One metropolitan Michigan daily went so far as to rut anotes from McAuliffe's Chicago friends saving in effect He was always a nice, clean-cut kid when we knew him. This is the same type of thing that newspapers publish when a previously level-headed person goes berserk and turns baby killer.

Another paper made a point of including the words, "ticket scalpine incident and robbery." Where any of the papers picked up information about McAuliffe intending to charge more than the regular price for the tickets is still a source of mystery, because no one in a position to know the details has made such statements. accounts have varied with some papers setting the price at $35 and at the other extreme, some have said that he

Even if the reports were correct, there was still no erime committed and there would not have been until the time when the money and the tickets were exchanged, Obviously this never came about, the one fact that all papers are acreed upon

News of the robbers was not released until Monday following the same for the simple reason that police believed that they had an accurate listing of all the seats. A guard was set up at the game and the people sitting in the listed seats were questioned. Unfortunately, no news is yet available about whether or not the investigation was successful.

The College has promised to release further details on the incident as soon as they are available. Meanwhile, the sportswriters will have to sit back and sharpen their journatistic wits waiting for something eise which they can twist to read as they want it.

Maybe Michigan State's prontinence as a football power has been a galling factor to many of the men who for-merly thought of State as a "cow college" and now find it, preconcilable to think or as as we actually are today.

TO THE EDITOR. .

We have just read about the Friday night. We believe that this sort of thing is a true and somewhat desirable displayed Spartan spirit. No one was burt and nothing was dismaged to any extent At this point we believe that the East Lettsing police department should be considered to the constant of the constant omplimented on its very official most toleration and understandthe students and the disturbance was rapidly and easily put down.

We now come to our disrespected and unappreciated campus police. It is our opinion that a change in the diplomery employed by the campus police would not have the defiance point out a comparison to East

State troopers. The latter two torces look very sharp and neat at all times. Our campus police does not seem to live up to these standards. One just does not wear white socks with a dark uniform, especially with trousers that are an inch or two short These things they wear on their heads hardily improve or even benefit their appearance. ### It's Easy to Put Out A Newspaper.

A Viewpoint

It's easy to put out a newspaper.

The reporters, young and inexperienced as they are, rarely get the facts wrong. People are always identified correctly in stories and pictures. Nobody is ever mis-

If there's ever an error in fact, the people involved

send in letters or call up or come in and say:
"We understand perfectly. It's really okay. An occasional error can't be helped. Don't worry about it." And another wonderful thing is that nobody ever ques tions your right to opinions. They always say: "Well, we disagree with you, but you have a right to say what you want,"

And even when you criticize anybody in the administration or some other bigwig, he still acts just as friendly as ever to you, and smiles, "We're still friends. I understand you're just doing a job. You don't have to tell me you don't make up the news. You just report it. Forget it." Your staff, never forgets to get the important news in the next day's paper, and it always gets in all those short little items to keep the various campus groups happy and And the advertising staff always says: 1

"Sure, we understand you need the space. We'll only ran 30, per cent advertising today." And if there's ever a mistake in an ad, the advertiser calls up and says; Don't worry about it. We'll pay just the same. It's understandable. By the way, how would you like some extra advertising

810,000 Check For Program

A $10,000 check for continuing a driver education program at MSC which reaches both adults and high school students was giv-en to the college Monday after-noon by the Michigan Inter-In-dustry Highway Safety Commit-

James Mason, committee chairman, presented the check to Fres. John A. Hannah at a luncheon in Kellogg Center.

Prof Leslie R. Silvernale of the Continuing Education Service explained that the program aims at reaching more than 350 high schools which offer driving courses. Workshop and educational conferences are held on campus to study driver education problems.

Silvernale said that a credit course designed to train students of education, high school teachers of driving, and other adults has been established on campus. Future plans include the use of television in teaching driver training.
