'A Sound Idea'

Dean Emmons Lauds Televising of Game

Dean-emeritus Lloyd C. Emmons, athletic council chairman, said Tuesday that a proposal introduced into the state Legislature to televise this fall's Michigan State-Michigan football game is "a sound idea."

Emmons had favorable words for the video suggestion introduced in a joint resolution Monday night by Sen. Harold Ryan (D-Detroit). He also called the proposal to play the annual classic on a home-and-home basis the best solution.

"There is definite hope that this year's game may be televised," Emmons said. "While a game is a relief on this season's control is bound to be, a very good chance exists that the NCAA may permit televising."

Emmons said that the NCAA policy on grid video is not a static one and may be altered from season to season to allow for certain flexibility in the set-up of the "Game of the Week."

While controlled television will be moving into its third season, Emmons said that the yearly regulations are determined by a committee representing various football conferences and regions. The rules for the 1953 season, he said, have not yet been issued.

Emmons said that Fritz C. C. University of Michigan athletic director who originally proposed a change in the "B" game site, is a Big Ten representative on the policy-forming committee.

"Exceptions are always provided for in such rulings as that of the NCAA on television, and this might be one of those cases," Emmons said. "The Game of the Week" idea can apply to regions as well as to the entire nation.

According to Ryan's resolution, an NCAA attempt to force the two schools to adhere to its policy could be followed by a request of the two governing boards that the Attorney General of Michigan seek a Federal Court injunction.

Rosenberg Execution Postponed

Supreme Court Awaits Petition

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-month-old Julius and Ethel Rosenberg won a new stay of execution Tuesday until March 30 or longer for another appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

A three-man Federal Appeals Court said it could not in good conscience deny them a final appeal.

The Rosenbergs were scheduled to die in Sing Sing prison's electric chair the week of March 9—a date fixed only yesterday after a previous stay of execution.

However, Judge Learned Hand of the U.S. Court of Appeals told their lawyer:

"We will give you a stay until March 30 and, if your petition is filed then, then whatever the Supreme Court decides to do is up to that court and the stay will not expire until they have acted."

Rosenberg, 34, and his tiny, 36-year-old wife were condemned to death last April 5 for a wartime conspiracy to betray atom bomb secrets to Soviet Russia. Repeated legal appeals have delayed their execution.

The Supreme Court twice has refused to intervene in the case.

U. of M. Greets Visitors from Legislature

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan put on its Sunday best today and greeted 63 visiting members of the state Legislature as "yellow stockholders in a great enterprise."

The meeting was a frank and to strengthen future financial support for the university.

The lawmakers, here in response to an invitation from University President Harlan H. Hatcher, were feted by the school's top administrators in a move Hatcher later described as one designed to "strengthen the relationship between the school and the Legislature."

Reckless Driving Charge Faced by College Employee

Forest B. Sherman, an electrician at the College, was charged with reckless driving in an accident which caused injury to Gerald Richardson, 1143 Frye St., East Lansing, senior on Feb. 14.

Sherman was driving the wrong way on Grand River Ave., when Richardson ran into his car, East Lansing police report.

The right window of Sherman's car was ruined by the collision, police said.

Richardson, who was running across Grand River, near Berkeley Hall, is reported in good condition by college hospital officials.

He was taken to the hospital for treatment of a fractured left shoulder blade in his back.

1,000 Aspire

Scholars Strive for Degrees

Four years of college is enough to satisfy most MSC students' yearning for learning, but over 1,000 campus scholars don't think that's enough. These studious 1,400 enrolled fall term in the School of Graduate Studies to work toward master's or doctor's degrees.

The School of Graduate Studies was established as a separate department in 1930, although advanced degrees had been offered at MSC before this.

Dean Ernst A. Sawyer, who had served for several years as chairman of the Advanced Degree Committee, was put in charge of the newly formed department.

The enrollment in the first year of the grad school totaled 254, only a little more than one-fifth the number of students now seeking advanced degrees in the fields offering master's degrees, 34 of them, or doctor's degrees, 19 of them.

