole performance was commendable.

I was especially taken with the manner in which the band came onto the field at halftime. The "do the tango" type two-step matched perfectly with the new uniforms.

It takes a lot of work to shape a band into the marching trim shown on the field Saturday. And with the acute competition which has developed between marching bands, this has happened nearly in combat. To prepare for Saturday's show, band members returned to East Lansing about a week before registration. They worked hard before school started, they are working hard every day now. I think members and directors alike deserve a pat on the back.

I sincerely regret having to write the following, but since we have made no mention of it since regular publication began this fall, it is necessary.

Stewart Baker, who was appointed to be State News advertising manager this term, died last month in a tragic accident. He was vacationing near Sault Ste. Marie.

Stew left for his vacation Labor Day week-end after devoting nearly his whole summer to work on the State News freshman issue. As a result, this year's freshman issue was the best we have ever published.

We of the State News staff accept Stew's death as a great personal loss. He was the type of person you looked forward to working with. There are so few people like this.

We who knew him will not forget him. Those of you who didn't missed knowing a fine guy.

Editorial on MSC Band Criticized by Student

TO THE EDITOR:

Once again it has been the misfortune of the MSC band to receive undue criticism from the State News and I for one am thoroughly disgusted with this situation.

When the editor speaks of the "local, nationally acclaimed Michigan band" he apparently hasn't stopped to realize how this national acclaim was gained. Two coast-to-coast Rose Bowl trips of four years would naturally give a band national acclaim. Those trips could have very well been State's had we been in Big Ten competition at that time.

This also brings to mind the fact that in 1947, when our State football team was out-classed by "mighty" Michigan 55-0. It was that same band, as well liked by our editor, which reportedly formed on the field immediately after the game to "do it up" by playing "Old MacDonald had a Farm." I am afraid to say we just don't do up those things here at State.

I am sure the governor meant no harm when he unknowingly named our halftime show, but again I can assure you that it wouldn't have happened here at State. Those things are taken

Letter To The Editor:

Band Member Objects to NewsEditorial

TO THE EDITOR:

Congratulations! You've done it again. In your editorial, "Second Fiddle," you named our band a poor comparison to the U. of M. band, something no other paper seemed able to believe. I admire your pride in us.

It brings to mind another year when we had the audacity to repeat a show. With a magnificent lack of understanding, we were told such things just weren't done. Well, they were being done and by our friends at Ann Arbor, too. We were able last year with all this support to somehow struggle through our schedule. So this year you are off to an earlier start.

I cannot go along with your writer in thinking that "the ardent State supporter will willingly agree that the MSC band came off second best Saturday." In the first place no ardent State supporter would willingly admit that, even if it were obviously a fact.

True, the State band was somewhat smaller and therefore not as loud as the U. of M. band, but that should not be the criterion for judging a band. Neither do I believe we are to be criticized for failing to work a troop of Boy Scouts into the show. It is regrettable that the governor chose the finale of the State show to have his own private parade, but certainly this cannot be held against us.

Here are a few other interesting comparisons. Our ardent group performed our show with the music completely memorized. The "nationally recognized" U. of M. band seemed unable to accomplish the although they had twice the rehearsal time we did. They had a rehearsal a half hour before game time, an opportunity "we" did not. And their show was not distinguished by the crowd booing.

We used an interesting entrance for our program entrance. They ran out.

Pardon the apparent sarcasm. They have a marvelous band I admit it, but that does not make us novices. Your article was the only written word I have seen which judged our band so poorly. Thanks for the great show of school spirit. For those readers who may be in doubt as to the ability of our band drop around stage Saturday afternoon. We'll try to keep from tripping over our own feet in our ridiculous attempt at imitating a competent Big Ten band.

Contest Judges to Pick Homecoming Finalists

Complete impartiality in the choosing of Homecoming Queen candidates is the aim of two new features of their selection this year.

Judging will be done by five off-campus men and women: George Alderton, sports editor of the Lansing State Journal; Len Kositchek, Downtown Coaches Club; Mrs. Tom O'Brien, former Powers model; John Pomeroy, WLS co-owner and Alice Baneroff, WJIM staff writer.

A professional photographer, Frank Lettler, will take the pictures of the five finalists. They will be submitted to the Penn State football team for the final decision. Members of Kappa Alpha Mu, photography honorary, took the pictures in former years.

