Trygve Lie Resigns UN Post, Steps Aside in Peace Attempt

UN Leader's Replacement Not Named

Associates Blame Reds, McCarran

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Trygve Lie, buffeted from one side by the Kremlin and from the other by a U.S. Congressional committee, submitted his resignation as secretary-general of the UN Monday.

In an emotion-choked voice, Lie told the General Assembly he was stepping aside in the hope that it would help bring peace to Korea. Russia has refused to deal with Lie because of his support of the UN in Korea.

Close associates said Lie was "fed up" with the Kremlin attacks with alleged sniping from the U.S. Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) and with actions of the UN's Budget Committee slicing big bites from expenditures which Lie considers as necessary.

The resignation will take effect when the General Assembly, acting on a Security Council recommendation, appoints a successor. The job pays $40,000 a year, net. Lie's present term runs until Feb. 1, 1954. He did not set a deadline for appointment of his successor.

Lie's announcement, made with no advance warning, burst on the 60-nation Assembly.

The audience included U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky.

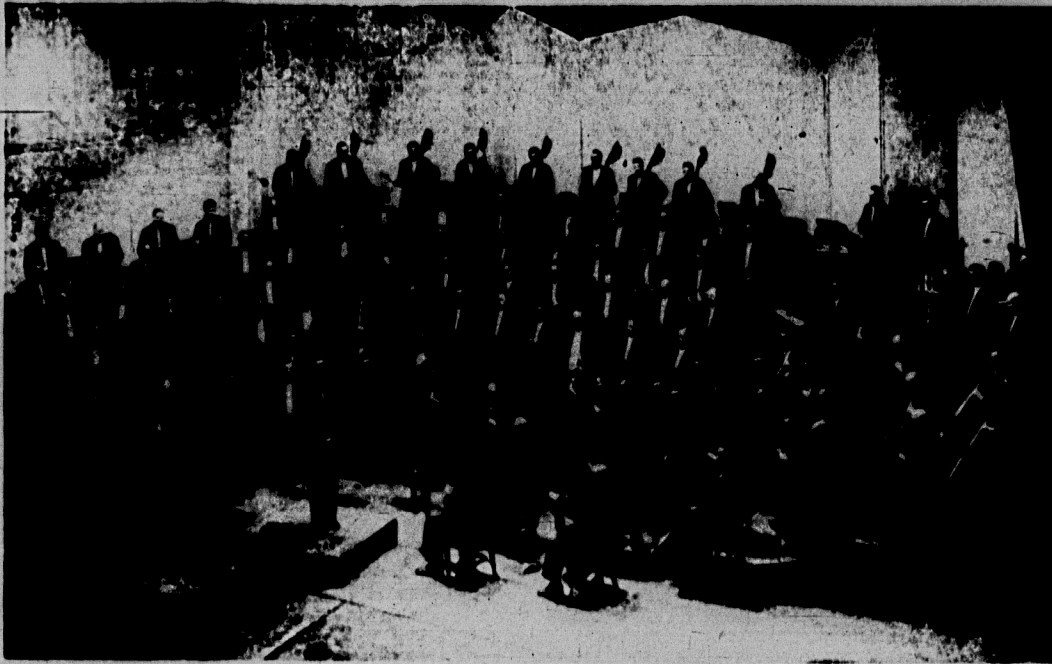

Speaking slowly, Lie said: "I am stepping aside now because I hope this may help the United Nations to save the peace. The United Nations has shown back aggression in Korea. There can be an armistice if the Soviet Union, the Chinese People's Republic and the North Koreans are sincere in their wish to end the fighting."

"If they are sincere, then a new secretary-general, who is the unanimous choice of the five great powers, the Security Council and of the General Assembly, may be more helpful than I can be. On the other hand, if the world situation should go from bad to worse, at least I would not want the position of secretary-general to hinder in the slightest degree any hope of reaching a new understanding that would prevent world disaster."

The Russians have refused to recognize Lie as secretary-general since his first five-year term ended Feb. 1, 1951. They refused to vote him an extension when the council took it up in November, 1950, and the U.S. threatened to veto anyone else. This difficulty was surmounted by having the veto-free Assembly extend his original term to 1954.

Since then Lie has come under fire of the Senate group headed by Sen. McCarran which has been investigating the activities of American Communists in the UN.