Dean Sawyer, who has served in an advisory capacity since the School of Graduate Studies was turned over to Dr. Thomas H. Orndorff, summed up the reasons for the extra effort toward education.

"As the level of knowledge of the majority of people rises," he said, "those who would be true leaders must progress further and further in their own education."

Rescue Survivors

Crewmen of a Coast Guard patrol boat engage in the grim task of picking up bodies from the Gulf of Mexico, where a National Airlines DC-4 crashed into storm-tossed waters. The plane was en route to New Orleans from Tampa, Fla., with 46 persons aboard. Bodies of 17 have been recovered.

Republicans Greet Stevenson

Adlai, Ike Discuss Previous Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson swapped campaign reminiscences with President Eisenhower at the White House Tuesday.

Arriving at the executive mansion, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate whimsically remarked to newsmen:

"These Republicans are treating me so nicely that I think I'm beginning to like Washington—maybe too much."

The former Illinois governor was escorted about with Eisenhower for 20 minutes before leaving for 20 Congress members.

"I leave the White House without any secret agreements," he said. "This was an allusion to Eisenhower's recent denunciation of secret agreements negotiated by past Democratic administrations which the President suggested may have jeopardized the enslavement of free peoples behind the Soviet iron curtain."

Stevenson said Eisenhower was "very cordial and courteous and anxious to be of any assistance he could" in helping to arrange Stevenson's forthcoming round-the-world trip, he leaves March 2.

"With a chuckle, Stevenson said that in talking with the President, he was somewhat pressured to learn that Eisenhower, like himself, had experienced some moments last year when he didn't think he could get through another day of campaigning."

Earlier, Stevenson dropped into the State Department for a visit with Secretary of State Dulles.

International Relations Club To Give Test

The International Relations Club will give a current events test, part of a nation-wide contest, in Room 100 of Berkeley Hall at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The test will cover national, international and troubling areas in the news. The competition is taking place throughout the country but each club is entitled to a winner. Any student may enter.

The local winner of the test may choose from a list of four books for his prize.

Warmer? No Snow, Cloudy Skies Today Says Report

The little white flakes that filled the air Tuesday should be gone today. According to the weather bureau, it will be cloudy but warmer.

The freezing point, 32 degrees, will be the high. Predicted low is eight degrees. The forecast shows winds from the south at 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Creager Quits Senior Office

Frank Creager, senior class treasurer, handed in his resignation as class treasurer to the Senior Council Tuesday night. Creager will graduate at the end of winter term instead of in June as he had originally planned.

The matter of filling the vacant office will be discussed at Senior Council meeting next Tuesday night.

The regular weekly Senior Coffee Hour has been scheduled for today from 4 to 5 p.m. All seniors are invited to attend.

No Plans Made For Blockade Of Red China

First Press Conference Told Tax Cuts to Wait

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday he supposes government departments are looking into the question of a naval blockade or embargo of Communist China, but that he himself isn't considering it officially.

Eisenhower also said tax cuts ought to wait until a balanced budget is in sight—he doesn't know when that might be—and that he will go right back to Congress and ask for more controls if price gouging starts.

Those were three of the eight items the President tackled in a 32-minute news conference—his first since moving into the White House.

While the conference was on, it ranged over these additional topics:

Farm prices—The President says there's a serious problem here—inherited from the Truman administration—although heel prices have started back up now. Eisenhower intends to stick by campaign promises to carry out the present price support law that expires at the end of next year, then replace it with a new farm program. The new program, he said, will reflect the view of farmers, consumers and all America.

Atom bomb—The President says as far as he is concerned it's absolutely true that Russia has exploded atomic weapons and is building up a supply of them. That makes twice that Eisenhower, in effect, has challenged former President Truman's statement questioning whether Russia really has the A-bomb.

Korea—Eisenhower wouldn't go so far as to say it is his intention eventually to replace American troops with South Koreans. As long as the United Nations carry responsibility in Korea, he said, he doesn't believe they can remove themselves entirely.

Secret agreements—The President doesn't want Congress to repudiate in whole any once-secret agreements—such as the Yalta Pact. But steps will be taken to make it clear that never has the heart of America agreed to the enslavement of any people.