Dick Meyer, temporary chairman of the selection committee, said Mr. O'Brien will meet with the rest of the committee before meeting the candidates Tuesday night. She will explain the way to use the rating sheet they will employ. This sheet rates each girl up to 20 points on beauty and 10 points each on appearance, posture, personality and poise.

John Randall, former national president of KAM, will emcee the program. Members of last year's homecoming court will introduce the candidates to Randall and he will interview them.

After the introductions the judges will interview each candidate personally to affirm their judgments.

The final selection will be made from numbered photos by the Penn State football team. Results will be released simultaneously by Jacobson's, the Spartan Union magazine and the Michigan State News on Oct. 21.

Deadline for the submission of candidates' names is 4 p.m. Friday.

All candidates will receive late pers for Tuesday night. Jacobson's will present each of the five finalists with a trophy.

Churches Set Open Houses For Weekend

Mixer parties and open houses will highlight campus religious activity this weekend.

Newman Club has scheduled a free square dance at Newman Hall tomorrow at 8 p.m. A "Panic Party" featuring mixer games at College House is set by Christian Student Foundation for the same hour.

Regular services will be held Friday evening at Hill Foundation at 7:30.

College House will hold open house from 8 to 12 Saturday evening.

Paul Busch, educator and youth leader, will address the Canterbury Club following supper at the Episcopal College Center Sunday at 5:30. A fellowship supper at College House at 5:30 will be followed by vespers, featuring the Shield of Song Latvian choir, a student forum and coffee hour.

Spartan Christian Fellowship will hold a Bible study meeting 2:45 Sunday afternoon at Bethel Manor. Open houses will be held Sunday evening at Hill Foundation at 7 and Newman Hall at 8.

Match-Mates, Textures Catch Coeds' Fashion Eye

By SHERRY REVER

When hot, humid summer days turned to cool, brisk ones and conversation changed from baseball scores to football touchdowns, the minds of the coeds were again confronted with the thought of school.

Before returning to school, however, Miss Franny Fashionwise had to consider her wardrobe necessities. Her decisions may be viewed around campus.

For school there are matings of separates in cottons, jerseys, flannels, tweeds and woolsens. Naturally, Franny's wardrobe includes such separates in the form of slender and pleated skirts, sweaters of nylon, cashmere or wool and cotton and jersey blouses.

Belts of various styles, loafers, bucks, or saddle shoes and white bobby Sox and the finishing touches to these classroom ensembles.

For dress-up time there's everything from velvet to taffeta in styles flattering all figures.

Continuing the fascinating parade of fashions are suits. Franny's choice is the aggressive silhouette. The brief fitted jacket with thin collar, cuffs and shaped hips is completed and complemented by the full, bell skirt.

Competing for honors are the coats. The emphasis is on the fitted coat, the look of fashion. The loose or pyramidal coat still rates high on the preferred list.

And of course the ever popular slicker is a must in every coed's wardrobe.

Although style is not to be minimized this fall there is texture interest, especially in the coats, suits and toppers. The textured look is found in brush-

STANFORD (AP)—Former featherweight champion Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., unleashing feeble flashes of his old time form, hammered out a unanimous 10-round decision over Canadian Armand Savard at the Chicago Stadium last night.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan decided late yesterday to include injured wingback Frank Howell in the 40-man Michigan traveling squad that leaves for the West Coast today in preparation for Saturday's game with Stanford.

NEW YORK (AP)—Odds on the New York Yankees to win the World Series dropped to 6 to 5 yesterday following the Brooklyn Dodgers' 4-2 victory in the opening game. The Yanks had entered the series the choice at 8 to 5. The American League champions also were made the 7 to 3 choice to win today's game with Vic Raschi opposing the Dodgers' Carl Erskine.

Black Overlooked

Bums' Darkhorse Wins

From rags to riches in less than a year, that's the story of Joe Black, Brooklyn's relief ace and World Series star. Last spring, anyone predicting that Black would pitch—and win—the opening game of the 1962 World Series would have been rushed to the psycho ward.

Black, a 6-foot-3 220-pound righthander, was taken South by the Dodgers on a "look see" basis. He had won only 11 games and lost 12 while playing for Brooklyn farms at Montreal and St. Paul in 1959. He spent the winter pitching in the Cuban Winter League under Billy Herman, a Brooklyn coach. Herman urged the Dodge brass to look Black over at the Brooks' campsite at Vero Beach, Fla. Black made the grade and was hailed by some as another "Don Newcombe."

