'Mr. Pickle' to Retire

Pickle Bottles Crowd Fabian

By JAN BRUNYARD

For a professor's office, Dr. F. W. Fabian's headquarters in 172 Gifford Hall is relatively large and comfortable.

But the office is characteristically cluttered despite its size. Two scientific bookshelves, four filing cabinets and a large desk seem to be losing the battle with a rising tide of books, papers and other professorial paraphernalia.

Between, on top of and underneath the books and papers are a number of bottles and jars of various sizes, many containing pickles.

Seated at the desk, surrounded by the memories of his 36 years of teaching and research, is Dr. Fabian, the author, or inspiration, of most of the things in the room, and one of MSC's most distinguished scholar-scientists.

Dr. Fabian, professor of bacteriology and public health, will retire July 1. He has taught at MSC since 1917.

His specialty is food preservation research. He has studied foods from sugar beets to garlic but on one topic alone rests the bulk of his fame. He is an expert on pickles.

Ever since 1930, Dr. Fabian has studied the pickle from every angle, including flavor, crispness, keeping properties and effects of spices. Today he is the top man in his field and is well known as "Mr. Pickle."

Every year, at a special pickle-maker's school, Dr. Fabian passes out the latest information for the improvement of pickles. He has written more than 100 articles on this subject alone. Many more have been written about him, including one in the "Interesting People" section of the American Magazine.

An excellent letter writer, Dr. Fabian takes special pride in the fact that he continues to get letters, year after year, from most of the more than 50 ex-students who received their advanced degrees under his guidance.

Many times over the years, the flow of mail from former students has been so great that Dr. Fabian has had to prepare newsletters to answer them all.

Dr. Fabian received his own Ph.D. degree at Yale University. He studied at MSC for his Master's degree and has seen two sons graduate from here also. A daughter, Margaret Ann, is now a junior at State.

With other talents besides teaching, Dr. Fabian once served as an editor of a weekly newspaper. His early bacteriological research was in the field of dairy products.

After his retirement, the professor hopes to have more time to indulge in two of his favorite forms of recreation—chopping wood at his Higgins Lake cottage and traveling.

He plans first to tour Europe and visit his many friends abroad. "I just want to get travel out of my system," he said. "After that? Well, I've been offered many jobs in the food industry and that's where I may end up, back in food research."

For the past few years, Dr. Fabian has been teaching only classes of advanced and graduate students. At one time he had 17 students in the same year receive advanced degrees under him.

Now, as the last few months of college teaching slip by for him, Dr. Fabian is bearing down harder than ever to finish his work here. He plans to finish 18 to 20 scientific papers as well as another alumni newsletter this year.

In Dr. Fabian's philosophy, the scientific method is more than a tool for research; it is a way of life.

Under the direction of Julian Smith, director of the outdoor education section of the Department of Public Instruction and education professor-designate at MSC, Michigan is leading the way nationally in taking school children outdoors.

He explained that under the Michigan plan, classes are taken into forests or on field trips some time for a few hours and at other times for as much as a week.

Concert to Present Two New Works

Two ensembles will be introduced in the concert which will be given by the MSC concert band Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Leonard Falcone, director, said that the ensembles represent sectional work—a woodwind group and one from the brasses.

New concert selections are listed on the program in operatic and symbolic numbers. The audience will hear old favorites as well, Falcone said.

Fiedler Sets Boston Pops Selections

Program Features Wide Variety, Solos

The Boston Pops orchestra, a synonym for light and enjoyable classical music, will come to MSC for performances Tuesday and Wednesday, under conductor Arthur Fiedler.

The world-famous orchestra of 75 musicians will appear in two concerts in the Auditorium with Hilde Somer, celebrated pianist, as soloist.

The dynamic Fiedler has chosen programs from the realm of semi-classical works and musical comedy for his MSC concerts. Programs both evenings will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Fiedler, who believes "a Strauss waltz is as good a thing of its kind as a Beethoven symphony," is known the world over for his performances of the light classics. In selecting programs for Boston Pops concerts, he draws from a repertoire of 103 marches, 98 overtures, 115 suites, 81 piano concertos, 51 waltzes and 45 arrangements from musical comedies. Boston Pops recordings now fill more pages in record catalogs—some 200 titles—than any other major orchestra.