Legislators showed little enthusiasm Tuesday for the so-called "Princeton plan" for solving the state's financial mess.

The most common complaint termed the plan "impractical."

The plan was generated Tuesday by two Princeton law consultants, Drs. William V. O'Neil and John F. Nye.

The plan was submitted to the citizens' advisory committee to the Higgins legislative tax study committee. It still must be passed upon by the citizens group, the tax study committee and the full Legislature.

Briefly, the plan calls for winning out this year's deficit of $25 million to $35 million by redistributing various state grants-in-aid to local governments and schools.

It would wipe out the accumulated deficit of $45 million by recouping the $30 million veterans' trust fund and moving up the collection date of the $25 million corporation franchise tax.

Dr. Nye, one of the authors, conceded the plan was a long time in the making and that temporary or emergency additional taxes would be needed for several years.

Council Votes Official Regret On Shaw Death

The East Lansing City Council voted last night to officially express regret for the recent death of Robert S. Shaw, president-emeritus of MSC.

Councilman Struthers read a resolution recognizing Shaw's achievements and services, calling him "one of the leading educators in the country."

The council also voted to support House bills 82, 83 and 34, and to notify the state Legislature of their support. The bills would repeal state control over the payment of a minimum salary to policemen and firemen, and also repeal the state's sky-so on hours and vacations for the employees.

At present, under the state's governing, firemen and policemen operate under the "two platoon" system. This provides that the employees work for 24 hours, and then are off work for 24 hours. An additional day off is given every 16 days. This additional day is referred to as Kelly Day.

John Patriarch, East Lansing city manager, said that the state control over the firemen and policemen employed by the city is contrary to the home rule system.

The council also scheduled a public hearing for March 16 on a proposed sewer and drain in the Grand River alley between Abbott Road and Charles Street. Estimated cost of the project is $12,000, of which the city would pay $17,000.

Prof. Russell Nye has been appointed as chairman of the Education Directors.

The professors will be chosen on the basis of their ability in relation to the work of a department or group of departments.

The date of arrival of the professor, who is expected to arrive in both students and faculty has not yet been set.

Prof Visiting Plan Receives Ag Board Aid

A fund for a continuing program of visiting professors to Michigan State College was recently appropriated by the State Board of Agriculture.

This program will make it possible for the college to bring to the campus each year, professors of international standing, according to Dean Milton Mueller, dean of Science and Arts.

The program, originally proposed by the School of Science and Arts is expected to begin this coming academic year. It will bring to the campus, persons who will become members of a department for the duration of an academic year.

Prof. Russell Nye has been appointed as chairman of the Education Directors.

The professors will be chosen on the basis of their ability in relation to the work of a department or group of departments.

Congress Expected To Take Up Bills

Agenda Includes Finance Bill, Big Ten Constitution, Office Oaths

—By MARGARET FULLER
State News Associate Editor

Student Congress is expected to take up bills requiring compulsory publication of financial statements for campus organizations, oaths of office and the Big Ten constitution at its meeting at 7 this evening in Room 32 of the Union.

Left over from previous meetings are resolutions on the three constitutional amendment proposals and a bill covering elections. This evening's meeting was set as the deadline for introducing a series of bills revamping old ordinances.

The bill requiring publication of budgets covers all four classes, the student government, Campus Chest and Chest Bureau. As now written "all organizations under the jurisdiction of student government" may be required to publish financial statements.

The Big Ten constitution along with the bills on financial statements and oaths of office, will be taken up in the Congress Business and State Affairs Committee at 5 p.m. in the Student Government Office. The constitution sets up a Big Ten student government organization.

Section 3 of the constitution permits the presidents of Western Conference schools to issue policy statements of the Big Ten government on any issues at the annual presidents conference. The center of most debate over the constitution is on this point.

The Dean's List

By Dean Wakefield
State News Manager

Do you feel integrated? Have you lost that comfortable family-knit feeling?

Don't be alarmed. The feeling isn't uncommon among college students. Yet it can be alleviated, although the cost in hardships involved and privileges denied is too much for many of us.