Open, Informal Dance Slated

A free, all-college mixer, co-sponsored by the Student Government and the Union Board will be held Saturday night on the second floor of the Union, from 9 to 12.

Keith Bartow's seven-piece orchestra will play in the ballroom and Bob Burbee's four-piece combo will play in the three parlors. The dance is informal.

This dance is paid for by the student tax and is open to everyone. No formal program has been planned, come and go as you want to.

Kies Hagadorn, chairman of the Spartan Spirit committee said yesterday.

Starting at 6:45 in front of the Union Building, the Varsity band will lead a parade around Circle Drive to the basketball arena where the dance will begin at 7:30.

Wolverine representatives will award prizes to the persons who bring the most wood for the bonfire.

Cheerleaders will hold a contest between upper and lower classmen to see which group can cheer loudest and best.

Included in the program will be a skill by Skip Semmer, Ann Archer junior, a musical number, and some comments by prominent sports personalities.

The sun, which has been in hiding the past two days, is supposed to reappear today to warm freezing Spartans. A 15 to 20 mile southwest wind is expected.

Student anti-participation in anti-British and anti-King Farouk demonstrations forced the Egyptian Ministry of Education to close the public schools and universities repeatedly. Until the end of February, Moore was able to teach fewer than half of his scheduled classes. This gave him and his wife time to visit the pyramids, many sections of Cairo, the ancient temples of Upper Egypt, and several Egyptian villages where visitors were seldom known.

During the scheduled mid-year vacation, the Moores traveled to the Red Sea, the Nile, and the Sinai Peninsula.

Moody Silent On Possibility Of Recount

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Blair Moody declined yesterday to say whether he will seek a recount in the Michigan election of which he lost his seat to Republican Charles Potter.

"No comment," was Moody's reply when reporters asked him at the White House whether he would demand a recount of the voting figures, which gave Potter an unofficial margin of 37,000 votes.

Moody called on President Truman to give him a report on what happened in Michigan when Democratic Governor G. Mennen Williams narrowly won reelection while Moody and Democratic presidential nominee A. J. A. Stevenson failed to carry the state.

Four Youths Held By Local Police For M-78 Theft

Four men were picked up by East Lansing police at about 5:30 Sunday morning and are being held for investigation by Michigan State Police of a robbery of a billing station at Perry Junction on M-78 about 10 miles from East Lansing.

The men are John Quits, 18 of Detroit, James Morris Hall, 20, of Detroit, Billy Joe Miller, 19, of Detroit and Willy E. Graves, 25, of Flint.

They were picked up after a station attendant notified East Lansing police that $40 was missing from the cash register.

An MSC student, David Lynn Holmes, 22, of 1100 W. Michigan Ave. was picked up by East Lansing police early Sunday morning. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly and will be turned over to college authorities for disciplinary action after prosecution by local police.

APO Begins Blood Donor Registration

National Drive Gives MSC 600 Pint Quota

Registration to donate blood in the coming Alpha Phi Omega blood donor drive, begins today at 9 a.m. in the Union Concourse.

All students and faculty members wishing to donate blood may make an appointment to donate today through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., according to Will Stezik, president of APO.

Restrictions require donors to be 18 or over, to present parental consent if under 21, to have had no shots within six weeks, to weigh over 110 pounds, and not to have had yellow jaundice.

A Red Cross unit will be in the ping pong room on the fourth floor of the Union from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday from 4 a.m. to 10 p.m. to take the blood contributions.

Before Spartans may donate blood, the Red Cross will take a complete medical history, pulse, blood pressure and temperature check, and a hemoglobin test to protect both the donors and the receiver.

No foods containing fats such as butter, milk, gravy or cream may be eaten by the donor for four hours before giving blood.

The latest national blood drive began three weeks ago and the East Lansing quota for 1952 has been set at 12,500 pints with 600 pints being the goal for the APO drive.

Two other blood drives will take place at MSC at other times during the year.

Edwards Receives Wolverine Cover

Doug Edwards, CBS television news reporter, received the first copy of the 1953 Wolverine cover shortly before his nightly newscast, Oct. 23. Bob Scott, Wolverine business manager, made the presentation. He and three other yearbook staff members were in New York attending a publications convention at the time.