Miss Somer, young Viennese-born piano soloist with the orchestra, will play Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasy for Piano and Orchestra" on the program March 17. In the concert the next night, she will be soloist in "Variations on a Nursery Air" by Debussy.

Fiedler has been winning applause as a conductor since he first organized his open-air Esplanade concerts in Boston in 1929. Boston born, he grew up in the Boston Symphony where his father and two uncles were violinists.

Some say the name "Pops" grew from the popping of champagne corks which interspersed the music as Bostonians, seated at tables, listened to the orchestra's spring concert.

Others say the name is an abbreviation for the word "popular." From wherever the name has come, the Boston Pops has grown to mean enjoyment, light music and fun.

Tickets for the two concerts will be on sale at the Union ticket office.

Rhode Island originally was called the Isle of Rhodes by Verrazano in 1524. More than a hundred years later, the general court of the colony formally adopted Verrazano's name.

edy and included some of the themes from the beginning.

The finale theme was divided between the soloist and the orchestra, and was very fast. The cadenza came just before several complicated triplet passages brought the concerto to an end.

The applause was vigorous and Dr. Schuster was called back to the stage three times before he announced an encore, a short solo Bach selection.

Dr. Underwood, head of the Music Department, also conducted the first number on the program, the favorite, "Marriage of Figaro Overture," by Mozart. The only fault was its brevity.

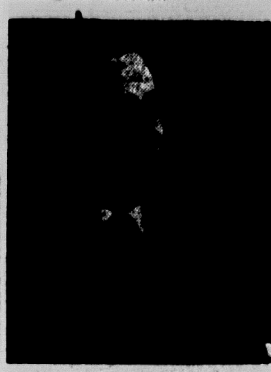

Dr. Schuster conducted the last selection, Dvorak's thrilling "Symphony No. 5 in E minor, Op. 98" from the "New World." Oscar Stover, graduate student, took over the kettle drums to add much to the exciting volume and rhythm, especially in the first movement.

The second, large (solemn, slow), movement is one of the most beautiful ever written, and the orchestra did it full justice. The main theme is the sad, familiar melody, "Going Home," it sounded as if there was a chorus humming in the background.

The third movement was a gay scherzo (sprightly). It sounded like busy people working, building and planting fields, with frantic violins as a background.

The last movement started with a march. The "Three Blind Mice" theme was obvious.

ALEXANDER SCHUSTER
MSC Orchestra Conductor

The finale drew themes from the preceding movements into a powerful and brilliant close.

The United States once had three Presidents in a month; William Henry Harrison succeeding Van Buren March 4, 1841, and being succeeded on his death by Tyler, April 4.

'Blue and Lonely'

Convict Turns Songwriter

PONTIAC (AP)—"Billy the Kid" Harold Hummel looked to a Hollywood song-writing career this week.

But the 21-year-old convicted killer knew he wouldn't be able to go to the film colony to show the stars how to sing "Oh Darling, Why Can't You Talk to Me." He said his mother would do that.

Hummel, who will be sentenced today to a mandatory life term in prison for last summer's slaying of a Hazel Park bar operator and his son, announced he had written a song.

The youth said his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Gassel, who resides somewhere in California, promised to take the song to Hollywood for a trial.

Hummel, dressed in cowboy boots, a black shirt and blue jeans, mumbled the lyrics as he sat in his cell at the Oakland County jail. They were:

"Oh darling, why can't you talk to me?"

"Beneath the stars that shine so bright,"

"I hear your voice echo through the night,"

"Oh what can I do to make you talk to me?"

"My heart is so blue and lonely."

First Pre-Med Club Formed

Michigan State College now has the first Pre-Med Club in its history. Twenty students, in both the pre-medical and pre-osteopathic fields, organized the club to discuss the various aspects of medicine as they apply to the doctor and the patient.

Temporary officers of the club are: President, Dave Miller; vice president, Jim Potchen; secretary, Paul Linnell; treasurer, Don VanderKolk; program chairman, Jerry Tossy; correspondence chairman, Tom Harle; social chairman, Bob Hoke; and publicity chairman, Bob Ward.

Faculty advisers are Dr. Paul C. Morrison, professor of geography and assistant to the dean of the school of Science and Arts, and Dr. Richard A. Fennell, professor of zoology.

Old Indian Art Featured in Union Display

Textiles and retablos from the southwestern United States will be on display in the Art Room of the Union Building until March 15.