There are ways you can get around the dread disease, organizationalitis, although, if you're a woman, you can't escape a touch of it, since when you enroll you automatically become a member in good standing of Associated Women Students.

Try these dodges:

Don't talk too much. Someone may overhear you and drag you into the Debating Club.

Don't be the shy type. They're too often mistaken for workers and every organization is looking for their kind. Don't be capitalistic. You may be snatched into the activities of the Society for the Advancement of Management since they're always looking for recruits to the cause.

Shun communism. You may be lured into one of the many feverishly active Red cells on campus working hard to be discovered by a Congressional investigating committee.

Give up sex. You could wander into the evils of one of the many campus publications like the State News, Wolverine, Spartan or Statesman.

Quit debauching. One of those good-for-nothing intramural outfits like the Els or the Lushwell A.C. is hot for you.

Stay out of the Union. You may become Griller of the Week and then everybody will be chasing you down for membership.

Don't make with the fast buck. You'll be spotted, for sure, and the first thing you know you'll be asked to contribute to Campus Chest.

Don't be a miser. You'll be a likely prospect for the Society for the Encouragement of Cheaper Mayonnaise.

Never major in anything. If you do, you're sure to be swept out of class into the Engineering Council, the Home Ec Club, the Lit Club or another of the sundry outfits aiming to add your name to their roll call.

Never graduate. You might be tempted to take graduate work, and then you'd be eligible for the Graduate Students Association.

Don't voice opinions. Student Government is looking for people who have them.

Letters to the Editor

FIGHTS STADIUM SWITCH

To the Editor:
No! No! No! We don't want to play our football game in the crater "Mother Michigan" unless for a stadium. When are the wishes of the students going to be heeded? State students cannot see one advantage of going to Ann Arbor to see their team play.

If football really is played for the students, and it becomes more evident daily that it is not, then why not play the game here?

How can State students stand to gain by this move when it will cost them money to go to Ann Arbor? Actually the only people who stand a chance to gain anything is the large retinue of paunchy alumni that Michigan always has following her.

The only gain that could possibly be found would be for both schools in a shameful monetary war in which each school would gain $70,000. If this move is made that could be the only possible reason coming at a time when a great cry has arisen for the de-emphasis of football as a business.

There are plenty of seats in Macklin Field for the students of both schools and their faculties. Has Michigan, for the past four years, ever worried about whether or not all State students could see the game when it has been played there? She has not! She has dictated our policies for almost four years, isn't it time this stopped?

If the game is played at Ann Arbor next fall, it is certain that State will never again have the opportunity of seeing this classic played on her field.

All we ask is that for once the students be heard. We want to see the Spartans come on the field against Michigan in Macklin Field next fall and not where Michigan wills that they should meet.

WRITER WANTS TRUCE

To the Editor:
I believe that the subject of cheating has been just a wee bit overworked. The only subject thus far untouched is "Those too lazy to cheat."

Why don't you, who advocate cheating, wrap a cloak of evil about your black boards and quietly steal away in the night. You people, who are on a crusade against cheating, can sneak your lit-white minds under a basket and keep them there. You've all killed the issue. Please quit kicking the body.

ANONYMOUS WANTS NAMES

To the Editor:
I can't understand why so many letters to the editor are signed "Name withheld by request." To my knowledge not one student has ever written "Name withheld by request" on the answer sheet of a quiz, although sometimes that space is left blank.

Perhaps some students think that their name is inferior to other names, but I think a person should have enough pride in his name, whatever it is, not to hide it behind the shield "Name withheld by request."

Leadership Clinic

The Student Government has displayed a paternal interest in the campus organizations by sponsoring the leadership clinic.

The government reached out to the student groups with a "we'll help you to help yourselves" attitude. The program was effective in getting many groups to the government office to use the mimeograph machine. In a fatherly manner they passed out a list of rules and regulations governing campus organizations.

The clinic served as another way for the government to put its name before the students. It was a method to make the student government a vital part of student life. It was a way to spend the tax money.

The sponsors of the clinic wanted to get students who are not affiliated with an organization interested in some group or club. This can only come with time. The clinic can only aim at such a goal.