He appeared in 56 games, winning 15 and saving at least 13 more. Despite his brilliant record eyebrows were lifted when Dreesen nominated Black to pitch the series opener against the mighty New York Yankees.

Casey Gives No Excuses For Defeat

"You can't guess the ball that goes over the fence," said Casey Stengel.

The grey, gravel-voiced manager of the New York Yankees did not look particularly sad Wednesday after losing the first game of the World Series to the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he didn't look happy either.

Three home runs did it for the Dodgers, putting the Yankees one down in the opening game just as they were last year against the Giants when they went on to win.

Duke Snider was the big gun for the Dodgers as he hit a long two-run homer in the sixth with Pee Wee Reese on base. Jackie Robinson and Reese also hit homers for Brooklyn as they out-hit the Yanks 4-2.

The Yankees scored in the third on Gil McDougald's homer and again in the eighth.

Stengel, the constant juggler of lineups, was asked what he had in mind for Thursday. "Don't know whether I'll change or not," he replied. "Woodling looked good. He ran pretty good. If Woodling don't crumble up during the night, I must put him in the game."

Gene Woodling slammed a pinch hit triple in the eighth and scored on Hank Bauer's fly.

Big Alie Reynolds, the Yankee ace who had his troubles, admitted afterwards that he couldn't get his curve over. "You can't make any mistakes in this little ball park," said Reynolds.

Vic Raschi will carry the Yankee pitching hopes Thursday. He had an earnest conversation with catcher Berra, presumably to get the low-down on those Dodge home run hitters.

Yogi-talk Carey with Rams

By ALEX LAGGINS
State News Sports Editor

Bob Carey, all-time MSC sports great, is now playing with the Los Angeles Rams. He is also enrolled in Los Angeles State College. Carey was a sensation during the exhibition schedule while in for injured Elroy Hirsch. Bob expects to come back to the spring term and take the courses he is lacking for graduation.

Athletic Director Ralph Young, who has seen many Michigan games, calls the blocking by Michigan in the quarter of last Saturday's game the best he has ever seen opening day. He said the interference Michigan was able to in front of the ball-carrier told most of the story of Michigan's 13-0 lead.

A surprise visitor the other day was O. J. Mazza. O. J., a member of last year's undefeated squad, was put on the waiver list by Washington Redskins. Mazza, trying to break into the highly competitive pro game, seemed a sure bet to stick with the Redskins, was regarded as one of the best defensive ends on the team. A good showing against the Detroit Lions, Coach Buddy Parker of the Motor City crew reportedly tried to get O. J. in a trade, but Redskins wouldn't deal. He survived every cut the Redskins made until Washington was only one over the player limit. They released O. J. If he isn't picked up by another club, he will be a free agent and probably play ball in Canada where his brother Matt is a player-manager.

Footballer Paul Dekker is also a handy man with a pistol. Camp Gordon, Ga., ROTC camp last summer, he helped State's team win the ROTC camp title for the second straight year. Competing against 13 other military police ROTC teams, the Michigan State crew scored 1,482 points out of a possible 1,750. Other members of the MSC squad were Bob Cunningham, Ed Irvin, Mickey Fouts, John Hofstetter, and Rob Lundberg.

More trouble for Coach John Kuhn... Roger Howard, the Michigan State's top hurler last spring, became the 25th Spartan baseball player since the war to sign a major league contract while still having college eligibility remaining. He signed with the White Sox. Other Spartans who signed last summer were Bill Bower with the Cubs and Bob Cleck with the Phillies.

Poor Syracuse faces Spartans twice this year. The Orange crew fell victims to an Al Dorow led Bowling Air Force 13-12 in the season opener. Besides Dorow, other ex-Spartans included John Tolancak and Dorne Dibble, who also was a top pro star for the Lions. Temple is coached by Al Kawai, assistant State during the regime of Charley Bachman. Bowling took the Quinceo Marines into camp in their opener, two touchdowns and Dorow engineered both of them. He threw one TD pass. Tan for the second one. Among the Marine team were such men as Jim Mutscheller of Notre Dame, Dick Flowers of North Carolina, and Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma and John Krestes of Purdue.