The weavings, mostly from New Mexico and Colorado, were done by Pueblo Indians, Navajos, and descendants of Spanish settlers. Included in the collection are chief blankets, slave blankets, women's embroideries and costumes, and modern rugs. The rugs on display range in date from 1850 to the present.

The retablos are small panels painted on hand adzed pine boards and represent religious figures.

"The Medieval World" exhibition is on display in the corridors of the Art Building. These enlarged photographs of the church, town and castle in the day to day life of the Medieval man will be shown through Tuesday in A-7, South Campus.

A second exhibition in the Art Building, continuing through Tuesday, consists of paintings, weavings, ceramics, and metal work by the following wives of art staff members: Jaunita Brown, Carmen Decker, Irene Gayas Jungwirth, and Claire Wexler.

Spartans Fail in Quest for Conference Championships

Doctors Take Third; Illini Win

Illinois, who is making a habit of collecting Big Ten championships, walked off with the fencing crown at Columbus Saturday.

The Illini rolled up 40 points to second place Wisconsin's 31. Michigan State was third with 20 points.

The Spartans were led by Bob Berry, who took first place in foil. Berry had to fight his way through three fence-offs to win his title. He defeated Art Schiller and Anthony Zamboni, both of Illinois, in one of the oddest finishes ever witnessed.

The three fencers fought through two round-robin series without settling the issue, but finally Berry defeated both of the Illini to cap the crown.

Dave Chase of MSC was runner-up in epee, finishing behind Searles of Wisconsin. Chase's performance contributed eight points toward the team total.

Ray Monte was next best among the Spartans entrants, with a fourth place in the sabre event. He scored six points.

Berry's performance is even more notable in the light that he had been State's top man in the epee event during the regular season. His switch to foil for the championships hardly bothered him.

The team standings and point totals follow: Illinois 40, Wisconsin 31, Michigan State 29, Ohio State 23, Northwestern 21, Indiana 11 and Iowa 10.

Irish Claim Indiana Title

SOUTH BEND (AP)—The state collegiate basketball title of Indiana was claimed Tuesday by Ed Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, although he conceded that Indiana University is No. 1 in the nation.

"We defeated Indiana, one of Indiana's two defeats for the entire season, 71-70, and Purdue twice," grinned Krause at a press-radio luncheon. "So we think Notre Dame is the Hoosier state champion."

Indiana, the Big Ten champion, is ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll.

"CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS LOW COST"

Illini Take Track Title Third Time

The University of Illinois had to reach deep into its bag of tricks Saturday, but the Illini came up with what they needed to run away with their third straight Big Ten indoor track title at Champaign, Ill. Illinois scored a total of 56½ points to upset heavily-favored Michigan aggregation, which fell short with a total of 49½ points. The Spartans finished fifth for the second successive year.

The Wolverines were in contention until the second-last event, the 70-yard low hurdles. Michigan was just 5 1/12 points behind when the race started, but their star hurdler, Van Bruner, tripped on the last barrier.

The only Spartan to walk away with a gold medal was high jumper Jim Vrooman. Vrooman cleared 6'4 1/2". State's Ray McKay gave the team ¼ of a point by tying for fifth with three other jumpers.

Next best effort for the Spartans was a second-place finish in the mile run by Mickey Walter. The MSC co-captain finished behind Michigan's John Ross. Jim Keppard gave the Spartans two more points in the event with a fourth.

Dick Jarrett provided MSC with a third place in the 800, the only event which saw a record broken. Stacey Siders of the Illini took two-tenths of a second off the old mark of 1:52.9.

Co-capt. Arnie Smith split the fifth-place point in the pole vault with five others who tied with him.

The only double winner of the meet was Illinois' Mike Williams, who won the 66-yard dash and the low hurdles.

The official point totals for all the teams are as follows: Illinois 56½, Michigan 49½, Purdue 18½, Indiana 16½, MSC 15 1/2, Iowa 13, Northwestern and Ohio State 9½, Minnesota 8½, and Wisconsin 2½.

the Midwest Intercollegiate Hockey League title. Also in the picture are Bob Johnson (10) of Minnesota, State forward George Nelson (12) and Spartan defenseman Henry Campagna (right).