It is the job of those who attended the clinic and their groups to put it into effect.

Wrong Angle on TV

A resolution introduced in the State Senate Monday night by Senator Ryan (D-Detroit) has thrown the MSC-Michigan football game into even more limelight than it has enjoyed (or endured) in the past few weeks.

The resolution demands that the much-discussed game this season be televised with or without approval of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), ruling body over college sports.

The proposed stadium switch prompted an unprecedented amount of publicity and now Senator Ryan's proposal focuses the spotlight from a different angle.

The game, he says, is "strictly an internal affair inside the borders of Michigan and not subject to the will or caprice of any outside organization whether the college or university belongs to it or not."

Televising the game may be perfectly all right because the affair will be a sellout no matter where it is played and because of the statewide interest in the game.

However, Senator Ryan's proposal does not ring true. If the game is televised, it should be done with approval by the NCAA, of which both Michigan State and Michigan are voluntary members.

If this association is to have any real power in college athletics, it must be supported by all of its members. The power to decide on television is only one of its many necessary duties.

The NCAA protects the interests of its members and we are not in a position to deny its authority on one point and expect its services on other points.

Just About Anything

Bird-Doggerel

By PHIL GUNBY
State News Associate Editor

Time was when people liked bird dogs.

Bird dogs were always associated with a merry romp through the woodland in search of game, or a pleasant after-the-hunt period of repose in front of a roaring fireplace. In the former scene, the bird dog kept one company—in the latter, man's best friend kept the feet warm.

Just how a name connected with such mellow memories came to be hitched up with the evil art of trying to conjure up relations with somebody else's date... well, I don't know.

Why, even in that fine old song of "South Pacific" fame, "There Is Nothing Like a Dame" they talk of the ideal gal being faithful as a bird dog.

But, be that as it may, the bird dog (via association) has fallen into disrepute. And if I were a bird dog (in the physical sense), I'd be sore about it—as sore as a guy or gal who has been bird dogged-upon (in the social sense).

A collegiate bird dogger I met at Purdue this weekend tells me he hasn't the slightest idea how the term fell into its present connotation. But, says he (a veteran of 11 successful bird dog missions, by his own admission), maybe it's because of similar aggressive characteristics on the part of both while in search of the quarry.

Well, whatever the reason, I'm for changing things. Either put an end to bird dogging socially, which seems unlikely and even impossible, or find a new term to describe the whole foul process. (If there's a trace of bitterness in my tone, blame it on my being on the receiving end of bird dog attacks too frequently.)

For instance, it might be called "date-napping" or "body snatching" (in a genteel way, of course), or even "party larceny."

Anyhow, whatever you call the practice, it's for sure that its practitioners aren't man's (or the coed's, usually) best friend.

Career opportunities with Continental

Positions in technical and non-technical fields

Continental Can Company, established in 1905, is one of the nation's 50 largest corporations. It operates 65 plants in the U.S., Canada and Cuba, 17 field research offices and 63 sales offices. Continental does business in every important processing or manufacturing section of the country.

Continental Makes Opportunities. Continental is not only growing in its original field, but entering others. In addition to cans, it now makes paper containers, steel and fibre drums, crowns (bottle caps) and cork products, laminated plastics and aircraft parts. It maintains comprehensive laboratory research programs to improve present packaging and processing methods and explore new ones.

Continental Makes Managers. Continental welcomes college graduates not merely to fill immediate needs, but as material for future leadership positions. Regular two-year training programs have been set up for many positions. These take new people into numerous departments on a definite schedule and are supplemented with weeks or months of formal instruction and on-the-job training. It is Company policy to prepare each college trainee for ultimate management responsibilities.

Company Openings. The Continental representative coming to this campus will be glad to discuss starting salaries, training and potential futures for graduating seniors, particularly in the following fields:

PRODUCTION MANAGEMENT. Engineering degree required, with major in mechanical, industrial, management or electrical fields preferred. Two-year training course leads to supervisory position in preparation for plant management.