Edwards and Don Hewitt, the program director, spoke at the convention on the methods they use to gather news for a broadcast.

Afterward, they showed the Wolverine staff members through the complete production of their program, including makeup and rehearsal.

The ticket office will be open during the noon hour for the convenience of students having classes morning and afternoon on their day of exchange.

Taught Year at Farouk U.

MSC Professor Returns from Egypt

By MARY ALICE RITCHLIN

Prof. Austin I. Moore of the Department of History at Civilian College has returned to the campus after a year in Egypt. He was one of 33 Americans, including professors, teachers, research scholars and students, to serve in Egyptian educational institutions under the terms of the Fulbright Act for International Exchange of Persons. He was attached to Farouk I University in Alexandria, Egypt, as a professor of History of Civilization, and taught that subject to juniors and seniors.

Farouk I University, renamed after the abdication of King

Farouk, has an enrollment of about 7,000 men and women and is divided into eight colleges. It has a basic college system and students start specializing at once in such subjects as medicine, law, agriculture, engineering and the liberal arts. The result is the production of narrow specialists who have little general knowledge of the world and its problems and may easily become victims of demagogues and propaganda, Moore said.

The University also lacks a rounded extra-curricular program, and very little emphasis is placed upon athletics. Consequently, the time of the student is released for political activity.

Egyptian students are far more politically conscious than are American students, according to Moore. He says the wholesale destruction of foreign establishments in Cairo last January was, in no small part, a result of their activity.

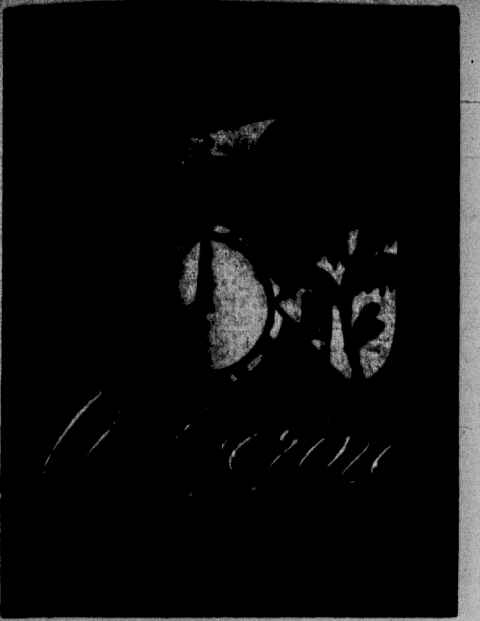

In spite of the extreme anti-foreign feeling, particularly against the British, which prevailed in Egypt last fall and winter, Moore found his own students to be very friendly, likeable and co-operative. With them, he was able to visit mosques, native bazaars, and the leonine Azab sections of Alexandria where foreigners rarely dared venture alone.

Student anti-participation in anti-British and anti-King Farouk demonstrations forced the Egyptian Ministry of Education to close the public schools and universities repeatedly. Until the end of February, Moore was able to teach fewer than half of his scheduled classes. This gave him and his wife time to visit the pyramids, many sections of Cairo, the ancient temples of Upper Egypt, and several Egyptian villages where visitors were seldom known.

During the scheduled mid-year vacation, the Moores traveled to the Red Sea, the Nile, and the Sinai Peninsula.

Wolverine Selling Contest Opens Today

By PAT WARD

Members of the Wolverine sales staff met yesterday to plan for a sales campaign which starts today.

Bob Scott, business manager, explained the rules for the contest. The person who sells the most books in the next six days, will receive a portrait of himself, compliments of LeClear Studios.

Each male and female student will receive notebooks and pens. The Wolverine cover design contest will be on sale at all term registration desks. Lists of all the books in each living unit that will be sold at term registration desks will be given to representatives of each unit. They will try to get each of the students.

Books will be on sale in the Union Building tomorrow and in the afternoon in the evening. Books will be on sale in the Union Building all day Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Students planning to purchase books should get them as soon as possible. Sturzik estimated 500 books will be sold. The sales campaign is commencing last year, 500 students turned down when they learned that yearbooks after sales deadline.

The promotion activity will begin in the Union Building before the Notre Dame game.

The living unit which will win the most wood will be awarded an autographed by the Wolverine staff.