Rintz Leads Individuals But Illini Take Gym Title

Carl Rintz, Michigan State's sophomore gymnast, put on a brilliant display to win individual honors in the Big Ten gymnastic meet Friday and Saturday at Jensen Fieldhouse.

Rintz won three Big Ten individual titles, finished second in another event, while finishing third and sixth in two others to rack up a personal total of 56 points.

But his efforts to give MSC an upset in the meet went unrewarded as Illinois repeated as Western Conference champions.

The Illini's five-man team rolled up an impressive total of 133 points, topping Minnesota, who were second with 78 and Michigan State, third with 72.

Other teams and their total points were Iowa 50½, Ohio State 49, Michigan 37, Indiana 22 and Wisconsin 6½.

Rintz won the side horse, horizontal bar and flying rings. His second was in the all-around, where he finished only nine points behind Ken Bartlett, of Minnesota, and he capped a third in the parallel bars. His sixth-place finish was in the free exercise.

While MSC's Rintz was the individual star of the meet, it was Illinois' well-balanced team that stole the honors.

The Illini took only one first in the eight events—Bob Sullivan in the free exercise—but had three seconds, four thirds, two fourths and a tie for fourth, three fifths, two sixths, one seventh and a tie for seventh, two eights, and one tenth.

The Illini scored their top number of points in the side horse where they had a second.

one third, a fifth and an eighth, good for 26 points.

Frank Bare led the Illini point-getters with 40 points. Bare had seconds in the side horse and parallel bars, third in the all-around, fifth in the horizontal bar, sixth in the free exercise and eighth in the flying rings.

Other Michigan State placemen were John Walker, Harry Wilkinson and Joe Staser.

Walker notched a sixth in the trampoline and a fifth in the tumbling. Wilkinson finished eighth in the parallel bars, while Staser took tenth in the trampoline.

Illinois' defending champion in the tumbling and all-around, Bob Sullivan, was beaten in both his specialties. Bob Hazlett, of Iowa, edged him by one point, 278-274, in the tumbling.

Tankers Grab Third Behind OSU, 'M'

Coach Charles McCaffree's swimmers stroked their way to a third-place finish in the Big Ten swimming meet last weekend in Iowa City, gathering 48 total points for their efforts. Ohio State won the meet for its fifth straight Big Ten title despite the isolation of Olympian Ford Konno, who came down with the mumps during the second day of competition.

The Buckeyes rolled up 102 points and left Michigan far behind in second with 66 markers.

Konno, who started the Buckas on their victory drive by winning the 100-meter freestyle Thursday night, was beaten out by Wolverine Bumpy Jones in the 200 Friday and entered the hospital Saturday. He did not compete in his other events, the quarter mile.

No Big Ten records were broken in the three-day convalescence, which showed some rather erratic performances by all squads.

Bert McLachlan led State with a first in the 440-yard freestyle, and seconds in the 1000-meter freestyle and 200-yard backstroke.

McLachlan matched Konno stroke for stroke in the 1000, but the little Hawaiian gained in the turns to win in 18:07. McLachlan's time was 18:45.7.

With Konno out, McLachlan turned the 440 into a complete rout as he splashed home far in front of the field in 4:43.9. In the 200-yard backstroke he chased Ohio State's great Koichi Oyama.

John Dudeck nailed down a first in the 100-yard breaststroke and took third in the 200-yard event. Dudeck beat out Buckeye Jerry Nolan in the 100 in 1:31.1.

Frank Reynolds swam to another Spartan second as he chased Michigan's Jones in the 100-yard individual medley. Reynolds' time was 1:35.4 while Jones, who holds the American record in this event, came home in 1:31.4.

Ken Coyne picked up four more points for State in the toughest diving competition in the nation. Coyne placed fourth in the three-meter diving and sixth in the lower one-meter event.

Tom Fayette swam to a sixth in the 50-yard freestyle for the only Spartan point among the rough sprint competition.

Bruce Aldrich took sixth in the 200-yard breaststroke, while Bob Evans and Chuck Clark won 50th and sixth respectively in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Spartan 400-yard freestyle relay team, composed of Fayette, Baldwin, Chuck Egler and Bob Schumacher, stroked to a fourth for six valuable points.

Cleveland, who won both events last year, didn't even qualify in the 10 but took sixth in the 200 behind Northwestern's Keith Peterson. He was, however, welcomed by a round of applause.