EQUIPMENT DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT. Requires a degree in mechanical engineering and courses in design, mechanics and mathematics. Training includes assigned problems under experienced engineers, frequent observation trips.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT. Requires a degree in mechanical, chemical, electrical or metallurgical engineering, chemistry or physics. Training includes supervised execution of assignment and preparation of reports, experiences with varied types of materials, methods and containers.

SALES. College degree in Liberal Arts, Business Administration (Commerce) or Engineering required. Two-year training course includes scheduled rotation in Company departments, two months of classroom study. Sales experience then prepares for a management position.

WAA Aids Coed Competition

By PAT ROGERS
Coeds who participate in both intramural and individual sports are influenced by the Women's Athletic Association.

The WAA Board is composed of 16 members, six officers and 10 sports managers, who arrange each term's sports agenda and send out schedules to the living units.

Intercollegiate competition is also slated, especially in field hockey, basketball and baseball.

Congress

stitution, this section was rejected by the University of Michigan when it approved the constitution.

The constitution provides for an annual Big Ten Student Government Conference, representing the legislative branches of the schools and a Big Ten Presidents Conference. Both of these conferences have been held annually in the past.

Under the oaths of office bill class officers would be sworn in by the chief justice of the all-college judiciary. Congress Business and State Affairs Committee will consider adding the student government president, congressmen, officers of the two AWS boards and officers of Men's Council to those requiring oaths of office. Bob Steele (Lansing), chairman, said.

Bills which rewrite existing ordinances that may be introduced this evening cover the Student-Faculty Social Committee, ex-officio members of the student Congress and the Executive Board, status of the Congress secretary, Resources Board, procedure for organizations receiving congressional approval, office of the student government attorney and the procedure for contesting executive and legislative action, flowers and dress for all-college dances, the Department of State Affairs and the public relations committee of the student government.

Plan to Save Copper

Process Developed By MSC Engineers

Converting millions of dollars worth of copper from waste piles at American copper mills will be stepped up by a new process devised at the MSC Engineering Experiment Station.

Similar to the way soap removes dirt in the family wash, the new method uses a newly-developed, coal-tar product to remove a copper-bearing mineral (copper silicate) from impurities.

As much as 90 per cent of the mineral contained in samples was recovered in the tests. Some cases required only one pound of the synthetic chemical to secure 17 pounds of copper as copper silicate.

Only the mineral itself is retained in the process. The pure copper must be obtained by standard commercial methods.

Prof. C. C. DeWitt, director of the experiment station, said that a waste dump at one mine alone contains "several hundred million dollars worth of copper ready for an economic separation method."

If the process can be successfully applied to commercial use, DeWitt said that "it can mean a great deal to our economy" in increased production of a raw material used extensively in defense and civilian goods production.

It would also be another step toward the problem of eventually having to recover low grade and scarce minerals, he said.

Technically known as a "flotation" process, the method is similar to commercial processes employed in the recovery of minerals containing other metals.

Much of the work for developing the process was done by M. D. Livingood, former MSC faculty member, now engaged in research work at a well-known company at Deepwater, N.J.

DeWitt will report the flotation process Feb. 18 at a meeting of the American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers at Los Angeles, Calif.

There have been houses of prayer on the site of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris for 2,000 years, the first being a Roman temple.

Indiana Basketball Rates As Tops Across Country

By GUY W. WILSON

After a weekend spent in the heart of basketball, Indiana, one can't help but come away with the opinion that the cage sport is the most popular, with the exception of basketball, of course, to professional, collegiate and prep court events.

Everyone talks "basketball" in Indiana. From the hotel clerk to the bartender to the barber, there is but one major topic of conversation.

Such enthusiasm naturally extends into the daily newspapers. News of national sport interest is secondary, with the exception of basketball, of course, to professional, collegiate and prep court events.

All over the state one can see huge stadium especially designed for young athletes to participate in the cage sport.

If Hoosiers can't actually be at a basketball tussle, they have only to tune on the TV set in order to watch their heroes cavort up and down the court. All home Indiana University cage contests are televised.

At the games, the spectators are fanatical in support of their teams. Before the recent Michigan State-Indiana clash, all the fans rose as one to salute the Hoosiers with the Indiana fight song.