Senior Magazine Out Wednesday

Senior Magazine will be published tomorrow instead of Wednesday as previously planned.

The magazine will be on sale at the Union Building, Hall, Physical Education Building, Natural Science and Social Science buildings.

Vishinsky Sticks to PW Demand

Red Renews Appeal for Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky said flatly yesterday that the Soviet Union will "not budge" from its demand for repatriation of all prisoners of war in Korea. He rejected two compromise proposals and renewed his appeal for a new commission to settle the Korean conflict.

An American spokesman said immediately that the UN never would consent to driving prisoners of war back to Communist countries against their will. Other delegations gloomily agreed that the Korean stalemate continued unabated and that Vishinsky had done nothing to point the way to a solution.

The red-faced Soviet foreign minister insisted time and again in a two-hour and 32 minute speech to the 60-nation UN Political Committee that a prisoner of war is a soldier and has no choice about repatriation under the Geneva Convention.

He injected a new element in the discussions here by charging that the United States was so insistent against repatriation because the U.S. wanted to use the prisoners to build up a force destined for subversive action against the Soviet Union and countries of the peoples' democracies—which is his way of referring to what the West calls the Communist bloc.

Shortly after Vishinsky spoke, UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced in a sudden dramatic appearance before the full Assembly that he was resigning effective immediately.

Lie said the reason for his move was the hope that the big powers could agree on a secretary-general and thus take a step toward agreement on settling the Korean War.

Lie has been on the Soviet blacklist since he urged the Security Council to meet the North Korean aggression at the start of the war in June, 1950.

College 'Marshall Plan' Education Majors Enjoy Study Group

MSC has initiated a unique plan of a community study group for elementary education majors. This plan, the only one of its kind in the country, offers to some privileged juniors and seniors a little more than just teaching.

Ten years ago, Dr. Troy L. Stearns, professor of elementary education, founded the "Marshall Plan." Officially known as the Marshall Field Study Group, this program is held in Marshall Hall every fall term. Its purpose is to give future teachers an overall view and understanding of national surroundings, social and economic life and available resources in communities, and to help them apply this knowledge to the school program.

This term, 22 girls were selected from applicants to go to Marshall Hall. They have four other terms. The girls live in private homes and take part in community projects as well as doing student teaching in the school.

The 18-credit course begins with a study of the community as a whole. Relating the community to the school, it eventually leads to actual teaching. This group is working in four different elementary schools.

Interviews are arranged with laymen and professions in industry, business, education, government, religion and recreation. This way, much is learned about the environment of the child.

Each week Dr. Stearns conducts a class in which an evaluation of the previous week's work is made. A rotating committee of three students meets each week to plan the schedule for the following week. They plan field trips to museums, factories, farms, and municipal departments, such as fire stations and police.

Prof's Attend Radio, TV Convention

Three members of the MSC faculty attended an annual convention of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters at Michigan State University Nov. 5-8. Those who attended from MSC were Robert J. O'Brien, director of WKAR, Dr. Armand Hunter, director of Television Development, and John J. Jorgensen, instructor in Speech, Dramatics and Radio Education.

Governor's Vote Tally Nears End

Williams' Edge Still Over 7,000

DETROIT (AP)—With State Police keeping ballot boxes under security for an expected recount, canvassers neared the end of their task yesterday in tallying up the Michigan vote for governor.

The official canvass was completed in 71 of the state's 83 counties, giving Williams a lead of 7,000 votes by unofficial count over Republican Fred M. Alger Jr. These were the totals:

Alger 1,422,953
Williams 1,429,055

In Van Buren county the canvass had been completed but then was called back when officials discovered an error in counting split ballots. Discovery of the error cut the Williams margin by 58.

Only the state's larger counties still were to be reported on by the canvass. These included Wayne, where the workers were expected to make the official tally from the county's 1,831 precincts by the end of the week.

Since the canvassing started, Williams has held a lead in the neighborhood of 7,000 votes.

At the Governor's request, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Child assigned 250 state troopers and a number of detectives to check ballot-box seals.

Republicans are expected to ask a recount if Williams' margin is less than 10,000.

Alger said yesterday, "I feel I would be derelict in my duty if I did not ask for a recount if the race continues at its present W41 margin."