Seven Spartan swimmers won their last action in the meet. They were McLachlan, Dudeck, Reynolds, Schumacher, Fayette, Evans, Don Reynolds and Al Arnold.

For a few particularly noteworthy events, there is still the NCAA meet scheduled for May 1-5 at the University of California, Berkeley.

Two State Wrestlers Win Titles

Two Michigan State wrestlers were crowned champions in their respective divisions Saturday as the Spartans capped the runner-up position in the Big Ten tournament at Bloomington, Ind.

Bob Hobbs, in the 187-pound class, and Vito Ferrone, at 165 pounds, were the MSC victors. State scored a total of 22 points in the meet, five less than Michigan, which finished second last year, and five more than third place Minnesota.

Also scoring heavily for Michigan State were Larry Fowler, who took second in the heavyweight division, Ed Cassinella, who was third at 130 pounds, and Dick Ganser, who also finished third at 157.

Hobbs, carrying a season's record of seven wins and two draws into the meet, won four straight bouts to win his crown. In doing so, he gained revenge on the two opponents who marred his otherwise perfect record during the year with draws.

In the semi-finals Hobbs defeated Mike Lee of Michigan, 3-1, and in the finals he got back at Jim Hills of Indiana, citing out 3-1 win. Hobbs defeated Minnesota's John Mann 6-0 in the preliminary and Pete Capen of Northwestern in the second round to reach the finals.

In Friday's encounter, Hobbs jumped out to a quick victory at 3:40.

ward slipped in as Hobbs pinned Jack Mattoon's pad.

Dick Dougherty, who took a backhand shot from Mayasich at the right, neither team was in the first stanza.

Up at intermission the Gophers broke the tie open in the second when they got three takedowns.

Dougherty got a 9:43 when he pinned Mayasich's rebound.

Mayasich, who took a backhand shot from Dougherty, was the next two on point.

Gene Campbell, a pair of assists and a single aid.

Mayasich nailed a 4:26 of the final long lift shot that Jack Shackelford's vent in.

Ken Yackel mopped 53 when he clobbered the long-tom on the Johnson and K.

John Tschida, a freshman's rebound, the game's last pick. Meredyth also.

The entire game with 22 penalties by the officials.

Things got ugly in the final as four players got five-minute misbehavior. Since all four infractions were handed out at 15:40, the actual time was 15:40.

Denio Nicol and Dougherty started the fight and Tom W. involved. When they broke it up, the exodus for all.

The game meant the four Spartan seniors and Dick North, senior and reserve.

7-2 Loss Ends Dismal Year for Ice Squad

By JACK KOLE

Fighting valiantly all the way, Michigan State's hockey team again couldn't cope with Minnesota power as the Gophers cemented a first-place conference tie Friday night on the ice arena, 7-2. The game closed the season for both squads.

Michigan's Wolverines grabbed the other chunk of the Midwest Collegiate Hockey league title as they blasted Michigan Tech Saturday night after nailing the Huskies, 8-3, Friday evening.

Although the Wolves only won 12 contests as compared with Minnesota's 18, the difference came in the league's peculiar system of one-point and two-point games. Michigan simply had more of the double-weight variety.

Both clubs will travel to Colorado Springs, Colo., this week on the sixth annual NCAA tournament that runs from Thursday through Sunday. Michigan is driving for its third straight national championship. Minnesota, however, should have something to say about Wolverine aspirations since the Gophers conquered the Huskies 3-0 in the first of four times during the season.

In Friday's encounter, State jumped out to a quick 1-0 advantage at 3:45 when Jim Ward slipped in a short rebound on Jack Mayers' long shot that deflected off goalie Jim Mattson's pads.

Dick Dougherty came right back for Minnesota at 5:15 when he took a backhand pass from John Mayasich at the blue line, sailed to the right and fired it. Neither team scored again in the first stanza and it was up at intermission time. The Gophers broke the game wide open in the second stanza when they got three tallies and blanked the Spartans.

Dougherty got the first at 9:43 when he blasted home Mayasich's rebound.

Mayasich, who pulled the hat trick with three goals, meshed the next two on power plays as Gene Campbell picked up a pair of assists and Dougherty single aid.

Mayasich nailed in his third at 4:26 of the final period on a long lift shot that deflected off Jack Shackelford's pads and went in.