Notre Dame's spirit is even more intense. From the start of the game to its conclusion, pandemonium reigns supreme what with the constant cheering and singing of the school's students.

Now with such spirit, enthusiasm and what have you, it seems strange that Indiana University has not won a single undisputed Big Ten cake title. They have tied for the number one spot three times.

However, when looking through the rosters of leading American collegiate quintets, one finds that Hoosiers dot many of the lineups.

For instance, Idaho State recently won the Rocky Mountain conference title qualifying for the NCAA playoffs. Five Hoosiers play for Idaho State.

In past years, such great Indiana products as Clyde Lovellette and Sam Ranzino have migrated to Kansas and North Carolina State.

Still another Indiana oddity—Indiana University's last conference scoring leader was their present coach, Branch McCracken, who took Big Ten scoring honors in 1930. This season Don Schlundt bids to be the second IU performer to win the coveted title.

Bob Armstrong, Michigan State's sophomore basketball center from Holland, Mich., was a state championship finalist in three track and field events—high jump, high hurdles and shot put—while in high school.

Walter Cabral, 6-3 end at Notre Dame, comes from Honolulu.

Intramural Basketball Commences Stretch Run

After four weeks of play, the intramural basketball leagues have begun their stretch drives.

In the Independent league of nine blocks, 13 teams boast unbeaten records, according to figures complete through Monday's games.

In Tuesday night's action, two unbeaten teams, the Lansing All-Stars and the Mushies—both with 4-0 records—clashed in a contest to decide the block winner.

Other block leaders in the independent league are Old Timers (4-0); Ghost Riders (3-0); Dixies (4-0); Ulrey (4-0); Lakers (1-0); Midgits and Asher (tie, 3-0); and EL's and Indians (tie, 3-0).

In the dormitory circuit, nine teams sport unblemished strings.

E. Shaw 2 is out in front of their block with a 3-0 record. E. Shaw 1, last year's E. Shaw champs, is well out of the running with a 1-1 record. E. Shaw 6, runner-up to E. Shaw 2 has a 0-2 record to date.

E. Shaw 6, also with 3-0, is leading the second block in E. Shaw.

West Shaw 6, last year's Shaw dormitory champions, is well on its way to another championship with four straight wins. In the other West Shaw block, precinct 5 is keeping pace with 3, also with four straight victories.

Other dormitory block leaders are Abbot 12 (3-0) and Abbot 18 (3-0); Snyder 13 (3-0) and Snyder 16, 17 and 18 (tie, 3-1); Phillips 7 (3-0) and Phillips 4 (3-0).

Sigma Nu, last year's all-college champs, is moving toward another championship with a record of three straight victories to lead its block. Thursday, Sigma Nu meets Lambda Chi Alpha, which sports a 3-1 record to date.

Delta Tau Delta, with a 4-0 total, leads its block, with Phi Kappa Phi (3-1) in close pursuit.

Construction Date Set for Straits Bridge

State Board to Approve Sale Of Bonds Worth $90 Million

LANSING (AP)—Construction should get underway on the Mackinac Straits bridge by April 1, Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the bridge authority, told the State Administrative Board Tuesday.

Brown told the board it would be asked around mid-March to approve the bonds before the end of March.

He said the board must act quickly to preserve the rate of interest offered by prospective buyers. He said the preliminary prospectus on the bonds was expected to be in the hands of possible buyers in two weeks.

The Detroit office of the U.S. Corps of Engineers has forwarded its approval of the bridge to Washington, Brown said. He said the deadline for objections to the bridge passed last Friday with none being filed.

Previously, he reported, the Lake Carriers Association has always opposed such a bridge as a hazard to navigation. This time, Brown said, the association said it had no objections.

A bid of $42 million by the American Bridge Division of the U.S. Steel Corp. for construction of the superstructure of the bridge has been recommended for acceptance, Brown said.

Bids also are being negotiated for some $22 million for construction of the foundations with Dravo, Inc., of Pittsburgh and Merritt, Chapman and Scott of New York.

Study of Taxes By Professor Nearly Done

"Pay the Piper," a study of Michigan's state and local tax system by Prof. Denzel C. Cline of the Department of Economics will soon be available to the public in booklet form.