Boxing Coach George Makris is expected back from a 25-day tour of conducting boxing clinics for servicemen in Japan next week. Makris was asked to coach at the clinics by the commanding general of the U.S. Army Eastern Command.

A new addition to the Spartan athletic setup is the appointment of John Walter Morris, Jr., as assistant director of athletics. He was previously track and cross country coach at his alma mater, University of Arkansas.

opes Ride for Upset over State

Saturday's "Jinx" Day for the Oregon State football team. Biggie Munn's 100-yard run up to past performance.

The Spartans humbled the Oregon State eleven, 19-0, in the first game since 1959. It was a spell of the state's football team, which had lost the following Saturday to an underdog Maryville team.

The 21-7 score, with the Spartans on the short end, was what happened. On the day they played more than any other team in the state during the four-year reign of Coach Munn.

During the Maryland, Spartans recovered back field from a handed win and May 13-14 whipping the first victory in a series has now reached 16 straight wins after crushing the Washington State Spartans in the 1959 game. Oregon State Waits Spartans 'Jinx Day'

Hopes Ride for Upset over State

By BOB LEWIS
Saturday is "Jinx Day" for the Michigan State football team. Biggie Munn's boys live up to past performances.
The Spartans humbled a usually Michigan eleven, 14-7, the first time since 1937, as it under a spell of their home rivals, Michigan State, Saturday.
The underdog Maryland clash was the first since the Spartans' first victory in a streak of 16 straight wins, after crushing an 11-0 victory over the Ohio State Buckeyes, the Spartans' first win in a streak of 16 straight wins, after crushing an 11-0 victory over the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Future Foes Unbeaten
Top Teams on Tap for State

Football experts making their winter forecasts are predicting that the Spartans will have a hard time of it. The Spartans have given a big season's headache to Michigan State Coach Biggie Munn. Results of games played so far in the young 1951 season show the Spartans are the best team in the country, the experts agree. The Spartans are the only team in the country that has not lost a game. The Spartans are the only team in the country that has not lost a game.

Kush Still on Doubtful List as Team Flies West

Senior offensive guard Frank Kush is still a doubtful starter as the top-ranking Spartans went through their last full length workout yesterday on home grounds before they wing westward for a date with the Beavers of Oregon State Saturday.

Coach Biggie Munn called a special tune-up drill for 8 o'clock this morning. The Spartans will board buses at 10 for the airport after practice. Kush played Saturday, he will wear a special protective device to cushion his bruised hip. Kush also has an ankle sprain and has his hand in a partial cast. The replacement, Ferris Hallmark, is slated to see plenty of action even if the veteran Kush starts. Kush played Saturday, he will wear a special protective device to cushion his bruised hip. Old Grid Fallacy Debunked

The old belief that football players go to fat after their playing days has been refuted by a study at Michigan State College. Mark Hauser, O'Donnell, in a thesis for the degree of master of arts in physical education has put the lie to this popular theory. The purpose of the thesis, entitled "A Study of Longevity and Morbidity of Football Athletes at Michigan State College," was to compare various characteristics of varsity football letter winners with non-athletes. The Michigan State College football players included were those who participated from 1928 through 1937. The non-athletes investigated attended Michigan State during the same period.

Billy Wells, the Menominee meteor, is likely to see more and more action as the season progresses.

Wells, the hard-driving junior is proving a more experienced Vince Pisano, a senior and starter at the wingback slot. Wells was leading ground-gainer in the Michigan game with 84 yards and accounted for one of the touchdowns.

Munn, who has a bitter memory of the 25-20 upset on the coast three years ago, keeps hammering away at the squad, warning the players against overconfidence.

They're laying in ambush for us out there," Munn told his squad. "They're waiting in the bushes for us and they want to beat us. They'd just love to find you fat-headed, overconfident and losing."