Ken Yackel made it 6-1 at 5:33 when he clobbered in another long-tom on assists from John Johnson and Kyle Peterson.

Wesley Olson registered State's second tally at 10:42, killing Co-Capt. Dick Lord's rebound after Gordie King had blasted the puck into scoring territory.

Jim Tschida knocked in Johnson's rebound at 13:07 for the game's last bulb-lighter. Dick Meredith also received an assist.

The entire game was rough with 22 penalties being served by the officials.

Things got especially rugged in the final stanza when four players got bounced on five-minute misconduct charges. Since all four infractions were handed out at 15:41 the penalties actually were for the remainder of the game.

Deno Nicol and Minnesota's Dougherty started the fracas and Ed and Tom Wegleitner also got involved. When the officials finally broke it up there was a rare exodus for all four.

The game meant the last action for four Spartan seniors. Included in the quartet are co-captains Ed and Dick Northey, wing Bob Leveau, and reserve wing Bob Hansen.

In 1942 Ted Williams took triple crown honors. He led the American League in batting (.354), homers (36) and runs batted in (137).

IM Cagers Move Into Last Round

Intramural basketball action moves into its final week tonight with three games slated.

The Indians and the Old Timers clash for the second time in a replay of their game last Thursday night for the independent championship.

The Old Timers took a one-point verdict from the Indians but a protest by the Indians was upheld by Intramural Director Frank Berman and the game ordered replayed.

The Indians protested after the officials awarded the Old Timers a technical foul during the last minute of play. The technical was called after the Indians called a time out and the officials thought this was illegal.

In other games tonight Abbot 1 will meet Sigma Nu and East Shaw 2 will face Snyder 17. The latter game is for the dormitory title while the Abbot 18-Sigma Nu tilt is the first of a one-round knockout play-off for the all-college championship.

In a dormitory bowling match tonight, Snyder 14 will meet Phillips 2 for the Snyder-Phillips championships. In another match, West Shaw 6 will meet West Shaw 1 for the West Shaw crown.

Shaw Chorale Offers Old, New Selections

Presentations Range from Bach to Bloch

Robert Shaw, one of America's foremost choral directors, will be featured with his chorale and string ensemble Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Auditorium.

Shaw will conduct his chorus and ensemble in a unique program ranging from works by Heinrich Schütz, a predecessor of Bach, to compositions by Debussy and the contemporary composer Ernest Bloch.

Shaw led the Fred Waring Glee Club for seven years and directed the Chapel Choir and the Collegiate Chorale which gave numerous performances in New York.

Shaw's program at Michigan State will consist of the following: Two motets by Schütz; "Mass in G Major," Schubert; "Sacred Service," Bloch; "Spanish Carols"; "Songs for Chorus," Brahms;

ROBERT SHAW

"Trois Chansons," Debussy, and songs for chorus from "Die Fledermaus," Strauss.

A native of California, the 36-year-old choral director is the head of the choral department of the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

In addition to his many duties he prepared choruses for the Aqueducts at the New York and San Francisco Expositions, and for Broadway shows including "Carmen Jones," "Laughing Room Only," and "The Seven Lively Arts."

Shaw's youthful appearance caused him once to be described as "looking like Mickey Rooney trying to be serious." Meticulous, temperamental and nervous, Shaw exhorts, cajoles and infuriates his singers to inspired performances.

Shaw first gained recognition through the Fred Waring show when Waring made a movie on the campus of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif. Shaw was then an undergraduate, leading the college glee club.

Waring was so impressed with Shaw's work that he offered the young conductor a job in New York upon graduation. Shaw went to New York in 1928 and has been in the nation's music spotlight ever since.

Shaw's concert Thursday at Michigan State is presented by the Lecture-Concert series. Tickets are on sale at the Union ticket office.

Camera 'Bug' Strikes Men In West Shaw

"Smile, please."

That's the slogan for members of the Photography Club in West Shaw.

The club started early this term. The idea of having such an organization was thought of last year, but has just gotten underway recently. The photography equipment was bought last year from Mason Hall with money secured from the dormitory General Council. At present the club has 16 members.

The first project the club worked on was taking pictures for couples at the Men's Interdorm Dance.