"Cline has written a down-to-earth explanation of our principal state and local taxes so that the average citizen can better understand them," said Dr. Edward W. Weidner, director of Michigan State College's Government Research Bureau.

The study also explains how state tax money is being distributed to local units of government, especially the taxes for public schools and the motor taxes for roads and streets.

According to Cline, the purpose of the study is to inform the taxpayers concerning their tax system and its weaknesses. "It is not intended to solve the problem of the state deficit," he stated. Although he gives his opinions on some of the things which should be done, Cline concludes, "Unfortunately, there is no easy way to pay the piper, but the people can still call the tune."

Special Number Scheduled

Limon Dance Company To Appear in Auditorium

Jose Limon, acclaimed by metropolitan dance critics as "the finest male dancer of his time," will appear with his unique company as a special number of the Lecture-Concert Series in the Auditorium, Feb. 25 at 8:30 p.m.

Limon and Dance Company with Pauline Koner will perform "Theater in the Dance." Besides noted dancers, the company includes actor-dancers. The repertory lists works by Limon and by Doris Humphrey, modern choreographer who is artistic director of the company.

Born in Mexico, Limon moved with his parents to California. Later, Broadway audiences applauded his dancing in featured roles in "Americana" and "As

JOSE LIMON

Thousands Cheer. He did the choreography for "Flying Colors," "Roberta," "Keep Off the Grass," and "I'd Rather Be Right."

The program will include "Concert," preludes and tugs of Bach with choreography by Limon; "La Maitine," by Norman Lloyd with choreography by Limon; "The Story of Mankind," by Lionel Novak with choreography by Doris Humphrey; and "The Moor's Pavane," by Henry Purcell and Simon Sadoff with choreography by Limon.

Limon's all-star company includes guest artist Pauline Koner, former Jooss Ballet star Lucas Hoving, Betty Jones, Ruth Currier, and concert pianist Simon Sadoff, who is musical director of the company.

Studio Theater To Hold Tryouts

Tryouts for Studio Theater one-act plays will be held in Room 140 of the Auditorium this evening from 7 to 9, John Zachary, Studio Theater vice president, announced.

Scenes from plays written by Oscar Wilde, Henri Becque, Sheridan, an old time melodrama, and other plays by 19th century playwrights will be cast.

Directors of the plays will be students from a directing class under John Jennings, instructor of speech and drama.

WKAR to Air Series On Voice of America

The new series of the Voice of America broadcasts can now be heard every Wednesday, at 4:45 p.m. over WKAR.

Today's program, "Diary of Escape," is a story taken from State Department files of the escape of a European refugee from behind the iron curtain, and stars Gerald Mohr.

This series is produced in the New York headquarters of the Voice of America.

Almanac Knows All, Sees All, Tells All

By JERRY GROOM

If you want to know anything from the name of your congressman to the proper way to kiss a lady's hand, you'll find it in the "1953 World Almanac and Book of Facts."

In kissing a lady's hand, you should hold her fingers lightly, bow slightly to avoid holding her hand and touch the back of her hand lightly with your lips.

Many an American in Europe has been saved acute embarrassment by knowing this valuable fact before the first crisis presented itself.

The Almanac contains a wealth of valuable information as well as an amazing number of factual tidbits. For example:

Charles Schall, of St. Louis, Mo., can cast a 5-oz. fishing bait 447 feet.

If you are in Lansing your latitude is 42 degrees, 44 minutes and 01 seconds; your longitude is 84 degrees, 33 minutes and 15 seconds.

Mrs. Toy Len Chin Goon, of Portland, Me., was chosen mother of the year in 1952, a fact that will mean a great deal to you if she happens to be your mother.

If you read the Almanac, you'll know that when the Commodore sink the Generals it means Vanderbilt has won a football game from Washington and Lee.

Dance Class Students Asked to Bring Coeds

Men enrolled in dance instruction class sponsored by the Union Board should bring coeds to class this evening at 7 in the Union Ballroom, Chandler Benton, dance instructor, said Tuesday.