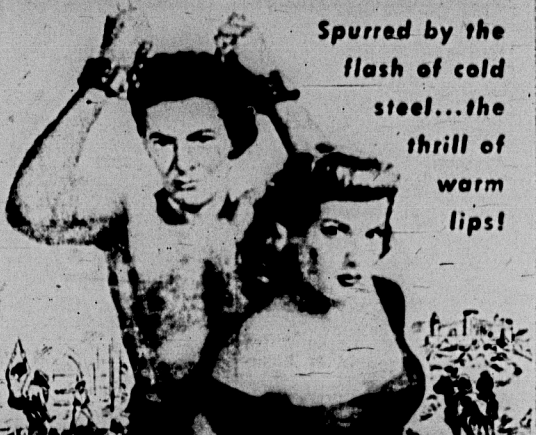

Many of the Spartan graders also have been given the standard nod. Center Dick Tamburo has been named to the all-American team of Woodward and Tamburo and end Paul Dekker are listed among the top 100 players.

Spurs Life: Capt. Don McAuliffe comes in for his share of the raves, too, as does halfback Billy Wells and guard Frank Kush.

And his clothes are no longer flashy, fancy and gaudy. For his apparel, he looks to Manhattan to reflect his quiet self-assured manner... his insistence on quality, comfort and casualness. Swings' Into Action

J-Hop Committee Plans Smoker

Working on plans for the J-Hop, are committee members, Doris Humes, co-chairman; Dick Lauver, president of the Junior class and Gene German, co-chairman.

Plans for the 1953 J-Hop will get into full swing with a smoker Tuesday at 7:30 for all juniors interested in working on the dance. Information tables will be set up in the Union parlors so prospective members may talk to last year's committee chairmen and sign up for the committee of their choice.

This year's dance is scheduled for Feb. 6 and 7 in the Auditorium. As in the past, one night will require semi-formal, the other formal dress.

A poll of juniors at registration showed the following preferences for a band: Billy May, 867; Ralph Flannigan, 774; Stan Kenton, 414; Jimmy Dorsey, 285; Ralph Marterie, 146; others, 188. It is not known which one of the top five will be available.

Gene German and Doris Humes, co-chairmen of the J-Hop, urge all juniors to come to the meeting and help plan what has come to be the biggest dance of the year at MSC.

Members are needed for the orchestra, decoration, favor, ticket, budget and intermission committees.

Highlights

"Uncle Fud," bearded and dressed like Daniel Boone, his costume covered with Eisenhower buttons, climbed on the platform just before the train departed. "Uncle Fud," a Californian, has been sparking the Republican conventions with his comic appearance for years.

Not all of the people at the rally were interested in Eisenhower.

A man in workman's togs, apparently a railroad employee, turned a deaf ear on a GOP party worker who was energetically doling out Ike-Nixon buttons from a manila envelope.

"I'm a Truman man," he explained, almost apologetically.

Three grade school boys, who enjoyed a half-holiday yesterday afternoon, were more engrossed in the gubernatorial race shaping up in Michigan than Democratic incumbent G. Mennen Williams and Republican Fred M. Alger, who was one of the Michigan Republicans in Ike's official party.

"Who you for?" one pestered the other two. "I'm for Williams, myself," he asserted.

Ending the brief session with those few who personally spoke to him, Eisenhower's parting sentences were strictly local.

Latvian Choir To Sing at Local Church

The Shield of Song Choir of Displaced Persons will present a concert in the sanctuary of Peoples Church in East Lansing at 7:30 Sunday evening. They are being brought back for a return engagement by popular request.

These Latvian singers, appearing in national costumes, will sing in both the Latvian and English languages. Arnold Kalnais is accompanist-conductor of the group.

The Latvian Choir originated about five years ago in the Latvian displaced persons camp "Valka," located in Nuremberg, Germany. Mr. Kalnais organized the chorus as a method of passing the dreary days when bomb supplies were at their worst and food supplies at a minimum.

Following the Vespers service a presentation of the life of the Foundation will be given in the Youth Parlors of the church. A coffee hour will end the evening.

Campus Vespers are presented each Sunday evening during the college year in the Peoples Church by the Christian Student Foundation of Michigan State College.

at 3:20 p.m. The train was transferred to the Michigan Central tracks.

Not before Ike was besieged by autograph seekers, though. There was a time limit on his signature, and only a few 12-year-olds can display the goods to their schoolmates today.

Writing's fun with the New "21"! You glide through school on a super-smooth point of Octanium, the wonderful new Parker ink. Ink is specially metered to prevent skips and blot.

What's more, the "21" stores more ink in a new type reservoir which you can see through. And Parker's exclusive, fool-proof hooded point protects against smudgy fingers. Choose your Parker "21" for school now!