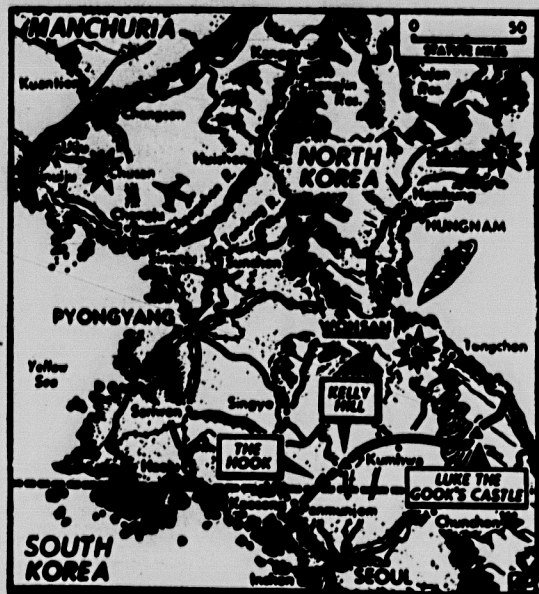

A photography laboratory has been set up on the terrace floor in Shaw Hall.

Engineering Exposition Set For May 1, 2

"Engineering Today and Tomorrow" will be the theme of the fifth annual Engineering Exposition to be held at MSC May 1 and 2.

Ralph Kondal, publicity chairman, said that plans are under way to provide exhibits for high schools students visiting Michigan State.

Among the shows planned are General Electric's "House of Magic" and Bell Telephone's "Switching Circuits."

The exposition is sponsored by the Engineering Council, which represents all MSC engineering clubs and honoraries.

The "Jolly Trolley," a tractor-drawn wagon, will transport visitors to see the various exhibits at different parts of the campus.

General chairman for the exposition is Jerry Lampe, Grand Haven senior.

Six Michigan State College representatives were in Chicago last week for the Eighth National Congress on Higher Education.

The problems faced by American colleges and universities in the next decade, started Thursday and was scheduled to end Saturday.

Representing MSC were William H. Combs, dean of the All-College Division, Dr. C. E. Dean Approves Sophomore Cuts Classes During Trip

Joan Hess, Charlevoix sophomore, had to see Dean King to get back into her classes Thursday after a week of cuts.

She got his signature without any trouble, though, and simply added it to the dozen or so others she has collected in the past three days.

For Miss Hess, a tall brunette, returned Wednesday evening from Washington, D.C., where she was honored as Northern Michigan winter queen.

Charlevoix representative, she was chosen as queen Feb. 27. That Saturday evening she reigned over the Winter Sports Ball and then flew to Washington where she appeared on two television shows.

In the White House she met Mrs. Eisenhower.

"I noticed her house, and I can remember everything she was wearing," Queen Joan said. "She even had a little bracelet with 'like' dangling from it."

"She's even more gracious and charming than they say she is," was her reaction to Mamie Eisenhower.

Miss Hess was crowned at Petoskey's Winter Sports Park by Bob Carey, former MSC All-American now with the Los Angeles Rams, professional football team.

Student Pianist Qualifies for Music Contest

Gloria Henry, Grand Blanc sophomore, qualified to enter the district tryouts of the Young Artists' Music Auditions at the Women's City Club in Detroit Saturday.

Miss Henry won first place in the piano division of the state auditions held Feb. 27 and 28 in the Music Auditorium.

Winners from Ohio, Indiana and Michigan will compete at the district auditions for the right to enter the national auditions sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The national winners will receive a solo appearance on the NBC network and the choice of $1,000 or a solo recital in the New York Town Hall.

Miss Henry studies under Prof. Ernst V. Wolf.

Gloria Harris from Detroit qualified for the Regional auditions in the voice division. No person in the violin division received sufficient votes from the judges to qualify.

Dr. Roy Underwood, Mrs. Juliet Alexopoulos and Prof. Joseph Evans of the Music Department judged the pianists at the state auditions.

The voice contestants were judged by Gran Greenwell, Edward Richmond and Frederick Tooley of the MSC Music Department. Romeo Tata, Lyman Rodman and James Niblock of the Music Department judged the violinists.

With a six point deficit staring them in the face, the Spartans' creep up on the Maize and Blue, finally equalizing the score at 41-all with a little over four minutes remaining in the third stanza.

Five quick counters by Griffith, Don Eaddy and John Oudwell gave the Wolverines their last substantial lead before the Spartans began their push to victory.

Eight successive points gave the Spartans their first lead of the game after three minutes had elapsed in the final frame. Using a half court ball freeze, State slowed the pace to a walk. On two occasions the Wolverines reduced the winners' lead to one point, but Ferrari netted three charity tosses to give the Spartans a 54-50 margin.

Wolverine guard Ray Pavichevich brought the score to 54-52 on a push shot with 80 seconds left in the quarter. State went into its familiar freeze, but the Wolves stole the ball and attempted a field goal at the end of a fast break.

The ball rolled up the side of the rim but fell off into a Spartan's hands and a moment later Ferrari clinched the victory on a free throw with ten seconds remaining. The Spartans took only one shot at the basket in the last five minutes of play.

A crowd of 8,000, the largest of the season at Jenison Fieldhouse, viewed the contest which was by far the most exciting of the home schedule of Big Ten games.

Pacing the speedy Wolverines in the losing cause were Eaddy and Griffith with 16 and 13 markers, respectively. The diminutive Eaddy meshed 13 of his total in the first half.

Keith Stachhouse and Ayala hit the hoops for 11 and 10 points. Ayala's total was his highest mark for the season.

Percentage-wise Michigan was far superior in shots from the field, hitting on 22 of 52 attempts for a 42.3 mark compared to State's 30.2 on 19 of 63 tries.

It was at the free throw line where the Wolverines met their downfall, scoring on only eight shots in 18 opportunities. With Ferrari netting 11 free throws, the Spartans tallied 17 of 25.

College Tuition? —Why, Brew 'n Biscuits

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The William and Mary Quarterly has reprinted an agreement, dated Dec. 20, 1822, which may shed some light on student-teacher relationships of that day.

"Article of agreement between Wm. Gill junr and his scholars. The said Gill on the first part doth agree to give his scholars two gallons and a half of Whiskey. His scholars on the second part doth agree to give biscuits and cider."

Lansing Alderman

Store, Kids Keep Student Busy

By JAN BRUNYARD

Fred Tripp, Lansing junior, is tired occasionally, but never bored. To keep busy he has eight children, two jobs and six full-time college courses.

Tripp, besides studying for a degree in city management, owns and operates a food market and serves on the Lansing City Council.

Tripp completed his first year at MSC in 1939. When financial problems forced him to drop out, he took a job with the post office.

During World War II, he served a year in the Navy, returning to the post office after his discharge. The ambition to finish college still was strong, however, and in 1950, although married, he began taking night classes at Michigan State.

Tripp bought the food market the same year and classes were squeezed between days in the post office and nights in the store.

"Then one day I began thinking about the future," Tripp said.

He figured he had 30 years to go before retirement, and decided

Specialists to Meet With Flower Growers

The third annual meeting of 150 of the country's outstanding horticultural specialists will lead a three-day course for commercial flower growers here today through Wednesday.

Prof. Paul R. Krone of Michigan State is general chairman. Specialists will talk and answer questions on various fields of horticulture and horticulture.

that seemed like a long, long time.

That was last June and summer school was just starting. Tripp saw his chance and within a week he had quit his post office job and enrolled as a regular student at MSC.

Looking forward to graduation in June, 1954, he hopes to find a job as city manager in a small Michigan community.

Tripp's classes this term include: political science, psychology, engineering, economics, effective living and parliamentary procedure.

Tripp began the race for alderman of Lansing's seventh ward last year "after my friends talked me into it." He enlisted the help of six of his eight children to prepare campaign literature and managed to visit 80 per cent of the homes in his ward.

Although opposed by a veteran of 16 years on the council, Tripp won the election by a vote of 1,070 to 740. That was a big day for the Tripps. Their eighth child, Stephen, was born the same day.

Tripp's other children are John, 11; Jerry, 9; Tommy, 7; Mike, 6; Kathy, 5; Bobby, 4; and Jimmy, 17 months. "For a while," said Tripp, "we almost ran out of names."

Tripp at 31 is a hard worker but sometimes things get the best of him. If a committee meeting, for example, should be scheduled for the same time as a class, usually means a class cut.

"My biggest problem," said Tripp, "is keeping up with all the outside reading. I figure all the extra effort will be worth it when the day comes for me to receive my degree."
